Commissioners hear Solid Waste Ideas

Council Tables GSU Increase

The Woodville City Council met in regular session Monday tackling some 14 items on a lengthy agenda which included a rate increase request by Gulf States Utilities and complaints filed to Southwestern Bell Telephone Company officials present at the meeting.

The Woodville City Aldermen heard complaints leveled at the Southwestern Bell telephone company by Tyler County Hospital Administrator Dick Cordes for apparent equipment failures which resulted in that hospital's inability, Cordes said, to transmit an electrocardiogram signal to a Beaumont Cardiology specialist on Sunday.

According to Cordes, repeated calls were made to telephone company personnel regarding the apparent faulty signal relay on for the special EKG telephone which the hospital has for quick interpretation needed," Cordes said, "for speedy treatment

Runoff Recount To Be Held

Following a protest Friday concerning the apparent legality of a recount in the Tyler County June 5 runoff race for sheriff, County Democratic Chairman Morris Clemmons has again rescheduled a recounting procedure to begin Wednesday, June 16 at 8 a.m.

Officials believe the recount, which also involves the District 15 representative race, which was won by Jim Browder by 43 votes over S.M. "Doc" Elliott of Dayton and part of Thursday to complete.

Craven's protest apparently centers around a time limitation in which he alleges the recount procedure must be held and, according to Craven, some details that Herman Nolan, his opponent, failed to comply with in calling for the recount procedure.

According to Clemmons who said he had talked to the Secretary of State's office, "It's our obligation to go ahead with the recount and whatever comes of it will be decided on a District court level."

for possible heart attack victims."

According to Cordes, "I referred the problem to our Chief of Staff, Dr. A.C. Ohlen who also called Houston to try to get results."

Ohlen told the group that the Houston office apparently said the problem was an "Emergency" and the repair service would be available at 8 a.m. on Monday.

Ohlen said he told the telephone company employee "Do you mean for us to hold off heart attacks till 8 a.m. tomorrow? What do you call an emergency?"

Hospital officials also reported that the pay phone located at the hospital was out of order.

Billy Rose, chief linesman for the Woodville office of Southwestern Bell indicated that the person who handled the call interpreted the Tyler County Hospital "To be a large metropolitan facility," and, according to Rose, "he probably thought that with just one line out, that there wasn't much of a problem."

Rose indicated that a Project Engineer would be in Woodville on Wednesday to study the problem.

Councilmen also indicated concerns about Woodville's post-pay phone system saying that newcomers to the area become frustrated when they constantly lose money in Woodville pay phones by putting money in first, then losing a dime.

According to Pircher, "the Woodville exchange with 32 such phones and Spurger with 6 phones are the only two exchanges in East Texas on the post pay system."

Pircher indicated that the cost of changing the phone system would cost $260 per pay station, "not to mention the other costs necessary at the other end."

Pircher indicated that the company did have plans to change to the other system where a dime is needed to get an open line on the phone.

In other business the council voted to table "for further study" a average 8.9 percent rate increase request from Gulf States Utilities Company.

An appeal by Woodville District Manager Wyatt Bell and Beaumont representative Bill Holland pointed to rising costs in the areas of construction costs, labor and interest cost as main reasons for the increase.

The last increase for GSU was approved in June of 1972.

The utility company said their rate increase study by a certified Public Accounting firm produced an 8.9 percent average increase statistic which would apply to Woodville. "That average however, could fluctuate from 7 to 11 percent," he said.

Dr. Jim Jinnette pointed out the it seemed like the larger users would be affected by the higher percentage of increase.

Mayor Terry Watts reminded the company that many of the people in the Woodville area are on a fixed income and this increase could affect their pocket-books substantially.

GSU officials told the group that it was hard to figure the average for the Woodville District because of the large number of near minimum electrical users who maintain campuses in the county.

In other business councilmen opened bids from two firms regarding the purchase of a new garbage truck for the city. Councilmen said they'll study the bids pre-

Commissioners Dump Solid Waste Program

Tyler County Commissioners spent six hours Monday conducting county business at their regular monthly meeting using three of those hours to reach a decision to curtail the present county garbage pickup system "for a period of 90 days."

Some residents will now be forced to drive 100 miles roundtrip to dispose of garbage in the County sanitary landfill located two miles east of Woodville.

The commissioners say they had "no choice" in the matter with only $2,281 left for Solid Waste expenditures.

