Hospital Auxiliary Scrambles Up

$1,400 For TCH

Hospital Administrator Dick Cordes accepted a check totaling over $1,400 from Mrs. John Risinger representing the Tyler County Hospital Women's Auxiliary on Monday. According to Cordes, "The money will be used to buy a high speed dental unit which is needed for oral surgery." According to Cordes the Auxiliary has also provided the hospital funding for a mimeograph machine, a suction machine and an incubator unit. The Women's Auxiliary sponsored a benefit golf tournament at the Dogwood Country Club to raise the funds for the project.

The Florida Scramble event, which was held May 2, saw some 50 entrants compete. Winners of the golf action included Punkin Ohlen, Polly Archer, Bill Martin and Otis Fortenberry. Players were encouraged to compete seriously for the top positions by two offers of $100 each for hole-in-one aces on each of the number 2 and number 7 holes on the local links. Coordinators of the event pointed out after play was over that the offers which were made by Dr. Barelay and Joe Edwards, ended up as straight contributions toward the Auxiliary project anyway.

Council Asks Bid For Garbage Truck

The Woodville City Council met in regular session Monday and discussed advertising for bids for a new garbage truck to back up their present unit and agreed to meet again soon to prepare final details necessary to allow a cable tv company franchise to locate in Woodville.

The meeting began with discussion of a bill from the Tyler County Commissioners Court amounting to some $415 resulting from the city's use of the sanitary land fill located east of town. Councilmen are interested in the commissioners explaining county policy regarding other cities' rights regarding the use of the dump and refuse pick-up arrangements.

The council agreed to invite the commissioners to a council meeting to explain the basis for the cost to Woodville for use of the garbage dump. A representative of the Tyler County Industrial Corporation, Major M.F. Alford appeared before the council asking for an extension of seven years, onto an already existing agreement, for the city not to annex industrial acreage presently controlled by the corporation for that time period. Alford indicated that the Corporation felt that the seven year tax advantage to prospective industry would be an important selling point for the industrial group. Alford indicated that the notice of the seven year extension would be included in the ad valorem tax section of the 9-year-old Industrial Corporations brochure. The council agreed to the Industrial groups request. Expense money was authorized for Mayor Terry Watts to attend a Criminal Justice Council meeting in Houston on June 11 regarding development of a planned new jail for Tyler County.

Following action at a meeting which took place Thursday, May 13, the council has granted a 50 cent an hour raise to "every full-time hourly employee." Raises of 30 cents and 35 cents were also granted to persons who haven't been with the city long enough to qualify for the full time wage increase," councilmen stated. Councilmen also agreed to reconvene soon to finalize an ordinance allowing a cable tv franchise to start operations in Woodville.

The basics of the contract agreement between the Cable TV System Company of Dallas and the city of Woodville are still being ironed out by City Attorney Josiah Wheat. Council members expect to meet "in a week or so" to approve the final draft of the ordinance.

'Child Find' Underway

The Texas Education Agency (TEA) has begun a statewide effort to locate and identify every handicapped child of school age who is not now in school. Region V Education Service Center in Beaumont is among the 20 state centers working with TEA in the project, called "Child Find," said George Barclay, County School Superintendent for Tyler County.

"Child Find" is designed to search out young people between the ages of 3 and 21 who are blind, deaf, physically handicapped, emotionally disturbed, or mentally retarded, and those with learning disabilities," he said. Through comprehensive statewide publicity and door-to-door canvass, handicapped children not in school will be contacted, their families counseled, and the child will begin receiving the education he needs.

More than 10,000 handicapped are presently not receiving educational service promised them by Texas law which provides for public special education for every handicapped child in the state. If a child's needs cannot be met educationally, Child Find serves as a coordinator, matching available services and resources to the individual situation of the child. TEA will not duplicate services of other private organizations or public agencies, but act as a "catalyst," representing and communicating the availability of special services to the parents on a person-to-person basis.

A project of TEA's division of special education, Child Find is financed by a grant from the U.S. Office of Education, Bureau of Education for the handicapped. Today TEA and local independent school districts are serving more than 300,000 students through special education programs. By 1980 we expect to have more than 450,000 thousands of Texas youngsters and their parents, through the project call Child Find.

Because of the service our agency extends, and its contact with people, we still ask that persons make us aware of children who have special educational needs. The Child Find contact person in the local school district would appreciate your cooperation in locating these children.

A list of contact persons of school districts located in your Tyler County follows: Jane Boykin, Tyler County Plan A Coop, 837-2225. Tom P. Lham, Woodville I.S.D. Superintendent, 283-3752. David Malone, Chester I.S.D. Superintendent, 969-2211. James Handley, Colmesneil I.S.D. Superintendent, 837-2225. A.B. Crank, Springer I.S.D. Superintendent, 429-3451. Grover De Warren, I.S.D. Superintendent, 347-2241. George W. Barclay, Tyler County School Superintendent, 283-3152.

