LAND VALUES BIG THICKET CENTER HASSLE HEATS UP

Consensus Favors 3 NPS Proposals

Commentary By The Editor

With all the heated debates going on about the Big Thicket Center, perhaps it is time we put in our two-cents worth.

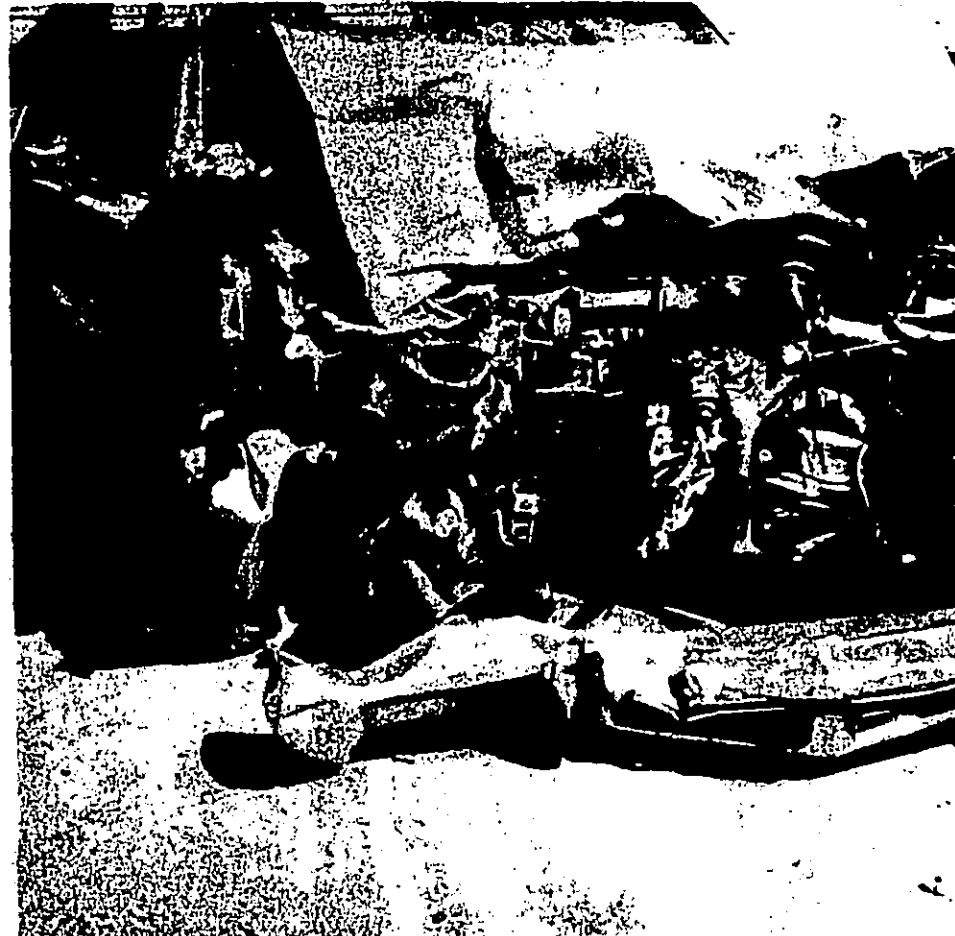

A few weeks ago, we had an unofficial visit from a Silsbee lady. She asked that we not use her name, because she was now associated with the National Park Service. She lambasted us for giving publicity to the Saratoga group, implying that we did not know all the issues involved. She stated that "the wheel that squeals the loudest gets the grease." We assumed she meant that since Saratoga was getting all the current publicity and squealing the loudest, they might end up with the prize. Her visit was prompted, I am sure, by the front page publicity we gave the Saratoga group a few weeks ago.

Our reason for the publicity was not to further Saratoga's cause, but we felt they should have their say along with everyone else. After all, they get an "A" for effort for it was they who championed the Big Thicket Association and its attributes. We have long admired their effort in capturing and preserving the naturalness of the Big Thicket region. They, also, should be commended for their historical museum and other acts in behalf of the area involved.

We, in no way, meant to imply that we were for Saratoga getting the main center. After all is said and done, we believe the National Park Service has made a recommendation in the best interest of all factions in the Preserve region. We are reprinting an editorial this week from the pages of the Kountze News which says it better than we could.

