Number Please?

Direct Dial To The Past

BY JOHN SNIFFEN
When you think about it, our ancestors of 200 years ago really had it rough. Those great statesmen in Philadelphia rode horseback for weeks at a time to and from the Continental Congress.

And, when the Declaration of Independence was Signed, it took several days to get the word out to the various colonies.

After all, they didn't have telephones, a modern postal system or even telegraph to spread the news.

If they had, just think how much easier it would have been...

"Tom! This is John Hancock. Hey, guess what? We just signed the Declaration of Independence from England. Quick, get on the phone and tell George and the boys!"

Tom Jefferson, eager to spread the news, grabs his phone and dials Washington's number. A voice cuts in:

Voice: "This is a Colonial Telephone Company recording. The number you have dialed is no longer working. Please be sure you have dialed the correct number."

Undaunted, Tom tries again. This time however, the line goes busy after he dials "11". Beginning to fidget, and impatiently pulling at his red hair, he tries to call the operator. No response. He begins to panic. The British must have cut the lines!

He tries again and again. On the eleventh attempt he reaches an operator.

Tom: "M'am, I need to call George Washington. It's important. We've just declared our independence from Britain!"

Operator: "That's very nice, sir, but I'm afraid all our lines are out due to equipment problems. We'll have a repairman out between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. tomorrow to fix them."

Tom: "But M'am, this is an emergency. This will be a day that will go down in history!"

Operator: "I'm sorry sir, but that's the company's policy."

Tom: "Young lady, George Washington shall hear about this."

Operator: "George Who?"

Tom: "Washington W-a-s-h-i-n-g-t-o-n. You know. The Father of our Country."

Operator: "I'm sorry sir, I don't have a listing for a George Washington. Have you tried the Yellow Pages under 'fathers'?"

Tom: "Never mind, just forget it."

Tom hangs up and calls back John Hancock.

John: Better postpone the celebration. Looks like we're going to have to celebrate the Fourth sometime between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on the Fifth."

Businesses To Observe July 4th Holiday

Businesses, financial institutions and government offices will remain closed this Monday, July 5 following Independence Day Sunday, July 4th.

According to the Chamber of Commerce the following businesses will be closed: Western Auto, Sullivan's Hardware, Birdwell's, J.B. White's, Citizens State Bank, Gulf States

Utilities, McClure Furniture, J.B. Best & Co., Matthews Store, Southeast Texas Savings and Loan, Sears, The Furniture Center, White's Auto, Big Star, Montgomery Ward, and the First State Bank of Colmesneil and the Chester State Bank.

The County Courthouse, and the City offices in Woodville will also remain closed in observance of the holiday.

8.9 Percent

City Grants Rate Hike

WOODVILLE—The Woodville City Council unanimously approved a rate increase effective July 1, for Gulf States Utilities which would raise consumers' bills an average of 8.9 percent.

In other business during the council's Monday night meeting the council accepted a bid for a new garbage truck and heard comments from a potential natural gas supplier.

Commissioners Postpone Meeting

WOODVILLE—The Tyler County Commissioners Court will not meet Monday, July 5 due to the Independence Day holiday.

The court will resume its weekly meetings Monday, July 12, at 9 a.m. in the Commissioners Courtroom.

The rate increase approval came early in the meeting after a brief discussion with GSU. Woodville District Manager Wyatt Bell.

The same rate increase proposal had been tabled for further study by the council at its June 14 meeting.

Winning bid for the city's new garbage truck was submitted by Davis Truck and Equipment Co. of Houston. Cost of the new truck will be $16,645.00. It is a Hill Collectomatic, six III, with a capacity of 20 cubic yards.

Representatives of Louisiana Land and Exploration Company spoke to the council on the possibility of selling natural gas to the city from a single well just south of town.

They said they only had one well at present and were not sure how it would do. Any sale to the city would be on a short term basis, they added.

