

6-Year-Old Tisha Marie Jackson Shows Voter Reminder Card Tuesday

Voters Say 'Yes To School Plan

WOODVILLE--A good turnout of Woodville School District voters Tuesday resulted in the passing of the $3.1 million bond issue for the construction of a new high school and other major renovations to the various Woodville Schools.

Out of a total of 1729 voters going to the polls, 982 voted for the bond and 747 voted against it. The margin of victory was 235 votes, according to the unofficial results.

School Board President Dr. K.E. Swearingen, who showed up wearing blue suede shoes, said "I've come to a party, I hope."

A group of approximately 15 persons, mostly supporters of the bond, waited anxiously outside the Kirby High Auditorium for the vote tally to end. At approximately 7:15 p.m., election judge, Joe Cash announced the results, setting off mini-celebrations among the spectators.

The voter turnout was approximately 400 for a $2.9 million bond election in May, 1975, which was defeated by less than 100 votes with approximately 290 votes cast.

The School Board was scheduled to meet Wednesday evening to canvass the results of the election and make them official.

Dr. Swearingen said that the 200-plus margin of victory was important, since it would enhance the chances of getting lower interest rates on the bonds.

Rain during the early morning hours apparently did not hinder the voters from going to the polls. By the time the polls closed at 7 p.m., it was clear and cool, adding to the festive mood of the bond supporters after the results were known.

There are approximately 3500 registered voters in the school district, and this was the first bond election in which non-property owners could vote.

Court Accepts Bids

WOODVILLE--The acceptance of several bids for county equipment and the approval to advertise for others were the main orders of business during Monday's special session of the Tyler County Commissioners Court.

The commissioners accepted bids for trucks for both precincts 3 and 4. The precinct 3 bid accepted was for '6950 for a three-ton truck from Ogden Chevrolet in Colmesneil. Jack Lane Ford of Woodville gave the winning bid of '8000 for a similar vehicle for Precinct 4.

A bid of $612.90 for a Royal 970 electric typewriter by Lufkin Typewriter Company was also accepted by the commissioners. The typewriter will be used in the County Clerk's office.

The court also approved advertising for bids for a new front end loader for Precinct 3. The bids will be opened at 10 a.m. on Oct. 15. The bid loader will be traded as down payment, with the balance to be paid in time warrants, according to the court.

Precinct 3 Commissioner Leon Fowler also asked for bids for the sale of some county equipment. The court approved the sale of one DD motor grader and three dump truck beds, with the bids to be opened at 10 a.m. on Oct. 8.

In other action, the court approved the loaning of the old county treasurer's desk to Heritage Gardens, with the provision that it be displayed with a plaque detailing its history. The desk, which now sits in the main hallway of the courthouse's first floor, is worth approximately $500 to $750 by estimates given at the meeting.

The court also approved the locking of the second floor courthouse bathrooms on weekends and $20 for groceries for a county resident.

Tabled during the meeting was a decision on whether to approve the work for extending the north end of the county airport runway to 75 feet.

During the meeting County Judge Allen Sturrock urged the commissioners to look for sites for possible third-class dumps.

Board Drops Hair Length Rule

Here On Oct. 7

WOODVILLE--The Woodville Independent School District Board of Trustees approved a change in the school dress code during its monthly meeting last Tuesday.

By a 4-2 margin, the Board voted to abolish the part of the code pertaining to hair length for boys. The move came in response to an appeal from Webb Ashworth and some supporters asking the trustees to amend or delete the hair length regulations.

The Board considered the matter in closed session after the initial discussion, then board member Margaret Lane moved that the portion be abolished. Trustee Fred Sullivan seconded motion and trustees Jim Gainey and Bobby Kinnon joined in voting for the motion. Trustees H.E. Allison Jr. and DR. W.S. Nichols voted against abolishing the regulation.

In other action, the Board approved the district's financial statement for August, 1976, approved the amended school budget for 1975-76, and examined and filed the August, 1976, report of the district tax assessor-collector.

A meeting was called by the Board for Wednesday, Sept. 29, to canvass the returns from the Sept. 28 bond election. Also, the Board voted to add Pam Elstinger, Ronald Downs, Kathy Weaver and Patricia Freeland to the substitute teacher list.

On the recommendation of Superintendent Tom Llam the trustees amended the school policy on awards so that a band member who has transferred here for his or her senior year may receive an Inter-scholastic League letter jacket if she or he has earned credit in band the previous two years.

Bond Sales Approved

WOODVILLE--The Woodville City Council have authorized the sale of approximately $700,000 in sewer improvement and extension bonds which will be applied to the Cobb Mill Road area, South Beach Street and the Chesswood areas of Woodville.