We do not believe the arguing and hassling going on between the factions will serve any good cause, and although we believe Saratoga is entitled to something for its long years of dedication to the Big Thicket, we believe the main center should be chosen geographically, so as to best serve all of the people rather than just a few.

So much for the Big Thicket Center. Now, back to the status of the Herald. Since we have purchased the Hardin County Herald and are in the process of establishing a major East Texas newspaper, we are happy and thrilled at the response of our many friends and advertisers. We would never be so naive as to say "We have met the enemy and they are ours," but we would emphatically state "We have not yet begun to fight" and "Damn the torpedos, full speed ahead."

Arthur Evans, 64, of Longview died in this automobile which was involved in a head-on collision at Hickory Creek Bridge in Hillister. See the related article in Tyler County News Roundup.

SS Agent To Change Dates

The Social Security Representative will start coming to Woodville on Wednesday of each week effective in April. The present schedule of Monday visits will continue through March 28. The first visit in April will be on Wednesday, April 6, and the visits will continue each Wednesday thereafter.

Location will be changed to the County Commissioners Courtroom at that time. Mr. Roy Watts, Social Security Representative, and County Judge Allen Sturrock worked in cooperation to change the scheduled day so that the County Commissioners Courtroom could be utilized as a meeting place, since both felt that the many people having business with Social Security could be more efficiently helped by use of the County Commissioners Courtroom.

Mr. Watts stated that effective in April Mr. Perry Rawlinson will become the Social Security Representative serving Woodville and Tyler County. Mr. Rawlinson has been employed by the Lufkin Social Security Office since 1963 and has previously been assigned to the Woodville area in normal rotation of assignments.

SUNRISE EASTER BREAKFAST

While the children are busy engaged in the traditional Easter egg hunt this year, the adults can enjoy an informal buffet breakfast. Concord Pastry Rolls—made the night before while the children were coloring eggs—can be warmed in the oven when you return from church and served hot with additional grape preserves. Chilled Sunrise Grape Drink makes a refreshing beverage to accompany the pastries. Both recipes use delicious concord grape products whose deep purple color is traditional for Easter. Sunrise Grape Drink combines flavorful grape drink with pineapple-orange drink and peach nectar for a nutritious morning refreshment. The recipe for Concord Pastry Rolls uses the convenience of grape preserves and refrigerator rolls with orange peel, sugar, cinnamon and walnuts. This combination of Sunrise Grape Drink and Concord Pastry Rolls makes a glorious springtime breakfast treat for family and friends.

SUNRISE GRAPE DRINK (Makes 5 Cups)
1 can (8 ounces) undiluted frozen concord grape drink concentrate
1 can (8 ounces) undiluted frozen pineapple-orange drink concentrate
1 can (12 ounces) peach nectar
3 cups water
Crushed ice
Orange slices
Combine grape drink, pineapple-orange drink, peach nectar and water.

CONCORD PASTRY ROLLS (Makes 8 Rolls)
1 package (8 ounces) refrigerator crescent dinner rolls
4 teaspoons concord grape preserves
1/4 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 egg, lightly beaten
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 cup chopped walnuts

Blend well. Serve over crushed ice. Garnish with an orange slice.

Unroll dough; separate into 8 triangles. Blend 4 teaspoons grape preserve and orange peel. Place about 1/2 teaspoon preserves along widest end of triangles. Roll up tightly, rolling toward point. Brush rolls with beaten egg. Roll in mixture of sugar, cinnamon and walnuts. Place on baking sheets, point side down.

Bake at 375°F. for 10 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Serve hot with additional grape preserves.

Texans subsidize gas users in East

AUSTIN — Texans are being socked millions of dollars each year to subsidize out-of-state users of Texas-produced natural gas. State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Tuesday.

"Federal regulation of natural gas prices has cost the State of Texas $184.4 million in lost revenue over the past three years," Bullock said in releasing a study prepared by the comptroller's planning and research staff.

"Since January, 1974 — when in-state natural gas prices first shot ahead of prices allowed for gas sold interstate — 725 billion MCF (thousand cubic feet) of natural gas produced in Texas has been sold to out-of-state customers," Bullock said the study shows. "Those out-of-state sales were subject to Federal Power Commission regulations and were made at an average price of 22.5 cents per MCF for a total cost of $1.4 billion. During the same period, Texas consumers were having to pay an average 55.8 cents per MCF for their gas.

