The Tyler County BOOSTER

"Serving Tyler County Since 1930"

Vol. 50 No. 5 Thursday, Feb. 3, 1977 WOODVILLE, TEXAS 75979

Woodville Secures Thicket North Post

Congressman Charles Wilson informed the BOOSTER office late Tuesday that the North District office for the Big Thicket National Preserve would be located in Woodville and should be functioning, he said, inside of three years.

Wilson said he didn't see much problem in the acquisition of land and the appropriation of funds to complete the facility.

In an official publication produced by the United States Department of the Interior National Park Service Division it is stated that the North District office:

Will be located in Tyler County, in or adjacent to the City of Woodville. This facility will contain the necessary storage and office space to provide the following services:

a-visitor contact and information;

b-supervision of the protection function (visitor and resource protection) for the northern tier of units;

c-supervision of the maintenance function for the northern tier of units.

The publication further states that:

"Woodville's geographic location and modern facilities make it the natural selection as the north focal point for the Preserve. Virtually all visitors from the north must pass through this community to visit any of the units, and those who wish to spend the night will be able to do so."

Additionally Woodville is for the same reasons centrally located to provide district services protection and maintenance for the northern tier of units (Big Sandy, Menard Creek Corridor, Hickory Creek, Savannah, Turkey Creek, Beech Creek and the Upper Neches River Corridor).

The publication says also under a heading of "Impact to the City of Woodville that:

"Economic impact of a great influx of government employees on a small community could be considerable. (i.e. more money will flow into the community—however a greater number of services will have to be provided such as schools, housing, utilities, etc.—) all will feel the impact of increased population."

Wilson said there is still a 30 day waiting period for all divergent views to be heard. But he said "the Parks Service has already been through that and the plan is all but finalized."

Wilson pointed out that on all the national maps that Woodville and Tyler County would be keyed as a contact point for the nation to stop at first before proceeding on into the thicket.

Wilson said the facility will "Continue to enhance the Tyler County image as a historical cultural center of rural Texas. The facility will bring new families and should bring a more affluent traveler to this part of East Texas."

Gotcha!!

Woodville Mayor Terry Watts finds himself in a close shave as he entered the Dogwood Festival Western Weekend Beard Growing Contest last Saturday on the Courthouse Square. Pretty Kim Collier, secretary to Western Weekend Director Jim Clark, was officially accepting entries by actually "whittling" their whiskers before accepting the contest entries. Clark reminds everyone that this year's Western Weekend and Rodeo promises to be the best yet. March 26 is the date for this year's rodeo and beard contest judging.

Funds Sought For Orphaned Fire Victim

A tragic mobile home fire at 4 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 27, which claimed the lives of two young parents in Houston, La., was felt here in Tyler County as efforts to create a fund for a surviving child orphaned as a result of the incident were being made. Killed as a result of the fire was Colleen Susan Hernandez III, 23, and Juan Hernandez III, 23.

Dam-B resident and businessman Bill Ener is heading up a drive to create a special now-account fund for three-year-old Kathleen Lilly Hernandez in the name of her grandmother Lilly Polton of Dam-B.

According to Ener the fund has been established at the Citizens State Bank and any person who wished to make a contribution to defray expenses of helping the orphaned girl start a new life was asked to contact Ener at the Sportsmans Lodge in Dam-B or Bobby Kinnon at the Citizens State Bank in Woodville. Donations are to be made to "Lilly Polton for Kathy Hernandez."

Kathleen, who was three-years-old Jan. 31, was rescued from the flames of the burning home along with another youngster, Christina Smith, also of Houston by Debbie Smith of Dulac, La.

Some clothing has already been collected at Dam-B, said Ener, but dollar donations are being asked to help get the child re-established since the tragedy.

Funeral for the parents was at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 1.

Does life insurance affect Social Security retirement benefits?

Taken as an annuity, life insurance will not affect Social Security benefits. Life insurance and Social Security work hand-in-hand to provide an adequate income for future needs. Potential benefits from Social Security, alone, may fall short of providing sufficient income for family and retirement needs. Social Security, says, in effect, that if a person receiving benefits wants to or is forced to continue working for a living, his benefits will be taken away... unless he is content to work for a relatively small income. Life insurance supplements Social Security with an extra income... without carrying the penalty of loss of benefits.