The County pickup system will officially stop on Wednesday, June 30. Residents will be required to make the trip to the dump located in the center of Tyler County.

A portion of the solid waste discussion was interrupted when a county employee who had been bulldozing refuse at the dump came into the courtroom complaining of a hydraulic breakdown. The employee was informed by one commissioner that his job might be in jeopardy and that he "ought to go ahead and schedule his vacation right away."

Commissioners instructed the man to have the welding repair done. Commissioners blame the lack of funds in the solid waste program to extensive repairs on a garbage truck with an apparent faulty transmission problem; which the commissioners discovered when it was first delivered. Commissioners reported that the truck has since been sent to several major repair stations, but with no apparent sustaining repair.

The Court has entered into a suit with the company that sold the truck. County Attorney Jim Allison said the suit was docketed in Tyler but that he didn't know when it would come up for review.

The commissioners say they have one good truck in use "But you can't run solid waste in Tyler County with just one truck," said County Judge Tom Dick Mann. Curtis Craft, who says he is "new to Tyler County," spoke at the court meeting coming "prepared with suggestions."

Craft, who spoke only in terms of Precinct 1 asked the court if they had considered picking up the garbage by contracting it out to private contractors. Craft said "Quite a few people are perturbed about the garbage situation since its an eyesore. It's extremely offensive to me," he said.

Craft asked the court if another vehicle could be purchased. Commissioners reminded those present of the current lack of funds facing the county's solid waste program.

Repeatedly throughout the meeting County Judge Mann told the group that "I want to go on record as being 'for' stopping the present container pick-up system...that will stand as my recommendation," he said. Craft inquired as to how long it would take the court to get the cans back in service. The court responded that they didn't know and couldn't provide an answer until studies had been made about improving the finances of the county in terms of the solid waste program.

Jim Dillon, a local attorney and proprietor of the Woodville Inn appeared at the meeting asking the court what they had to show for a program that started several years ago with $160,000. "We have nothing permanent to show for the program," Dillon complained. He added that the system was unfair especially to the citizens of Woodville who were being double-billed for garbage pickup while other cities in the county were not affected by the charge. "Some people in Woodville pay from $24 to $700 per year for the service. Is it fair?" he said.

Dillon said the main problem was that it's a matter of what you can afford. "We'd all like to own a Cadillac, but we can't."

Commissioners agreed overall that the container placement system had been abused "with people putting everything from Sheddand ponies to hobby horses into the containers."

Commissioners hoped for the appearance of a individual who they said had indicated an interest in possibly starting a door-to-door contract pickup business in the county. But that individual made no appearance at the Monday meeting.

The idea surfaced about having each precinct be responsible for its own contracting arrangements, and with it's own central sanitary dump area.

Commissioner Bo Jordan said, "The only way to solve the solid waste problem is to go door-to-door."

The Commissioners declined "Not to dig in an Empty barrel" and voted to clean the solid waste pickup system in Tyler County for a period of 90 days beginning Wednesday, June 30...and to keep the solid waste disposal dump open seven-days-a-week."

All of the containers located around the county will be picked up and brought to their respective precinct barns for welding repairs and new paint jobs, after June 30.

An Angellina business-man in the court gallery spoke to the court about successes the County of Angellina has had in its solid waste program. Andy Craven, representing the Plains Machinery Company, reported that Angellina County's solid waste program had a surplus of $19,000. Craven said "to do it you've got to get tough with your customers."

"If you get something that works (in garbage disposal) then you are more or less the exception than the rule" Craven said.

New Telephone Books Due

Mailing of the 1976-77 edition of the Woodville and Spurger telephone directories began Saturday, June 12, Gary Pircher, local manager for Southwestern Bell, announced.

The cover of the directory, designed by artist Stanley Meltzoff, for use throughout the Bell System during the Bicentennial year, commemorates the nation's 200th birthday and marks the 100th anniversary of the invention of the telephone. Among the 26 characters depicted on the Bicentennial cover are the faces of figures from American history, celebrities, and mythical personalities—each using a different phone to convey a message.

The first few pages of the book are known as the "Call Guide." The "Call Guide" offers telephone users a simple and quicker method for finding emergency numbers and information for placing both local and long distance calls.

The new directory contains approximately 4,250 names. It has 25 pages of alphabetical listings and 56 pages of classified listings.