City Manager Walt Davis suggested that the well be drilled. (Continued On Page 8-A)

'Hot Dog!'

Commissioners Hear Solid Waste Proposals

WOODVILLE—Two Proposals for handling the County's solid waste problem were heard by the Commissioners' Court Monday morning.

Meeting for the first time on their new weekly schedule, the commissioners heard Herbert Bell, a resident of Precinct 2, explain his plan for a private pickup system.

Bell's plan calls for two garbage pickups each week at a cost of $6 per month, paid in advance. Participants would have to take their garbage to the nearest county road, Bell explained, since it would take too much time and gas to go up and down the private drives.

When asked what would happen if animals scattered the garbage placed along the roads, Bell replied that he would pick up the debris, "if all of the residents of the county participated, Bell estimated that the service might be available for $2.50 per month. A minimum of 200 participants in each precinct would be required to make the program pay for itself, Bell added.

The commissioners encouraged Bell to go ahead and survey the possible use of the system in Precinct 2. Bell responded that he would be willing to take in the entire county, "providing it will work."

Commissioner H.M. Parks told the meeting that the county had opened another dump at Chester.

"The other proposal was in letter form to County Judge Tom Dick Mann, calling for a contract system, twice-a-week pickups, $2.25 charge per month and billing along with the electric statement's. Also, all garbage would be in plastic bags and strict enforcement of the litter laws would be used to encourage use of the system.

Judge Mann said the proposal was the "only one to date I have received."

County Sheriff Lewis

Craven appeared before the court to discuss the payment of bills made by former dispatcher Robert Jones, and the management of his department's two-way radios.

First, Craven asked the court to reconsider paying Jones' bills, made over a two month period while he was working for the department as a dispatcher, but performing the duties of a deputy. The court refused to pay the bills at its June 21 meeting.

Judge Mann said that the court might consider making the payments, "since he was performing the duties of a deputy." A deputy is allowed a gas allowance for use while on duty.

"I feel like he misused his card," said Commissioner Parks, citing purchases other than of gasoline and purchases made out of the county.

Craven told the court that "maybe some of it could be excluded," and the commissioners agreed to look at the situation further.

Prior to this discussion, County Auditor Earl King had suggested that all credit cards be brought in to the courthouse, registered there and re-issued. Commissioner Joe Best put the suggestion into the form of a motion and Commissioner Leon Fowler seconded it. The motion carried 4-0.

Craven's second item of discussion with the court centered on responsibility for the assigning of the sheriff's department's two-way radios.

Craven said that he had read in the minutes of another court meeting that commissioners had "taken it upon themselves to assign the radios." He explained that the radios were assigned a frequency to the sheriff's department, "and are for the use of fighting crime."

The sheriff told of an incident during a recent raid in which evidence was destroyed, perhaps due to the illegal use of two-way radios to alert those being raided.

"If I can't control the (use of the) radios, I'm going to have trouble," said Craven.

Commissioner Fowler suggested that the court check with County Attorney Jim Allison, who was not in the court.

For $3.1 Million Issue

Bond Election Set For September 28

WOODVILLE—The Woodville Independent School District Board of Trustees formally set the wheels in motion Monday night for district voters to choose, on Tuesday Sept. 28, whether or not they'd like to build a new senior high school and make other district facility improvements.

Superintendent Tom Linnam promises the district that "The school is not going to be built as a showplace." Construction cost estimates have increased by seven percent since the last bond election in May 1975. That election failed by 91 votes. The bond question at that time amounted to $2.9 million. Architect's cost estimates now are up to $3.1 million, or an additional $200,000.

According to District Architect Jack Stansbury of the Port Arthur firm of Moore, Stansbury and Vaughn, Inc., inflationary trends have decreased three percent, down from 10 percent, he said, since the last election.