Clinton Hatton In Houston Livestock Scramble Soon

Clinton Hatton, FFA member and 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hatton of Warren, Texas, will participate in the calf scramble at the February 25 Matinee performance of the 1977 Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo.

Always a favorite with rodeo audiences, the calf scramble at the Houston Livestock Show Rodeo has become the largest event of its kind in the world. Since the crowd-pleasing contest began in 1942, the calf scramble has awarded more than 1.2 million to help young aspiring farmers buy animals.

Every year, winners of the calf scramble receive certificates worth $275 from Houston-area sponsors. The boys use these certificates to buy registered females which they bring back to the next year's livestock show for judging. In this way, the calf scramble gives 4-8 FFA members a chance to get started in the beef or dairy cattle business.

Every performance of the '77 Rodeo will feature a calf scramble as its fourth event. In each calf scramble, 24 boys will compete for 12 beef heifers, while 28 boys will scramble for 14 dairy calves.

Through the 1976 show, boys in the beef scramble have received $645,175 to purchase 4,148 beef animals, while the dairy scramble has distributed $737,350 for 3,538 dairy heifers.

This year's calf scramble will include 388 competitors, half of whom will be winners.

The Livestock Show opens February 21 and runs through March 6, with rodeo performances in the Astrodome beginning February 25.

The '77 Rodeo will spotlight the world's top professional cowboys as they compete for rodeo's richest purse—more than $100,000. Rodeo audiences will be entertained by this exciting lineup of TV and recording stars: K.C. and the Sunshine Band, February 25; Mac Davis, February 26; Helen Reddy, February 27; Conway Twitty and Loretta Lynn, February 28; Mel Tillis, March 1; Merle Haggard, March 2; Roy Clark, March 3; the Osmonds, March 4; and the Judds, March 5.

Cold Winter Hard on Game Fishing

The coldest winter in years continues to grip South-east Texas, working havoc with fishing plans of area anglers. The cold is not only having an adverse affect on fishermen, it is affecting the fish too. The water temperatures in area reservoirs are abnormally cold. Last week, for example, the water temperature in Toledo Bend Reservoir was 44 degrees. When water temperatures get that cold, the fish generally move to the deeper waters in a lake where the fish are not so easily accessible to anglers. Not only do the fish move into deeper waters, during periods of extremely cold, they also tend to move away from the shore and into the open water. The Fish Commission has advised that a complete stop to fishing is necessary in these areas.

One exception is crappie fishing which has been good lately in some areas. One area is on Toledo Bend where some anglers have been finding crappie suspended along the old Sabine River channel. One particularly productive spot has been along the river channel about two miles north of Holly Park Marina in Faison Bay. The spot is not hard to find since an angler need only look for the crowd of fishermen in that particular area. The crappie are biting small white jigs at mid-morning and late-afternoon.

Lake Palestine has also been producing some good crappie fishing. The best place on the lake to fish is on the upper section under the mats of duckweed. said Charles Smith, Parks and Wildlife

The church is God's appointed agency in this world for providing the knowledge of His love for man and leaving his neighbor without the love of God, no government without this grounding in love will long preserve and the freedom which we hold so dear. Inevitably parish, therefore, new from the for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family, and perhaps the church because it will be the truth alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Petticoat Politics

by Jerry Wilson

After the long and the short of it, the Petticoat Politics of Washington has been the subject of a book by Jerry Wilson, author of "The Petticoat Politics of King Tut." The book is a collection of essays, some of which were first published in 1972 in the Valley of the Kings, south of Cairo. And as you enter the exhibit, life-size photos of the actual discovery surround you. Narrow dark corridors, illuminated by the flashlight beams of archaeologists, walk through. And suddenly, photographs "covering the scene" appear as they found the first room. And in the center of the Smithsonian is a large selection of King Tut's objects, over 500 of them. And they will travel from coast to coast for the next two and a half years.