Councilmen explain that the $700,000 worth of bonds were approved in a bond vote in 1973 and are just now being sold because the city was awaiting a higher priority for federal and state funding which never came.

According to Mayor Terry Watts "we went further down the priority list as time went on so we decided to go ahead."

The bonding agent for the city is Sidney Wooldridge of Dallas, representing the firm of Brasher-Pierce Securities of Dallas.

Watts said the council will try to stretch the funds as far as they'll go in completing the project.

State Water Commission Explains Purpose

AUSTIN--Launching a program to explain purpose of the Water Quality Enhancement Bonds on which voters will cast ballots on Nov. 2, the Texas for Clean Water Committee held a press conference in Austin today.

Committee Chairman Josiah Wheat, Woodville attorney, said many people do not realize that most damage to the rivers and streams in the state comes from cities and towns which have inadequate sewage treatment facilities.

"Lots of these plants were built many years ago," Wheat explained. "A great many need to be replaced or upgraded, and construction is so costly that many towns, particularly the smaller communities, simply cannot raise money locally to finance such expensive construction. On the other hand," he added, "federal grant money is not available to many of them within a practical time frame, so their only recourse is a loan from the state which can be made from bond monies in the Water Quality Enhancement Fund."

Sewerage treatment facilities even for quite a small town can cost as much as $2 million, Wheat said.

Texas voters approved creation of the Water Quality Enhancement Fund in a constitutional amendment election in 1971. "While the bond issue is designed to be self liquidating over a period of time, money presently in the fund is running low and additional funds must be provided if these Texas communities are to improve their sewerage treatment facilities and the rivers and streams in the state are to be properly protected," Wheat said.

The Water Quality Enhancement Bonds, which will provide an additional $100,000,000 for the fund, will appear as Proposition 7 on the November 2 election ballot.

Bulldogs Clobber Rebels 24-6

COLMESNEIL—The Colmesneil Bulldogs soundly beat the Evadale Rebels 24-6 last Friday at Taylor Field in a battle of the unbeaten teams from District 22-B. The victory left the Dogs on top with one game to go in the first half of district play.

The Bulldogs were the toss and elected to receive. L.C. McKinney took the ball on the 25 yard line and returned it to the 37. The Bulldogs quickly moved to the Rebel 45 but there was a fumble and the Rebels covered it. The Bulldogs fought hard though allowing the Rebels only a two yard gain and then Terry Graham dropped the Evadale quarterback for a ten yard loss.

On third and ten, the Rebels tried a long pass which was picked off by Tom Deason on the Bulldog 40 and returned to the 50. The Bulldogs once again moved the pigskin as Tommy Collins picked up two yards and the Rebels covered it. The Bulldogs fought hard though allowing the Rebels only a two yard gain and then Terry Graham dropped the Evadale quarterback for a ten yard loss.

The Rebels had possession as the final period of play began but only momentarily. The Bulldogs defense's hard hitting caused another Rebel fumble and Moffett quickly recovered to claim the ball for the Bulldogs.

With 4:32 left in the same Moffett, McKinney and Collins led by a tough offensive line consisting of Brian Ogden, Joe Bell, Steve Daniels, Chris Dobbin, Steve Barber, Terry Graham and Clint O'Neal cleared the way for the Bulldog backs.

The Rebels were able to get to the Bulldog 38 in the closing minutes of play before the Bulldogs took possession and time ran out. The Bulldog defense's playing cat-in-the-hat was led by Terry Graham, Tommy Collins, Chris Dobbin, L.C. McKinney, Joe Bell, Leonard Harkness, Clint O'Neal, Chester Marshall, Kevin Davis, Thomas Deason and Terry Deenan.

The win brings the Bulldog record to 4-0 overall and 3-0 in District. Colmesneil travels to High Island Friday for the final game to the first round of District play.

Bulldog Tommy Collins Finds No Opening BURIED ALIVE—Colmesneil halfback Tommy Collins (35) is surrounded by Evadale Rebels on this play last Friday. Collins did much better on other plays, helping the Dogs to a 24-6 victory.

Wheat 7th Wins

WOODVILLE—The Wheat seventh grade team beat the Warren 7th grade 14-12 last Thursday with a great second half comeback. Trailing 12-0 in the third quarter, the Eagles scored on a 10 yard run by Kevin Brazill. Quarterback Chris Dill then connected on a pass with Mark Hadnot for the PAT and the score stood at 12-0. Wheat nailed down the victory with only 57 seconds left in the game when Lawrence Hadnot scored on a sweep from 30 yards out. The PAT failed, but the Eagles had the win anyway. Coach Danny Bomar complimented his team for a good defensive effort in the second half when they held Warren scoreless.