"End-of-the-study consumers paid the same price as Texans for their gas it would have cost $1.7 billion more and the state would have collected an additional $126.4 million severance tax, the study showed.

"It's as clear as springwater," Bullock said. "We Texans are being charged to fuel Eastern furnaces."

Ex-Boyfriend Must Make His Own Mistakes

I broke up with my boyfriend a couple of months ago. Now our relationship has dwindled to the point I know that there's no chance of us ever getting back together. I'm not exactly heart-broken as our love life was very superficial and we both agreed to get out before it was too late. I've started seeing other people and often we've run into this ex-boyfriend of mine. Neither of us held a grudge and we've managed to see each other without making trouble for those around us. However, he's started taking out this girl that I just can't like. No matter how much I try she has quite a bad reputation around town and I think she'll be a very bad influence on Rick (my ex). I don't want to act like an over-protective mother towards him but I would like to give him some sort of subtle warning as to this girl's background. She supposedly dates guys just so she can get in a free dinner or movie without really caring whether she likes them or not. Rick has a tendency to fall in love quickly and I don't want to see him get hurt because I approach the subject with him?

Priorities in funds at issue in debate

AUSTIN — A $697-million highway finance bill remained in the ditch Tuesday after an admittedly foredoomed effort to get it back on the road failed.

Sen. W.T. "Bill" Moore of Bryan was voted down nine to three when he moved to discharge the Senate Finance Committee sub-panel which has had the bill (SB 3) for two weeks.

Hobby, backed by Finance Committee Chairman Sen. A.M. Aikin of Paris, has successfully contended that highway needs should be considered along with all others — including education and welfare — rather than being given top priority.

"It's inherently unfair to just sit on a bill," Moore told the Finance Committee.

Aikin traditionally has sponsored school finance legislation and teacher pay raise measures.

Noting that auto sales taxes are increasing while other state revenues are decreasing would amount another $45-million to highways under the bill under consideration, Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena suggested a ceiling on earmarked revenues for road purposes.

Moore argued that the bill would discharge the sub-committee and leaving the bill bottled up were Sens. Aikin, Don Adams of Jasper, Brooks, Tall Santisteban of El Paso, Kent Hance of Lubbock, W.E. Snelson of Midland, A.R. Schwartz of Galveston, Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls and Max Sherman of Amarillo. Sen. Bill Meiser of Etoile, who reportedly would have supported Moore, was absent from the session.

The best possible site

For two weeks we have been following the efforts of some people to challenge the recommendations of National Park Service who says that the main headquarters for the Big Thicket National Preserve should be located north of Kountze on Highway 69/287 near Village Mills.

We have listened carefully and openmindedly when some people said that the National Park Service erred in its recommendations. We retraced our steps, reread the recommendations, and studied the alternate proposal offered by the advisory on Location of Preserve Facilities Committee of the Big Thicket Association.

After all of this, we see no reason to change from our original position, that is, the National Park Service is recommending the best possible site for its main headquarters when it suggests the area near the Turkey Creek Unit.

We are in sympathy with those people who think that the main building should be in Saratoga. Many of them have worked long, hard hours helping to get the Preserve established. And, if the Preserve had been established using only the old Bear Thicket boundaries, naturally, Saratoga should have been the main building site.

But the Preserve includes nine units. Most of the acreage lies within Hardin County, but some of it lies outside in our neighboring counties. And we think the time has come to look at the total picture and they have recommended proposals they think will be in the best interest of Preserve development.

Sibbe could have made a strong, and convincing claim for the main building location. So, too, could Kountze. But, we think the NPS is wise in choosing the site they are recommending and we would urge everyone who agrees with their proposal to let their feelings be known.

Not all of Hardin County believes the NPS erred. To create or leave this impression is not being fair to the people who are assigned the responsibility to making the Preserve a reality.

And, while we are not happy with the decision to locate the southern District Office in Lumberton, that in itself is not reason enough to think Luppert and crew erred.

We think Kountze can benefit, if they want to.

We think Hardin County will benefit. After all, the NPS could have recommended the Headquarters be located in Beaumont or Woodville.

Most of all, we think the Preserve will benefit because it is centrally located to each of the units.

The KOUNTZE NEWS endorses the proposal of National Park Service and urges our readers to let Congressman Charles Wilson know if they share these feelings.