Auto Group Issues Protest On Timber / Pulpwood Hauling Bill

HOUSTON, JAN. 28 - The American Automobile Association club of Texas today strongly protested the causal passage by the Texas Senate of a bill authorizing trucking hauling timber or pulpwood from some penalties imposed under the state's weight laws.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Don Adams (D-Texas), authorizes the Texas Department of Transportation to issue permits for trucks to haul timber or pulpwood from the provision of the weight laws which requires that trucks be loaded to a weight limit by more than 5 percent.

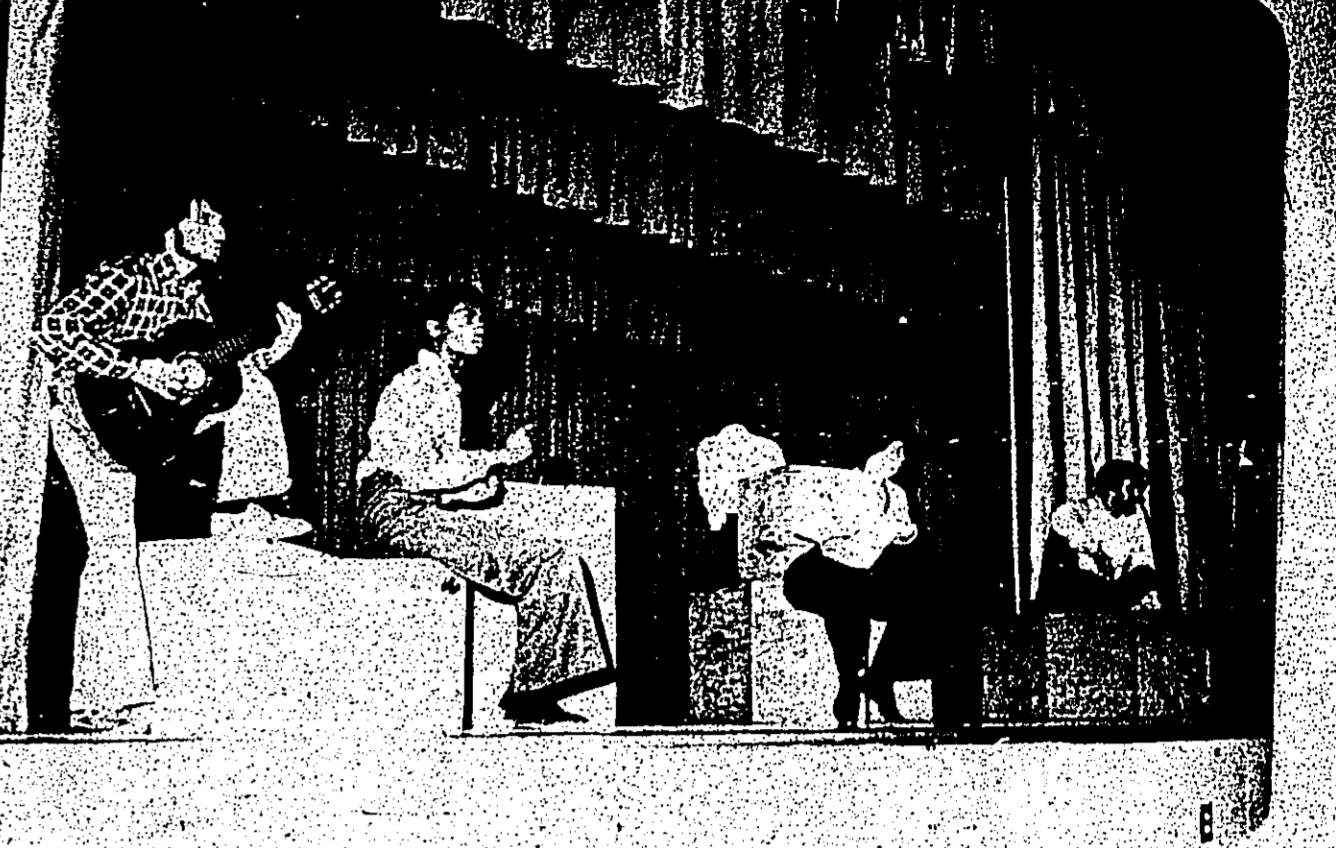

AAA spokesman William M. Coffey said the Senate's passage of the bill by voice vote Thursday was "an affront to the citizens who pay the gas taxes which are used to maintain Texas highways."