The seventh grade team is idle this week. Their record now stands 2-1. In addition to their win over Warren, they beat Livingston 22-0, and lost to Colmesneil earlier. WARREN 4 6 8 6-12 WHEAT 0 0 8 6-12

Despite a fourth quarter rally, the Wheat eighth grade team fell to Warren 14-12 in the other game Thursday night. Wheat took an early 6-0 lead on Kyle Brazill's 20 yard run in the first quarter. Warren tied the game on a second quarter touchdown, and then went ahead to stay with a 50-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter. The PAT was good and the Warriors led 14-6. Brazill, who had approximately 150 yards rushing for the game, scored on a 52-yard run in the last quarter to pull the Eagles to within two points. The PAT failed, however, and Warren held on for the victory.

Coach Bomar also complimented the second half defensive play of his eighth grade team. A fumble on the Warriors' two yard line just before half-time was one of the last breaks which kept the Eagles from winning.

The eighth graders, now 1-2 for the year, begin district play this Thursday when they travel to Corrigan. Game time is 3:30 p.m. Before their loss to Warren, the Eagles had defeated Newton 20-12, and lost to Livingston 48-0.

Yellowjackets Beat Sabine Pass 36-6

SABINE PASS—The Chester Yellowjackets notched their first win of the season and their first in district action with a 36-6 victory over the Sabine Pass Sharks last Friday.

It was also the first victory for head coach Larry Blackberry.

The young yellowjackets, who had trouble putting together an offense in their first two outings, tallied all 36 of their points before the Sharks could manage a point.

Chester's first score came on a run by Anthony Freeman. That was quickly followed by touchdowns by Wayne Hubert and Kent Bokoy. Hubert added his second touchdown of the evening on a 39-yard run, and Chuck Harty took an Anthony Freeman pass into the endzone for the Jackets final score. Chester was successful on three two-point conversions to give them a total of 36 points.

The victory raised Chester's season record to 1-2, and evened their district record at 1-1. The Jackets might play the Sabines to Evadale to tackle the Rebels who are 2-1 in district play.

17-AA District Play Begins

The Kirby Eagles and the Warren Warriors will seek to enter into District 17-AA action this Friday as the two Tyler County teams begin their season.

Coach Gene Isabell's Warren Warriors, 2-1 and coming off a two-game winning streak, travel to Newton Friday to tackle the Eagles who are 2-1 on the year so far. Newton's play has come to a halt two weeks ago as a 10-7 decision before the Eagles had defeated Hull-Daleport 20-0 and Halls-Fannett 28-13.

The Kirby Eagles will also be on the road in which of their first victory after three tough defeats. Coach Guy Brossard says that team is not mentally down, however, and feels they have played good enough to win.

The Eagles' opponent will be the Hemphill Hornets who are 2-1 after a 20-13 win over West Sabine two weeks ago.

In other district action, San Augustine (3-0) will be at Corrigan-Caden (0-3), and Diboll (0-2-1) will travel to Kirbyville (2-1).

Spurger Schools to Repay $832

SPURGER—Superintendent A.B. Crank recently returned from Austin where the Texas Education Agency inquired into the Spurger Schools which have to refund $832.00 to the State.

The Texas Education Agency advanced the Spurger Schools $1,940.00 during the 1969-70 school year for Vocational Travel and NDEA Reading programs. In 1972 an audit was conducted and no records could be found to substantiate the expenditure of $1,940.00.

After an "exhaustive" search of school records, and corresponding School Board Minutes for that year were compiled and taken to Austin. The Spurger Board of Trustees would eventually have to be made by the Agency. It is just relieved the travel funds of $1,108.00 did not have to be repaid also.

This same audit in 1972 also resulted in the Spurger Schools having to repay $1,400.00 in teacher salaries for the 1969-70 and 1970-71 school years. This was because some teachers were paid incorrectly. The $1,400 was paid shortly after the audit in 1972.

JACKET JIVE

By SABRINA PRIEST

VICTORY
The Mighty Jackets had a big supply of Jacket Juice this past Friday night. The Jackets took on the Sabine Pass Sharks for a really big win. The final score was 36-6. This Friday the Jackets will again leave their home territory and travel to the home of the Ewalds Rebels. WE WISH YOU LUCK.

