Commissioners Tackle Lengthy Agenda

Keeping in tradition with the first meeting of the new year, Tyler County Commissioners attempted to tackle a record agenda consisting of some 27 items and varied discussions. Monday, during the regular session of commissioners court.

Sheriff Lewis Craven was the first of many to address the court, requesting the purchase of two new vehicles for his department. The 1978 budget does allow for this purchase. Commissioners voted to solicit bids for the vehicles to be opened at 10 a.m. Friday, Jan. 30.

The topic of conversation then turned to the use of county vehicles. County Auditor Ann Fodren told Craven that her office had received "numerous" calls concerning a Precinct 2 deputy's use of his car. Precinct 2 Commissioner Kenneth Lowe agreed with Fodren and stated that he can not go into town (Chester) without someone complaining to him about the alleged misuse of the car. Craven said he had received no such complaints in his office and knew nothing of the incidents.

THE BOOSTER contacted Deputy Butch Kraus, whose main territory is Chester and Precinct 2 and he denied, ever using his vehicle for private purposes.

He did state, however, that he could see how the mistake could be made. "I often meet my family at ball games and the like, where I am suppose to be patrolling, but my family always comes in one of the three cars that we own," Kraus said. "I do sometimes pick my wife up on the way home from work but, in no way is the county vehicle used for my personal use," he added.

While Craven was still addressing the court, discussion turned to the conditions of the county jail. Craven reported that the kitchen facilities required by state law would be in operation by the end of the week.

All improvements to the jail will be paid out of the county's jail fund which at this time has a balance of $35,116.87.

In other action, commissioners discussed a recent $25,000 suit filed against the county by Blanche Harper of Colmesneil.

In the petition, Harper stated that she was standing approximately 5-6 feet from the edge of the dumping pit when the side caved in, throwing her some 15 feet to the bottom of the pit. She claims she sustained numerous cuts and bruises along with four broken ribs. The incident occurred at the Precinct 3 dump in Colmesneil on Sept. 9, 1977.

The woman claims the county is at fault and was negligent in the maintenance of the dump by not providing some sort of protective barrier at the pit.

Precinct 3 Commissioner Leon Fowler indicated his concern for the accident, but said, "if people keep suing the county, which we can't afford, we'll have to close the dumps."

The commissioners all agreed that the dumps in their precincts always caused trouble, due mainly to the fact that "people won't go all the way to the dumps to empty their garbage."

Precinct 1 Commissioner Maxie Riley pointed out, however, that very little abuse actually comes from the people in Tyler County. "That one person in 100 that dumps his trash outside of the site makes it bid for everybody," Riley said.

Commissioners agreed that the possibilities of the closing of all the dumps were great "due to law suits that the county cannot afford."

Further discussion of the suit was tabled until Friday, Jan. 13, when they will meet at 10 a.m.

Precinct 2 Justice of the Peace Billie Jean Broom, who said she was speaking for all the county J.P.'s, questioned the court concerning the J.P.'s use of the commissioners courtroom for the purpose of trials.

Commissioners voted to allow the use of the courtroom "when available" but instructing Broom to check into the legalities of practicing outside of her precinct.

Broom also requested a percentage raise in gas allowance for the peace justices cars. She said that their cars are used often in the line of their work and again indicated that she was speaking for all the J.P.'s in the county.

Commissioners denied the increase stating that it was not in the budget. County J.P.'s receive a $600 per year car allowance.

In other court action, commissioners voted to:

- approve treasurers report;
- approve county extension report;
- accepted bid from Oris Powell on exterminating the courthouse for a total of $75 per quarter;
- set courthouse holidays and closings for 1978;
- agreed to charge the Department of Human Resources $300 per month office rental fee until the department can relocate;
- appointed Precinct 1 Commissioner Marie Riley as Airport Supervisor;
- appointed Precinct 3 Commissioner Leon Fowler as Dump Supervisor;
- appointed County Judge Allen Sturrock as courthouse Supervisor;
- approved notes on a recent Revenue Sharing and Anti-Recession meeting as presented by County Auditor Ann Fodren;
- tabled the appointment of election judge vacancies;
- set the terms of court;
- agreed to continue paying all rural fire departments the sum of $25 per month each to help aid in maintenance of the departments;
- approved a $3,000 tax exemption for persons over 65 and;
- tabled until Friday advertising for bids for gas oil and supplies.

Tyler County commissioners will meet Friday, Jan. 13, to approve payment of county bills and resume business not discussed or finished during Monday's meeting.

Speir To Speak At CC Banquet

Featured guest speaker at the 1978 Tyler County Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday, Jan. 20, will be Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

The banquet will be held in the Kirby High School cafeteria beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $10 and are available at the Chamber office in the Woodville Inn.

