Jail Meeting Audience Is Light

Court Hires D.A. Assistant, Hears Sheriff's Car Request

The Tyler County Commissioners' Court met in regular session Monday and approached some seventeen items on a lengthy agenda.

Sheriff Lewis Craven made a recommendation to the Commissioners to purchase a new car for the Sheriff's Department in lieu of fixing the one which he reported to be in serious need of repair. Craven felt that to keep the existing car operating for the remainder of the year until a replacement would be bought will be too costly to the county. The commissioners, however, in reconvening on April 12 at 10 a.m. voted to tow the vehicle to Chester and proceed with repairs to the car.

In other business, District Attorney George Kirkpatrick expressed the need of hiring an Assistant to the District Attorney office. The case load is at such a high level that Kirkpatrick said he feels he does not have the time for the personal contact needed from the office of the district attorney.

"I would like to spend at least one day a week at the courthouse in Tyler County to be able to communicate with the citizens in person and not over the phone as the situation is now."

Cost to Tyler County would be just under $3600 a year but, he stated further, "the heavy fines levied against guilty parties would cover the extra outlay for an assistant." The commissioners voted to approve the request on a motion from Commissioner Leon Fowler and a second by Marie Riley.

Randy Blanks of D.E.T. C.O.G. explained the HUD section 8 Housing Program to the court. Blanks said the program is designed to give area landlords incentive to repair the housing units to decent, safe and sanitary conditions. The landlord would receive a monthly payment from the Public Housing Agencies equal to the difference between rent payable to the landlord by the family and the approved rent for the unit. Commissioners resolved to adopt HUD's Assistant's Payments Program, Section 8, and issued a resolution which reads as follows:

"WHEREAS, Tyler County, being a duly constituted member of the Deep East Texas Council of Governments and desirous of participation in those decisions affecting this Region; and

WHEREAS, we recognize the need for low income rental housing subsidies in this County, and throughout the Region, of the type and nature defined in the H.U.D. Section 8 Housing Assistance Program; and these needs, which are common to the Region generally, can best be addressed by a Regional approach to this problem.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

The County Judge of Tyler County is authorized to concur with, and to instruct in its behalf, The Deep East Texas Council of Governments to take those actions and/or decisions that would result in:

The award by H.U.D. to The Deep East Texas Council of Governments; Human Resources Division; those designations, resources and assistance that would enable them to properly initiate and administer the Section 8 Housing Assistance Program on a Regional basis."

In other business the commissioners:

- approved the expenses necessary for two employees from the Tax Assessor and Collector's Office to attend a conference in Corpus Christi on May 8-11;
- E.M. Chandler's request for accepting a County road has been postponed until an easement can be presented to the court;
- Treasurer's report for the month of March was approved;
- Commissioner Riley gave a report on the Airport Zoning Committee;
- The court also granted a 30-foot wide easement on airport property to Louisiana Land and Exploration Co. for the construction of a natural gas pipeline which will run the length of the airfield, parallel to and just east of the airport runway;
- County Extension Service report approved;
- All bids on the desks located in the hall at the Courthouse were rejected due to the low sums of bids submitted;

- Motion made to again try and sell garbage equipment since no bids were submitted;
- Band Boosters were authorized to use Courthouse square for concession stand July 4, 1977. Commissioners also instructed all who use square for concession booths be required to clean Courthouse lawn when leaving;
- Approved the condemning of the road in Precinct 3 located from the property of Clarence Ling to W.P. Polindexter and going through the property of E.C. Dean on Farm to Market Road 3065;
- Auditors Office presented bills for payment, all approved;
- Public Hearing on Airport Zoning in area surrounding Tyler County Airport set for April 29, 1977 at 10 a.m. in Commissioners Court Room and

New Jail Building Cost Is 'Peanuts'

City and council officials seemed dissatisfied with a Phase One Jail study as submitted by the Dallas Planning Firm of Prindle, Patrick and Partners saying that the planners didn't go as far as they indicated they would previously in producing different architectural schemes for the city and county officials to choose from if they decide to build a new jail.

"I'll take the blame for the screwup," said Sam Bates a Senior planner for the firm who was present with local architect Don Cole and who both heard comments from Woodville Mayor Terry Watts asking "Why didn't you bring us the other plans like you said you would before?"

Watts said "It's taken five meetings alone to get to this point and we still don't have what we asked for!"

The Planners presented to the combined city and county meeting, a LEAA standards jail floor plan, which the group didn't seem interested in. Mayor Watts said the group has asked for Texas State Standards jail diagrams also so they would have a choice of state or federal "pffefags" to choose from.