Before a motion to hold the election on Sept. 28 was made by Dr. W.S. Nichols, Jr., with a second by Fred Sullivan, the board questioned bond salesmen for the District. Noel Johnson of Dallas Inc., about the anticipated cost of the project. Johnson said the present indebtedness of the district was $1.1 million and that the debt would mature in 1996.

Johnson said the school district falls within the legal limit of $3.6 million but would only need $3.1 million for this election.

Johnson indicated that the voters will have a somewhat easier choice this time with only one proposition listed on the Sept. 28 ballot. In the last election voters also had to consider a maintenance consideration which will not appear in the upcoming ballot form.

Johnson said his company put together planning worksheets "which are purposely figured high." "The long market has improved," and, he said, it looked as if "The district can do better this time."

Johnson told the board that estimates have shown it would take 60 or 65 cents more added to the present rate of $1.45 per $100 valuation to hold the bond, according to her manager Maggie Frye.

Preliminary competition begins Wednesday night, July 7, at the Center Theatre with the swimsuit judging, evening gown and on stage speaking competition are scheduled for Thursday night with the talent competition to follow on Friday night.

Saturday, the final night of competition, will be televised live and carried by KTRE-TV, Channel 9, Lubbock.

Sixty girls from throughout Texas will compete for and spectators present that "These are only illustrations and they're figured high."

The figures that Johnson gave the board would extend the present debt of the district six or seven years "till 2002 or 2003," he said.

Superintendent Tom Linnam asked the board repeatedly for further explanation to the board was needed and urged them to seek further information while the bond agent was present.

School Service League members and the board alike seem pleased as they discussed the increased voter potential possible as a result of recent legislation which allows that persons don't have to be property owners in order to participate in the vote.

Everybody who can vote in a trustee election can vote for a bond election that is everybody who lives in the district," Johnson said.

Johnson, who is a former School Superintendent, indicated to the board that his experience and his company's knowledge of the market have shown that 88 percent of the elections held within the state within the last year have been successful. Johnson said his company's "Success rate" averaged around 75 percent.

"The recent energy crisis caused the failure of a lot of bond elections," Johnson said. "But the voters are beginning to get a feeling of confidence now. Big bond issues are passing."

Johnson indicated that the overall financing picture "looks definitely brighter than before."

Johnson said "What it's actually going to be no one knows."

Superintendent Linnam said "The district is looking forward to the help of those interested in passing the bond. Being able to use their legwork will certainly make a difference this time... $3.1 million is my recommendation."

The board appointed Joe Cash election judge alternate with School District Attorney John Kinney serving as an alternate.

Presiding at the Monday meeting was Boardmember Jim Gainey who substituting for Dr. R.E. Swearingen who is recovering from surgery.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

TYLER COUNTY BOOSTER EDITOR: In the edition of the Booster dated June 24 on page 1 is an account of the Commissioners Court meeting for Monday, June 14. In your excellent report is this excerpt: "Board member Leon Fowler told the group that he would be in favor of raises for county employees." County Auditor Earl King added that "next to Newton County Tyler County had the lowest employee salaries. A person in the audience volunteered the statement that Newton County has passed Tyler County, due to taxes from liquor sales."

I wish to point out the error in that last statement as made by an unidentified person in the audience. In a conversation with the Newton County Judge's office on Thursday, June 24, I was given the following facts:

Land Heritage Program Resumes Registration

AUSTIN—With five Tyler County families already registered in the Texas Family Land Heritage Program, the search continues for additional farms and ranches which can lay claim to 100 years or more of continuous, productive operation, said Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

May 1 marked the beginning of the third year of registration under the Land Heritage Program, which since its institution in 1974 has seen recognition of almost 950 families for their dedication to the Texas agricultural heritage, White explained.

"Along with providing a special recognition of those Texas families who through the years have persevered on the land, the program also serves as a means of preserving the state's rich agricultural heritage," White said.