FIFTHS DAY
Friday was Fifties Day at C.H.S. Everyone got in the act. They came decked out with their own version of how the Fifties looked. One of the main attractions was a Fonzie look-alike contest. Winners were Frank Ogden and Andy Newton. If crumpled shirts are in order how about a car pool with 20 people in it? That's right, the small number of 20 in a Volkswagen is really an accomplishment in itself. How about it, did you have enough leg room?

PEP SQUAD
The Jackets have still another fighting force to add to their team. They are the Pep Squad and from what we have seen they really have the pep to get it done. The Pep Squad consist of eight members they are as follows: Vickie Barlow, Teresa Botley, Wilma Jackson, Elnetha McQueen, Lena Regie, Debra Moya, Cheri Morris, and Bracela Walter. These students are really working hard to back the Jackets.

Briggs, social security manager in Lutkin, has announced that the Friday check delivery is a new policy. Social security checks will be delivered on a Friday whenever the third falls on a Saturday or Sunday. The same schedule will apply to beneficiaries who have their social security checks deposited directly in a bank or other financial institution. Formerly, checks were delivered on Saturday when the normal delivery date fell on Sunday, but many people had to wait until Monday to cash their checks. This new policy will eliminate that inconvenience.

There are many special events in Tyler County. A good example is the recent Fair. Much planning and hard work was spent in making it a huge success. But the main thing for all our events is volunteer time, and that takes someone who has a special interest and dedication to the project. Like Sue Brackin and her fellow "flower makers" for the Dogwood Festival, or Clinton Currie and his many committees, organizing and working toward successful rodeos. Just as there are successful events there are talented people who unselfishly give of their time to make it successful.

There is no charge for the program just contact her at R.R. 1, Box 86C13, 283-5145. She also has directed Little Theater plays in Baytown. With all our "special events" we hope all our "special talents" are found and utilized so that every event is also enjoyed by the workers.

The best thing the Federal Drug Administration could do at this juncture is take a long vacation. They have really been on our back for the last few years, beginning with the last year, beginning with the year that is, course, that helped the cranberry growers. The story broke just before Thanksgiving, and everybody ended up serving applesauce with their turkey and dressing.

Well, they ain't sure it doesn't, you and I are fresh out of licorice, black, that is, and licorice sticks, unless you can convince your youngsters that licorice, in its natural pale green color is just as tasty.

Birds Of A Feather

What we have here are two examples of out-of-the-ordinary fowl. Bobbie, left, is a quail which has been raised from an egg by M.O. Leach of Woodville. The bird at right has no fears about the opening of dove season, being a sweet potato from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hill of Dam B. In fact "Yam" watches visitors at Hill's Hallow from his perch in a box of shotgun shells. But he better watch out - Thanksgiving is not far off.

'We Depend On Community Action'

Every program which benefits the handicapped depends upon some type of community action and organization. Having been handicapped all my life, I have had many different views of community action.

Since my own parents were not what you would call active in this manner, the word "they" was always associated with what was or what was not being done in my community. As a severely disabled, cerebral palled child I can remember hearing what "they" ought to do for handicapped children. My mother rarely complained about what "they" were not doing, but as I grew older (without receiving an education in the public schools or the different therapies which the felt would help me), she became more and more concerned about what the community was not doing. At the same time I became very child-minded and soon developed the attitude that anything could be accomplished through organization and group action.

I became involved in an effort to organize a local cerebral palsy group. After getting a number of parents and a few professional people interested in this idea, we were successful in starting a small treatment program. When they asked Mother and me to serve on the Board of Directors, my "discontentment" was matched only by her disdain but she finally agreed. After my mother's death, I was asked to stay on the Board until I took a part-time job with the organization. While I will always be grateful for this experience it was an eye-opener.

In the years that followed I found myself pinning all my hopes on the success of one organization or group after the other, only to find that some of them are perfect or have all the answers. I have to admit that a great deal is being accomplished through the democratic process. With all of these about comings, it seems to me that the American system of community organization is reaching this goal. Rather than writing off all of our present organizations and traditional programs as so good, I hope the handicapped will become more involved in trying to correct what is wrong within these organizations. Plain-banquet demonstrations may call for courage, but long hours of committee work often call for another type of fortitude.

Saving For Baby Begins Early

COLLEGE STATION—Money gifts to a new baby can form the basis for his savings program, Mrs. Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist, says.

A planned savings account will keep parents from putting the cash gifts into piggy banks, or their own bank accounts with a memo note to "pay baby back," which is often forgotten, she said.

Mrs. McCormack is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Estimates show that will cost approximately $2,000 to rear a child from birth through four years of state college," she added.