League To Meet The Woodville School Service League will meet Monday, May 17, 7:00 p.m. in the High School Cafeteria. Officers for the 1976-1977 school year will be elected and work committees will report on this year's activities. All parents, teachers and other persons interested in Woodville schools are asked to attend.

Following action at a meeting which took place Thursday, May 13, the council has granted a 50 cent an hour raise to "every full-time hourly employee." Commissioners Hear Garbage Woes

The Tyler County Commissioners Court was preempted by two determined Tyler County residents Monday when a request to move unsightly garbage at the intersection of the old and new Beaufort Highways received immediate attention by the Court.

The two women, Mrs. Bob Boykin and Thelma Cain divided some 45 minutes before the official agenda of the court had a chance to get underway, by calling the overflow garbage containers "a disgrace to Tyler County."

Sandstrom reported that the "Last 100 yards of the sanitary landfill are the toughest on your equipment."

Commissioners acted promptly and had the containers removed to a different location. Toward the end of the regular meeting which began about 10:45 a.m. Monday and ended around noon, the commissioners heard a proposal from Gus Sandstrom of the San Antonio firm of Pakmore Inc, which is involved in building refuse truck body

County Roads Get Striping A contract was awarded to Prismo Universal Corporation of Rockville, Maryland. Low bid was $318,799.47. The project, which will require an estimated 50 working days, is for thermoplastic edge line striping amounting to some 33.5 miles in Tyler County.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Editor: County Booster, Woodville, Texas 75797, May 4, 1976.

Dear Sir:

The following incident is being related as I saw it happen while visiting my sister's home just outside of Woodville during the Easter holidays. I hope that other individuals may be spared the anguish and frustration that was suffered by my family on the Saturday night before Easter Sunday.

At approximately 12 p.m. "midnight", the phone rang and woke us after we had retired for the night. We were startled when the Sheriff's dispatcher told my nephew, Bob Bailey Jr., that Deputy Sheriff "Big Dog" McKee was on his way to our home to talk to us. Bob asked the dispatcher if they were sure that they had the right residence, that he was speaking to the dispatcher and gave the dispatcher the address and phone number. After being assured that the dispatcher was calling the right residence, Bob tried to find out what the visit was about. Bob was told through the dispatcher by Deputy Sheriff McKee that he was suffering from a heart ailment. Since my father had left only a short-time before to return to his home in Beaumont, we immediately felt that the message must have something to do with him. By this time the women of the house were up and we really had an emotional group. This anxiety waiting for several minutes without hearing from Deputy Sheriff McKee, my brother-in-law, Robert Bailey, again called the dispatcher and was told that Deputy Sheriff McKee was on his way and again assured us that there was no mistake in the fact that he was coming to talk with the Bailey family. By now we were highly concerned as to the nature of the message. We could not understand why Deputy Sheriff McKee had not simply delivered the message to our home. Why did they phone in advance? The idea of coming to one's home with a message is normally done to prevent worry and shock of delivering a death message by phone or some other agency. The phone call from the dispatcher had only created undue worry in the Bailey family. By this time we had envisioned all kinds of accidents that could have happened. Finally, after what seemed like hours, some 30 to 45 minutes later, Robert called the dispatcher once more. Robert was then told that Deputy Sheriff McKee had already talked with the party involved; that they had been given a wrong phone number. No one called us back to explain the mistake but instead, let us worry until we called back ourselves. Then the dispatcher explained how sorry they were for the mistake and sincerely believe he was being sorry for the inconvenience and worry suffered by my family. However, being sorry is not enough for this type of mistaken judgment on the part of our law officials.

This incident in the right family at the right time could easily cause a death due to cardiac arrest in a cardiac patient.

My only hope is that this letter will open the eyes and ears of those involved so that this type of mistaken judgment will not happen again in our fair city. I feel it is my obligation to your city to disclose such actions and feel that it has been fulfilled through this letter.

Sincerely yours,

suggested that the court consider reeling the loader which could travel around to the various garbage collection sites and dump the trash to keep the areas clean. Commissioners indicated that the cost of maintaining such a system would be very high.

"County Judge Tom Dick Main said "We're going to have to come up with something."

When the regular portion of the meeting got underway, Commissioners:

- heard a proposal from the Dites Oil Company for a one mile road, 4 to 5 inches and 20 feet wide for $8,190. The road which will join the Benjamin Park, the Rodeo Ground and the Tyler County Airport should improve greatly those areas.
- approved the county treasurers report;
- approved the agricultural extension agents report;
- heard a report from Chamber President Carl Nichols of a proposal to tax all areas outside the corporate city limits in Tyler County with an additional one percent sales tax, he says, is allowed by law and which he indicated could add some $31,000 annually to the precincts from which they are derived.

