'Twas Last Friday Night... and Woodville Was Stirring...

SANTA NIGHT SCENES—Shown above are some late night scenes in Woodville last Friday during the Late Santa Shoppers night sponsored through a cooperative effort of the Woodville merchants. Merchants and customers alike say they benefited from the experience which saw Santa Claus make a whirlwind tour of all the Tyler County Elementary Schools, arrive in Woodville for a special guest appearance at the Woodville Pines Theater (PHOTO TOP LEFT) where Santa is shown being introduced by theater owner Pat O'Brien. The State Welfare Department collected some 300 cans (17 shopping bags full) of canned foods for area needy, along with $79 in concession collections and donations from "Operation: Sharing is Caring." Shown at top right is Welfare Department Representative Mrs. Butch Howard who coordinated the "Operation" (PHOTO AT BOTTOM) shown First Baptist Church "Revelations" performing for a shopping crowd. Also performing was the Kirby High School wind ensemble which played traditional Christmas tunes which added beautifully to the mood of the evening.

Congressman Wilson Predicts... Village Mills May Get Big Thicket Headquarters

Congressman Charles Wilson told a Forestry Association Group meeting held at Waterwood in Polk County that in his opinion the headquarters for the Big Thicket should be located in Village Mills. Wilson also said the northernmost headquarters should be located in Woodville and the southernmost base office should be located in Lumberton.

Wilson, as he was in Houston enroute to Washington D.C. on Tuesday morning responded to a BOOSTER telephone inquiry to say that the statements he made were not an official announcement but that "They should indicate where I think the location should be."

Wilson attributed the delay in the release of the 10 location of the offices announcement as an example of the "creep and crawl of the bureaucracy." Wilson's staffers said they felt "the interior department still had it."

Wilson had told a group in Diboll and also the Heritage Civic Club group in Woodville several months ago "that the people in Woodville and Tyler County ought to be happy about the location."

Tom Lubbert, superintendent of the Big Thicket Project and who is stationed in Beaumont at the National Park Services offices has said repeatedly in recent weeks that the information could not be announced until the recommendations could receive a full review from each governmental agency.

Lubbert has said that Congressman Wilson's office "would be the first to know of the locations," Wilson said to turn that "The people of Tyler County will hear as soon as I learn the department's decision."

Tyler County Chamber of Commerce President Carl Nichols indicated that he was pleased that more information seems to locate the northern office in Woodville. Nichols has been involved in securing the offices in Woodville for several years. "It will be a nice end to a lot of work," he said, "if they decide to locate here."

County Sets Holiday Date

WOODVILLE—The Tyler County Commissioner approved several routine matters of business at their regular monthly meeting Monday morning.

The commissioners unanimously approved the monthly county treasurer's report, county extension report, and a list of bills as already approved by the county auditor's office.

Friday, Dec. 31, 1976, was set as an official New Year's holiday for county employees, and the oath of office to county officials was set for Monday, Jan. 3, 1977 at 9 a.m. in other business done by the commissioners.

County Judge Allen Sturrock asked the commissioners to consider a county-wide review of the placement of voting boxes. The judge cited the case of Box #1 which is currently located in the county courtroom, which is "not big enough" to handle the number of voters who must vote there.

Other areas mentioned as needing a new box were Hillister and Mt. Carmel Church. Judge Sturrock explained that any change in voting boxes would have to be approved through Washington, D.C.

The commissioners also voted to advertise the getting of county salaries for 1977, and the intention to amend the 1977 budget in this week's newspaper.

Towards the end of the meeting, Precinct 3 Commissioner Leon Fowler warned the Tyler County Booster reporter present about what he termed as misleading newspaper coverage of his statements in past commissioners meetings. And, during a meeting following the court's regular session, County Judge Allen Sturrock, Commissioner Fowler, Tyler County Booster, Publisher John Morrison and reporter John Sniffen agreed in general that it would be best to tape record future commissioners meetings to insure more complete coverage of the discussions there. County Attorney Jim Allison was also present for a portion of the meeting which was initially called for by Commissioner Fowler.