Each different way of saving money has its own special characteristics. Standards to consider when choosing a plan are what parents want to achieve with baby's savings and when they plan for baby to use the money," she said.

Basic savings programs that look to a child's future are government savings bonds, insurance plans, savings accounts and certificates of deposit (savings certificates).

Government savings bonds can be purchased in varying amounts, from 18.75 to $7,500, and have fixed redemption values before and at maturity (five years).

The two types of savings bonds are Series E and Series H. These differ in cost, rate of return and the length of time held to maturity. Purchasing Series E bonds regularly in the child's name (designate parent as beneficiary, not co-owner) makes the interest taxable to the child. Since the child probably will not earn enough to incur income tax for several years, the interest escapes taxation if you report it as it accrues.

"To do this, at the end of the first year, file a federal income tax return in the child's name and on the return, state that the child elects to report the interest annually. Then, file the increase in the value of the bonds as his or her income. This establishes the child's 'intent' and you need file no further returns as long as the interest on the bonds plus the child's other investment income is less than $250 a year. Thus, when the child cashes the bonds, all accrued interest on the bonds will be free from federal income tax.

When the child turns two years old, if parents start buying a $25 bond each month they will have $5,900 worth when he reaches 18—assuming the six per cent rate remains in effect, she said.

Insurance programs or juvenile insurance can accomplish some important long-term objectives by insuring the child early during his life. This can give a child a base on which to build his own insurance program later, or help him start his adult career with low-cost protection.

"But if you want to build up an education fund, you may be wiser to save on your own, since you should be able to invest the same amount of money at a higher interest rate than that offered by life insurance companies.

"If you do decide to buy insurance, consider the wide varieties of policies available, and be sure you understand all the requirements, provisions and benefits. Shop around," she advised.

Savings accounts can be opened with a small deposit, and future deposits can be made in any amount. Withdrawals can be made any time, except with certain accounts which may require from 30 to 90 days notice.

Again, shop around to find the most favorable plan for computing interest when you make either deposits or withdrawals during the interest-earning period.

"Generally, look for a high percentage rate of interest, no penalties for withdrawals, interest calculated on the day of deposit to day of withdrawal plan, quarterly compounding and quarterly crediting. At 7 1/2 per cent interest, money doubles in slightly less than 10 years. At 5 1/2 per cent, it doubles in 13 years," she explained.

Certificates of deposit normally can be opened only with larger, $500 to $1,000 amounts of money. These accounts must remain intact for a specified period of time to be eligible for their higher interest payment. If a $1,000 CD is purchased now, with all interest being re-invested at a current 8 per cent interest, in 10 years it will have grown to $1,800, she explained.

Water Standards To Change

Most people take for granted the safety of the drinking water that comes from their home faucets, especially if their water is provided by a municipal water supply system. But safe drinking water isn't achieved automatically, and, according to water hygiene officials of the Texas Department of Health Resources, in some Texas communities it is achieved only with great difficulty.

C.K. Foster, director of the Water Hygiene Division, TDHR, says that the standards for water purity will change in the near future. "Presently, we operate under the state statutes which were passed in 1945, as well as the U.S. Public Health Service's Drinking Water Standards of 1962. However, a new federal law will become effective June of 1977," he explains, "which will change some of our procedures with the maximum contaminant levels being changed in some cases."

The present standards are concerned primarily with bacteriological contamination and some inorganic chemicals, especially heavy metals, Foster says. In some instances, the present standards only provide for recommended limits. The new standards will be considerably more stringent.

There are six new organic chemicals that have been added to the list of contaminants, Foster says, "and there are some mandatory limits which were not in the 1962 standards." The organic chemicals include four insecticides and two herbicides; they are: Endrin, Methoxychlor, Toxaphene, Lindane, (all insecticides); 2,4-D, and 2,4, TP Silvex (herbicides).

One of the inorganic chemicals whose status is changing from a recommended limit to a mandatory limit is nitrate, Foster says. "Water hygiene standards differ somewhat for two major classes of water supply systems: community systems and non-community systems. Foster explains, "Obviously, the non-community systems do not require the same surveillance, for instance, that the community systems would, because people don't drink the water continually from a non-community system."

For example, flourides are not considered as important in a non-community system as they would be in a community system, where a mandatory limit is applied under both the present and the new standards. Also, bacteriological sampling is not done as frequently for non-community systems.

As an example of a non-community water system, Foster mentioned "a state park which has visitors who come in maybe once a year or less frequently. According to Foster, most people in Texas receive water which meets the current standards for safety and cleanliness and safety—but that most of the state's water systems do not meet the standards. He explained, "Probably ten million people in Texas have water which complies with the state statutes at this time. However, some water where less than twenty percent of the systems comply, because we have many, many small systems which cannot comply with the standards."