Nichols said that a letter will be prepared and he sent to all county courts in Texas, petitioning them on the idea.

Nichols termed the idea "a partial inflation hedge" and said he did not know of any real opposition to the plan.

The Commissioners agreed to allow Nichols to prepare a letter to the court to be sent out by the court to the other counties in the State addressing them with the lead.

Nichols reported to the commission of recent success with the Woodville City Hotel/Motel tax which so far has netted some $4,450.

I had a boss years ago in the radio business who said if somebody wasn't using you weren't a very good businessman. The suits and judgemental used to come in through the front door as regularly as the postman. Course that was thirty years ago when the postman came pretty regularly.

But even with his formula on how to be successful in business, I wonder how he would have survived in the adversary law of the 1970's. A few recent cases come to mind. The Monongahela Case - threatens to reduce the harvest of sawtimber from our national forests. Not only would drive the price of wood products and paper sky-high, it would make us a huge importer of wood from timber in Arab Embargo in wood as it were.

All because a group of legal eagles for a compensation to challenge a law that was clearly not enacted with any knowledge of what today's professional foresters are able to accomplish in the wide range of timber utilization and recreation management on our federally owned timberlands.

They have to be a bunch of egomaniacs rather than people sincerely interested in updating an obsolete act like the law written 79 years ago. This next example is even a little harder to believe. Lawyers for two Indian tribes in the state of Maine had most definitely lost under a law nearly 200 years old, when Maine became a state; that those two tribes legally own more than ten million acres within Maine's boundaries; and the white man must pay damages amounting to the tribes for the 200 years the whites have "squatted" on their property.

Don't laugh! The United States Justice Department says the Indians have a case, although it takes any judgment on the action is years away. But the repercussions are being felt now. Some property owners in the area say they can't sell their homes or farms, because there is no way to get clear title to the property.

And you thought the people who kept surfacing with "deeds" in Manhattan Island were crazy. I'll save the best till last, because it happened over the past ten years, and it was the little "Highway" or reverse this time it was the Indians who were wiped out. In the early 1800's, the U.S. Forest Service did a timber survey in the south-west corner of Colorado, and it determined that there could support a plywood plant. The additional timber harvest, for wood to be used in the long-range supply, a decision entirely within the regulations under which the forest Service operates.

That seemed like a good deal. The area had fallen on hard times and there were people on welfare, and there was a large Indian population, clearly in need of jobs. So, the community of Cortez, a little bity town, raised an $200,000. Every body from an elderly couple and their life savings to a kindergarten class put money in the pot. The final commitment to build the plant came to more than seven million dollars.

Then came the Green Panthers. The Green who? A group of preservationists and city slickers who didn't want any industry in southwest Colorado. And they didn't even know Colorado was nature's playground, a country for backpackers, stargazing and a few other amenities. The hell with that! Those people of the area who created 300 new jobs where there were none. An industry that provided, through taxes, better schools, and community services. And certainly don't worry about the old couple and their life savings, or the faith a kindergarten class and their teacher had in their community. Cut off the timber supply and the mill does down.

After all, the government knows best. The Green Panthers could tell you that. As for my old boss, Rogan Jones, he knew how to handle a bid or tender suit. He taught Don Quixote how to tilt windmills. But today's suits and government interpretation of the law, complete with Congressional showing of the law, please wouldn't have been a step of it.

The Consumer Alert

By John I. Hill, Attorney General

AUSTIN—Our Consumer Protection Division has had many complaints recently about "misrepresentation" where you are promised a certain amount of money, but you don't get it.

There are a number of ways in which a person can be misled. One way is through a contract. If you sign a contract, you are bound by its terms. If the contract is not fair, you should not sign it. If you do sign it, you should read it carefully before you sign. If you have any questions, you should ask the other party to explain them to you.

Another way a person can be misled is through a salesperson. If a salesperson tells you something that is not true, you should not buy from them. If you do buy from them, you should return the goods to them as soon as you can.

Our Consumer Protection Division suggests the following ways to avoid getting misled in a home repair or improvement deal:

- Try to avoid dealing with a contractor who solicits business door-to-door unless you determine that he has an established place of business.
- If you have a consumer complaint about a home repair or improvement deal, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division or your county district attorney.

Make the most of your electricity and you'll make the least of your electric bill.

One of the best places to start is with a heat pump. A single, most efficient device that both cools and heats your home. It's one of the most efficient climate control systems available. It takes the place of both an air conditioner and a furnace and probably should in your home.

What makes it so efficient? The fact that you can get more out of it than you put into it. And that saves energy and money.