The Consumer Alert

John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—So you're thinking of filling that vacant corner in your office or apartment with a good-looking plant? Unless you are willing to learn what that plant needs to stay healthy, you could find yourself out quite a bit of money. Our Consumer Protection Division advises caution.

A large specimen of indoor plant such as a ficus benjamina, a schefflera, or some of the more expensive ones such as $50 or more, without adding in the cost of a container. And without proper care and the right environment, that big, healthy plant could begin a slow, lingering death within days after you move it to its new home.

Fortunately for consumers, there are hundreds of booklets how to care for plants in the home or office. And many places selling plants will provide detailed care instructions for any plants they sell.

Unfortunately, however, there are some unscrupulous persons in the plant business, as in any other. Occasionally they will sell you plants similar to the one you have in mind.

When you visit a plant store, also ask for recommendations, being sure to describe accurately the growing conditions you will supply. Some experts suggest that you or the seller "knock out" the plant from its container before buying that way you can see if it is potbound, only partially rooted, or if there are any insects in the soil. Check in advance on return or refund policies. In many places, all purchases are considered final, since the seller has no idea of how you will care for a plant after it leaves the store.

OUR PRAYERS ARE ALWAYS SUBJECT TO GOD'S WISDOM

THE GOOD WORD from the Bible

Whoever Jesus went, probably from the day of the miracle at Cana, those who had heard of wondrous things performed would ask for some display of great powers.

The request came from those who believed as much as from those who would trap Jesus into doing or saying something that would invite criticism or ridicule.

Jesus was not tempted, not by the devil, nor by hecklers and disbelievers.

To those who would have a "sign," Jesus said, in effect, that the life of the Son of man upon earth, representing the fulfillment of prophecy, was "sign" enough for those who would believe and who would be saved.

The "sign" is within the dedicated life, a devotion to the will and the commandments of God. It is there for all to see.

For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly; so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth.

St. Matthew 12: 38-40

Price Daniel Sr. 'Mr. East Texas'

AUSTIN — He's been a state representative, a U.S. senator, speaker of the House, attorney general, governor and Texas Supreme Court Justice.

And in recognition of those years of public service and leadership, Price Daniel Sr. was named "Mr. East Texas" by the Tyler Dogwood Festival board of directors.

As prelude of Tyler County's upcoming celebration, Daniel was presented with a plaque during ceremonies here Monday.

The title is bestowed each year on "the East Texans" who best exemplify the spirit and quality of leadership which advance, shapes and gives direction to the growth and progress of East Texas.

Daniel, a Liberty resident, served three terms as Texas governor and became a Supreme Court justice in 1971.

Kountze loses

AUSTIN — Morton had the best hand at the end and gained down Kountze in the 2nd state basketball final 63-60 Saturday night at Gregory Gym.

The Lions held a two-point lead at the halfway point in the fourth quarter but All-

State Russell Coffey picked up his fifth foul with 2:18 remaining and suddenly the end was in sight.

In a game where the lead changed hands 16 times and the score was knotted 11 times, Kountze could not rebound from Morton's hot outside gunning.

Solo, my friend, solo

It is always so pleasant and inspiring to talk and visit with citizens, sharing ideas and experiences which can be helpful to the progress of our community and beneficial to our fellowman.

Rarely a day goes by that the following statements are not made: "The same underhanded and unethical practices have gone on in Tyler County for 50 years and no one has ever been able to stop it. If one has the courage to try, they cut you down with ridicule, threats, humiliation, and falsehoods. They will even use pressure to take your livelihood away from you." The leadership and progress of your community is held back and hampered by such negative thinking. A man's country is not a certain area of land, but it is a principle; and patriotic citizenship is loyalty to that principle.

Every person is able to do something by himself or herself. That something many times is better than one else can do it. Every human being needs to solo to achieve a sense of mastery and usefulness that they have never felt before. Change is the father of progress, but at the same time, it is often the mother of anxiety.

Who are the "Theys"? Generally, they suffer from a morbid expression of misplaced ego, materialism and power. Every person can solo above the clouds and not one of the "Theys" can cut down the clouds. Their loose talk is a mockery and those who engage in it are cowardly brawlers. Many people are led astray because they exploit human weakness. Loose talk encourages and cultivates a harmful habit for selfish gain and control. It encourages violation of existing laws to prove that some laws are unenforceable while protecting the "Theys."