COLLEGE STATION—Although agricultural credit conditions are still generally good in Texas, things are tightening up a bit, according to a recent survey of bankers and other lenders.

The survey, conducted by Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, showed that during the past six months, more potential farm loan customers could not be served, loan payments were lower, and more collateral was being required.

More than half of the 149 agricultural lenders who responded to the survey indicated that they had larger outstanding agricultural loans than a year ago. 26 per cent indicated serving more farmers and ranchers while 10 per cent noted serving fewer customers. Demand was up for operating loans, 8.20; and for feedlot loans, 8.64.

Looking ahead, the majority of the lenders felt that both short-term and long-term interest rates would remain stable for the next six months, points out Hayenga.

Regarding feedlot loans, 58 of the lenders reported an average margin requirement of 34 per cent and only 17 required a compensating balance that averaged 14 per cent, the same as last May. Hedging of feedlot cattle appeared to be higher than six months ago.

The survey also noted a big increase in forward contracting of crops, notes Hayenga. Lenders reported 26 per cent of their borrowers contracted part of their crop compared to 27 per cent last May. A change in contract terms was also noted—55 and ranchers using borrowed funds for just over half of their operating expenses, compared to 42 per cent and 38 per cent, respectively, last spring. And most lenders prefer that borrowers contract about half their crop.

Hayenga also indicated that lenders are taking a harder look at loan applications. They noted that 50 per cent of their borrowers furnished past profit and loss statements and 64 per cent provided a projected cash flow statement or operating budget, both up from 50 per cent a year ago. This means that farmers and ranchers had better get their loan documents in order, he emphasizes.

Hayenga also notes that the survey showed farmers

Tyler County War Vets To Get $71,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 24—There are pleasant tidings for the 240 war veterans of Tyler County who have been awarded a total of $71,000 in World War II veterans' benefits.

The money represents dividends that have been declared on a million insurance policies held by them.

The payout will be limited to World War veterans in the Korean War and will go only to those who have maintained their insurance policies in force.

Veterans, who are covered under Veterans Group Life Insurance (VGLI), a term policy that does not pay dividends, will not participate. They get other compensation benefits.

Most of the recipients are the 3.5 million World War II vets who hold National Service Life Insurance (NSLI). They will split a $66 million melon.

The rest will go to World War I vets who are covered by U.S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI) and to Korean vets who have Veterans Special Life Insurance (VSLI).

The 240 in Tyler County who have maintained their policies in force will be getting a total of approximately $71,000.

They represent only a fraction, 21 percent, of the 1,190 World War and Korean veterans in the local area.

The Veterans Administration policy cut that the dividend being paid this year to veterans across the country is bigger than ever before. It is nearly 27 million more than in 1976.

Carter Raids Magazine For White House Staff

AUSTIN—Publisher Michael R. Leby announced today that a third member of the TEXAS MONTHLY editorial staff has been appointed to President Jimmy Carter's White House staff.

Most recently named to the president's staff is Barry Jagoda, contributing editor of TEXAS MONTHLY. He will be special assistant to President Carter for media and public affairs. He joins James Fallows, former associate and contributing editor of TEXAS MONTHLY, who is Carter's chief speech writer, and Griffin Smith, Jr., TEXAS MONTHLY senior editor, who has accepted the position of speech writer and top assistant to Fallows in Washington.

TEXAS MONTHLY editor William Broyles notes, "The TEXAS MONTHLY contingent in the White House is probably the largest and in size only to the Carter family." Broyles adds, "We will miss them sorely in the words of a former presidential aide: 'We will all sleep a little easier knowing they're on the job. We will do our best to make do without them and will be looking forward to their return.'