"We've ordered 10,385 copies of the new directory," Pircher said, "to take care of the normal growth and demand that we expect to receive during the year." The initial mailing consisted of about 4,322 directories. "The new directory is an up-to-date list of the latest information concerning Woodville and Spurger telephone numbers," Pircher said.

If you are not sure of the number you are calling, Pircher added, "please look it up in your new directory. It will save you time."

Twice As Nice

"YOU'RE KID-ING"—That's what proud Mom Mrs. Fred Sullivan (shown above) said when she was told by her unsuspecting doctor that she'd just completed delivery of twin girls on Wednesday, June 9. The girls were born only four minutes apart. Listed as "Number 1" and "Number 2" in their nursery crib, the kids are named Kathryn Elaine and Karen Elizabeth. According to Tyler County Hospital officials, the birth of twins occurs two or three times a year.

Council Tables

In other business during the lengthy meeting councilmen converted to the place system of holding seats on the city commission. They drew for those places at the meeting Monday.

"No parking" signs will be placed on the East side of North Texas, for one-block between Hwy. 190 and Dogwood St., as a result of Council action Monday. Dr. Jim Jannette reported that random parking on private property in the area caused some concern by the property owners who asked that something be done. Council voted to install the signs and according to Walt Davis, the signs will be installed soon.

A "No Parking" sign will be changed to read "Unloading Zone" in an area adjacent to the South Magnolia Drive in City Center as a result of council action.

The move is made because of unloading activity in the area which has caused some apparent traffic congestion.

Councilmen indicated that the city needs to upgrade its growth and it needed a new subdivision like the one planned by Eashaw but wasn't in a position to help at this time.

In other action the Woodville City Council passed an ordinance which will levy parking fines "Up to $200" at the Woodville post office for those parking in unauthorized parking areas.

The ordinance will raise street parking fines from 25 cents to 50 cents, and from 31 to 52, effective, City Manager, Walt Davis said. "When we run out of old tickets,"

The ordinance approved an ordinance on Cable TV for Woodville subject to the approval of the TV stations which would appear on channels through the Cable TV system.

Both the bride-to-be and the prospective groom are graduates of Kirby High School in Woodville.

For Fathers Day A Promise Is Better Than Nothing

BY JOHN SNIPPEN

Lest we forget, Father's Day is Sunday, June 20. While most sons and daughters are pondering what to give their dad, a friend surprised me by saying his gift would be doing nothing.

"Some gift," I thought aloud.

Nevertheless, he explained further, showing me the following list he presented to his father:

"I promise to not spill ice-cold malds down your back while you are driving the car. Although you did not whip me, the expression on your face was enough to put fear into my car."

"I promise not to hook you or any part of your clothing when we are fishing. Nor will I complain about the lack of fish, knowing that if I did, you'd catch a whopper."

"I promise not to crash the riding mower through your workshop and never to let it get out of control again."

"I promise never to criticize your choice of 'less-pensive' motels when we are on vacation, knowing that the money we saved gave the family more time to travel. I'll never forget, however, the time you took a wrong turn and we were lost the entire state."

Finally, I promise not to be ashamed of you. After all, you never were ashamed to call me your son, even at my worst."

Lilley To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Lilley of Fred announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Jessie to Sherman Stephens, son of Mrs. Betty Stephens of Silsbee.

Rev. Aubrey Greenash will officiate, June 25 at 8 p.m. in South Spurger Baptist Church.

Also at this meeting, the winners of the Bi-centennial Essay Contest sponsored by the Texas Lodge of Research among the children at the Masonic Home and School, Fort Worth, will receive their prizes. Gospel Festival To Be Held At Kirby High Auditorium

Woodville will fall into national prominence this weekend when it hosts the sixth annual session of the All American Gospel Quartet Festival.

Gospel groups from all the southern states have been invited; and hundreds of gospel musicians will converge on Woodville for three days of whirlwind activities, beginning Friday night, June 18, and continuing through Sunday, June 20. Some out-of-state singers have already arrived and several days of sight-seeing, rest, and relaxation. They will sing at a closed concert for the residents of the Woodville Convalescent Center on Thursday night. Spectators and lovers of gospel music are invited to hear all these singers perform in concerts on Friday night, Saturday night, and again Sunday afternoon in the Kirby High School Auditorium.

Special programs of gospel singing by these groups will be held at 10:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. on Saturday on the courthouse lawn and at the Alabama-Coushatta Indians Reservation west of Woodville. These concerts are free and open to everybody.