People are like buttons. Sometimes, their values are not apparent until they become attached to something useful, some constructive endeavor or work in the community. Day-in and day-out, the plain unpretentious, modest ones are more useful than the ones that glitter and shine; but each one has its place. A place that even the conformity of the zipper "Theys" cannot fill so acceptably.

To rise above the clouds on your solo flight, you must choose your friends wisely, create every circumstance. There are no barriers in friendship and in our zest for true competition.

Seemingly disadvantages will be turned into real advantages by men whose minds have the necessary vision and magic in them. Citizenship is something that has to be experienced, not talked about; it is not something that can be avoided without great effort. It is the result of an accord of body, mind, and imagination.

C-C chief rapped on Thicket

By NANCY FLOWERS

Enterprise-Journal Big Thicket Association spokesmen Saturday attacked Carl Nichols, president of the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce, for what they termed his lack of interest in helping establish the Big Thicket National Preserve.

Chalmers, though the BTA has been soliciting membership to fight for protecting the thicket as a national preserve for more than 10 years.

"I don't recall a single Tyler County group of public officials saying 'we were in favor of a preserve during two Senate and two House of Representatives hearings on the establishment of the preserve,'" Miss Johnston said.

"On the other hand we can show you a good deal of evidence," she said.

Service study, she said. Those who formed the BTA in 1964 wanted to save the thicket and bring tourism to Hardin County as a third industry. Miss Johnston said.

"That took vision, leadership and years of hard work while critics belittled our efforts," she said.

"Now the critics want to pick up the chips and justify it by the accident of the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce and Woodville."

To Nichols' claim that Woodville is better equipped to handle tourists, BTA spokesmen Brett and Miss Johnston responded that West Hardin County can hardly be expected to provide facilities when the tourists dollars are being taken away from the area, before the money is actually coming in.

The National Park Service is making the decision, D.S. "Village" Mills, north of Kountze near the philosophy of "them as has

Coffee Break

Most consumers are thinking twice before pouring coffee down the drain. At today's prices it's equivalent to burning money. Yet warmed or reheated coffee develops an acidic, bitter taste.

One of the simplest ways to keep coffee fresh and hot is to pour it into a vacuum bottle immediately after brewing. Vacuum bottles retain the original temperature of the coffee and therefore do not alter the taste. This results in energy savings as well, as no electricity or outside heat is required.

In addition to saving money on individual utility bills, the entire nation could profit. Electricians estimate that if everyone in the country unplugged their coffee pots and poured the contents into vacuum bottles, enough energy would be saved to light all the homes in Denver for 24 hours.

Using vacuum bottles correctly will keep coffee hot and fresh even longer, thus saving more energy. The Thermos Division, manufacturers of the original Thermos vacuum bottle, advises that the bottles be preheated with hot water before adding coffee. By doing this, coffee remains fresh and hot up to 24 hours.

NEW PUBLISHERS TO ADD PEOPLE AND EQUIPMENT

It was announced this week that the Hardin County Herald has been purchased by the publishers of the Tyler County Herald. The firm will operate under the name of Star Newspapers.

The Herald was purchased from the Hardin County Publishing Company, Inc., whose principal stockholders, John Blair and Lamar Hargrove, stated that the corporation would be dissolved.

Henry Williams, a spokesman for the buyers, stated that the same policies set forth in Woodville would be followed in Kountze.

Personnel will double in their duties on both newspapers. Office manager for the Hardin County unit has not been chosen at this time, but will be named shortly. Troy Hensley will be Managing Editor of both newspapers.

A combined effort will be made to bring to the citizens of Tyler and Hardin Counties a newspaper they can be proud of.

C. E. Meadows, founder and former publisher of the Hardin County News, has been named advertising manager and will serve merchants in all the surrounding communities.

An I.B.M. Electronic Computer Typesetter will be installed this week. This machine, alone, will make it possible to set much more news in a shorter period of time, thus assuring our readers of better news presentation. Additional equipment is on order, or will be ordered shortly, to step up production in the advertising and make-up departments.

It is felt that the combination of the two papers will better serve each and both communities.

We will bring our readers up-to-date on our proposals and advancements in a later issue.

Senate salutes country kings

AUSTIN — Three of the kings of country-western music — all from the central Texas area — were honored in Austin Monday morning.