Wet Feet
David Dillon, manager of the Bidwell's Department Store in Woodville is shown during "Mop up" operations after the store was flooded Friday, June 25, apparently as a result of pipes breaking in the ceiling in the store. Dillon said several thousands of dollars in shoe and clothing inventory was damaged during the night. He said that when he opened the front door to the establishment the next day, that "water poured into the street." Dillon also said the store is planning an extensive "Water Damage Sale" that will begin this week. In photo above, Dillon is shown pouring water out of a pair of display boots which had filled up during the night.

Trustees Set Election Date

Member Ed Eastham of a question about the possibility of creating another voting box, somewhere else in the district. After considerable discussion the board satisfied Eastham with an explanation of why it "wouldn't" be feasible. Gaiway said the board had studied this idea earlier, but had concluded that it would only "open a can of worms." Eastham thanked the board for considering the idea. The board did however agree to move the balloting area off the auditorium stage area.

This Camping Season

Watch Fire Hazards

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The urge to camp out during the summer months can lead to injuries, even death, according to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. The Commission warned that sleeping bags and tents can turn fun into tragedy if children and campers fail to be cautious, especially regarding fires.

During 1975, an estimated 2,736 persons were treated in hospital emergency rooms around the country in connection with accidents involving tents, sleeping bags, cots, hammocks and similar camping equipment. Many of the accidents involved fires.

In one example, a 17-year-old boy on a camping trip rolled over onto hot coals while asleep and in bedding gear. The bag caught fire and the youth was fatally burned.

There are voluntary industry standards on tents and sleeping bag flammability. In addition, the Commission staff is working on the development of a safety standard to diminish the flammability hazards associated with tents. The governing body of a county in New York requested such a standard in a petition to the Commission in 1974.

Persons who use tents or supervise the use of tents by children should take care to consider that tents and sleeping bags burn.

The CPSC offers the following safety tips:

- Use flame-retardant tents and sleeping bags if possible, but assume tents and sleeping bags are flammable and be careful with fire.
- Keep stoves, lanterns and candles out of tents.
- Place campfires and stoves away from tents or sleeping gear, keep fire downwind.
- Extinguish fire before going to sleep.

1976-77 KHS Cheerleaders

Kirby High School cheerleaders Cynthia Farrell, Carrie Estler, Gina Riley, Kim Fortenberry, Cheryl Jackson, Alice Horn, and Sheila Weeks attended a cheerleading camp at Stephen F. Austin University in Nacogdoches, June 13-18. Participating with cheerleaders from 50 high schools in Texas and Arkansas, they won ribbons for "excellent, outstanding" and "superior" performance in daily competition.

"We really did have a good time and learned a lot of cheers and techniques," said second-year cheerleader, Cynthia Farrell.

Observe Boating Regulations

AUSTIN: The July 4 weekend is sure to increase the traffic on Texas roads—and on our waterways. With boat owners numbering almost half a million, Texas Safety Association, in recognition of Safe Boating Week, July 4-10, reminds boaters to keep an eye out for each other.

Each year between 400 and 500 Texans die in drowning accidents, mainly during holiday periods. To assure that your holiday is free from

Simple Facts About Snakes

Nothing is more guaranteed to drive a chill down the spine than to stumble unexpectedly on a snake. It is largely an elusive, poisonous or non-poisonous, and, just for that, outdoors enthusiasts aren't the only creatures out there enjoying spring, the snakes are too.

While the possibility of being snake bitten is rare and occurs rarely, Texas should be wary while abroad in our woods on an our waters.

Of course, some knowledge of snake bite treatment is recommended in the case of the worst actually occurs. One of the simpler methods of snake bite treatment is to make a constricting band does not cut off circulation or the cold pack doesn't freeze the victim and cause frostbite.

Others may advise doing nothing at all. If the victim is within an hour of medical treatment.

Some basic knowledge about snakes is also advisable, for many, this boils down to separate snake facts from snake myths.