E.W. "Woody" Woodrume, a teacher at Nederland High School, is the founder and coordinator of this event. He says, "Its purpose is to show to America some of the clean-cut, well-groomed, young Americans, who can have a music festival without having the 'pot', drugs, and 'booze' which are so apparent in the rock music festivals seen on TV."

"We invite and challenge the church people in Texas and encouragement to these fine Americans by attending the concerts and other activities. Those long-haired, loud-mouthed, unkempt, hippy-type troublemakers who seem to delight in degrading America will not be given any place whatsoever on our program," Woodrume concluded.

Where can we find men like these?

On July 4, 1776, fifty-six men sat down and invented a country—and doing so, they pledged their lives, their future, and their sacred honor. They were determined men whose resistance to tyranny, regulation, and intervention still inspires us all.

The country they invented has prospered and grown beyond their wildest dreams. Two hundred years later we are once again faced with a multitude of new offices and swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

Today our system of free enterprise is under systematic attack by our present government and politicians. Unless we can once again find men of courage, vision, and determination, the great American system of capitalistic free enterprise may very well vanish from the American scene, taking the world's most envied standard of living with it.

Are there such men in this '76?

Miss Tamii Reasberry, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl while the ringbearer was John O'Conner.

Following the impressive ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church. Members of the hospitality included Kathy Ray, Pam Kervin, Kathy Buckner, cousin of the groom; Diane Holton, cousin of the bride; Stacy Buckner, sister of the groom; and the bride's aunts Mrs. Billy Lazenby and Mrs. Bodie Cards.

After a short wedding trip to Bryan, Texas the couple will be at home in Warren, until the groom begins Spartan Aeronautic School in Tulsa, Oklahoma in August.

This freedom we are guaranteed by the Constitution and with that goes the freedom to propagate our faith. "Freedom of worship" is not "Freedom from worship."

"We invite" not only members of Katy Baptist, members of all faiths from over the area, to join in the week of special services.

To lead in the preaching services for the week will be J.P. Owens, an Area Director who works with all the churches. This will also give us an opportunity to give support to missions. Special music will be a feature of each night's program.

Sundown Begins Second Season

INDIAN VILLAGE—A conflict between the American Indian and the white people in East Texas appears imminent in coming weeks. In fact, open warfare and heated debates are expected. Fortunately, the peace-loving citizens of the Big Thicket need not worry because the entire affair will be on stage at 8:00 p.m. at the Coushatta Indian Reservation as part of Beyond The Sundown, a historical outdoor drama, beginning its second season Friday, June 18 for a nine-week summer run ending August 21. It will be presented nightly except Sundays.

More than 40,000 spectators are expected to see the excitement of a professionally-produced outdoor drama with a talented cast of 65, including a Broadway actor. The playwright of Beyond The Sundown is Kermit Hunter, Dean of School of the Arts at Southern Methodist University in Dallas. Dr. Hunter is well known for his achievements as a playwright, musician and poet as well as an educator. He has had more plays produced successfully than any other American playwright.

The historical drama is produced on a permanent stage in the 1,545-seat Sundown amphitheatre, built in 1975 as a Bicentennial project. Instruments ranging from tiny finger drums to huge booming bass drums are used in the musical score written by Frank Lewis who is on the faculty of the Yale School of Music. The music for the drama is played through a quadruple-phonetic sound system.

Battle scenes simulating the conflict for the Texas independence are just an example of the many highlights of the exciting drama. For more information, call 713/563-4391 or write Beyond The Sundown, Route 3, Box 640, Livingston, Texas 77351.

Alan Miller's T-Wheeler

Here it is less than one month until we officially observe our two hundredth anniversary on July 4th, and already the "creepies" are coming out of the woodwork with all kinds of threats concerning what they plan to do to give our country a black eye for an anniversary present.

It's really kind of sad. The bombers who leave their lethal packages in front of banks and airline offices are probably trying to tell the rest of us something, although for the life of me, I don't know what it is. And those folks that look over the Statue of Liberty were calling themselves "Veterans Against the War. Which war? I thought we shook that one off, if they're talking about Viet Nam. Or is there another war going on I don't know anything about.

John Kennedy asked years ago at his inauguration that we consider "what we can do for our country," but in the intervening years, too many of us are intent upon seeking our own institutions, belittling our national accomplishments, and they have been many, or some just living as parasites at the public trough, expecting the government to hand carry us from the cradle to the grave.