In some cases, these small systems serve only a few homes in a semi-rural area where there is no other source of water within a reasonable distance. Foster believes that water systems which have little difficulty in meeting the standards of the new law are those that have the highest standards when they become mandatory, and with the cost of lowering the standards. This is the area where we anticipate the most progress. But, he says, the people of Texas, clean and safe drinking water is something they can count on.

It has been said that the points of view of the world are changing. In the case of water, the points of view are changing. The old standards are being replaced by new standards. The old standards were based on the knowledge of the time. The new standards are based on the knowledge of today. The old standards were based on the knowledge of the past. The new standards are based on the knowledge of the future.

Home Demonstrators Celebrate

COLLEGE STATION- About 1,000 Texas home-makers celebrated the 50th anniversary of the Texas Home Demonstration Association (THDA) with an annual statewide meeting Sept. 21-23 on the Texas A&M University campus. When designating the week of Sept. 20-26 as "Texas Home Demonstration Week," Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe noted that the association was created "to help women who belong to home demonstration clubs throughout Texas. Over 24,000 women currently belong to home demonstration clubs in Texas."

Counting THDA's 50 years in Texas, Dr. Daniel C. Pflanzel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, noted that Texas women had begun to form home demonstration clubs in the early 1920's. A group of women who were attending the 1926 Furber's Show in College Station organized the association. THDA has provided effective leadership for family-centered programs and support for 4-H and youth development activities in Texas for 50 years. Pflanzel said.

Extension Service personnel serve as advisors to the Texas Home Demonstration Association at the county, district and state level. Commenting on THDA work across the state, Clifton Wright of Breckenridge, 1st, current THDA president, said the association promotes educational activities for its members to help strengthen the quality of home and family life.

"THDA has provided effective leadership for family-centered programs and support for 4-H and youth development activities in Texas for 50 years," Pflanzel said. A two-hour historical review of the organization highlighted the three-day statewide meeting, which also included general sessions, workshops, district meetings, installation of new officers and an annual banquet.

Broiler Show Set

COLLEGE STATION- Texas youths can raise chickens and crow all the way to Kansas City this fall. The 1976 National Young Poultry Show sponsored by Kennel Fried Chicken will be held in Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15-20, announces Dr. William O. Cawley, poultry specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The event is a part of the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show and Rodeo. The broiler show is open to youngsters between the ages of 9 and 19 who are members of bonafide youth organizations such as 4-H, Future Farmers of America and Boy Scouts of America. Nearly 9,000 in prize money will be divided among the top 50 entries in the contest, with the grand and reserve champions each receiving $100. In addition, the top 10 entries will be sold at public auction. Last year's grand champion was sold in Col. Harland Sanders for $5,000. Each contestant may have two four-bird entries. The deadline for entries is Sept. 14. It is essential that contestants start their chicks as soon after that date as possible, the specialist emphasizes.

Cawley urges those interested in participating in the National Young Poultry Show to contact their local county Extension office.

County Hay Show Is Oct. 1

WOODVILLE-The Tyler County Hay Show is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 11 at the Vocational Agriculture Building in the Woodville School. The Tyler County Young Farmers will be serving charcoal hamburgers beginning at 6:30 p.m., with the hay show following at 7:30 p.m.

The deadline for entering hay is noon, Friday, October 1. Anyone entering hay in the show should carry the hay to their local vocational Agriculture Teacher or to the Woodville Vocational Agriculture Building. Hay that you have raised or purchased may be entered in the show. Samples from round bales can be entered; however, please do not bring loose hay, bag it before entering.

A protein analysis will be run on all hay at the Stephen F. Austin Hay Testing Lab. The Long Leaf Soil Conservation District will pay for the first bale entered from each producer. Additional entries will be $3 per sample. The purpose of a hay show, according to County Extension Agent Clinton Currie, is to encourage efficient, economical, and profitable production of high quality forage. Considering the rising cost of producing and harvesting hay, high quality hay has never been more important. All phases of pasture management are important and can be discussed with judge and guest speaker Kenneth Smith, Area Agronomist, Agricultural Extension Service, from Overton. This hay show is being sponsored by the Agriculture Committee of the Tyler County Program Building Committee, Vocational Agriculture Departments, Build East Texas Committee, Long Leaf Soil Conservation District and the Tyler County Young Farmers Organization.