Jagoda's responsibilities in his new position will include policy making in arts and humanities. He will be working with President Carter to develop an open relationship with the people of the country through media. A Houston, Texas, native and graduate of the University of Texas, Jagoda earned his M.A. from the Columbia School of Journalism in 1967.

Joining the TEXAS MONTHLY in March 1976 as a contributing editor, he was named producer for CBS news and in 1974 won an Emmy Award for CBS Watergate coverage. Previous to his association with CBS, he was a writer and editor for NBC. In January 1976, he joined the campaign staff as television advisor.

President Carter's chief speech writer, Fallows has been associated with TEXAS MONTHLY since 1975 and is a winner of the INGAA-University of Missouri Award for excellence in business, financial, and economic reporting for the year ending May 31, 1976. For his article, "The Great Airline War," which appeared in the December, 1975 issue of TEXAS MONTHLY, Raised in Redlands, California, the 27-year-old Fallows was a Rhodes Scholar and editor of the Harvard student newspaper. He is author of Water Lords and coauthor of Who Runs Con-

State Chamber Estimates Tax

Texas taxpayers will be required to pay out approximately $2,156,000,000 in Federal taxes as their share of cost of the Federal spending program proposed by President Ford for the 1978 Federal fiscal year, according to an estimate today by the Texas State Chamber of Commerce, which is comprised of the four regional chambers in Texas.

This estimate was based on the State Chamber's calculations that Texas taxpayers bear 5.49 per cent of all Federal taxes.

The State Chamber pointed out that any change which Congress may make in this budget will reduce or increase the amount that Texas taxpayers will have to bear, depending on whether Congress cuts or spends more.

In commenting on this estimate, All Jenkins, executive vice president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce pointed out that the taxpayers in the 71 counties comprising the East Texas region of Texas will bear nearly 13 billion dollars of this cost since over 50% of the state's population is in the East Texas Chamber area.

Jenkins further stated that Texas taxpayers will be subject to change, depending on the recommendations and programs of President Carter and Congress. He specifically pointed to a more active role for Congress in the area of job creation, legislation and other public programs of legislation. Jenkins also pointed out that the most important tests will be to keep a close eye on trends in Congress and make every effort to encourage We've built automobiles that are going up because of these speeding tickets given for driving above 55 and 70 m.p.h. Head continued. "Truckers established the 70 m.p.h. salesman and commuters condemned speed and then a bunch of have seen insurance rates raised, diesel fuel consumption increased in many cases, and valuable time lost. "It's time we put an end to this silliness and told the federal government exactly what they can do with that double ticket," Head continued.

Study To Halt Farm Accidents

A movie is under way to put a "what if" to the mounting farm and ranch accidents that occur in Texas every year—accidents that claim more than 200 lives and cause more than 4,000 disabling injuries. The "what if" involves a survey in 42 Texas counties that will be conducted throughout 1977 to determine the causes of farm and ranch accidents. From the information provided, safety education programs will be launched.

Coordinating the Texas Farm and Ranch Accident Study is Dr. Gary S. Nelson, agricultural safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Providing yeoman service during the year will be some 700 neighbor volunteers who will be interviewing almost 7,000 of the state's 205,000 farm and ranch families.

"We are really concerned about doing something in Texas to reduce the high cost of farm accidents, both in terms of human suffering and property damage as well as associated production losses," points out Nelson. "To set up a firm base from which to operate and reach out with safety programs, we need to know just what is happening in farm and ranch accidents. That's why the survey is so important. It will provide the best information on the nature and extent of the accidents, and help us determine to whom and why."

Volunteers involved in the study will be contacting farm and ranch families in early January to obtain "base data," such as size and type of operation and equipment used, explains Nelson. These same families will then be contacted every three months to determine if accidents have occurred and to gather all available information on such accidents. All survey information will be sent to county Extension agents who will in turn send it to Texas A&M University for analysis. Nelson hastens to point out that the information will be completely confidential since only code numbers will be used on the questionnaires. Only the neighbor interviewer will know which farm and ranch families are participating.

"Due to the seriousness of the accident situation and the fact that the individual information will be kept confidential, we hope that the farm and ranch families contacted will all cooperate to the best of their ability," notes Nelson.