With the primary campaign all but over, except for some state conventions and voting of uncommitted delegates, perhaps the bombast and rhetoric will be replaced by reasoned exploration of the challenges we face, with attention to a more fiscally considered approach to our domestic problems. We still need to expand our productive work force, eliminate the federal and state programs that encourage people to remain unemployed, and create a capital market that encourages plan expansion and new markets for goods and services.

The Centennial of 1876 celebrated our emergence as the world's premiere industrial power. The challenges and opportunities of that day, remember, were scarcely a decade after a holocaust that took hundreds of thousands of lives, that left the South prostrate and under the heel of a vindictive Federal government.

Perhaps that's why, for most of us in the South, the bombings, matches, and demonstrations elsewhere in the country seem so totally foreign to what we consider the American ethic.

Many of us still cherish our American traditions, by the American flag from our homes and businesses, while others prefer to burn it, or wear it on the seat of their pants.

It may be a little surprising, and even disconcerting to people in the North-east, to see the South and West increasing their economic base, adding to their population, and still retaining a measure of the charm and confidence that made the Old South a ready theme for countless novels.

We have outgrown our "Selmas" and confrontations at colleges and high schools, and are decades ahead of our "Yankee cousins" in Boston, Detroit and elsewhere.

Maybe that's why many of us in the Southern tier of our fifty states truly feel 1976 is a time of celebration, and not a time to encourage the rabble and ego-trials to "demand" what "rights" we want at most of its people, and the "image" projects to the rest of the world.

Texans Forget To Renew Fishing Licenses

AUSTIN-Has your fishing license expired? If it has, you may be among more than 100,000 Texans who have possibly forgotten to renew their state fishing licenses this spring.

It became apparent at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department that something was amiss when the sale of fishing licenses this year continued to run far behind the number sold through this time last year. By the end of April, there was a decrease of 110,000 from April 1975.

For the department this has resulted in a revenue decrease of $47,822.45 from the fishing license fees collected through April last year.

A check with the sports Fishing Institute in Washington, D.C., revealed that throughout the nation other states are experiencing increases in fishing license sales as they had expected over the past few years. The only possible reason for the decline in Texas, it was suggested, "is the anglers who bought their licenses since September 1974 have done so on a 12-month basis rather than for a fiscal year period as is the custom in the past."

"That is, a person who has a license this month, but not for a full year, is not required to renew at the end of the month, but at the end of each year."

ple, who got a fishing license in May 1975 must get another now, before going fishing in public waters or with rod and reel in his home county.

Otherwise, he risks a $500 fine and a 30-day jail term. "I don't know how many people have done this," said Harrison, "and it is evident that a lot of people have done so. I don't know how many people have done this, but I don't know how many people have done this."

LU Moves To Super Zone

BEAUMONT-Lamar University has been placed in what some are calling the "super zone" due to a recent realignment of districts within the Texas Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (TIAAW).

Nine universities, many of them current or past national champions, will make up the East Zone of the TIAAW in which Lamar will compete under the new four-zone arrangement.

Previously, Lamar was in the powerful six-team Southeast Zone which was one of seven TIAAW zones.

The remaining three zones are the North, South and West Zones of the TIAAW which requires intercollegiate athletics.

Teams in the East Zone include Lamar, University of Houston, Houston Baptist University, Prairie View A&M University, Texas Southern University, Sam Houston State University, Stephen F. Austin State University and Texas A&M University. All except Sam Houston State University and Texas A&M were in the old Southeast Zone.

