More Room Would Help Vocational Education

ARTICLE V
If the proposed bonds are approved, much-needed space and adequate equipment will be provided for vocational training and extra-curricular activities.

Both vocational agriculture and home economics facilities will be constructed to meet state accreditation standards. The present home economics department does not meet state accreditation standards, and there is no space for adding classrooms and adequate equipment to bring the present high school H.E. department up to standard.

Vocational agriculture facilities similar to the present facilities will be constructed on the new high school campus. School officials plan to have space available for additional vocational programs such as building trades and vocational office education.

When high school students are moved to another campus, the existing vocational facilities can be used for junior high students. The school board is aware of the need for vocational training in the junior high school and hopes to add vocational courses for the 7th and 8th grades as soon as it is financially possible.

The new high school will provide a music or choral room. The school offers choral training for students in high school and for the first time in junior high this year. Both choirs have to meet in the auditorium for class periods since there are no classrooms available for either choir.

If the new high school is constructed, there will be no changes in football stadium facilities. The present football stadium has a good lighting system and will continue to be used by both junior-high and high school. There will be no new football field.

The bonds will provide for construction of a new high school gymnasium. The present high school gym does not meet state accreditation standards. It serves 500 students rather than the 200 it was constructed to serve. Showers, dressing rooms, and storage lockers and baskets are vastly insufficient for physical education or basketball. Kirby High is excluded from being host to any inter-scholastic league sports tournaments which take place in a gym because the playing court is not the minimum size that the NCAA or High School Interscholastic League recommends.

The new gym is to have two full size playing courts built in one building. A curtain will separate the boys' playing court from the girls'. The whole area can be converted to one playing area for tournament games. The bleachers can be folded-up and rolled away. The new gym will have adequate locker, basket, and shower facilities for 600 students.

There will be four tennis courts constructed on the new school site, leaving the two on the present high school campus for junior high students.

Junior high students, both boys and girls, will use the present high school gymnasium, and it will no longer be necessary to bus junior high girls to another campus for physical education.

The proposed new high school will have a band hall large enough to accommodate the Kirby High band which has 142 members this year. The present band hall was built 18 years ago to serve a maximum of 60 people. The high school band, 110 junior high students, and 95 sixth grade band students make a total of 347 students now using the building. All practice rooms are now used for storage.

The instrument room is totally inadequate. Music storage racks and instrument storage racks take up needed room in the playing area. Most instrument cases must be left on the main floor because there is not enough room in the racks. Sixth grade students store their instruments across the street and in their home rooms. Chairs for the band members are wall to wall leaving little space to walk. Removing the high school band students from the campus would lessen the congestion in the band hall.

According to the School administration, lack of space in academic classrooms and in vocational and extra-curricular training areas is an immediate problem for Woodville schools. The situation can only worsen if Woodville grows at all. The space and new facilities the proposed bonds will finance will be a definite asset to both programs. Vocational training is essential for students who are not college bound and for many who plan to continue training in vocational areas in universities. Extra-curricular activities provide cultural enrichment, personality development, and character building for hundreds of students who choose to take part in them.

There is still time to mail question you would like to have answered about the bond issue to School Improvement Program.

County Funds Combined

WOODVILLE--The Tyler County Commissioners Court approved a motion to consolidate several county funds in an effort to cut down on the bookwork during their special meeting Monday.

The commissioners unanimously adopted the consolidation move effective September 1. The jury, library, health and airport maintenance funds were combined with the General Fund. The special road and bridge, lateral and county special funds in each precinct were combined with the road and bridge funds for each precinct.

Special road and bridge fund #5 was combined with road and bridge #4.

In other action, the commissioners scheduled a workshop for all elected officials to work on the 1977 budget for 9 a.m. Friday. County Judge Allen Sturrock emphasized that this workshop was open to the public and invited all interested citizens to attend and contribute to the workshop.

Rhonda D. Yawn was approved by the court as Deputy Clerk and Cella Collier as Chief Deputy Clerk effective September 1, to fill the positions left vacant when Grace

Bostick became County Clerk.