Morrison told the group of "THE BOOSTER'S" impartiality in coverage of routine commissioner court meetings, saying the meetings in the recent past have been reported no different than any other. "We cover them all the same," he said.

"The tape recordings will certainly allow us more extensive coverage of each meeting," he added.

The commissioners will meet next on Tuesday, Dec. 28, at 10 a.m. in the county courtroom.

Man Loses $1,077 Con Artists Strike Here

WOODVILLE—Three black males apparently conned a Warren man out of $1,077 in an incident Tuesday morning in Woodville, according to the Woodville Police Department.

J.E. McCollum, told police that the three men picked the money from his pocket while the four were playing "three-card monte" in McCollum's car.

One of the men approached McCollum near Jarrot's Walgreen Agency Drug Store and asked for a ride. B.J. Vardeman, investigator for the district attorney's office, said that the man told McCollum he was a stranger in town, but while they were driving, they came upon another man whom the first man said he recognized.

Vardeman added that one of the men flashed what appeared to be a large roll of money and acted like he was not very smart. Eventually, the men entered into the card game, which is "just a variation of the old shell game," said Vardeman.

McCollum reported last seeing the three men on Elm Street in Woodville.

"We ask that the people beware of strangers flashing large rolls of money and offering sure-fire methods of making money," said Vardeman. "These con men usually have the advantage that the victim is embarrassed and will not report the incident until a day or so later."

Description of the three men, one dark skinned and two lighter, has been sent to surrounding counties and to the Modus Operandi Division of the Department of Public Safety in Austin for possible match-up with their records.

In other action over the last week, Eugene Donald Coleman, 27, of Woodville, was charged with carrying a prohibited weapon after being stopped by Woodville police officer Jim Reid for a minor traffic violation at 2 a.m. Saturday on North Magnolia.

Coleman was also charged with driving with expired drivers license and altering a motor vehicle inspection sticker. He paid fines for these and was released on $2,500 bond for the weapons charge.

Friday at 3 p.m., Ricardo Martin, 18, of Mexico, was stopped by Department of Public Safety Patrolman Jim Deal while driving on West Bluff. He was charged in city court with driving without a drivers license and a muffler violation. Martin was then held until Sunday for the U.S. Border Patrol which departed him back to Mexico.

A two-car accident last Tuesday at 4:55 p.m. at the intersection of Beech and West Bluff streets resulted in no injuries. William Eugene Swinney of Bridge City was charged with failure to yield right of way when his car hit that driven by Robert McKinley Hough of Jasper.

Michael S. Johnson, 18, of Tyler County, was stopped by Officer Charles Walker at 11 p.m. Saturday night and charged with disregarding a flashing red traffic light.

Police Chief Gary Mattingly reported that otherwise it was a "routine" week.

Wilson Is Outpatient Director

Mrs. Hal (Lyn) Wilson has been appointed as the new director of the Tyler County MH-MR Outpatient Clinic Director, and was formally introduced to the newly formed Tyler County Advisory Board meeting held last Thursday. Mrs. Wilson indicated that the move for her was a "great opportunity in her field of psychology," and said further that the people of Tyler County have been "warm and friendly." She will replace JoAnn Fries, who is assuming a caseworker responsibility directed at sending more referrals to the Clinics in the East Texas region.

Mrs. Wilson is a native of Waynesboro, Va., and is a 1972 graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, where she majored in Psychology.

She has previously been employed with the Maryland Department of Public Health. Currently, after living in Tyler County for some 5 1/2 months she is the Brownie Troop 135 leader and serves also as a Girl Scout Neighborhood Vice Chairman and consultant.

She is the wife of Hal Wilson who is employed with the Koppers Company. They are residing at 910 Magnolia St.

Mrs. Wilson said that persons with personal or children behavioral problems can call her directly for assistance at 283-5178 between the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. She said also that persons who need help "walk in" to see her at the Tyler County Outpatient Clinic located at 101-A N. Pecan St. in Woodville.