A Letter From Daddy

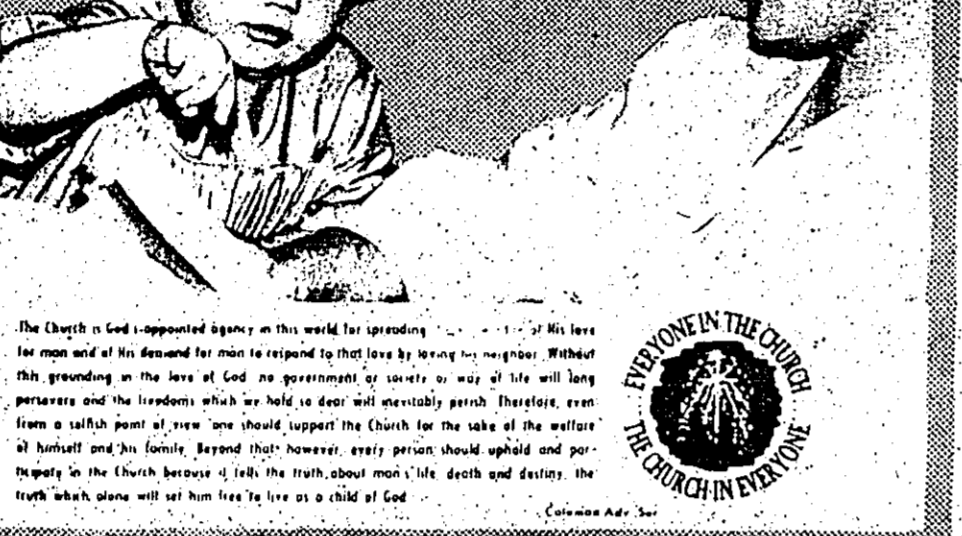

Her father has sent a letter and a picture, too, to show his family what he's doing while they are apart. It makes them feel close and it comforts them.

Our Heavenly Father has written us a love letter and given us a picture of what He is doing for us while we're apart. Both are contained in the words of the Bible.

In Jeremiah 31:3, He says, "I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness I have drawn thee."

And our Lord tells us in John 14:2, 3, "In my Father's house are many mansions; if I were not here, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also."

We invite you to attend church this week. You'll receive a blessing from having done so.

B&PW Director Installed

Kathleen Hardin of Livingston was installed as the District 14 Business and Professional Women's Club director at the district meeting Sunday, June 13 at the Woodville Lions Den. The luncheon meeting was hosted by the Woodville B&PW Club. Betty Dixon of Nederland, out-going district director, presented Miss Hardin with the gavel of her office. She was then given the director's pin by Adline Wilkinson, president of the Livingston B&PW Club. Roberta Schroeter of Nederland presented the district scrapbook to Mrs. Dixon. Woodville B&PW president, Janis Moorman and treasurer, Nancy Phillips were in charge of the meeting arrangements. Tables were provided for guests and member registration. The dining tables were decorated with green and white checked tablecloths with streamers of fry down the centers. A floral arrangement was on the head table. The Woodville B&PW flag, which will be shown and presented at the state convention, was on display. It has 13 green and gold stripes and a circle of white dogwoods encloses the club name.

Jerry Wilson's PETTICOAT POLITICS

Another way to celebrate 1976 is to go back to 1876. And of all the special Bicentennial events in Washington, my favorite is "1876: A Centennial Exhibition." Sponsored by 35 divisions of the Smithsonian Institution, this is the largest special exhibition ever mounted. And as my mother and I wandered around the 25,000 objects, the Victorian era came alive. Gaudy colors, a fancy Gorham silver boat carrying Hiawatha, a fantastic nickel and brass steam-driven fire engine.

The 1876 Exposition in Philadelphia's Fairmount Park was the largest World's Fair ever. All the new-fangled machines made in the one-hundred-year-old United States impressed visitors, foreign as well as native. Japan sent silks. Italy sent paintings. And France sent china. But the U.S. dominated over all the older countries' offerings.

The Bicentennial '1876' exhibit is even more fun because of its location in the old, red, funny building called Arts and Industries. Originally built to hold a triennial of objects from the Philadelphia exhibition, it's totally Centennial with high domed ceilings and bright stenciled patterns on all the walls. Even the parking lot next door has been changed into a Victorian garden.

Greeners in all sizes fill each hall. Light is dim as if the old gas lights were actually still gas and not electricity. Everything is mixed and mangled so that as you walk, you sort of tumble into the 1800's without realizing it.

Machiners Hall is packed with news restored and newly painted creations with the upper score signs above advertising them for sale. In a woodwork display, a fence pair of eagles decorate a Rogers double spindle-shaper. Engines were decorated with flowers and a green flywheel had decorated spokes.

History follows the machinery. The steam engine of the Pull-Ois elevator exhibit once powered the ballroom elevator of the Grand Hotel in Stratoge, N.Y., a posh resort. The red and black ship locomotive of the Santa Cruz Railroad saw the settling of our West in California.

In the furniture display, a child's swing converted into a rocking chair. And a deckboard unfolds into a bed. Under a Hecla sign is a beautiful tea set. And Victorian long dresses, overstuffed and overdecorated furniture, Indian pottery and arrowheads. And totem poles. One hundred years later, '1876' is celebrated during our Bicentennial at the Smithsonian in Washington.