Also during the banquet, new chamber president Bertis Best and outgoing president Carl Nichols will speak to the guests.

Rhonda Fowler, a student at Sam Houston State and former Miss Tyler County, will entertain. Department of Public Safety patrolman Jim Deal will also present an exhibition of his sharp shooting skills.

Speir joined the DPS in 1941 as a highway patrolman and, except for active duty in the U.S. Army and Air Force during World War II, has been with the department ever since.

After returning to the DPS in 1945 as a patrolman, he rose through the ranks to become director in 1968. He is a past president of the Texas Police Association and is currently vice president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

In 1971, Speir was presented the I. Edgar Hoover Gold Medal Award as law enforcement officer of the year by the National Convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Speir is also active in the Baptist church, the Austin Rotary Club and the Boy Scouts.

A native of Gilmer, Speir received a bachelor of science degree with honors from East Texas State University, which named him an outstanding alumnus in 1971. He also studied at the Northwestern University Traffic Institute in Evanston, Ill.

Judge Clyde Earl Smith Jr. of the 88th District Court will present the guest speaker, and Dr. Raymond Parker, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Woodville, will present the invocation.

City Approves Gas Increase

Woodville's city council tabled a request from Gulf States Utilities for an approximate 13.5 percent rate increase, but did approve an ordinance raising natural gas prices to reflect a 20 cent increase in the price of gas from the city's supplier.

Ward McCurtain, Gulf States Utilities Beaumont division manager, presented a 20-minute explanation of why G-SU was making the rate request. He told the alderman that they could help the utility company most by either rejecting the request outright, or by approving it, subject to action by the Texas Public Utilities Commission (PUC).

McCurtain estimated that the increase would amount to approximately $2.75 for the average customer.

The PUC is expected to make a ruling in the case in approximately four months. Whatever decision the commissioner makes would overrule what the city decides in the meantime.

Finally, councilman Gordon Anderson moved that the city table the matter for further discussion. The motion carried unanimously.

Later in the same meeting, City Manager Walt Davis told the council that Tennessee Gas had raised its rates by 20 cents effective Jan. 1, 1978. He then presented an ordinance to increase service charges to all the city's gas customers, both commercial and domestic, to reflect the increase.

For domestic customers inside the city limits, the new rate would mean a minimum bill of $2.75 per month for the first 500 cubic feet of gas used, and $1.65 per thousand for the next 4,000 cubic feet consumed.

For domestic consumers of natural gas outside the city limits, the rates would be $3.75 for the first 500 cubic feet and $1.65 per thousand cubic feet for the next 4,000 cubic feet.

The ordinance passed unanimously, but Davis warned that should the city have to purchase emergency supplies of natural gas at still higher prices, another larger increase would be necessary.

Woodville Chief of Police Gary Mattingly appeared before the council to request the formation of a reserve police force for the city.

Mattingly told the council that he wanted only eight to ten persons, who would be certified and serve at no cost to the city, except for badges. The reserve policemen would have to furnish their own uniforms and handguns and pay for their own schooling if needed.

Alderman Web Ashworth said that he had seen the reserve police idea in practice. "Most of the people who wanted to do this, on a voluntary basis, had a thing about carrying a badge," said Ashworth.

Mattingly responded that that was the reason he wanted to keep the force small. "The force would be used to help patrol at events like the Dogwood Festival, football games and other athletic events, and in emergencies."

Councilman J.M. Radford moved that a proposed ordinance be drafted for a reserve police force. The motion passed unanimously.

In other business, the council:

- approved the placement of streetlights on South Magnolia near the new Jobe Equipment store and in the Magnolia Square subdivision;
- approved a contract with Southwest Gas District;
- appointed Councilman Doug Tolbert to the Firemen's Pension Board.

Raid Results In Charges

WARREN—A late night raid by Tyler County Sheriff's deputies near here Saturday resulted in burglary charges against three young men, a public intoxication by marijuana against two others.

Deputy Sheriff Floyd Petri reported that when officers raided a makeshift shack in the "boondocks" west of Warren, they discovered several items which allegedly were stolen from area homes during Christmas break-ins.

The raid was prompted by a suspicion of marijuana possession, but when the officers arrived, all that they could find was a jar of seeds. However, Petri said that the occupants of the shack appeared to be "high."

Among the items recovered in the raid were groceries, flashlights, a camp stove and paper plates allegedly stolen from three homes. More expensive items had been left untouched in the homes, according to Petri, who said the group apparently had been furnishing their shack with the stolen goods.

Petri said that two more suspects would probably be taken into custody Tuesday.

