The Tyler County BOOSTER

VOLUME 48 NUMBER 1 WOODVILLE, TEXAS SEPTEMBER 11, 1975

Top Of The Morning

By Babette Lamb

Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine, but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears.

Politics seem to be warming up in Tyler County with several prospective candidates for various offices dropping in by the Booster to inquire about the cost of candidate cards and advertising. Some of them didn't realize what it cost to run for office. One item to consider in campaigning for office is the price of gasoline and it does take a lot of it to drive around Tyler County asking people to vote for you. Our neighboring county Jasper, already has an announced candidate for county commissioner in Precinct 1.

It may not be too soon to get your Christmas cards ready to mail if you want to beat the 3¢ increase in the price of stamps. A Congressional source announced last week that dime stamps are going to 13¢ - possibly before Christmas.

Postal rate changes effective Sunday, Sept. 14 are:
First class - 10¢ for first ounce; 9¢ for each additional ounce.
Post cards - 7¢ each
Third class - 10¢ for first 2 oz. or fraction thereof; 9¢ for each additional 2 oz. or fraction thereof.
Air mail remains the same.

Texas voters will have the opportunity to vote on eight constitutional amendments in a special election November 4. A summary of the 8th amendments are on page 6 of this week's Booster. You may wish to keep a copy for future study before the election. Some of the amendments are good, some bad. It's up to you to decide, then plan to vote November 4th.

Wilson Speaks At DETCOG Meeting At Toledo Bend

A visit from Congressman Charles Wilson highlighted the monthly Executive Committee meeting of the Deep East Texas Council of Government, held at the Fin and Feather Restaurant on Toledo Bend in Sabine County Aug. 28.
County Judge W.T. Love from Hemphill delivered the welcome at the 3 p.m. meeting.
Congressman Wilson also briefly commented on two major issues at a break during the afternoon meeting. He said he would vote against federal revenue sharing, "but it's going to pass anyway, and when it does I'll spend the rest of the year making sure that we get our share," he said, explaining that the "we" in his statement was referring to the Texas counties in his congressional district.
The congressman also said he was not in favor of oil price controls. "By controlling the price of oil, we would have more incentive for domestic development of new gas and oil wells."
An up-to-date on Community Development Block Grants was also delivered by Director

Family Film To Be Shown

TIME TO RUN, a film that is a mixture of problems and solutions, will be shown at Harmony Church at 7:30 P.M. on Saturday, Sept. 13.
The film allows the viewer to become involved in any one or more of the three different levels. Viewed purely as entertainment, it's the suspenseful story of Jeff's attempt at sabotage in the nuclear generating plant conceived, designed and managed by his father. Jeff strongly feels that the plant is a threat to the environment, and he puts his feelings in action. Viewed on an emotional level, Time To Run is the deeply moving drama of the conflicts that are tearing a family apart - conflicts that develop between husband and wife, and between father and son. In an attempt to find freedom from the ever-growing hostilities, Jeff takes to the road, hoping to discover some meaning in his confused life.

Outdoors With Buddy Gough

Periods, you saw the CBS special program, "The Gun of Autumn", aired last Friday night.

Like many others, you were probably disgusted by the film. The program was a sort of documentary, an unbiased look at what sport hunting is like in America today.

But after seeing the special program, it appeared obvious the show was indirectly an all out attack on the sport of hunting, with the aim of undermining support to have hunting banned.

Typical of the anti-hunter methods, the appeal of the film is to emotion rather than reason.

At times, the approach of the film was fairly subtle, but the bias showed through nevertheless. For example, character in expressing why they hunt. The interviewer has one hunter say that he hunts for fun. The film says hunters are "primitive instincts" and implies some instincts have no place in modern society.

Game management and conservation also got poor treatment in the film. Virtually ignoring the successes of game management (restoration of game animals and some endangered species to healthy numbers, habitat acquisition and the establishment of the vast refuge system), the film suggested game management is not pro-wildlife at all. It is but a "tool" of the hunter.

The film suggested hunters were being outwitted in this country and that out game harvest figures like some kind of trophy list. In a real sense, innocent, helpless wildlife, while ignoring the fact that hunters harvest much fewer animals than nature does through natural causes.

However, the film did score a couple of good points.

It got some mileage from an incident of illegal hunting, pointing out the need of hunters to better police themselves.

In a couple of sequences at one of those exotic game ranches, the film showed scenes of animal abuse which, if true, should be condemned by every sportsman and hunter.

The average, uninformed non-hunter probably won't see the bias of the film. It is the big majority of non-hunters who will ultimately determine the future of hunting. Spread the truth about the film.

A Touch Of Grace
 By Grace Weldon
I'm Liberated, Darn It!