Visiting in the home of Edna Boyett Sunday were her nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hancock of Bridge City.

With Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sturrock for a visit of several days are their granddaughters, Melanie, Pamela and Patricia; wife of Houston. On Sunday the Sturrock family and their guests attended the Hick's reunion at Fairview Church.

Three other reunions in this vicinity Sunday were those of the Fondrest on Saturday and the Fowlers on Sunday, both at Lake Taylor. The third was at the old home of the late John and Harriet Seamans near Mt. Hope Church where members of the family from various parts of the state enjoyed a day of visitation and renewed family ties.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Owings had with them during the weekend their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Crippen of Groves.

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Hughes also had their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Riley of Houston who had just returned.

From a two-week vacation in Hawaii and brought with him many pictures depicting the beauty of the islands.

In the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hancock on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Murray and their grandson, Mike Hall of Lumberton. Heper Justice and her sister, Celeste, Shuffield of Woodville spent the past weekend in Neches with their mother's relatives, the Peterson family. On Sunday they attended a reunion where they enjoyed strengthening family ties of the past.

Bro. and Mrs. George Youngblood are enjoying a visit of a few days with her family in Decatur where they attended a reunion on Sunday.

Easter Mann has with her through the present week her sister, Lurley Bradberry of Jasper. Visiting the sisters on Sunday were Lurley's sister-in-law and niece, Miss Nannie Holland and Nora Robertson of Woodville.

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. who recently graduated at Kilgore College, has returned home for a summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blanche. Also with Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jacobs for a visit of several days is her sister, Sue Kuhn of Marshall, and with Mr. and Mrs. Jay Russell of Groves.

A group of young people from First Baptist Church spent the past several days at Baptist Encampment in Glorieta, New Mexico and in Colorado, the former home of the pastor, Bro. Ron Walling. During his absence, Bro. J.P. Owens and Bro. Steve Beards of Woodville served as pastor, bringing beneficial messages at each service.

Sincere sympathy is extended from neighbors and friends to the McCrea and Riley families in the recent death of their loved one, Myrtle Riley of Port Neches whose burial was at Bethany, Monday afternoon. Also to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sutton in the death of her brother of near threepport, Louisiana.

Welcome home again to Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bolyard.

Friends who were transferred from Woodville during the past week in Woodville Hospital is Matthew Birdwell, for many years a resident of Colmesneil and now of Woodville. Returning Monday for further tests to the East Texas Chest Hospital at Tyler is Frances Woodville.

The longer we live upon this earth and we weigh the various qualities of men, the more we feel the high sternfaced beauty of plain devotedness to duty.

James Russell Lowell

The ideal way of life has only been glorified by a few. It has never been mastered by anyone because man is slow and forever imperfect. It will be never mastered here on earth and only rarely approached. We can master the art of living together by being individuals who do our own thinking, to love life truly, to live it fully and fearlessly. Life in our community will reward us if we turn past and present handicaps in our country into assets. Your efforts and my efforts will be the only measure of our rewards. Looking back over the years we can trace a picture of repeated failures piled high as mountains by only repeated efforts and repeated success can defy that mountain. Success is not an overnight affair. It may be undervalued and unused for years.

Before any community can prosper and grow in accordance with its potential, all citizens must master the THREE R's of citizenship: RIGHTS, RESPECT, and RESPONSIBILITY. The yardstick of citizenship means pretty much what a community shows it means and demonstrates. The price of good citizenship is the willingness to assume responsibility. The payment of that price is a personal matter with each of us. To master the "THREE R's" we first must study community education, vision and choice. One of its most important lessons deals with law enforcement. The understanding of law enforcement must be earned by all citizens by practicing the courtesy, of life and cultivating the consideration of its enemies devoid of personal interest and grudge. Good law enforcement is a lifetime study and no man will ever know all the answers. The cause of government breakdown is not through its enemies but the lackness of its defenders.