The commissioners also approved two separate resolutions. The first favored "continued contribution" and expressed a "commitment to continued financial support" of the District Attorney's Office following the expiration of CJD support.

The second resolution promised continued support of the Aging Program as submitted by Rev. Jesse Adams, chairman, and stated that the program be included in the 1977 budget.

Employee Assistance Program Offered

JASPER--The Deep East Texas Council of Governments is sponsoring a unique program for this area. It is called the Employee Assistance Program and is designed with two primary objectives--helping employers increase the efficiency of their business and helping employees with their problems.

Obviously, not all employees have problems that interfere with their job performance. However, some, maybe more than we like to admit, do. An employee's work performance may decline to an unacceptable level as a result of family, financial, psychological, alcohol, drug abuse, or other illnesses and problems. This in turn costs industry and business millions of dollars a year through increased sick pay benefits, absenteeism, turnover rates, lost or slowed production and poor work performance.

Practically every private company or public entity have troubled employees on the job simply because we are people and people have problems. The method of dealing with these employees has been to cover up their work deficiencies until they can no longer be covered up, then terminating the employee. This is both costly to the business and a rather inhumane way of dealing with the troubled employee.

The Employee Assistance Program offers employers a low-cost constructive method of dealing with troubled employees. It offers supervisors specific methods to use, and it offers employees an opportunity to retain their jobs while making constructive changes in their lives.

Further information can be obtained by calling Vernon Nelson, program director at 713-569-0492.

Kirby JV quarterback Gerald Dill and all the football players in Tyler County begin regular season action this week. See BOOSTER Sports on Pages 7 and 8 for more details.

Warren Adopts $1,257,308 Budget

WARREN--The Warren Independent School District Board of Trustees unanimously adopted a $1,257,308 budget for the 1976-77 school year at a special meeting Thursday, Aug. 26.

At the same meeting the trustees adopted a tax rate of $1.85 per $100 assessed value. The ratio of assessment will remain at 70 percent.

The rate is up from the 1975-76 rate of $1.45. The increased rate being necessitated, said the trustees, because of several factors, of which the following are the primary ones:

1. Increase in the district local fund assignment, therefore receiving less revenue from the state.
2. Substantial decrease in the oil values in the East Village oil field.
3. General inflation.

The 1975-76 budget was amended to a total of $1,141,206.29, and two additional teachers were also employed, completing the district staff for the 1976-77 school year.

Sniffen Around

By John Sniffen

Quick Thinking

There is an inborn ability in some of us to think quickly.

However, this is not to be confused with thinking deep. But it is the knack for coming up with the right decision at a moment's notice.

There are the obvious examples of "quick thinkers." They are the business tycoons, world leaders, and other famous people we see and hear about everyday. And then, there are the common variety quick thinkers. The kid at school who can come up with the best excuse for being tardy as he or she walks through the classroom door is a quick thinker.

However, one of the best examples of quick thinking I have heard came through an anecdote related by Bruce Brasher of Hillister.

It seems that a clerk in the Beaumont office of the Southern Pacific Railroad was feeling weary one day. Seeing no one around, the man lowered his head to the desk to catch a quick nap.

About that time, unknown to the clerk, the superintendent walked into the office. Seeing the young man with his head to the desk, the superintendent walked over to see what was the matter.

Well, the clerk raised his eyebrows enough to see a pair of shined shoes. Putting two and two together, he reasoned that no one around a railroad has shined shoes except for a high official.

Raising his head from the desk, the clerk said out loud, "Thank you Jesus. Amen!"

"That's right son. Always take your problems to the Lord," said the superintendent. Now that's quick thinking.

Just For Fun

Tired of sitting around the house on weekends? Up to your elbows in garbage with no relief in sight? Well, now you can get out and live it up at the Tyler County Fair, on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 11-12 at the FFA-4-H Arena and the Tyler County Airport west of Woodville on US 190.

If you've never been to a real live county fair, this is your chance. If you have been to one, you already know how much fun it can be. Imagine yourself floating above the tree tops in a brilliantly painted hot air balloon or soaring above the ground in a sailplane, the closest man can come to flying like the birds.