Cost for the Phase I study, is $9,000 and the combined county and city governmental group is asking if they're getting their money's worth.

According to County Judge Allen Sturrock, Bates is to report back to the county

"Within the next 10 days" and present to the court the Texas State Standard conceptual floor plan.

Bates himself, said he thought the Texas Standards plan was sufficient for Tyler County.

Estimated costs of the Federal standard jail stands around $675,823 while Bates estimated a Texas State Standards facility would cost nearly $460,870.

One factor on the minds of Tyler county and Woodville City officials is that the planners say the initial construction costs is peanuts and, the real question," planners say

New Jailer Hired

Coy Johnson

"To comply with the 'Jail Standards Act' the Tyler County Sheriff's office has hired a jailer to keep the jail orderly and feed and care for inmates." Funding for the jailer, Coy Johnson, of Springhill Road in Woodville came from a DETCOG criminal justice grant, according to Tyler County Sheriff Lewis Craven.

New Boat Ramps Due At Dam-B

Representatives from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers spoke to the Woodville Lions Club at their regular noon meeting on Thursday, April 7 at the Lions Den located east of Woodville.

The men, who are called Reservoir Rangers, presented a water and boating safety film to the group and answered questions about the Corps operation and how it affects the Dam-B area in particular.

Representing the Corps were Rangers Martin Gustafsen, Raymond Bafusek and Mark Shaw.

The three reported that lake level controls which are subject to climatic conditions are operated by the U.S. Army Hydrology Branch in Fort Worth.

The Rangers reported that the Corps Hydrology Branch, "Stays on the line with us" in looking at water flow rates and weather conditions.

The rangers said that a daily "morning report" to Ft. Worth is made at 8 a.m. each day. They said that the offices located at Town Bluff in Tyler County were open 8 hours a day.

The Rangers attributed verbal communication breakdowns and some instrument problems which caused the lake to recede lower than usual recently just prior to a reported high visitor weekend. Residents and merchants in the area of Town Bluff and Dam-B have expressed concern about the management of the water resources on the eastern side of Tyler County.

The Rangers said "We have had problems in the past but they're being worked out."

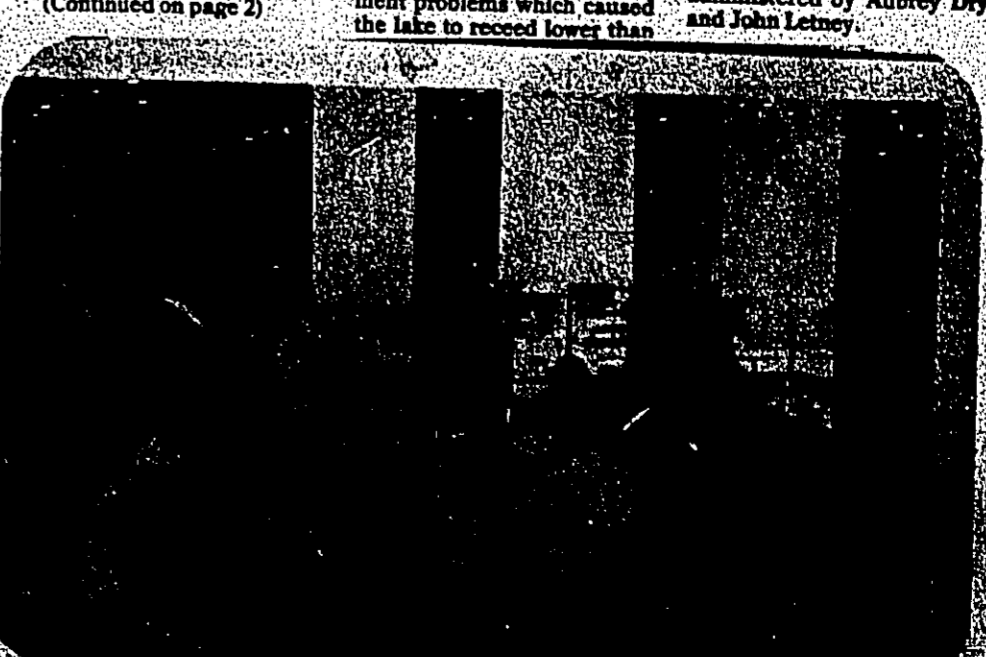

The Rangers told the group that the Corps was presently looking for new boat ramp locations admitting that the old boat ramps were not planned sufficiently enough before they were constructed. Residents have reported that the lake level sometimes drops to below the base of the boat ramp.