An article in the April issue of "Texas Parks and Wildlife" presents some of the common false beliefs some Texans have concerning snakes.

Here are several:

- Snakes must be coiled to strike. FALSE: Snakes can strike from an uncoiled position if they are "in an S" shape. Straightening out the "S" curves is what gives them their forward thrust.
- Snakes cannot bite underwater. FALSE: Water moccasins and the non-poisonous water snakes capture part of their food underwater. They can bite just as easily underwater as they can on land.
- Rattlesnakes always rattle before striking. FALSE: They have been known to strike without warning on many occasions. The true purpose of the rattle is something not everyone agrees upon. Some observers believe the sound is used to startle the prey into standing motion. Others believe it is used as a warning to the victim.
- Rattlesnakes can be aged by the number of rattles they shed. FALSE: A new rattle is added each time the snake sheds its skin. It can occur two to five times a year, so a three-year-old rattlesnake could have six to 15 rattles.
- Large rattlesnakes rarely bite. FALSE: Potentially poisonous snakes of any size can bite.
- A snake's poisonous fangs are removed, becoming harmless for life. FALSE: Poisonous snakes often shed or lose their fangs.
- Snakes can strike so they usually have another fang ready to move forward to replace the missing one. FALSE: A snake's poisonous fangs are removed, becoming harmless for life.
- No snake can sting. FALSE: No snake can sting.

Wheat To Head Water Group

AUSTIN — Joe Wheat, a Woodville lawyer, has been selected to head a volunteer group which will inform Texas voters about the provisions of the clean water enhancement fund.

The selection was announced by J. Douglas Toole, Texas Water Quality Board chairman.

The fund will be up for approval by the voters in November. It provides loans to cities and towns on a pay-back basis for construction of sewage treatment facilities.

Wheat, a past president of the Texas Water Conservation Association, supported a similar proposal which was successful in 1972.

Sunday will be a big day at First Baptist Church. A Bicentennial program will begin at 10 a.m. and extend through the service hour. Activities will close with a covered dish luncheon, visitation and good fellowship.

Everyone is invited to bring a dish and family and join in this patriotic event.

Congratulations are extended to Helen Glider and her helpers in the splendid patriotic program at Zion Hill Church Saturday. Booths which were colorful and informative provided entertainment while the singing, skits and remarks by the visiting speakers gave a true patriotic air.

Della Wilson joined her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Leavings, with their daughter, Peggy of Lufkin, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shreder of Houston, and also a grand daughter, Janet Davis of Colmesneil in a pleasant visit through the past week in Nashville where they attended the Grand Old Opera and other places of interest.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Munday through the weekend were his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Raley and their children, Beth and Wayne of Conroe. From All Of Us In Tyler County —

"HAPPY 200TH BIRTHDAY, AMERICA!"

Can we look forward to 75 more years of growth?

Kirby will be 75 years old on July 5, the day after our nation celebrates its 200th anniversary. I know of no more appropriate time to voice the concern I share with thousands of businessmen for the future of the American Capitalistic Free Enterprise System.

We cannot function effectively if government at all levels continues to over-regulate and intrude on our characteristic inventiveness, initiative, and freedom of choice in a competitive marketplace.

Seventy-five more years of growth for both Kirby and all of American industry will be determined by the wisdom we demonstrate in choosing what parts of our total economic effort can be best accomplished by private enterprise and what can be done by government.

Let us never forget the jobs and wages, the savings for creative investments, the revenue for taxes, and the high standard of living our system has always generated when allowed to function in a favorable political and economic climate.

Washington Report

WASHINGTON, D.C.—According to a report just released by the Census Bureau, more attention will be given to the elderly in 1976 than in any year since 1960. The report says that the number of elderly people is expected to increase from 20 million in 1970 to 25 million in 1980. The report also says that the number of elderly people who are poor is expected to increase from 10 million in 1970 to 15 million in 1980.