Down to earth entertainment will also abound. There will be carnival rides for the young and young at heart. This is one time you will not have to go to Houston's Astroworld for thrills.

Step in after the big game Friday night. Fair Chairman Carl Nichols says that the rides will be open and running. In addition, there will be exhibits of arts and crafts, livestock competition will bring out the best of the Tyler County agricultural enthusiasts. Just a casual stroll around the exhibit areas will show you the talent that these people take in their work.

If you have never seen your county commissioners in the Woodville City Council in action, now is the chance. The two groups will line up on opposite sides of a huge table for a tug of war Saturday evening.

Once the losers have been pulled from the mud, the tobacco spitting contest will be on. Spitters from all over the area will vie for the title. Step back and give these fellows some room to show their stuff.

Buy your tickets early and help the non-profit fair committee, which is selling them to raise funds for next year's county fair.

Among those groups selling tickets are the Woodville School Service League, Colmesneil High School Senior Class, Spurger High School Senior Class, Warland Boosters and Chester High School Senior Class.

Urge everyone, individuals and businesses to come out, eat good, see the best the county has to offer, and participate by having a good time.

IT'S OKAY - BUT LET'S NOT FORGET HOW TO ROW

Who was Alan Steelman attacking, Senator Lloyd Bentsen or himself, when he said, "It's me thing to bombard Texas with attractive rhetoric, but quite another matter to back those stands with votes in the Congress?"

The reason I am confused is that Steelman, or "Absent Al" as he is now called, has voted on less than half of all the votes this year in the House.

Just recently Congress finished action on the Agricultural Appropriations which continued funding for important programs for rural Texas such as the Rural Electrification Administration, the Soil Conservation Service and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Lloyd Bentsen was there to commend public the large number of Senator Citizens in our community who not only are sensitive to the educational needs of the younger generation, but are willing to give their time in active support of the Woodville School Improvement Bond Issue. It is this spirit of caring and cooperation between all generations that makes our community such a great place to live.

What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God. Micah 6:8

There are three things that are required of one by the Lord: They are to do justly - be just in all area of life; to love mercy - be merciful unto all; and to walk humbly - humbly - thyself to walk. This implies to acknowledge, identify, and submit to be saved by his mercy. Without this humility of those who never was, these never can be, say with God, for without his mercy you will not be saved.

PERSONALS Attorney C.E. Smith is busy with district court work at Kountze this week. The Charley Dean family drove to Rockland Sunday and Mr. Dean says the road is bad, that it is so rough one fears all the time the bolts in the car will shake out, and as the movies sometime picture, a driver left without say except the steering wheel, and it would be gone but he had it tight in his hands.

CEMETERY SCENE OF LARGE GATHERING At the New Hope Cemetery a large roof 30 x 32 has been erected as a shelter during funeral services. The cemetery has been cleaned up and last Sunday some 150 friends and relatives of those resting in this City of the Dead, met there for dedication. Rev. C.C. Swearingen brought the message to the crowd and this well beloved man realizes with many others present that not in any years and many more will be resting in these Piney woods.

CUTTING THE CORNERS ON HIGH RIGS Another pipeline gang of workmen arrived the last of the week. The statements are full to capacity and traveling men who like to stop at the Rasmus Hotel are writing ahead for reservations on a given date.

It is a very noticeable fact the city's garbage truck seems to have a flat tire. Tin cans are commencing to accumulate all over town along with other rubbish and the city's announcement, some time since stated the truck would call and pick up rubbish accumulation every now, then and again.

Did anyone hear anybody say anything about that rotten street intersection at the s.w. corner of the courthouse square, or that it was going to be fixed up with a drainage culvert and then stepped up so that a car can get around on high without smashing the springs as well as putting the humdinger on the shock absorbers? Maybe, when Mayor Wheat returns it may be possible to coax him into your car, and if you can, give him a ride. If possible, take him over to a ditch-on-high.

GIRL IS RESCUED FROM DROWNING An 18-year old Indian girl, Mary Emma Syllabe, was found by Woodrow Baker of Livingston at the Lions Club camp on Village Creek Friday afternoon when the girl had become caught and in underbrush and was drowning.

