FARM NOTES BY CLINTON CURRIE

College Station—It's a no-brainer. The production of food and fiber for the mushrooming population of this state and nation. The thing is happening because dedicated people are working hard and caring for the land and striving to do their best to provide high quality food and fiber products for their fellow countrymen.

Those are invited to take a close look at the agricultural industry of their state during the month of November, which has been designated as Food and Fiber Appreciation Month. It is a fitting tribute to an industry that serves as the lifeblood of humanity, points out Charles Baker, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

It is the top cattle producer and also leads in the production of sheep and goats and mules. Texas ranks third among states in the production of hogs, and fourth in the production of chickens. Texas is also a major producer of cotton, wheat, sorghum, and other crops. The state's agricultural industry is a vital part of its economy and provides food and fiber for millions of people.

HELPFUL SAFETY TIPS

TIRE CARE TIPS

The salesman was amazed when I told him the exact size and type of new tires I wanted. He thought women only knew what it was time to buy gas.

Deciding what type of tire you want is like deciding what to wear. You want wear sneakers with a cocktail dress and you wouldn't mix the types of tires. Most manufacturers recommend that you buy the same type of tires that came with your car. However, a reputable dealer will be able to recommend other types such as radials if your driving routine demands them.

The owner's manual is still the best reference source for information on tire buying and care. Such as checking the tires for uneven wear before driving. This will indicate whether the tires are in balance or if you need an alignment job.

Every third gas stop, check the tire's air pressure. Kicking the tires is just as dependable as pumping a watermelon.

Congressman Wilson Reports

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Congressman Wilson reported today that the House of Representatives has passed a bill to aid the struggling Texas oil industry.

Wilson, Texas' 13th congressional district representative, said the bill would provide $100 million in federal loans to help Texas oil producers pay their taxes.

The bill, known as the Texas Oil Tax Relief Act, would allow producers to deduct the cost of their taxes from their taxable income.

Wilson said the bill was passed by a vote of 350 to 170 in the House. He said he expects the Senate to pass a similar bill in the next few weeks.

The bill is expected to be signed into law by President Ford in the next few weeks.

Competition will damage the individual either physically or mentally

Competition will damage the individual either physically or mentally, according to a report by the U.S. Olympic Committee.

The report, which was released today, states that the intense pressure of competing at the highest level can lead to physical and mental exhaustion.

The committee said that athletes should be given more time to rest and recover between competitions. It also recommended that athletes be given more support from their coaches and families.

The report is based on a study of 100 elite athletes. It found that 70 percent of them experienced physical exhaustion and 60 percent experienced mental exhaustion.

The committee said that these findings are a warning to coaches and athletes alike. It urged them to take a more holistic approach to training and competition.

Have you ever wondered?

Have you ever wondered why you feel so tired after a long day at work? Or why you feel so stressed out? Or why you feel so lonely? Or why you feel so sad? Or why you feel so angry? Or why you feel so frustrated? Or why you feel so discouraged? Or why you feel so hopeless? Or why you feel so despairing? Or why you feel so despairing?

These are all signs of emotional exhaustion, a condition that affects millions of people every day. It is caused by the constant stress and pressure of modern life.

Emotional exhaustion can lead to a variety of physical and mental health problems, including depression, anxiety, and heart disease. It can also lead to a loss of motivation and a sense of hopelessness.

There are many things you can do to prevent emotional exhaustion. First, you need to take care of yourself. Get enough sleep, eat a healthy diet, and exercise regularly. Second, you need to learn to manage stress. Practice relaxation techniques like deep breathing and meditation. Third, you need to seek support from others. Talk to a friend or family member about how you're feeling. Fourth, you need to take breaks from work and other responsibilities. Take a walk, read a book, or spend time with your family.

Remember, you are not alone. Millions of other people are struggling with emotional exhaustion. There are many resources available to help you. Contact your doctor or a mental health professional for more information.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis, the price index for all urban consumers in the United States rose 11.7 percent in 1973. This is the highest annual increase since 1947.

The increase in prices is due to a variety of factors, including increased demand for goods and services, higher wages, and increased costs for raw materials.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas is concerned about the impact of inflation on the Texas economy. It is recommending that the Federal Reserve take action to reduce the money supply and bring inflation under control.