Over the three year term a number of our citizens became very interested in our local law enforcement practices and subsequent policy of judicial administration and system. Some of our interest developed with a public meeting involving The Sunshiner Escort Service. During this investigation and various other times we notice Mr. Craven stood alone on many issues. We could not understand and we certainly did not understand his employees and some citizens seemed to place stumbling blocks in his way. We were determined to find the answers to these situations and the cause. During this period of time our citizens who have strong and timely convictions as to their duties put patriotism and privilege above politics. The answers to many questions were formulated by the following facts:

In several instances we found Mr. Craven believed it better to be despatched a few far doing right than praised by some for doing wrong. According to those who oppose him he made a mistake when he did not forget that Divine Law has been decreed by our modern interpretation of today's laws. There is quite a distinction between moral and legal laws in our country. In several instances Mr. Craven suffered an injustice rather than to commit one. He believes and has proven to us that many acts of injustice due to misunderstanding could have been avoided by just one act of justice. After our committee spent many days and hours in research and observation of Mr. Craven's actions, decisions and duties as our sheriff we were astonished and perhaps dumbfounded as to his efficient mentality and balance which involved violations of the law, preception, organizing ability and efforts with a very low budget. Most of all we were amazed at his stamina under pressure and duress. Over the past three years we found he has grown tall in stature as he realized that to successfully manage his office of public trust, he first must learn to manage himself. In doing this he made mistakes of judgement and some enemies. He deserves recognition and a hand from us for the many truths he has added to his knowledge in the field of constructive law enforcement. He knows that authority is no longer enough to command respect from his fellowman. He expressed to us that as long as he was sheriff the rights of one person would be the rights of all persons. His ideal of leadership in a democracy was given by the "MASTER OF MEN" when he said "And whoever shall be chief among you let him be your servant."

Have we as citizens ever measured Mr. Craven's capability of support and understanding of his difficulties. Every person is responsible for all that good he can do within the scope of his abilities. No one can judge the future by the past.

Mr. Craven does not owe us anything but the protection every law abiding citizen is entitled to. We, the citizens of Tyler County owe him respect and co-operation for his courage and sincere efforts to give us good and impartial law enforcement.

In our bicentennial year, let us remember with patriotism the words of the "Father of our Country," to err is human but to rectify error is glory.

A tribute to our sheriff and his loyal staff paid for by members of The Public Interest Group.

Mrs. W. A. Emma Drake, Chairman Research and Publicity Route 1 Box 86-C11, Woodville, Tx. 75970

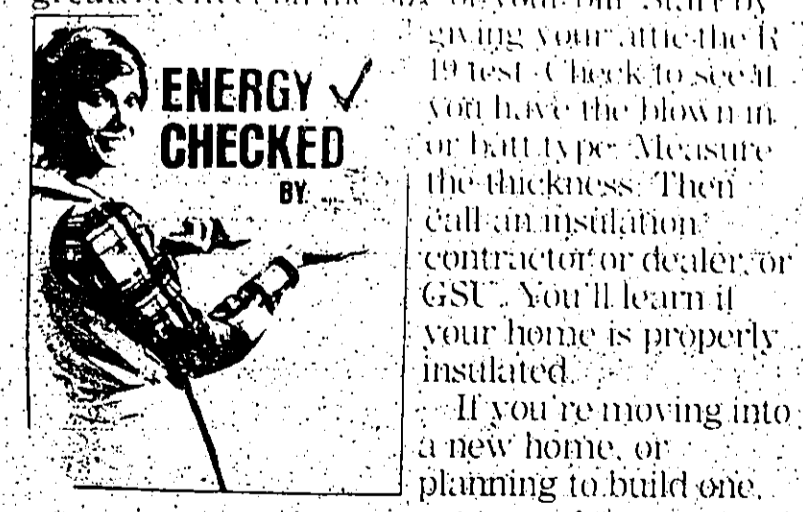

Make the most of your electricity and you'll make the least of your electric bill.

One of the best places to start is with a heat pump. A single, most efficient device that both cools and heats your home. It's one of the most efficient climate control systems available. It takes the place of both an air conditioner and a furnace and probably should in your home.

What makes it so efficient? The fact that you can get more out of it than you put into it. And that saves energy and money.

Another way to make the most of your electricity is to properly insulate your home. This alone can have the greatest effect on the size of your bill. Start by sealing your attic with the R-19 test. Check to see if you have the blown in or batt type. Measure the thickness. Then call an insulation contractor or dealer, or GSU. You'll learn if your home is properly insulated.

If you're moving into a new home, or planning to build one, make sure it's been Energy Checked by our Energy Management Team. It assures you that things like insulation, dampers, weather stripping, wiring, ductwork and other features of the home are energy efficient. And that means savings on your bill.

We think it's important for you to get answers about your electric service. So if you have a question, just ask us.

Your electric bill. We'll help you make the least of it.