If a car pulls in front of me to switch lanes and I'm unable to avoid hitting the car from behind, who is at fault? After an accident, is it necessary to leave the cars where they stopped? What can you do if the police report on an accident is incorrect? A: State law requires that any change of traffic lanes must be accompanied by a signal and must be done safely. After an accident, the car should be moved out of traffic to avoid creating a hazard. A copy of the official accident report may be obtained from the Department of Public Safety in Austin for a fee of $2; both drivers also may file reports, and you may challenge the investigating officer's version by appealing your traffic citation in court, where the officer is subject to cross-examination.

Q: My son was recently injured in an auto accident. We asked him not to sign any legal papers, but he signed a settlement to pay for the injuries he suffered in the accident. My husband and I believe the settlement is too low. My son is 20 years old - can I void the settlement? A: Any person over the age of 18 is free to enter into a contract. Unless a court determines a person to be incompetent, that person's contract could not be rescinded by a parent. As his parent, you have no right to contract for your son or to reject his agreement after he is 18.

Q: My husband served four years in the navy. Now that I'm a widow, what benefits are available for me and my sons aged 13 and 14? A: You should contact the Veterans Administration and the Social Security office nearest your home. Generally, Veterans Administration and Social Security benefits, if any, are payable to the mother until the children become 18; and thereafter they are payable to the child so long as he is a full time student and under the age of 23.

Q: Our daughter died without a will and is survived by her husband and two small children. Their father won't let us see them at all. Is there any way we can see these children? And, who handles the estate if the children should receive? A: Any grandparent has the right to petition the district court in the county where the grandchild resides in order to obtain visitation rights. To do so, the grandparent asks to be named as a possessory conservator of the child and asks the court to compel the managing conservator, who in this case apparently is the child's father, to make the child available for visitation. The duty of managing the child's estate is placed on the managing conservator.

Careful Of Bark Beetles

Fine trees in East Texas are very susceptible to damage by bark beetle infestation. Although bark beetles are more prevalent in forest trees, pines of all sizes around homes are also subject to infestation. Trees heavily infested by bark beetles are doomed to die. The most logical approach to control is to eliminate conditions that are attractive to the beetles. During bark beetle outbreaks, the removal of chemical treatment of infested trees helps reduce losses. Uninfested trees should be sprayed with lindane.

Any condition that puts the trees under stress causes them to be more susceptible to bark beetle invasion. Preventive measures should begin as early as possible. Avoid pruning or injuring trees during construction and keep heavy equipment away from trees to avoid compacting the soil. Keep shade trees healthy by adequate fertilization and watering. For trees less than six inches in diameter, apply one pound of a balanced fertilizer per inch of diameter. For larger trees, apply two pounds of a balanced fertilizer per inch of diameter.

Washington Report

by Charles Wilson

WASHINGTON, DC-Watergate taught all of us a lesson about the power of money in those in power. It also taught us a lesson about the power of the press and of the officials they elect to govern. But the temptations will always exist, unless the temptations can be reduced and actions to eliminate them.

Did you know that the House of Representatives is moving towards an even tighter "House-Cleaning" by acting on legislation requiring all candidates and top office holders to reveal their personal finances. The Financial Disclosure Act which I cosponsored in February, 1975, has been stalled for a year and a half in committee. However, two weeks ago, the Democratic caucus passed a resolution calling for action on the bill and pressing the Judiciary Committee to complete its proceedings on the legislation. Such actions couldn't come too soon.

Financial disclosure regulations were first imposed on members of Congress eight years ago, but most of those regulations have been too limited to reveal enough about members' finances. The 1975 Financial Disclosure Act would apply to all high-level government officials and would require stringent public disclosures of all sources of income and strict penalties for the withholding of such information.

The general disclosure of public officials is well-known and mostly well-deserved. The above legislation won't solve the problem, but it certainly will go a long way in helping to correct it.

By 1700, wild west shows were becoming scarce in Texas. Freely decreasing in popularity, increases the number of people who are interested in the industry is more than other big shows such as steel, television, radio, and sports.