Boater and fishermen access to the central river channel is sometimes impeded by the level which can be too shallow. One Lions Club member told the group "How hard it was sometimes to get out in open water because of the lakes shallowness."

The Rangers told the group that The Sam Rayburn Lake project and the Dam-B project were combined and are now under the operation and management of the Corps of Engineers and are administered by Aubrey Dry and John Letney.

He states that "The increasing complexity of the world in which we live makes adequate information vital for all Texans. Regional systems organized under provisions of the Library Systems Act are improving access to information in public libraries. In schools, youngsters are learning to use not only printed materials but also the audio-visual media. Colleges and universities are building research collections."

"Today more than ever before, learning is a life-long activity. The broad range of materials for people of all ages and all levels of educational attainment in public making libraries places for all Texans."

J.O. Nash of Chester announced that 10 Bellringer workers will go house-to-house during May collecting for mental health.

Nash is Bellringer chairperson for the drive benefiting the Mental Health Association in Texas.

As a volunteer agency, the association works on behalf of the mentally and emotionally disturbed and to promote mental health. The association is not a state agency and so must exist entirely on private contributions such as funds collected in the Bellringer drive.

The need is great and Nash cited these reasons:

- One in four families is affected by mental illness.
- An estimated 75% of those who attempt suicide are seriously depressed.
- Mental illness is America's most costly health problem - excess of $21 billion.

Bellringer workers collecting in Chester are Kathy Barnes, Debbie Kraus, Carrie Beth Timbrook, Lou Parks, Sheryl Clamon, Gene Anderson, Debra Moye, Paula Barnes, Ray McKnight and Carolyn Neal.

should be how do you pay for the ongoing maintenance of the facility?

Local officials indicate they are more concerned with the "Peanuts portion of the Project" now than its overall maintenance later on.

Questions seem to exist also about the sharing of the police, sheriff's department function along with the other law enforcement and supportive functions within the new facility. Some law enforcement people have indicated basic questions remain as to space allocations and functional operations from the new facility.

Alan Miller's T-Wheeler

The effective closing of timber harvest on more than 600,000 acres of National Forests in Texas several months ago is yet to be resolved in Federal Court.
It's a little like waiting for the other shoe to drop. For those mill operators who depend on Federal timber purchases to meet their requirements. People in West Virginia, Oregon and Alaska have seen similar judgments threaten their jobs, cloud their futures, and create economic strains in the communities where they live. Still the drive continues to lock up and restrict private and Federal lands to those pursuits only as camping, hiking, and the like. Another 75,000 acres in the Federal forests of East Texas.
And perhaps, most instances of all, the recent closure in Northern California to increase the size of the Redwood National Park.
A little background might be helpful, just to see where you and I fit in as taxpayers in this peak expansion. From the following, you will see how startlingly different the approach is in the Redwoods, as compared with the combined efforts of the industry, conservation organizations, and the Federal government in creating the Big Thicket National Preserve.

First, the Department of the Interior, in 1968, estimated land acquisition for the Redwood National Park would cost $2 million. That did not count a donation by California of three state parks of 50,000 acres. Interior missed the mark. Acquisition costs to date are $172 million, and an additional $110 million more is pending in court. To date, acquisition costs for the present Redwood National Park have exceeded the Federal monies spent to acquire all other National Parks (thirty-six of them) combined.
The Federal government recognized that the Park would force some industry cutbacks and ancillary services would be affected. They promised retraining of displaced employees, special assistance to hard-hit families and increased timber volumes sold from adjacent Federal National Forests.

None of this was done, and the two counties most affected by the park creation now have fifteen percent unemployment, and going higher.
And California decided not to put their state parks in the Federal system.
The Department of Interior, according to their Secretary, U.S. estimated park visitation, tourists to the rest of us, would reach 950,000 visitors a year. Did they come? Nope. The day visitation rate has been less than 35,000. Five percent of that projected, and no "new" industry to replace that lost when major forest industries left the region were forced to curtail operations.

Neither is there a master plan to develop the park eight years after it was created—or are there adequate funds allocated by the Federal government to improve existing facilities.
Plus, the redwood industry now operates throughout all of California, at their instigation under the most stringent logging restrictions imposed anywhere in the United States, with advisory supervision by the Federal government; the State of California, and scientists of all biological disciplines.

By the way, the new park lands to be acquired would cost the American taxpayer an additional $60 million, I guess—that's at today's dollar.

Where does this mad quest end?
Only when we as taxpayers call a stop to it.
When we weigh the consequences of our actions.
When we realize that the life of those communities affected are probably lost forever.
The National Park Service could have done a lot more to help the people of the region.
These photos were taken in the Redwood National Park, California, April 19, 1977.