There are certain tasks in our household, arrived at through a quarter of a century of marriage, that have always been categorized as "woman's work" or "man's work." I have always done the family shopping, represented the clan at the PTA, dancing recitals, bluebird fly-ups, remembered the in-laws birthdays, written letters of condolence, etc. My husband had assumed the more important and demanding responsibility for seeing that the dog got his shoes, decided when we needed a new car, saw that insurance premiums were met and turned the water off if the temperature took a turn for the worse. It was reasonably easy to distinguish "man's work" from "woman's work."

Then this "Women's Lib" thing started up....and after a little superficial brainwashing, it occurred to me that I was being dominated. Certain responsibilities were being thrust upon me just because they fell into the category of "woman's work" and I was it. Having already fulfilled my mission in life as baby machine, teacher of the young, keeper of the hearth, my life was, for all practical purposes, over. Mission accomplished....over and out!

"So....in the frenzy of battle....the "no holds barred" type that can occur only in a very good marriage, I rebelled. I would NOT take out the garbage. I would NOT pick up the dry cleaning. I would NOT erase anybody's ring from around the bathtub except my own. I dispised taking out garbage. I loathed doing errands. I had detested doing those tasks for years, but without Woman's Lib to guide me, I didn't know I had any choice. I didn't even know I was a PERSON....with a RIGHT to choose what tasks about the home I would perform. I worked eight hours a day and I just might want to come home and take a nap or read my paper in peace....while he cooked supper and did the laundry!

So what did my husband have to say to that? He liberated me, the rat.

I have my own car, but when it acts up it does no good to suggest he get it tended to.

Now that I'm liberated I have to go down to the unfamiliar recesses of the service department and explain to the man in the greasy white overalls that my little blue Malibu has a noise....a zling noise when I cut the wheels hard to the right. Now mechanics take a very dim view of little old ladies coming into their sacred domain in the first place....and to have a car that has a zling noise....Well, how's that again, Lady? A zling sound, you say?

Garagemen are also not knowledgeable about things-a-ma-jigs or do-hickies and what-cha-ma-call-its. These terms always served very well when something came of Juntor's tricycle and Mom had to fix it. Now that I'm liberated, I've got to bone up on gaskets, carburetors, oil filters and other things that make up my car's innards.

Then there's the matter of buying tires....gadsrey! did you know how many kinds of tires there are? Believe me there's a lot more to a tire than just being round and black and rubber with a hold in the middle.

Well, now that I've experienced liberation, I'm all for.....up to a point I CHOOSE to be a sex symbol....doing the "women's work" things like cooking and laundry, and letting my husband do the "men's work" like servicing the car, taking out the garbage, and picking up the dry cleaning.

"O.K., Hon?"

PUBLIC NOTICE
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
 (S. J.R. NO. 11)
 SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 4, 1975

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the separation of powers, legislative and executive provisions of the Texas Constitution Article II, Separation of Powers, is amended to:

Provide that the powers of government of the State of Texas are divided among three distinct branches: legislative, executive, and judicial. Except as otherwise authorized by the constitution, members of one branch may not exercise any power properly attached to either of the others.

Article III, The Legislature, is amended to:

Continue the present structure of the legislature consisting of a senate with 31 members and a house of representatives with 150 members. The present organization and procedure of the legislature are continued except that the provision allowing closed executive sessions of the senate is omitted. Provisions on the conflict of interest of members of the legislature are continued, as is the governor's power to veto bills or line items in appropriation bills. The article provides for single-member senatorial, representative, and congressional districts. A compensation commission is created to recommend the compensation and allowances to be received by members of the legislature. The legislative compensation, set by law, may not exceed this recommendation and does not take effect until after an intervening general election. The article provides for annual sessions of 140 days in odd-numbered years and 90 days in even-numbered years, and a veto session of 15 days upon request of three-fifths of the membership of each house. The legislature may meet in organizational sessions prior to the convening of the legislature in regular sessions.

Article IV, The Executive, is amended to:

Continue the present status of the governor and all other statewide officers, and include the commissioner of agriculture as an executive department officer. The governor is limited to two consecutive terms. The governor is authorized to designate chairmen of state boards, and to remove gubernatorial appointees to state agencies for cause unless the removal is vetoed by the senate. The article mandates the legislature to provide a new governor to elect an officer prior to inauguration, and permits the legislature to grant powers of fiscal control to the governor. All governmental agencies, with several exceptions, have a life of not more than ten years unless extended by the legislature; and, at the regular session held in odd-numbered years, the governor shall submit to the legislature a report on the organization and efficiency of the executive branch.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the SEPARATION OF POWERS, LEGISLATIVE, AND EXECUTIVE PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective January 1, 1976; except Article III, Section 5, which becomes effective January 1, 1981.