Eagle JV, Frosh Beat Longhorns

By ROYCE BEST
WOODVILLE—The Kirby High Eagles freshmen and junior varsity teams defeated Hamshire Fannett by scores of 1-0 and 2-0 in the scrimmage at Eagle Stadium last Friday night, but the varsity fell 0-2 to the Longhorns.

This Longhorn evades one Eagle, but was later corralled

Behind the running of fullback Victor Hadnot, the Freshmen took their first victory. After taking a handoff from quarterback John Hadnot, Victor charged 10 yards for the only score.

The junior varsity took their second victory behind quarterback Gerald Dill. One score came when Dill connected with Buster Mose for a 24-yard touchdown pass, but the other when Garrett Batise intercepted a pass and ran 47 yards for a touchdown.

On offense the Eagles ran a split T and a flank set backfield. We have no certain plan of attack, we're just going to run all our plays with more brass this week," said Coach Broussard before the scrimmage.

The Warriors suffered several injuries this last week including approximately six sprained ankles, a couple banged up knees, and one hip. The Warriors are still adjusting to their new coaches and the move up to 7FAA.

The Warren freshmen will play Orangefield here Thursday, beginning at 8:30 p.m. The junior varsity will follow at 10 p.m.

When the Eagles began drawing up the field to score, yellow flags seemed to fill the air. "It happened to us two or three times. We had a good drive going when we got called for offensive holding two times in a row," said Head Coach Guy Broussard.

Fan support has been very good at both scrimmages. The crowds were large and they were backing our Eagles all the way. Such support makes the football players have an urge to play just a little bit harder. In absence has a mental effect on the players. We want to invite you to come to the games and present your "spirit" to them.

The Bulldogs held their own with highly rated Mt. Enterprise during their scrimmage last Friday. Each team scored one touchdown, and Colmesneil almost scored again, but had a drive stopped by fumble in the end zone.

Mt. Enterprise was rated second in Class B in the state by an Associated Press poll released last week.

Defensively, the line will include Dobbins, Graham, Belk and McKenney. Linebackers will be Collins, Fletcher and O'Neil. Terry Deason will hold down one safety spot, while Terry Denman or Moffett will have the other. Marshall and Kevin Davis will be the cornerbacks.

The Bulldogs will host Greenwood Village in the first regular season game Friday at 7:30 p.m. Greenwood Village scrimmaged Sabine Pass last Thursday, beating the Sharks 1-0. They run out of the Houston veer, said Coach Moffett, and like to throw the ball.

INSUR-MATION

David Horn - Farm Bureau Insurance-Livingston

What do insurance companies do with the money they collect? How can I determine the financial stability of a particular company?

The money collected goes into the general funds of the company. It is used to cover normal expenses plus make payments to the policyholders and beneficiaries. The balance, along with the company's reserves, are invested and earn money toward future benefit payments for the policyholders. Investments made by companies have lowered the rates of insurance so that it is less than it was 30 years ago. To determine the financial stability of an insurance company, you may wish to consult the Insurance Information Bureau, which will furnish you with information with which to gauge financial stability. Also available with most insurance representatives is a reference book which lists all the data on the sound companies.

Let's talk about labor — work, if you please, for that is what labor is. Labor has come a long way since ancient times when it was closely related to slavery. Aristotle described a slave as "a tool with life in it."

Presidential Voter Drive Underway

Austin—Soc. of State Mark White has announced that his office is conducting a massive, statewide voter registration drive for this fall's Presidential election.

Under the new registration law, Texans need only fill out a registration postcard and mail it, White said, adding that the registration deadline for the November 2 election is October 1.

Registration applications are available through county tax assessors or by calling a toll-free number in Austin, he said. The number, which is open during business hours, is 1-800-292-9607.

'Slow Life' Down With Photography

Photography is a way of slowing life down, says Doyle William Morgan, 38, of Orange, who is captured here photographically as he parks his home in his unique radio equipped mobile home in a field of citrus groves near a hot August Sunday afternoon.