Cost Share Funds Are Available

WOODVILLE-According to James P. Vaughn, Forester with the Texas Forestry Service, private landowners in Tyler County are being offered a good opportunity to improve their woodlands. The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) has cost-share funds available to help improve existing forests or establish new ones under the Forest Incentives Program (F.I.P.).

This program, said Vaughn, is for private individuals who want to make more profit from their forest land but just do not have the money to improve it. F.I.P. includes free planting, scrub hardwood control, and prescribed burning for site preparation. The improvements carried out on any private land must be based on the landowner's goals, the land's ability to grow timber, and condition of the trees already on the land.

He went on to say that interested individuals should come to the Texas Forestry Service office, 283-3795, Highway, or call 283-3795, and inquire as to often takes some time for applications to be processed.

"A Texas Forestry Service forester will look at the owner's land and tell him what should be done to improve it," he said. Afterwards the forester will help in the location of contractors to do the work under F.I.P.

According to Jim Vaughn, "We do our best to make sure the land is properly improved at the lowest possible expense to the owner."

"When all work is completed," he went on to say, "the landowner is reimbursed for about 75 percent of the cost for work designated under F.I.P. I don't believe there is a better deal anywhere for the private forest landowner to improve his land for timber production."

Habitat Safer For Rare Birds

AUSTIN—Things are looking up for some of the endangered species of birds which spend time in Texas. Bald eagles, brown pelicans and whooping cranes all seem to have posted gains in their numbers this year, biologists at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and National Audubon Society have been keeping a close watch on the birds in the past few years.

The P&WD annually conducts a survey to locate active southern bald eagle nests in Texas. This year eight active nests produced eight young, a modest increase from last year's seven fledglings.

The nesting range of the southern bald eagle once extended over most of Texas, but at present is confined to the middle and upper Gulf Coast.

A majority of bald eagles sighted in Texas, however, are northern subspecies which nest in the northern United States and southern Canada. During the winter of 1975-76, 329 of the northern birds were sighted in Texas, a decline from 392 in 1974-75 and 712 in 1973-74.

Decline of bald eagles and other fish-eating birds is blamed for the most part on either pesticides, which affect reproduction, or habitat loss.

Brown pelicans have been hard hit. Around 1900, one colony of brown pelicans near Corpus Christi had an estimated 5,000 birds.

By 1950 the figure for all of Texas had dropped to 768, and in 1964 there were 28 adult brown pelicans in the state. This year adult birds produced 16 young, the most in Texas since detailed records were first kept in 1963.

A record number of whooping cranes made the 2,500-mile trip to Aransas National Wildlife Refuge from Canada this year. Federal biologists counted 54 adult birds with 12 young. Last year there was a total of 57 birds wintering in Texas.

Two other lesser-known birds, white-faced ibis and reddish egrets, are neither endangered nor threatened but have suffered decline in numbers in recent years.

Some 2,000 pair of ibis were estimated in Texas in 1973. That number is up to 5,900 in 1976, according to biologists at the Parks and Wildlife Department.

National Audubon Society officials estimate Texas population of reddish egrets seems to have been 1965 when only 552 pair were found in the state during the 1930s.

Although it only is conjecture, the early and mid-1960s seems to be the nadir for many fish-eating birds such as egrets and brown pelicans. Biologists speculate this was a time of heaviest use of DDT in agriculture, and run-off of pesticides into streams, contaminated fish which were in turn eaten by birds.

Although use of pesticides such as DDT and aldrin has declined or ceased, state and federal biologists say loss of habitat still poses a major problem to the birds.

Watch For Christmas Tree Hazards

Christmas trees pose a fire hazard by their very existence in the home but people can do a lot to decrease potential problems, the Texas Medical Association says.