Another way to make the most of your electricity is to properly insulate your home. This alone can have the greatest effect on the size of your bill. Start by giving your attic the R-19 test. Check to see if you have the blown-in or batt type. Measure the thickness. Then call an insulation contractor or dealer, or GSU. You'll learn if your home is properly insulated.

If you're moving into a new home, or planning to build one, make sure it's been Energy Checked by our Energy Management Team. It assures you that things like insulation, dampers, weather stripping, wiring, ductwork and other features of the home are energy efficient. And that means savings on your bill.

We think it's important for you to get answers about your electric service. So if you have a question, just ask us.

BETTY WEEKS 283-3110

Holiday Pinings

by Kathy Kinnon

This is a very special week at Holiday Pines Lodge. It's National Nursing Home Week and a very good time for you to find out for yourself what nursing homes are all about. We are inviting you to come visit with us, look over our facility, and participate in our programs with us. We exercise every morning at nine. On Thursday, we will be painting ceramics in our craft shop most of the morning and at 1:30 Brad Smith will be here to call our weekly Bingo game. Then, at 6:30 p.m. the Melody Masters will play for our dance. Willie Pate is baking a batch of her Pizzelles for refreshments. You can't miss that treat.

For the last few weeks Mrs. Shepherd has been filling in for Leilla Sturrock for our Friday afternoon Bible Study. However, Mrs. Sturrock will be back this week. This Sunday we are looking forward to having David Baker back to conduct our Sunday church services. Last year David was an important part of our volunteer services and took a special interest in our residents and did what he could to fill their spiritual needs. He has been following up his calling by attending East Texas Baptist College in Marshall and it is good to have him back.

"BE REALLY CONCERNED"

Write to "Reaching Out" The Evangelistic Ministry, Star Rt. 1, Box 82 Woodville, TX, 75079. There is help for the following: (1) Problem drinker and his family; (2) The youth or adult who could be rehabilitated; (3) The abused child; (4) The forgotten elderly; Howard E. Dowden, Minister.

"IT IS WRITTEN"

During the Old Testament period God communicated His will in several ways: Heb. 1:1,2. The Bible was recorded by inspiration (I Peter 1:20,21; II Tim. 3:16; Eph. 3:1-5). We have full confidence that competent translations are the translations of the very words of God so that we are able to know the will of God.

IS THE NEW TESTAMENT THE ONLY MEANS OF KNOWING THE WILL OF GOD TODAY? Yes, for condemnation is placed on anyone who would change or pervert the gospel of Christ (Gal. 1:6-9). For God to reveal today what He has already revealed in the New Testament would be needless.

In spite of this, some in the last few hundred years have claimed direct revelations from God. Some of these are: Joseph Smith (Mormon Church), C. T. Russell (founder of the present day Jehovah's Witnesses), Mary Baker Eddy (Christian Scientist) and others. These religions are diverse one from the other. Each will not agree that the others are right, yet, each claims to have direct information from God. It is not evident that someone is mistaken?

Many today believe that in addition to the Bible, God communicates directly with them telling them what to do about this or that. Since the Bible claims perfection (James 1:25) and completeness (II Tim. 3:16,17) any claim of additional revelations is in strict violation of these plain New Testament statements.

God speaks to men today only through His written word (The Bible). BEWARE, that "wee small voice" you think you are hearing is not from God.

Send your Bible questions or comments to Glenn Melton, 306 N. Beach, Woodville, Texas 75079, ph. 283-5402.

teer can enrich a person's life. We've asked her to come back and conduct another volunteer training session at Holiday Pines Lodge on June 15th at 9:30 a.m.

Do you know where Holiday Pines is located? We're back in the woods where you can listen to the birds and watch the squirrels and exercise on the front porch, without anyone watching. Coming from town you turn left on Beach Street and take a beautiful little half mile drive and turn left at the first black top road. The garden you'll see to the right is ours. Mr. Wiggins and Bob Cliburn will probably be working in it.

This week we had a nice visit from Mrs. Alice Fredricks and we have added her to our volunteer corps. She brought us some plastic capes and went with us on our Heritage Garden trip.

Do something special for National Nursing Home Week - come visit us.

GIVE PRAISE IN CHURCH

WORSHIP BEGINS IN THE HOME

Our home is more than just a pretty structure, of course it does provide comfort, but beyond that, it is a place where love abounds. It is a place where love is abundant, it is a place of cooperation, and it is a place where the Lord is worshipped. From the home, our relationship with God is carried over into the church. It is there that my family is able to share worshipping the Lord with others. Ours would not be a full life if we did not participate in worship at home and church. Attend church this week and join us in worshipping the Lord.

The church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government of society or way of life will long preserve and the freedom which we have to enjoy will inevitably perish. Therefore, even though it often seems of little or no value to support the church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the church because it is the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