Morgan, who is a technical expert on photography, says he has decided to slow down and look at life as a still camera can capture it.

Morgan, a salesman for Youmans Camera in Orange, travels all over the country in his home on wheels. So far he's made 45 trips, 10 provinces in Canada, three states in Mexico, "I travel in it for business and pleasure," he says.

Morgan's truck releases a high pitched siren sound, if an intruder should pry open the door and will be in a demonstration on that Sunday, woke up the Woodville Courthouse square for a brief moment.

With traveling companion Jim Powers, of Warren, the two can be seen almost anywhere talking cameras, taking pictures, hammering it up on a citizen band radio.

With all the hustle and bustle of our daily lives it's hard to find someone who can slow life down, so people and stop and enjoy it for while.

Fair Time In The Air

Custom candy, hot buttered corn, delicious bar-b-que, candy apples all kinds of good eating and folks having "Just a good old time" are ingredients in the all new Tyler County Fair which is set to begin only 10 days from now on the second weekend in September.

Local artist Clyde Gray will be painting inside the tent, for passers by to watch, there'll be cake sales and coffee contests and plenty of arts and crafts pieces to buy.

Following a Fair Board Committee meeting Monday the group released a tentative hour-by-hour schedule of events for the exciting weekend at store for Fair Visitors.

Down By The Station... Workin' On The Railroad

HILLISTER—Passenger trains, disappeared from Tyler County many years ago. Freight still roll on the rails of the Southern Railway from Warren to Rockland, but the depots which used to dot that line are also gone.

The regular passenger trains, numbers 147 and 148, were discontinued before 1941, says Brasher. "The company claimed it lost 10,000 operating miles the last year they ran."

The mixed trains, numbers 155 and 156, ran overnight between Dallas and Beaumont. They carried baggage, mail, several coaches and even Pullman sleepers. The passenger equipment was put on behind the freight cars, of which there only supposed to be 20 or less.

The railroad agent also worked for Western Union. During World War II and the Korean War the trains ran happy duty to relay the work of the U.S. of home or husband in combat.

Brasher's career with the railroad began in 1925 in Frankston, Texas. He was a telegrapher in the Hillister depot in 1926, then a utility clerk at the Woodville depot. J.R. McCombs was the agent here at that time, he says.

He also remembers that Wednesday was "Drummers' Day." All the salemen would ride the train into town on that day. Most would stay a day, some a week. Many stayed across the night in the saloons, famous for its tasty and generous breakfasts.

Brasher was only in Woodville one month before being the 1927 train job at the Docteur depot, and then back to Palestine in 1928.

That's when he met Ella. How long they were married, he never been in the job of passenger agent in LaPort. She took the train down from Palestine to Beaumont where they were married. Little did she know that in eleven years they would make their home along the tracks she rode that day.

Brasher's boss only give him one day off for the big event, and the next day he was back on the job. It was 1930, however, and jobs were scarce. So, the Brashers started out in good times, even if the honeymoon was short.

Their life together for the next eleven years reads like a railroad timetable: Seabrook, Larue, Kemp, first son Ronald Bruce Jr. born, Pasadena, Longstreet, Frankston (second son Larry, second daughter, Nancy, None and finally, Hillister).

When they came to Hillister, World War II had the railroads running full throttle. Brasher recalls how trains loaded with petroleum products would roll by his depot office. Steam locomotives were king then, and the heavy consists, two of them would "double-head" the freight.

In order to make it up the hill into Hillister, the freights would pick up speed coming off Warren Hill, blast across the Cypress Creek Bridge and run into Hillister.

Well, they really got after it when the convention recess was over. The Forest Service really in a bind nation-wide. The Forest Service couldn't sell 'em any.

Apparently, the court action that closed the National Forest in finally got the attention of the Congress. Though it was a little frustrating, wondering whether they had heard or not, what with all the palaver at New York and Kansas City that finally gave us two Presidential candidates for November.

1976 Flu Different From 1918

AUSTIN—When the A/New Jersey (swine) flu struck in 1918, people had little or no warning, no effective vaccines ready and no accurate information on the subject.