Slate Rep. Betty Denton of Waco said, musicians Hank Thompson, Leon McAuliffe, and Johnny Gimble were honored for their outstanding contributions to the music world. The Senate saluted them with a resolution presented on the Senate floor.

A VISIT TO EASTEX

by ELOISE BEAN

Rolls of varying sizes which have just come off the four huge paper-making machines are awaiting shipping. These have already been wrapped and labeled for destinations throughout the country.

We had long wanted to take a tour of the Eastex paper mill but somehow never could work it out. A golden opportunity presented itself some time ago when the company had open house for the employees, and their families—so we were invited to accompany the family-member employee.

It was a beautiful day, sunny and pleasant. There was a carnival atmosphere as we drove in the well tended grounds and parked. Two large tents had been erected nearby, one for serving the barbeque lunch and one for visiting friends and relaxing. A clown was giving away animal balloons to a long line of eager children.

At the entrance to the main road, plastic safety goggles and town maps were distributed to the visitors. The first area visited was where the workers punch in and out. Needless to say, there were many rows of cards in the various machines.

Next we walked through the immaculate laboratory where work is done on clarifying the effluent or waste water. Obviously, the mill uses an enormous volume of water for its production. It is certainly to the credit of the mill administration that the effluent meets such high standards.

Several years ago an area radio personality challenged the mill superintendent to drink some of the effluent to prove its lack of toxic materials. Before witnesses, the super did drink some of it and the radio guy sampled it too, so the tale goes. Both are still alive today, so the lab boys and girls must be doing a bang-up job!

For and about Teenagers

BY PATRICK EDWARD

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I stem out as far as forgetting a real big problem. I've him - or anyone - forget it! been in love with this guy for The harder you try to try to forget somebody or something, the more dominant that entity becomes. You have to learn to let it go. Let the memory of him be there and move on to other people and things. The truth is, he may still love you, though he may not want to be with you now. That's his problem. Accept yours, and chances are good to better they'll clear up.

OUR REPLY: Don't make it out to be so tragic. Hopefully, you've got a healthy baby to nurture and love. You've incurred the responsibilities of motherhood, and it's your duty to carry up.

FACTS & FIGURES

It is nine times as profitable for companies in the forest products industry to use a tall straight tree as a treated pole as it is to use it for making paper.

Paper is in competition with other materials, such as plastics, glass and tin, which are not as labor intensive as paper. Plastic companies spend only 10 to 15 percent of their costs on labor while a vertically integrated paper company will spend as much as 30 percent. The outcome of the competition depends mostly on the relative efficiency of the competitors.

Land that's used to grow trees for paper can also be used in other ways. International Paper, for instance, is developing oil and gas resources on some of its land. In one year, over 70 oil wells were drilled, and 4,400 test drillings were made for coal.

One-third of the hospital care products made available by the Davol division of International Paper were created in the last five years.

GOING UP... From desert plains to mountain peaks, a Palm Springs, Calif., tramway car climbs rugged Chino Canyon. Some 4 million visitors have ridden the tram.

Mr. and Mrs. Huddeleston wish to thank all the people in Beaumont, Colton and the surrounding area for the help given them during the tragedy of their home burning down. Many thanks to Bill from the Huddeleston family.

Betty Teel, who raises and trains Quarter horses at her home in Beaumont, Coloites, is a very proud lady this week. Her three year old filly, Manana's Toco Miss, placed third out of 69 entries in the Junior Western Pleasure division of the Quarter Horse show.

It was the filly's first time out and she was ridden by Abbie Coplin.

According to experts, a ruby-throated hummingbird has 940 feathers.

NEWS from the Wildwood

by MRS. T. C. MERRIMAN

In the quiet of early Sunday morning, don't you sometimes think of the many peoples of faraway places, black, brown, yellow, and white, all lifting their voices in prayer to their God? Harry Romaine, who wrote this poem, expressed his wonder this way.

And at the mazzin's call to prayer
The kneeling faithful thronged the square.
The one great God looked down and smiled,
And counted each his loving child.
For Turk and Brahman, Monk and Jew
Had reached him through the Gods they knew.

Mrs. Dale McNeely was honored with a pink-and-blue shower at the Lodge on Saturday afternoon, February 26. A stock motif was featured in decorations and refreshments. Guests were school friends and associates of Mrs. McNeely. Hostesses were Suzi Brandon, Sherri Brocato and Terri McNeely.