'WIC' Program Aids Nutrition

Science has shown for years that nutrition has a great influence on an individual's health. For the past few years, the Texas Department of Health Resources has operated a special program, funded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, that does more than just encourage people to buy more nutritious foods—foods they sometimes can't afford to buy. The program is called the Supplemental Feeding Program for Women, Infants and Children, or simply

"WIC." The WIC Program serves a limited clientele. Eligible recipients may include pregnant or lactating women, infants under one year old, and children up to five years of age. Anyone within these categories who applies for WIC services receives a thorough medical examination to determine whether the individual is "at nutritional risk." According to Judy Stevens, a Texas Department of Health Resources nutritionist for the "WIC Program, "nutritional risk" doesn't necessarily mean simply the lack of adequate food. She explains that many people eat enough to keep from being hungry, but because of poor selection of foods the individual remains malnourished. Typical nutritional problems that may result are anemia and various vitamin deficiencies.

Those who are eligible for the WIC Program and who are found to suffer from nutritional problems are given not just advice and counseling, but five specific food items. The foods can be picked up at cooperating retail grocery stores, or, in some areas, they can be delivered directly to the recipient's home; in either case, the recipient pays nothing for these specific food items, Stevens says. "The food items have been selected according to the nutrients available in these foods which will improve the health of the participants through better nutritional status."

The Texas WIC Program has an authorized caseload of 75,000 recipients, although some data suggest that many more Texans could benefit from the program. Services are provided through 29 local projects serving recipients in 62 counties. The program is administered by the Division of Maternal and Child Health Services, Texas Department of Health Resources.

According to Stevens, the local projects cover approximately 55 percent of the state's population. "This indicates to us that we are meeting the needs of more than the majority of our population," she says. "As we are able, we expand into other areas of the state to improve our delivery of nutrition services."

The WIC Program staff recognizes that the food supplements are only the first step in correcting the recipient's total nutrition. Stevens says, "Providing food is a short-term solution. The long-term solution really is education, and we now have the responsibility to provide nutritional education to our participants."

The educational effort will begin this Fall in each of the 29 local projects. Stevens explains that a variety of educational activities are included. Audiovisual materials, such as 16 mm films, 35 mm slides, and filmstrips will be used both for group instruction and for individual counseling.

The local projects are being encouraged to hire nutritionists for supervision and monitoring of the education program so that we can be more confident of the quality of the education," Stevens says. The objectives of the program are "for increased knowledge of nutrition on the part of the participant, a change in attitude about nutrition and health, and finally a change in behavior as indicated by dietary changes. Instruction will be given in both English and Spanish where appropriate, she says.

KEEP BLOOD PRESSURE CONTROLLED

The United States' most vicious killer stalks silently. High blood pressure, the most common chronic disease in the U.S., has no symptoms until it strikes. It causes about 50,000 deaths yearly and contributes to strokes, kidney problems and heart attacks, the Texas Medical Association says. "Anyone can have high blood pressure, even children, but certain factors increase the risk. A black, overweight person who smokes and is under stress would have three factors against him or her. Eating too much salt or lots of food with cholesterol also can help bring on high blood pressure. A family history of high blood pressure further increases the odds against a person. If one parent had high blood pressure a child would have a 50 percent chance of getting the disease (usually between 40 and 50 years of age). If both parents had high blood pressure, the chance would rise to 90 percent.

Fortunately, diagnosis usually is easy and treatment can be as simple as regularly taking a pill in some cases. Hypertension, the medical term for high blood pressure, is detected by a quick, painless test. Treatment varies in individual cases but often drug therapy and modest dietary restrictions can control the disease.

The most troublesome part about treatment for many people is continuing it. Since high blood pressure does not have any symptoms, many patients get tired of taking their medicine and stop. Unfortunately, the disease does not stop its deadly progress unless you continue until a serious symptom, such as death, occurs.

A blood pressure test can be done quickly using an inflatable, bag-like cuff wrapped around the arm above the elbow. A tube connects this cuff to a measuring device that contains a column of mercury (a barometer). The cuff is inflated until the main artery in the arm is squeezed tightly enough to shut off the flow of blood. The examiner takes two readings while deflating the cuff and listening with a stethoscope. One is the systolic pressure (maximum pressure in the arteries when the heart is contracting). The other is the diastolic pressure (minimum pressure maintained in the arteries between heart beats).

A diagnosis of high blood pressure usually is based on a systolic reading persistently over 140 or a diastolic reading persistently over 90.

How Will You Accept Old Age?

People can contribute to a good old age by developing the ability to meet change and adjust to it well before they reach that stage.