Natural trees need to be as fresh as possible. Brittle branches and shedding needles not only increase fire hazards but they make a tree less pretty quicker. Keeping the bottom of the tree in water or damp dirt will help keep it fresher longer.

The tree also needs a sturdy base. Holders can be bought or a fairly secure base can be made by packing and bracing the tree in a large container of damp dirt.

The holder can be covered with wrapping paper or a cloth for a more pleasing effect.

Christmas trees present a very subtle danger to some people. Allergy sufferers may have to have an artificial tree if they find the trees trigger wheezing, sneezing and red eyes.

The most important requirement for artificial trees is that they be "fire resistant." Labels on the tree or packaging clearly should state their safety. Artificial trees also need sturdy bases.

Trimming a metal tree with electric lights can be very dangerous so safety authorities recommend using colored floodlights aimed at the tree. These lights must be brought so they can't possibly burn people, packages or furnishings.

Other types of tree lights can be dangerous if the wires are broken, cracked or exposed. Loose connections, broken bulbs and bulbs touching branches also can create problems. Even lights with the Underwriters Laboratory (UL) safety seal can be dangerous if they are old and in bad shape. All Christmas lights (on the tree or elsewhere) need to be turned off when people leave home.

Ornaments also can pose problems if they are not fire resistant. However, the biggest danger is to children who grab and break the baubles if they are not placed high enough on the tree. In fact, children and Christmas trees can be an unbeatable team for trouble unless youngsters are taught to admire but not touch.

Applications Due Jan. 1

AUSTIN—Landowners wanting their ponds stocked with fish next year are reminded they have until Jan. 1, 1977, to submit their application to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Applications received after the Jan. 1 deadline will be deferred until 1978, according to Ted Lowman, P&WD fish hatchery coordinator.

As in past years, P&WD will stock private waters with largemouth black bass, channel catfish or sunfish. Between 6,000 and 7,000 applications will be filled during 1977, according to Lowman.

The different species will be stocked at no charge to the landowner. However, to qualify, the pond must never have been stocked with the requested species, have been dried-up and refilled since the last stocking request, or have had all fish chemically removed since the last request.

Form cards may be secured from any P&WD office or by written request from P&WD's Austin Headquarters, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Tex. 78744.

Following the deadline, receipt of the application will be acknowledged and processed. Applicants meeting stocking criteria will be notified by late January.

Catfish and sunfish, ranging from one to two inches long, will be delivered between August and September 1977. One and one-half-inch-long largemouth bass will be delivered between May and June.

Stocking rate per acre will vary from 25 to 50 fish, depending on geographic region. Landowners may apply for any or all three species. If a landowner wishes to have more than one pond stocked, he should combine the surface acres of all ponds and enter that figure in the application.

Love Important

In Marriage

COLLEGE STATION-The most happily married people are those who love each other deeply. No one ever hears of a really loving couple talking about the possibility of separation and divorce. Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist, points out.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"What many people call love today is just sexual attraction. Married love is far more than that; it includes the feeling you have for a close and dear companion with whom you share part of your life—the friendship love. It includes the desire to cherish, help and care for the one you love—the tender protective emotion you feel for a child. It includes willingness to sacrifice yourself, if need be, for the loved one."

She noted that marriage is more than two people in love, though. It is also two people in a partnership. The partnership must work if the marriage is to be happy.

"It isn't enough for a husband to be able to tell his wife in glowing terms how beautiful she is and how much he loves her. He must be able to provide her with a home, bring in a steady income, manage the family's business affairs, deal with the children, organize outings and vacations and do the odd jobs around the home."

"The wife, too, has to be more than an adorable sweetheart. She must be a comrade to her husband, a housewife, a manager of money, a mother to her children, the family representative in many social events in the community, and perhaps an auxiliary breadwinner, the specialist pointed out.

And it takes quite a talented person to be really good at all those things, Miss Taylor pointed out.

"Two things are especially important in enabling a couple to work out a good partnership. The first is adaptability in both of them; the second is a sound workable policy for decision making.