Friends were happy to see Tommy Archer round about this week. He returned Wednesday to the Airbase in Amarillo where he is stationed.

Mrs. Clarence Allred presented a program on making pictures using dried flowers and plant materials at a meeting of the Wildwood Garden Club on Wednesday, March 2, at the Lodge. Mrs. Allred has received wide acclaim with this delightful hobby. Mrs. A. H. Aiken gave useful tips on daily care and work in the gardens. Mrs. R. R. Sanford, President, led a discussion on plans for beautifying Rogers Park. Hostesses were Mrs. Ted Shields and Mrs. Aiken.

Visiting Mrs. W. J. Rogers last weekend were Mrs. Homer Rainey and Mrs. Keith Strickland, both of Macogoches.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Livingston left Thursday for Austin where they will spend some time with their daughter, Mrs. Linda Kennedy, and Little Granddaughter, Kasi Kennedy.

Mrs. Tom K. Simms gave a review of John Dean's popular book Blind Ambition at a meeting of the Kountze Retired Teachers Association on Tuesday evening, March 1, at the Hitching Post. Tracing the rise to political power of Mr. Dean, through the early days with Richard Nixon, on to the disgrace of Watergate, Mrs. Simms gave a penetrating view of one side of political life in those troublesome times.

Mrs. Bernice Britt, President, presided at the business meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. Mabel Collins, A. W. Livingston, and T. C. Merriman.

The Wildwood Chapter of AARP had an "eat-in" meetin' at the Lodge on Monday evening, Feb. 28. And members came bringing dishes of chicken spaghetti, baked ham, rice dressing, peas, butterbeans—you name it, it was there! Seventy-eight persons were present for the covered dish dinner and program which followed.

Misses Terry Cloy, Marilyn Fannin, and Louann Cloy sang a medley of songs accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Mackman at the piano. They presented a pretty picture of old fashioned femininity in their dainty shirt waist blouses and full skirts. Mrs. Ben McCowen was in charge of arranging the program.

The charter for Wildwood Chapter #2421 of AARP was presented by Charles Johnson of Beaumont, state director of the organization. Regular meetings of the Wildwood Chapter are held on the fourth Monday of each month. Interested persons are invited to attend.

Next we passed the lime kiln recast, but did not go in there. This main road is quite long, most of the buildings are quite tall and there is a lot of noise. In only one area was there an objectionable odor.

The chip pile was next on our right. They were small mountains-in fact about three stories high. The chips and sawdust were brought from areas sawmills, thus utilizing what was once burned or thrown away. It is hauled in huge vans and stockpiled.

Further back we saw the wood yard with its acres and acres of logs. Some of the stacks were two stories up and the stock course, the pulpwood is brought in by railroad as well as trucks. The logs are carried on a conveyor to a platform there they are cut into short lengths and debarked.

They then are towed up a chute into the area where they are chopped up and the stock cooked. We didn't get to see this phase of the operation—probably too dangerous.

We climbed up five or six stories where the power plant was with the huge generators and other related machinery is located. There was quite a view from the highest floor, the heartbeat of the mill.

Next we entered the vast building where the four paper-making machines are located. Each machine has its own area with the related machines nearby. This is a very noisy place. Workers are requested to wear ear protectors to protect their hearing. The rollers are in rows, alternating their position so the huge sheets of paper go up and down through this process and through the ovens.

When the stock comes up over the vats it looks somewhat like thick, gray gravy, as it spreads out over the rollers it is a shimmering gray sheet. How it stays together is beyond me. Maybe the speed or centrifugal force. It goes up and down, up and over, dries some, has starch sprayed on it, dries some more. The gray is changed to white, the stock goes on the final, huge rollers. As it leaves the last huge rollers, it is placed on cardboard cores and cut into various width rolls for finishing and shipping. We saw one narrow roll stamped for shipment to the Sheehart Cup Co. Fork lifts rolled around the paper to the proper areas to be wrapped for shipping. The paper made at Easttex is mostly of poster paper weight stock. Nothing is wasted; all scraps, torn sections, etc., went down a big chute into the reo below to go back into the stock.