How do you react to the question, "How old are you?" Your own reaction, if you are past 55, will tell you much about yourself and what is in store for you as you grow older," she added.

Miss Blair is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Middle and old age bring on a type of physical life as well as physical change. Since these changes are not familiar, it is natural to be anxious about them. If you complain, protest and feel sorry for yourself, you can expect to see that same anxiety appear when the inevitable changes of middle and old age occur," she said.

"The attitude we bring with us to this phase of life largely determines our condition at this time," she said.

CRIME SAID Up 3%

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Serious crime in the United States rose three percent during the first six months of 1976 over the same period of 1975, Attorney General Edward H. Levi announced Thursday.

Levi said that the violent crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault, as a group, decreased six percent during the first six months. Reported offenses of murder decreased twelve percent, robberies were down ten percent, and aggravated assaults and forcible rape decreased one percent each.

Sixteen cities over 100,000 reported decreases in serious crime during the 1976 period, Levi said.

The first six months' figures were contained in the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports released today by FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley.

Director Kelley said the Crime Index composite reported offenses that are considered serious because of their nature, frequency, and likelihood of becoming known to law enforcement agencies.

Today's figures are based on information from city, county, and state law enforcement agencies throughout the nation.

"The percent of increase for both the first and second quarters of 1976 are considerably below those of a year ago," Mr. Levi said.

"While the trend is encouraging, there remains a net increase in serious crime—a clear reminder that all segments of the criminal justice system must continue working to solve the problem."

Serious crime for the first quarter of 1976, reported earlier by the FBI, rose four percent over the comparable period of 1975.

Property crimes of burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft, as a group, increased four percent. Burglary was up five percent and motor vehicle thefts were down three percent.

Director Kelley said the overall increase of three percent for the quarter was most influenced by the many offenses of larceny-theft reported to law enforcement—up eleven percent nationwide.

Suburban area law enforcement agencies reported an overall increase in serious crime of two percent, while agencies in rural areas experienced a one percent rise. Cities with 100,000 or more inhabitants had a four percent increase in reported Crime Index offenses.

Geographically, the Northeastern States reported a nine percent increase in crime. The North Central States were up three percent, the Western States two percent, and the Southern States one percent.

Exemption May Lower Farmland Taxes

COLLEGE STATION—A recent Texas Supreme Court decision could save part-time farmers and ranchers many thousands of dollars, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The court held that farmland and ranches may qualify for agricultural tax exemption on farm real estate even though they earn more than half their income from other sources, notes Dr. Wayne Hayenga. Thus, the court relaxed eligibility requirements imposed in an earlier ruling.

The big impact will be in counties that have many part-time or low income farmers who could not previously qualify for the exemption.

The Texas Constitution provides that the owner of a farm or ranch may request an "agricultural use" valuation for the property if it is his primary occupation and source of income," points out Hayenga.

This valuation is based on the productive value of the land, which is often less than the market value generally used for computing tax payments.

The state Supreme Court ruled earlier that a property owner must show that his farm or ranch income was greater than his combined income from all other sources. But, based on opinion by Associate Justice Price Daniel, the court changed the requirement to make it easier for owners to qualify for the exemption, says the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Daniel wrote... "It is sufficient if the landowner shows that he devotes a greater amount of time to his agricultural business than to any other occupation or business, and that he receives more gross income from his agricultural business."

This ruling will help farm and ranch owners who get incomes from a variety of sources, such as business investments, royalty payments and other jobs, but who spend a majority of their time on the farm, points out Hayenga.

Social Security Recipients Must Report Status Change

LUFKIN—Approximately 615 residents of Tyler County who receive a total of 43,500 in Supplemental Security Income payments each month are required to notify the Social Security Administration if certain events occur, reminded Lufkin social security district manager Travis Briggs today.

SSI is the Federal program which replaced Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, and Aid to the Disabled. Payments are made the first of each month with a gold colored check.

Social Security should be notified of income changes, as monthly payments can be raised or lowered if the recipient's other income on matter what the source goes up or down.

Also, Social Security should be notified if there are changes in living arrangements, marriage, divorce or separation; changes in address if you move; sale or purchase of real estate or other property; or if the recipient enters or is discharged from a nursing home or other institution.

Reports of changes can be made by telephone or a letter or visit to The Lufkin Social Security Office. The telephone number for Woodville residents is 283-5511, as a direct line from the Woodville telephone exchange to the Lufkin Social Security Office was recently installed for the convenience of area residents who can now dial direct without charge.

Anyone preferring to visit the Lufkin office in person may do so. The address is 3213 South Medford Drive located at FM Road 58 and Loop 287.