"Basic ingredients for two people in a marriage are maturity and character. People who have attitudes of kindness and consideration, who are trustworthy and dependable, whose ideals are high, and who have the resolve to pursue them without giving up easily are the people who have what it takes to make the adjustments of marriage successful.

"No marriage can be happy without the trust and confidence of the marital partner. We often refer to this as the coming together of two people who are in tune with one another. Couples who have found a spouse who is mature, who has character, who is trustworthy and confident form the basis for a lasting, marital relationship," she said.

It is possible to find a spouse who is mature, who has character, who is trustworthy and confident form the basis for a lasting, marital relationship," she said.

It is possible to find a spouse who is mature, who has character, who is trustworthy and confident form the basis for a lasting, marital relationship," she said.

Holiday Traffic Tips

The 55 mph speed limit may have decreased deaths due to auto accidents, but fatality rates are climbing again. Many factors are involved by carelessness, especially on country roads, unsafe cars, bad weather, and motorists who don't wear seat belts contribute to accidents that could be prevented, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) says.

In 1975 there were 4.1 people killed for every 100 million miles traveled compared to 3.9 in 1974. The trend seems to be increasing, the Governor's Office for Traffic Safety says.

A National Safety Council study shows country roads produce nine times as many crashes and 14 times as many property damage accidents as do controlled-access super-highways. Blind intersections and reduced vision on curves and hills contribute to many crashes. Being alert and prepared to stop in these situations can save many lives.

A quick check of the car, also can help avoid trouble. Check tire tread and pressure, windshield wipers, accessibility of seat belts, defogger or rags to wipe off fogged windows, and hoses, belts and fluids under the hood. Problems with many of these could mean being stranded on the highway in winter weather—which can be very dangerous. Even for a short trip, it's wiser to invest in adequate shoes in case there is car trouble.

CB radios not only help spot smokies but they also are useful for passing on weather and road conditions information. Even AM or FM radio weather forecasts can give valuable information on what's coming. Sometimes postponing a trip for a few hours or a day will avoid bad weather that can drive even experienced drivers. Arriving late is better than not arriving at all.

People increasing their chances of arriving alive if they wear seat belts. Even if people refuse to use seat belts on short errands, buckling up on a trip is not too much trouble. Hospital beds or caskets are much more confining than seat belts.

The total number of bachelor's and master's degrees awarded by Lamar since its first four-year class in 1953 will reach 21,571 with this commencement. Associate degree recipients and certificate and diploma holders in the same span will hit 5,078.

Certification of candidates will be by deans of Lamar University's nine colleges:

Ham Prices Should Rise

COLLEGE STATION—Ham prices are likely to increase as a result of heavy Christmas demands in Texas grocery stores, Mrs. Gwen Gwynn reports.

In other pork buys, Boston butt roasts continue to offer real values and end pork chops and loin-end roasts are featured in several markets, this consumer marketing information specialist reports.

Specials on steak cuts make beef a very favorable choice. Other featured beef specials include ground beef, corned beef, chuck cuts, round steak and beef liver.

The poultry market is back to normal after the Thanksgiving holiday, and some markets have whole fryers at the top of their lists, along with fryer parts, she said.

Mrs. Gwynn is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Egg prices are expected to remain at current levels until after the first of January, she added.

At vegetable counters, cauliflower is still inexpensive. Bulk carrots, a good choice, pinto beans, and sweet potatoes, are also good buys. Other economical choices are winter squash, potatoes and onions. Any features on green peppers and celery are particularly good values now, the specialist reports.

Apples continue to be plentiful. Jonathan and Dell-rous are the key varieties this year.

Other economical fruits are grapes, bananas, pears, oranges, tangerines, tangelos and Texas grapefruit, and cranberries, she said.

CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS: Try economical rice—it cooks fast, tastes good and is an excellent meat dish and food filler.