The study is endorsed by the Texas Farm Bureau, Texas Home Demonstration Association, Young Farmers and other groups. Local Farm Bureaus are supplying a significant portion of the volunteer interviewers. In addition to providing guidelines for farm and ranch accident prevention education, the study may help equipment manufacturers identify and eliminate hazardous machine hazards, prove 4-H safety education programs, and reduce insurance costs through reductions in accidents and accident costs.

The study may also help prevent bad farm legislation and limit legislation to what is realistic and practical, contends Nelson. The ensuing study has nothing to do with the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA), adds the engineer.

"This study is a project by Texans for Texans," emphasizes Nelson. "It has the potential of saving the lives, limbs and productive talents of Texas farm and ranch families as well as preventing the loss of millions of dollars through equipment damage and production losses."

Hunting Season Ends

The 1976-77 hunting seasons are practically all history now. Squirrel season ended throughout Southeast Texas on Jan. 15, closing what was generally a better than average year for squirrel hunters. This year on Jan. 23, the hunting season for ducks, geese and coots also ended. As for the only hunting season remaining open in the state—the quail season—it will run through Feb. 15.

Accent On Health

Some people have it and some people who don't have it don't want it. What is it? Allergies, which affect about half the adult population in one form or another. This half may snifle or sneeze, itch or wheeze, suffer intestinal disturbances or other uncomfortable symptoms, says the Department of Health Resources.

If you have burning, scratchy eyes and a running nose during ragweed season, it may be little consolation that some 13 million people in the United States have hay fever. About a half of adults and third of our children are allergic to something—something they eat, smell, or contact. Some people have been found to be affected by a certain color.

In some people, allergies occur only at certain seasons of the year, such as ragweed season. In Texas, thousands upon thousands store their allergies by the pollinating of cedar trees, which begins around Christmas time each year. It may last a month or longer. Others are bothered in early spring by developing of trees and flowers. Grasses later in the spring and summer affect others.

The very unfortunate individual may have some form of allergy on a daily basis.

When the allergy-producing substance enters your system and comes in contact with the antibodies in the cell, that union produces dramatic effects. The best known of the results of these miniature explosions is the release of the chemical histamine from the cell. Normally, histamine is not produced to counter the levels of histamine. Sometimes enough antihistamine is not produced to counter the levels of histamine.

Histamine is perfectly harmless when inside the cell but once released outside the cell it produces undesirable changes. It dilates and constricts blood vessels, that fluids from your blood stream leak out into the tissue, causing swelling.

If this change takes place in the skin the result is hives. If this reaction occurs in the nose, the membranes swell and you have a condition known as hay fever or "sinus." Another action of histamine is to contract or put into spasm involuntary muscle fibers—muscles not controlled by your own will, such as stomach, intestines, urinary bladder, or the uterus. If this muscle effect takes place in the muscle fibers around the bronchial tubes, asthma is the result; if in the intestine, cramps and diarrhea may be the effect.

At least, one in three Texans who have untreated hay fever will develop asthma. In many cases, seasonal asthma may fall outside with the end of the season and may become chronic, says the Department of Health Resources.

Among the most common forms of respiratory allergy is hay fever. It is a respiratory reaction to pollen. The severity of hay fever varies in different parts of the country, from season to season and day to day.

Molds commonly grow on plant life and are particularly prevalent on grains, such as wheat, oats, rye and corn. Next to pollen, molds are the most common causes of seasonal hay fever and asthma.

Then there is contact dermatitis. Poison ivy dermatitis is one of the best known examples of hay fever. But many other plants and common substances in use in the home "can produce" this disease, says the Department of Health Resources.

Three factors may play a part in the production of allergic illness. Susceptibility is one. Only certain people have the ability to become allergic to become allergic. Granting you have this background, you still must become sensitized to a special substance and then be re-exposed to it.

If you avoid either of these steps you will have no allergic illness. A third factor is what might be called contributing factors: various chemical irritants, dust, emotional disturbances, etc.—they may be the "straw that broke the camel's back." Some people are more susceptible than others. Some people are more susceptible than others. Some people are more susceptible than others.