Bentsen Speaks On Post Office

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Senator Lloyd Bentsen has said he is pleased that a Senate Committee bill providing aid to the U.S. Postal Service bars post office closings, and called for quick Senate action on the measure.

Earlier this year Bentsen contacted Senator Gale McGee, Chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, urging that any legislation providing Federal aid to the Postal Service prohibit further closing of post offices.

"I do not think Congress should approve additional aid without requiring post officials to drop their plans to close rural post offices," Bentsen said in a letter to McGee in March.

TEXAS JOB TALK

The state jobless picture remains relatively stable, according to Texas Employment Commission Chairman Harold K. Dudley, who said that preliminary estimates show an unemployment rate of 5.3 percent for May.

"We have anticipated for some time that the unemployment rate would decline slowly if at all when it neared the 5 percent mark," Dudley said. "Only a hyperheated economy would be likely to drive it much lower. I don't expect it to reach, in the near future, the 3 or 4 percent level of prerecession days."

COLMESNEIL - Approximately 90 persons attended the annual Tyler County Dominy Reunion last Sunday in the community center at Colmesneil.

Tyler County

Brucellosis

Status Up

DALLAS-Tyler and four other Southeast Texas counties have been advanced to modified-certified brucellosis status by the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The other counties receiving the status were Jasper, Jefferson, Liberty and Orange.

The status reports are a part of a national brucellosis eradication program. APHIS officials said that counties lose eradication program status when herds fail to meet required testing schedules. These provide that:

-An infected herd must be retasted within six months.