Leftover Turkey Ideas Endless

COLLEGE STATION—Leftover turkey meat provides endless possibilities for future family meals, Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist, says.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Cool cooked poultry quickly and store, loosely wrapped, in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Cooked turkey meat can be stored in the freezer in moisture vapor resistant wrappings such as glass, rigid plastic containers, freezer foil, and freezer paper or plastic wrap.

Cooked turkey covered with broth or gravy will keep only one month.

If the meat is removed from the bone before packaging and freezing, less freezer space will be used and the meat will be ready for use. Defrost in the refrigerator before use, she advised.

Try the following recipes to make the best use of one of this year's best buys—turkey.

TURKEY CROQUETTES
2 cups turkey, cooked, diced
1 cup rice, cooked
1/2 cup celery, finely chopped
2 tablespoons onion, finely chopped
1 teaspoon flour
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 egg, beaten
1/2 to 1/3 cup evaporated milk
3/4 cup breadcrumbs, fine, dry
2 quarts oil for frying
1 recipe turkey sauce
1/3 cup nuts, chopped or a few sprigs parsley
Combine turkey, rice, vegetable, flour and season-

Yeast Bread For Holiday

COLLEGE STATION—Flavor and aroma of homemade yeast bread fills the house with holiday spirit.

Yeast breads don't have to be complicated and time consuming. Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist, contends.

An educational publication, "Yeast Breads," offers a variety of simple yeast bread recipes compiled by foods and nutrition specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Learn the basics about mixing, kneading and baking plus receive tested recipes for sweet, plain and herb breads and buns. There are even recipes for making main-dish pies in a yeast crust," she said.

"Yeast Breads," B-863, can be obtained through the local county Extension office for 25 cents, or send 25 cents to the Department of Agricultural Communications, College Station, Texas 77843.

The following recipe is one found in "Yeast Breads."

RAISIN BUNS
1 package of cake yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup melted shortening
4 cups flour
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup seedless raisins

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add salt and sugar. Cool to lukewarm. Add two cups flour and beat well. Stir in softened yeast. Let rise in warm place until doubled, about one hour. Stir down. Add eggs, shortening and raising. Add remaining flour. Beat or stir thoroughly. Drop by spoonful into greased muffin pans. Let the until doubled. Bake at 375 degrees F. about 20 minutes. Makes about 24 two-inch buns.

Chaloupka Elected Farm Bureau Head

FORT WORTH—Carroll Chaloupka, Carroll County, Texas, grain and cattle producer, was re-elected president of the 195,000-member Texas Farm Bureau at the conclusion of the organization's four-day meeting here Dec. 8.

Following adjournment of the convention, the TFB Board of Directors met and named Henry Burton, Lufkin, egg producer, as vice president and re-elected Reed Lang of Rio Hondo, grain, cotton and citrus producer, as secretary-treasurer.

Three new directors were elected by voting delegates, replacing three men who were ineligible for re-election due to a six-year limitation rule.

They are Calvin Ruetter of Clifton, replacing John A. Smith of Cameron; Vester Smith of Loop, replacing Bill R. Reid of Lamesa; and J.R. (Hubbs) Day of Uvalde, replacing R.A. Frazier of Hondo.

During the final two days of the convention, the 1,000 voting delegates from 169 counties adopted state policies to guide the TFB next year.

Social Security Changing In 1977

LUFKIN—"There are several changes in Social Security and Medicare that will be effective beginning January 1, 1977," said Travis Briggs, Social Security District Manager in Lufkin.

"The amount of wages or self-employment income subject to social security taxes will increase from the present $15,300 to $16,500. The tax rate is unchanged at 5.85 percent each for both employer and employee and 7.9 percent for self-employed persons."

"The amount a beneficiary drawing retirement benefits can earn and still get all his social security checks will also increase from $2,760 in 1976 to $3,000 in 1977. The worker will lose one dollar in benefits for every two dollars of earnings in excess of this $3,000, generally. However, he will still get his check for any month in which he doesn't work substantially in self-employment or earn gross wages of over $250."

Mr. Briggs also pointed out that the patient's part