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the judiciary provisions of the Texas Constitution, Article V, The Judiciary, is amended to:

Establish a unified judicial system consisting of the supreme court, court of appeals, district courts, and circuit courts. Existing county courts and county judges are continued until otherwise provided by law. All judges (except municipal judges), district attorneys and district clerks must be elected by the people. The supreme court and the court of criminal appeals are merged into a single court of last resort, and this supreme court is authorized to provide for efficient administration of the judicial system and to balance case loads. Individual rights for a trial by jury and appeal by the accused are continued. The state is granted the right to appeal in criminal cases in limited circumstances, and the legislature is permitted to establish methods of appeal to the courts from decisions of state agencies.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the JUDICIARY PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the voting and election provisions of the Texas Constitution, Article VI, Qualifications and Elections, is amended to:

Provide for registration and qualifications for voting, including voter residency requirements to be established by law. A citizen of the United States who is at least 18 years of age and who meets the registration and residence requirements provided by law is a qualified voter unless the person has been convicted of a felony and for that felony is incarcerated, on parole, or on probation; or unless the person is mentally incompetent as determined by a court. Voting by the people in all elections must be by secret ballot, and the legislature shall provide by law for residence, registration, and absentee voting requirements, for the administration of elections, and for the protection of the electoral process. The general election for state and county officers is to be held in even-numbered years on a date prescribed by law.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the VOTING AND ELECTION PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the education provisions of the Texas Constitution, Article VII, Education, is amended to:

Provide that the Permanent and Available School Funds and the county public school funds are continued for the support of the free public schools. The State Board of Education is retained and the Permanent and Available University Funds are continued for the benefit of The University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems. A new Higher Education Fund for Texas is established for the benefit of colleges and universities outside The University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems. The state ad valorem tax of ten cents, on $100 valuation is continued as the source of revenue for the fund. The ten cent higher education tax may be changed by law within the ten cent maximum. The legislature may allocate by law a portion of the Higher Education Fund to certain state vocational and technical institutes. The article provides that the public education system must furnish each individual an equal educational opportunity, but a school district may provide local enrichment of educational programs exceeding the level provided by the state consistent with general law. Authority to issue Permanent University Bonds is continued but the bonds may not exceed 30% of the Permanent University Fund.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the EDUCATION PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976, except Article VII, Section 9, which becomes effective January 1, 1979.

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the finance provisions of the Texas Constitution, Article VIII, Finance, is amended to:

Provide that state taxes may be levied and collected only by general law and to prohibit any state ad valorem tax on real property or tangible personal property except the ten cent tax provided for in Article VII and a tax of two cents on the $100 assessed valuation to provide funds for the State Building Fund. Provides that all real property and tangible personal property must be ad valorem and uniformly in proportion to market value. Existing exemptions from ad valorem taxation are continued. The present dedication of motor fuel taxes for highway purposes and the Available School Fund is retained. The "pay-as-you-go" principle for the operation of state government is retained. The legislature shall establish separate formulas for appraising land to promote the preservation of open-space land devoted to farm or ranch purposes and may establish separate formulas for appraising land to promote the preservation of forest land devoted to timber production. The $3000 exemption from state ad valorem taxation for residential homesteads is continued and the legislature by law may increase this amount. A separate $3000 exemption from ad valorem taxation by political subdivisions is provided for the residential homestead of persons at least 65 years of age, and the political subdivision may increase this amount. The legislature by law may exempt from ad valorem taxation certain property owned by veterans' organizations, nonprofit water corporations, and persons in need because of age or disability, and economic circumstance. The legislature may also exempt property to preserve historical, cultural or natural history resources. Taxpayers are provided a new method of correcting inequitable tax assessments by paying ad valorem taxes under protest, and suing for a refund in a district court. State debt may be authorized by law only if approved by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature and submitted to and approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the state voting on the question. Public funds and public credit may be used only for public purposes and no public funds or public credit may be used to influence the election of a public officer. The article prohibits a retail sales tax on agricultural machinery or parts, fertilizer, feeds or seeds, prescription drugs or medicine, or food, except food sold by restaurants, for immediate consumption. An assessment voted by marine food or agricultural producers on their product sales is not a tax if provision is made for the individual producer to receive a refund of the assessment when the producer does not desire to be assessed.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the FINANCE PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective on September 1, 1976, except Article VIII, Section 2, Subsections (b) and (c), which becomes effective January 1, 1978, and Article VIII, Section 6, Subsection (c), which becomes effective January 1, 1979.

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

Revising the local government provisions of the Texas Constitution, Article IX, Local Government, is amended to provide that the counties of the state are those that exist on the date of adoption of the local government article and that county boundaries may be changed if approved by a majority of the qualified voters in each affected county who vote on the question. Counties may be merged or county seats relocated if approved by two-thirds of the qualified voters in each affected county who vote on the question. The present elected constitutional county officers are retained and four year terms of office are provided. The voters of a county may create additional offices, eliminate the duties and functions of offices. The voters may also grant ordinance making power to the governing body of the county. Cities and towns having more than 1,500 inhabitants may become home-rule cities. Tax limitations are established for operating purposes for cities and counties and the legislature is required to fix debt limits for cities, towns, counties, and school and community junior college districts.

The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment revising the LOCAL GOVERNMENT PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."