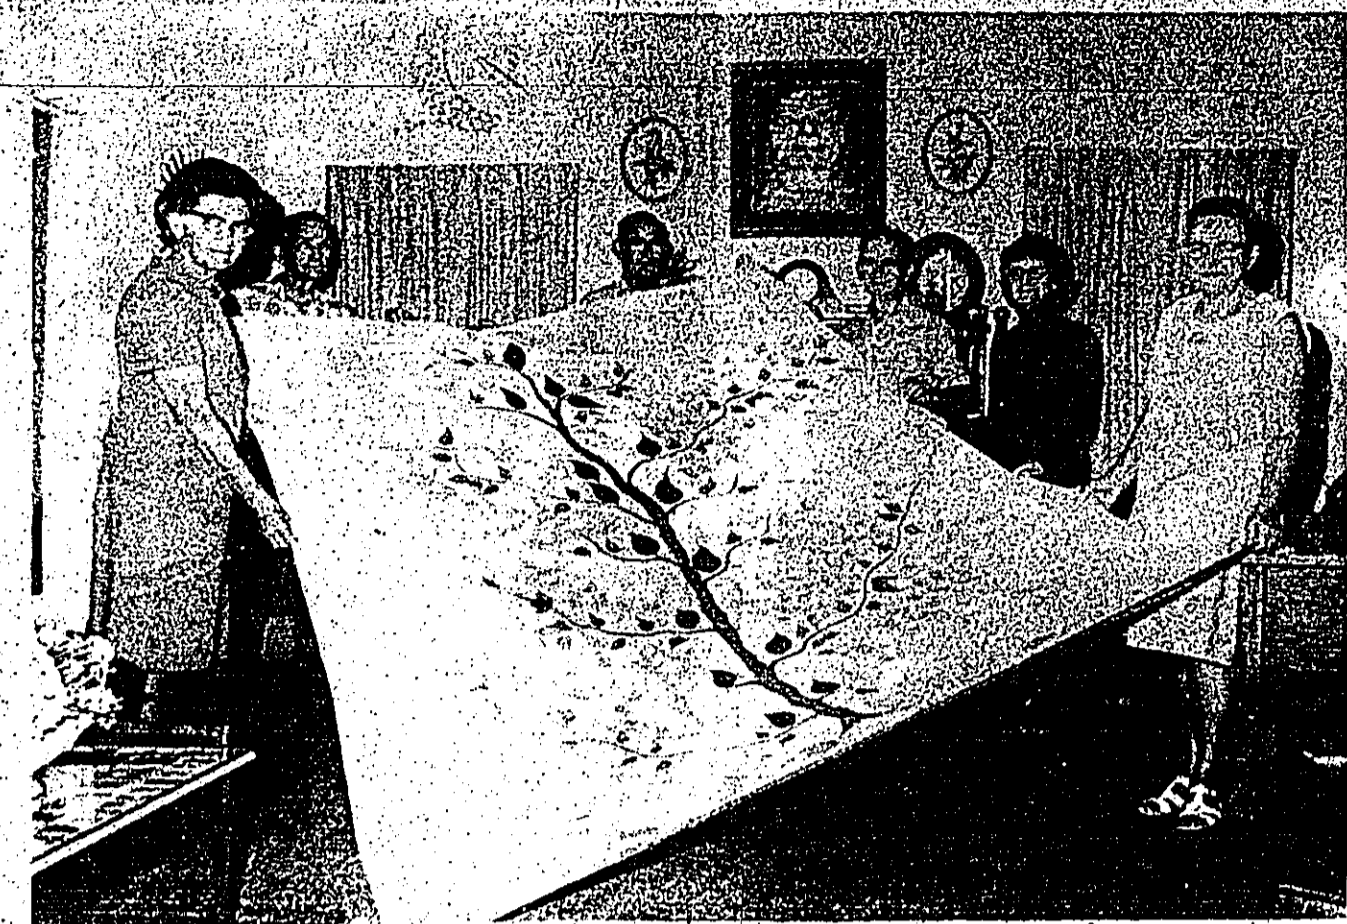

-When an infected animal is found through the market testing program the herd must be tested or quarantined within 30 days. If quarantined, the herd must be tested within six months.

-Dairy herds must be tested within 30 days after a positive brucellosis milk ring test has been reported.

-Acuity does not lose its status for failing to meet testing schedules if the state has initiated legal steps against delinquent livestock owners. When status is lost, a county may regain status when deficiencies are corrected.

Persons attending are asked to bring their own lawn chair and sandwiches, he said.

According to Jordan, "Almost 200 attended last year and we expect even more this year."

Bicentennial Tree

Representing some 90 years of family history this 72" by 80" family tree tapestry shown here was just completed in time for the Batcliff Family Reunion set for this Sunday, July 4th. The project which took Mrs. W.R. Bingham (Extreme right) and her four daughters one month to make, will be on display for all visiting relatives and friends to see on Sunday. Shown from left to right are Mrs. Lela Sheffield, Bill Sheffield, Pete Harvey, W.R. Bingham, Leona Harvey and Mrs. Bingham. The reunion will take place near the Beech Creek Church Community on FM 1013.

Small Fireworks May Have Big Bang

Many people are going to give the Bicentennial a sparkling salute. They don't know it yet but they will contribute a burned hand or eye to the Bicentennial by being careless with fireworks.

Fireworks of some type are an American tradition enjoyed by thousands who either watch or use them. New laws and increased public concern may make fireworks safer although the new laws do not go into effect until early December.

The Texas Medical Association points out people can get the Bicentennial blues with almost any type of fireworks. Caution and using only small fireworks increases safety but there is still some risk involved. Even relatively harmless sparklers reach about 1,800 degrees Fahrenheit when burning. A recently extinguished sparkler is still hot enough to cause injuries and fires. Case studies show sparklers have ignited clothing, curtains or wood, causing serious burns, death or loss of property. National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) statistics show sparklers are responsible for about 6 percent of all fireworks injuries.

During the 1975 fireworks season (June 23-July 20), an estimated 2,600 fireworks-related injuries were treated in hospital emergency rooms nationwide, according to a Consumer Products Safety Commission (CPSC) spokesman in Washington, D.C. He said they did not have figures for injuries treated in other facilities. In 1970 U.S. Public Health Service study estimates fireworks injure 10,000 to 15,000 people yearly.