Assisting in the raid were Deputy Sheriff "Slim" Cowart and Constable W.B. Bailey.

TIRES STOLEN

In the opposite end of the county, thieves apparently stole two 16-ply radial truck tires from the Eastex Pulpwood Mill on U.S. 287 between Chester and Woodville Thursday night.

According to Deputy Sheriff Butch Kraus, 20 tires have been stolen from the mill over the past year, but Thursday's theft was the first in approximately three months. Kraus added that he had clues into the case.

PTO Suggests Bond Election

CHESTER—A petition calling for a bond election for the purpose of building a new elementary school was presented to the Chester Independent School District Board of Trustees during a special meeting here last Thursday.

Larry Treast, acting as spokesman for the Chester Parent Teacher Organization Steering Committee, presented the board with the petition which was signed by 54 residents. The committee also presented an outline of their research into plans for a new elementary school.

The board accepted the committee's recommendation and promised to look further into the possibility of a bond election. A discussion of possible tax increases, present tax rates, building costs and types of buildings followed.

Tours of other schools and additional conversations with architects pertaining to a new school were also considered by the board. The board scheduled a Jan. 16 tour of the school, with a trip to South Lake also possible.

In other business, the CISD reviewed bills and Superintendent David Malone gave the financial report.

The PTO's Steering Committee report was the result of a Dec. 12 tour of the present elementary school conducted by the PTO for the public.

Following the tour, an open meeting was held and the following topics were discussed:

1. General condition of the building and safety hazards;
2. Lack of adequate heating and cooling;
3. Lack of adequate facilities and space due to accommodating more students than the school was designed to serve;
4. Failure in the near future to meet the standards set for accreditation purposes.

The possibility of renovating the present school was also discussed, but the general consensus was that it would not be feasible to spend the amount necessary for upkeep due to the age and condition of the building.

After the meeting, the PTO Steering Committee asked those in favor of a bond election to sign the petition, and all 54 in attendance did so.

CJ Grant Approved

AUSTIN—Governor Dolph Briscoe has approved a criminal justice grant affecting Tyler County.

An award of $6,991 will assist in continuation of criminal investigation capabilities in the district attorney's office of the 88th Judicial District, which includes Tyler and Hardin counties.

The grant was among 60 approved by Governor Briscoe statewide from Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) grants under the Crime Control Act of 1976.

Follow Races In '78 Elections

As we enter another election year it is important to maintain an awareness of the political events happening around us.

Hardly a week goes by without somebody complaining about an elected official. This is not unusual, nor do the complaints have any concern about an one's moral character, but it is only effective if we take advantage of it.

Get a grip with an elected official who is up for re-election. If so, now is your chance to show it at the polls. On the other hand, you can also show approval by voting for an official. It works both ways.

And for those who feel that they can do a better job it's not too late to file for the May 8 Democratic or Republican primaries. Deadline is Feb. 15 for filing with the respective county clerk or take advantage of it.

Those positions up for election this year include all four justices of the peace, county commissioners for precincts 1 and 4, the county judge, treasurer, clerk and attorney, and district judges 1 and 2.

For more information contact the county clerk (who are also up for election) at the phone numbers listed below.

Democratic Chairman: Mrs. Clemens 283-2814
Republican Chairman: Jim Dillon 283-2683

Remember, this is your chance to do something positive. Either run or vote now or you will be a couple of more years in it.

Sniffen Around

By JOHN SNIFFEN

Super Sunday. They call it for that is the day on which the biggest fastest and highest paid athletes in the nation battle for the pro football championship of the world.

Except for a few diehards who detect the sport most Americans will spend evenings with their highlight Sunday evenings with eyes glued to their televisions. Between super plays by super players, advertisements will push everything from super pannos to super shoes.

During one such super Sunday several years ago, a television station checked with its own water department and found that little water was used during those times when the games were on. In fact, every time an advertisement came on, the water level dropped precipitately.

Now, it's not possible to know exactly where all that water was going, but it is a point that those advertisers should ponder, especially since it costs hundreds of thousands of dollars per minute for those spots.

This past bowl season has been a rough one for Texas. First Texas Tech, then A&M and finally, Texas fell on their collective faces against outsiders. Countless Aggies and Longhorns have spent the last week in hiding.

For Texas, it's now or never. The pride of the entire state will be on the line in the Cowboy play that Crushed Orange bunch from Denver.