In 1976, some inaccurate information has been popping up around the state but otherwise people are a lot better off than in 1918, the Texas Medical Association says. Luckily the rumor that a New Jersey flu already has hit Texas is false, TMA says. Texas Department of Health Resources officials say if there are any cases they should appear during the regular flu season beginning in November.

People today have access to more accurate medical information but there are still skeptics just as in 1918. A December 1918 TMA journal reports one person called the epidemic "an infectious suggestion" caused by fear. He blamed traitors for causing the problem.

Some skeptics today label the disease program as a political ploy or a medical blunder.

State health officials counter these arguments by pointing out that A/New Jersey flu definitely has appeared and the population established immunity. Similar situations occurred with the Asian flu epidemic of 1957 and the Hong Kong flu epidemic of 1968.

Both these epidemics caused widespread suffering and death (about 70,000 excess fatalities nationwide in the 1918 epidemic) and a new flu could be more vicious. This type of epidemic strikes so swiftly and with such force that unless people are well-protected, the epidemic can cause widespread and preventable damage before such vaccine can be prepared. Fortunately this time there is advance warning of a possible and better knowledge of vaccines.

Of course there may not be an A/New Jersey flu epidemic although many signs point to it. However, officials have decided to go ahead with an inoculation program rather than risk the public's health and safety.

People in 1918, faced with death and illness in their midst, tried many ways to decrease flu risks. Some of the remedies ranged from "salves" to amulets. Many patent medicines were advertised as helpful to people for a price. One person in Missouri offered "to furnish the remedy for the common price of $4.50 for each patient, or will take a $2,000 major's commission."

Other equally worthless ideas were offered for free. People were advised to "sprinkle a little sulphur in each shoe every morning" to prevent flu and yellow fever. "Going up white bread and other foods or inhaling alcohol and chloroform from cotton" also were alleged to be cures.

Hopefully in 1976 people know vaccination is the most reasonable way to get protection from A/New Jersey flu, TMA says.

Kirby Realigns

Houston—G.W. Stanley, senior vice president, Kirby Lumber Corporation, has announced the consolidation of the company's Realty and Land Titles Sections into Land Operation effective Sept. 1, 1976.

Under the reorganization, Marvin Davoport, formerly manager-land operations, William R. McDonald, formerly manager-land titles, will become manager-land titles. A third position, manager-land is presently open but, according to Stanley, "We are searching for the right individual for the job."

In making the announcement, Stanley went on to say, "This move is designed to give us more efficiency and flexibility in land and land use management."

Canning Safety Sought

Washington, D.C.—The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) today announced a new program to help prevent illness and injury from hazardous associated with home canning equipment.

CPSC is reviewing causes of home canning food spoilage and launching a program to determine the extent and type of mechanical hazards associated with home canning equipment, such as exploding jars causing scalds.

This program follows a preliminary analysis by the Commission staff based on a July 26 agreement with the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). The agreement clarified the Commission's authority over safety hazards of certain food spoilage. This includes home canning equipment which do not seal properly and some performance failures of other home canning equipment.

Although lid failures can lead to food spoilage, the Commission's preliminary staff analysis indicates that it is highly unlikely that botulism could develop because the probability of botulism spores entering the jar is very low.

Food contamination from a lid failure is more likely to result from molds, yeasts and other airborne organisms, resulting in noticeable spoilage that would give reasonable warning to consumers. The Commission data indicate that the most serious botulism risks are caused by improper preparation of the food during the canning process. It is recommended that home canners follow canning instructions closely and use only lid seals and jars manufactured specifically for home canning.

According to the Commission, following proper directions will also reduce the chance and frustration of losing a season's worth of home canned goods. The agency will be paying particular attention to cases where the loss of food is due to defective home canning equipment.

As part of its program, the Commission will collect and analyze in depth information related to canning injuries and consumer complaints about home canning equipment. In addition, data from both FDA and the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will be made available to the Commission for possible further CPSC investigation.