CPSC in 1970 said more than half of all those injured are under age 15. Males outnumber females three to one in injuries. NFPA figures show about 30 percent of those injured are age 21 or over.

Federal and state laws have helped a little to protect people from fireworks dangers. In 1909 there were 215 deaths and more than 5,000 were hospitalized due to fireworks. Today's Health magazine reports, NFPA began pushing for laws restricting fireworks in 1910 and statistics have continued to drop dramatically as laws became strict.

Federal regulations will cut firecracker size by almost two-thirds beginning December 6. Common firecrackers now legally can be up to 1 1/2 inches long (130 milligrams of powder). The new regulations will permit only what often are called "Lady fingers," a maximum size of about 7/8 inch (50 milligrams of powder). Fuses also are strictly regulated.

Cherry bombs, M-80s and similar large firecrackers often ostensibly manufactured to scare crows out of cornfields, have been illegal or restricted in most places for several years. However, these deadly firecrackers sometimes can be obtained illegally. A New Jersey youth died in 1975 using an M-80. CPSC said the dangers from large firecrackers are obvious but the wide variety of smaller fireworks are responsible for most problems.

DPS Expects Heavy

Traffic July 4 Weekend

AUSTIN—The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety said today indications are that some 42 persons will be killed in Texas traffic accidents during the Fourth of July weekend, and called upon Texas drivers to "prove our estimate is too high."

Colonel Wilson E. Speir said his department expects "unusually heavy traffic" throughout the state, especially around recreational areas and where Bicentennial celebrations are scheduled. The estimate covers a 78-hour period which starts at 6 p.m. Friday and continues until midnight Monday, July 5.

During a comparable period last year, the department estimated that 54 persons would be killed during the holiday period. At the conclusion of the July 4th holiday last year, statewide statistics indicated 44 lives lost and rose to 49 with late reports.

In a concerted effort to keep deaths down, the DPS and local law enforcement agencies will be cooperating in an all-out effort to make streets and highways as safe as possible. All available DPS troopers will be on duty. Speir indicated, and they will be especially watchful for drinking drivers, speeders and persons driving in a reckless manner.

In addition, the DPS will be teamed with the news media in a special public education program termed "Operation Motorist." Motorists which focuses public attention on where and why fatal accidents are occurring during the holiday period.

Church Identity (4)

"But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship Him. God is a Spirit: and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." John 4:21-24

The five acts of worship in which Christians scripturally engage are: singing (Eph. 5:19); praying (Acts 2:42); Lord's Supper each Lord's day (Acts 2:42; Acts 20:7); laying by in store on the first day of the week (1 Cor. 16:1,2) and preaching of truth (Acts 2:42; II Tim. 4:1,2).

Instruments of worship were not added to the worship. The Bible and profane history tell us that early Christians sang in the worship. Those who add instruments of music to the worship do so in violation of God's instruction (Col. 3:16; Eph. 5:19).

Not only have men added to God's worship by adding the instrument, but they have taken away from it by having the Lord's Supper only infrequently. According to Acts 20:7 the disciples came together upon the first day of the week to break bread. It is necessarily inferred that this took place EVERY FIRST DAY OF THE WEEK. To have the Lord's Supper quarterly or annually is to subtract from what God has required.

The wrath of God rests on those who take away from or add to the word of God (Rev. 22:18, 19).

The five acts of spiritual worship described above form another of the identifying features of the church of Jesus Christ.

A move to worship GOD in His HOUSE is a

MOVE in the RIGHT DIRECTION

To attend Church is the first step in finding God. To attend regularly is to continue in the right direction, and gives one an opportunity to understand God's will in his life. Now is the time to make your move. Choose the way that will lead you to God.

Attend Church
The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