Woodville Lions Club To Sponsor Circus Troupe

The Stebbing Royal European Circus will perform in Woodville on Friday, April 22 with two performances scheduled at 5:30 and 8 p.m. The red and white striped big top will be erected on Highway 69, South (South Magnolia Street). The circus is being sponsored by the Woodville Lions Club as fund raising event.

Acclaimed as the finest and cleanest circus under canvas in America by the Circus Fans Association of America (C.F.A.A.) the Stebbing Circus came to Tyler last year for the first time to play the C.F.A.A. Golden Jubilee Convention in Dallas.

where it was the official Bi-Centennial Circus. It features wild animals, clowns, trapeze, chimps, elephants, jugglers, tumblers, acrobats, trapeze artists and others.

Advance Tickets for Circus can be bought from any Lions Member and are priced as follows: Adults $7.00, Children (under 12 years) $1.25, and a special Family Pack (2 Adults & 2 Children) $5.00. Also these advance tickets will be available at the following business places: Perfecto Cleaners, Citizens State Bank, McClure's Furniture and the office of James A. Clark.

Tickets at gate will cost $2.75 for Adults and $1.75 for Children (under 12 years). A feature new this year is a mixed cage wild animal act. Over 6,000 feet of steel cable were used to construct a steel cage this spring at the circus winter quarters in Sarasota, Florida. Royal Bengal tigers, African Lions and a leopard, all mortal enemies, will appear together in the cage.

Another new act the pony riding Ethiopian Baboons. These are very rare animals and unlike the other animals have faces like a dog's.

This is the last family owned circus left anywhere in the world. The Stebbings trace their circus ancestry to the 17th century and are probably the oldest circus family in the world. Owner Bill Stebbing has traced his ancestry back to 1636, a time when circus was little more than a roving band of clowns and performers who would pass the hat to roadside yards and village markets.

History records the first organized circus as Sir Philip Ashley's Amphitheatre on the outskirts of London, England in 1721. There were Stebbings in that first performance and the show looked very much like the Stebbing Circus of today except for some modern technical improvements. It is the only Royal European Circus in North America today. Three generations of Stebbings are represented on the show. It is the only circus to have received two consecutive command performances before Queen Elizabeth II. The current band of Stebbings have given also command performances before royalty, and are legally entitled to the word "Royal" by appointment of the Royal House.

This is the only family in the world performing in its own circus. They bring a lifetime of professional experience and intense pride in their work into the ring with them to perpetuate and pride in the delight of American audiences for two decades under the big top, and other family traditions.

Karl's Poodles have been called the finest dog act in show business by critics. A "down" canine subdominant dressed in beautiful costumes walk on two feet impersonating a variety of human with hilarious results. They appear as astronauts, cowboys and Indians, dance ball girls and others in a variety of gags, including a fashion show, patriotic act featuring Uncle Sam, and a gala wedding of the poodles. A show stopping act throughout nothing can compare with the moment when the bride and groom kiss and go into their wedding dance. It is an absolute favorite with children of all ages. During the winter, trainer Karl Linera operates one of Florida's leading kennels in Sarasota.

Barry Sloan impersonates a thirty foot tall Uncle Sam, one of the world's most familiar circus acts. Spectacular and classy Barry is the world champion and recorded as such in the Guinness Book of World Records.

Baby Lou and Holly presents the circus world's most unique elephant act. Circus fans hail them as the finest elephant act in any circus today. Four year old Miss Holly presents four year old Baby Lou, the world's youngest performing elephant and world's youngest elephant girl. They present a complete adult elephant routine. The petite pachyderm does eighteen separate tricks including walking a narrow balance beam upon which he dances, changes direction, stands on his head and much more. At the recent opening this year of the new million dollar Ringling Museum of the Circus in Sarasota Baby Lou and Holly were the only two Ringling Brothers act invited to participate. The Stebbing circus is the only circus left which winters in Sarasota.

Two years ago a trio of Royal Bengal Tigers were born on the circus while playing New York City, the first born in captivity to survive. They are now joined by a

A beautiful display of ornately costumed poodles, Karl's Poodles are among highlights of the Stebbing Royal European Circus. The circus will appear in Woodville on Friday, April 22, with performances scheduled at 5:30 and 8:00 p.m. The red and white striped big top will be set up at Highway 69, South (South Magnolia Street). This year's circus visit is sponsored by the Woodville Lions Club to raise funds for civic activities.