The display area was very interesting. Many paper objects (not necessarily from Easttex) were on exhibit, including telephone directories, comic books, various food cartons, many types of commercial packaging, paper plates and cups. Each visitor received a shopping bag, generous supply of paper plates and cups, 20¢ and an felt tip pen (green, naturally), also a packet of pine seeds. We sent these to an out-of-state friend. Much educational and entertaining information was available also.

He made our way to the luncheon tent where the employees and families were enjoying the delicious barbeque dinner. We saw some old friends and made some new ones. Arthur Temple, president of Temple Industries, was a gracious, smiling host as he made his way through the crowd introducing himself to those present. I seized the opportunity to express my sincere appreciation for his generous gift to the Kountze Public Library. Also to request the picture accompanying this story, he was most cooperative.

Here is an industry which provides a livelihood for many families scattered throughout Southeast Texas; an industry which takes an active interest in the communities in that area; an industry which provides a day of sightseeing and good food for its employees and their families; an industry which does a little more than the expected.

It was a beautiful day, sunny and pleasant an enjoyable day, a memorable day.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis were in Lake Charles last weekend where they visited relatives and attended the tea show and ballet at the Lake Charles Civic Center.

Hints for HOME-MAKERS

Tested Tips To Help You

By Samantha

No room is so easily perked up as so small a cost as the bathroom, experts at the Lestall Homemakers' Service tell us.

Replace all the harsh white lights with soft-tone pink bulbs to create a more flattering glow. And if you have a dressing table, you can design a theatrical-style make-up mirror for it by tacking a strand of lights around all four sides of a wooden-framed mirror.

Don't forget that no matter what accessories you put in your bathroom, the best beginning is sink, tub and tiles shining with cleanliness. Wipe down the surface every time you take a steamy bath, and clean often with a solution of water and Lestall's free phosphate, is completely biodegradable and comes in a lightweight shatterproof bottle. There's a fast and easy way to give vinyl shower curtains a bright new lease on life by getting rid of the stubborn grime that can dim their good looks. Simply unhook them and drop them into the bathtub, filling the tub with a third full of hot water. Add a cup of Lestall, the all-purpose cleaner that contains special grease-dissolving ingredients to cut right through the grime build-up from hard water, soap, bath oils and such. Swish, then rinse in clear water, and rehanging the curtains out full-length so they dry without wrinkles.

New Idea

Doctors of beauty spas have long known about the Finnish sauna bath. Using the pores of the skin and the steam, it while bathing away the tensions of a busy day.

Now people can relax in their own home just as in a sauna because of a new product developed by a Jacksonville, Florida, firm that simulates the beneficial aspects of a sauna bath.

YOUR OWN SAUNA—Now you can enjoy a centuries-old health treatment right in your own bath. It's made up of hydrotonic crystals, Siberian fir oil that is pH balanced and vitamin E. You use it this way: First you draw bath water as hot as you can stand, then you pour in the Aqua Sauna and get in the bath and relax for at least 20 minutes or until the water cools. Massage with a loofah sponge and take a cool shower. Your skin will now be cleansed and enhanced, and the tension of your body and face will be smoothed away.

The new product is available at salons, department stores and drug stores in two sizes, a three-pack for $3.00 and a six-pack for $5.00, or direct from the manufacturer, Creative Leisure, Inc., 400 Riverside Avenue, Jacksonville, Fla. 32203.

OUR ENVIRONMENT

Good News About Things That Affect Us

When a major paper company acquires land, it's often one of the best things that could happen to a particular piece of woods.

A WELL-RUN paper company can provide well-run woodlands for wildlife to live in. For example, one such company, International Paper, makes a substantial investment in forest management activities, such as seed orchards, tree nurseries, planting, roads, fire and insect control, controlled pollution and forestry practices that support multiple use of the land. It preserves scenic beauty; increases recreation, enhances wildlife and provides employment.

Spending money on good works is fine, but a paper company must also remain competitive. Paper makers are in competition with each other, and with producers of other products. How that competition comes out depends in part on the relative efficiency of the competitors. Efficient operation means better employment opportunities and better forests for everyone's enjoyment.

Each UGLY STIK rod is made by our unique Howald Process. First, a hollow inner core of 100% graphite fibers is spiraled, like an enormous coiled spring, along the entire length of the mandrel. This is then covered with an outer sheath of continuous, butt-to-tip lengths of fiberglass. The finished rod has a powerful, clear tip that simply will not snap while fishing.
