SPECIAL CITATION

Bobby Ray Kinnon, vice president of Citizens State Bank, holds a special citation that is being conferred during the summer months to give groups and individuals in order to recognize a citation of group or individual merit. The citation is offered by the U.S. Department of Treasury and is signed by both the Mint Director and the Secretary of the Treasury. This is offered as an incentive to get pennies out of hiding and back into circulation. Kinnon suggested that pennies could be taken out of piggy banks and used to start a savings account which would help in saving money for the future.

NO SEVERE PENNY SHORTAGES HERE

The old adage, "A penny saved is a penny earned" may still be true, but today people are hoarding pennies rather than saving them. And this is causing an apparent penny shortage. Tyler County's Citizens State Bank has no severe shortage with their pennies for circulation. Individuals who would like to help by donating pennies are available to the bank's customers and they are in a limited number. Bobby Ray Kinnon, vice president and cashier of Citizens State Bank, says he is getting about 200,000 pennies a day. He says that he is able to give them to the bank's customers and they are in a limited number. Kinnon suggested that pennies could be taken out of piggy banks and used to start a savings account which would help in saving money for the future.

WHITEFRINGE BEETLE BRINGS QUARANTINE

The whitefringe beetle, a pest of ornamental plants, has been found in Tyler County, Texas, and a quarantine has been placed on the county to prevent the beetle from spreading to other areas.

The beetle, which is a member of the Chrysomelidae family, is a pest of ornamental plants, particularly those in the Malvaceae family. It feeds on the leaves of these plants, causing significant damage.

The Tyler County Board of Commissioners has placed a quarantine on the county to prevent the beetle from spreading to other areas. The quarantine requires that all ornamental plants from Tyler County be inspected and certified as free from the beetle before being shipped to other areas.

The Tyler County Board of Commissioners is working closely with the Texas Department of Agriculture to control the beetle and prevent its spread.