CPSC is considering, under Section 27 (e), Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA), the possibility of issuing a specific rule requiring home canning equipment manufacturers to provide performance and safety information to consumers at the point of purchase. Also under consideration is the possibility of mandatory or voluntary standards to protect the public from any unreasonable risks which may be associated with home canning equipment.

The Commission plans a nationwide information and education effort on safe home canning. This includes distribution of the USDA Home and Garden Bulletin #8 Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables, and a new CPSC fact sheet on home canning equipment safety. In addition, community services directors in each of the Commission's 13 Area Offices will be contacting local media and consumer groups with home canning safety information.

To order the materials or to report a home canning complaint, consumers can call the Commission's toll-free HOTLINE at 800/638-2666. Trading In Tyler County

(and leaves more of your money where it will do more for you)

One Economic Fact which nobody can deny is that when we trade in Tyler County we save time and gasoline.

But when deciding whether to trade with neighbors or to go off somewhere else and prosper some strangers, there is another Fact to consider:

The Fact that the more we trade in Tyler County, the more likely it will be that our neighbors in business will have what we want when we need it and don't have time (or gas) to roam the country to find it.

The Tyler County Chamber of Commerce Retail Merchants Committee Says:
It Pays to Trade In Tyler County

'Bridge Of Love' Saves Child

DALLAS—A bridge of love and concern by Texans has stretched across the Rio Grande to rescue a 10-year-old Mexican girl, surgeons said at Parkland Hospital here.

Doctors and churches have linked compassionate hearts and skilled hands to provide new life for beautiful, brown-eyed Lupe Olivares born with her bladder on the outside of her abdomen.

At a year of age, the tiny youngster had already suffered severe kidney damage and was expected to die of kidney failure or other complications.

"Give her up. You have nine other children," people told Lupe's mother.

"If I had twenty other children, I couldn't give up hope for Lupe," cried Natalia.

Then Lupe's parents heard about a Longview pediatrician, Dr. B. Robert Comer, doing volunteer medical missions in Mexico under sponsorship of the Texas Baptist Rio Grande River Ministry and First Baptist Church, Longview.

They found Dr. Comer near Matamoros at a Children's Home sponsored by First Baptist Church, Brownsville. When Dr. Comer saw Lupe, he told the Olivares, "I would like to take her to Dallas where some surgeons I know can help her."

Aided by First Baptist Church, Longview, Lupe was flown to Parkland Memorial Hospital, where the first of three complicated operations was performed.

"Christians have joined hearts and hands across the River in a sign of love that transcends national boundaries and denominations," said Texas Baptist Executive Director James H. Too Late To Classify.

Plant Seeds Now

COLLEGE STATION- If you're planning a cover of Texas bluebonnets for the home landscape next spring, seed should be planted as soon as possible.

"Seeds must be sown by late August if blossoms are wanted next spring," emphasizes Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Late summer planting is essential as bluebonnets are actually winter annuals," explains the Texas A&M University System specialist. They germinate in late summer, exist as a small rosette of leaves throughout the winter while developing a good root system, and then grow rapidly during the spring rainy season to produce acres of blue flowers.

Many seeds are wasted each year due to improper planting, notes Janne. Just tossing the seed into a grassy area along the road or in the corner of the yard does little else than provide expensive food for birds.

Germination is also a problem. Poor germination usually occurs unless something is done to soften the hard seed coat to allow moisture to penetrate.

The oft recommended practice of puncturing the seed with a needle or ice pick will work but is rather time consuming as well as hard on the hands. Scratching the seed coat between two layers of sandpaper that have been glued to boards will also help," says Janne.

To treat large quantities of seed, the horticulturist suggests mixing them with sand and tumbling them in a cement mixer to scratch the seed coat. Or, they may be soaked in warm water (about 130 to 150 degrees F.) for a few days, changing the water at least daily until the seed feel soft.

After treating, broadcast the seed on tilled soil, cover with 1/4 to 1/2 inch of soil, firm the soil, and water. Keep the soil moist until seedlings appear-usually in a week to 10 days.

"Once established, bluebonnets seed themselves year after year provided the seed has been allowed to mature, grass or weeds haven't become too thick, and there has been sufficient rain in July and August to soften the seed coat."