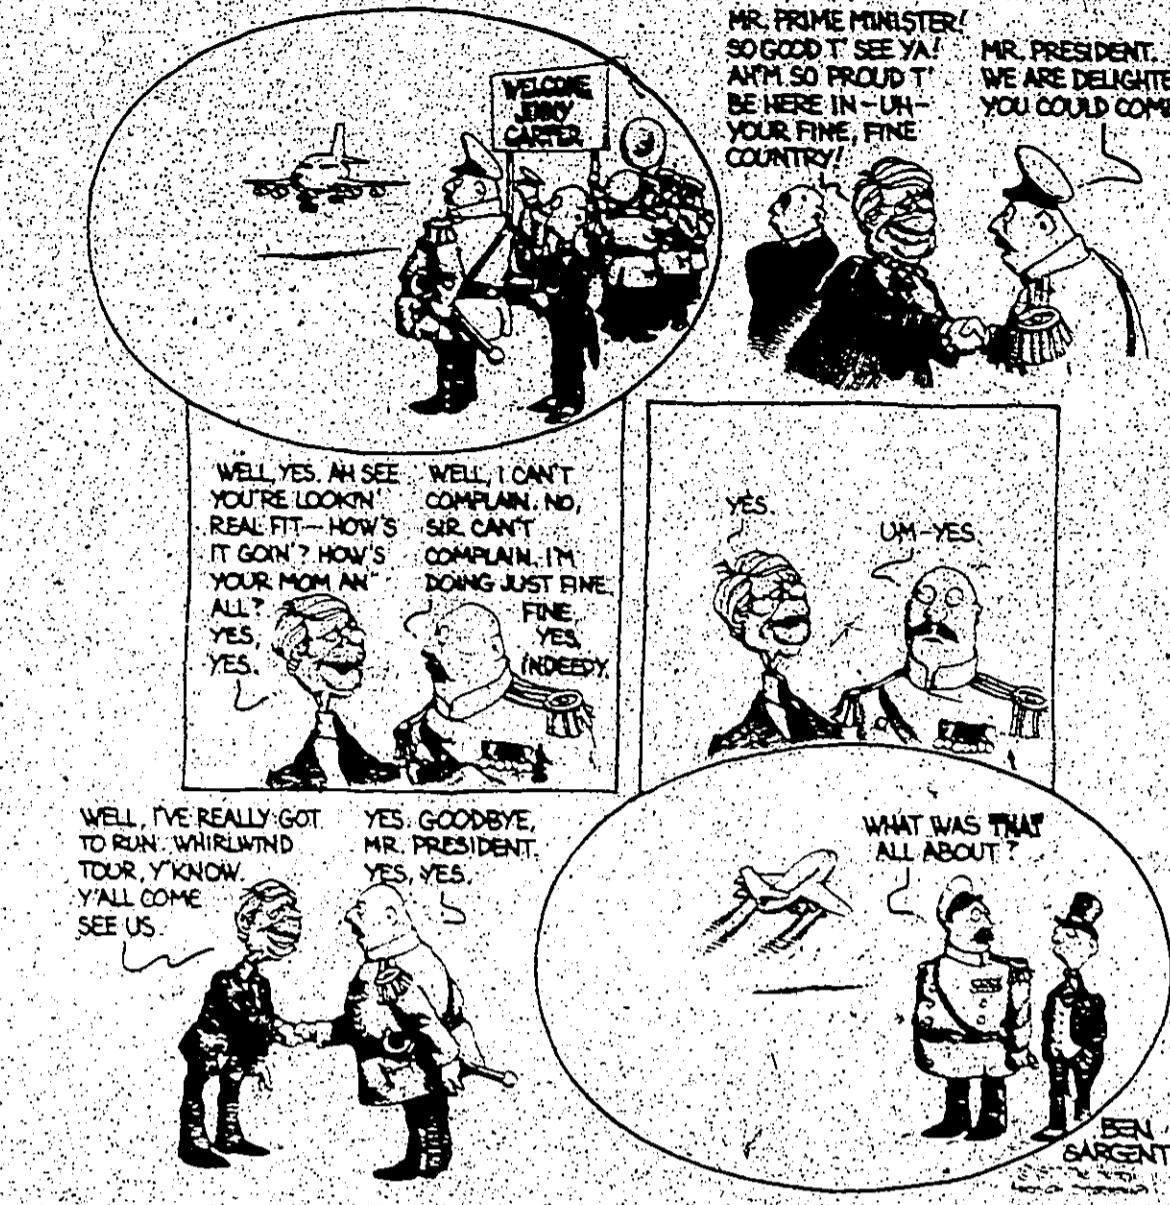

A victory, of course, will reaffirm our superiority over all the Texas states of the nation. A defeat (God forbid) will rank in history with the fall of the Alamo.

The economy of the state will probably be at a standstill for weeks should the Pokes choke. The divorce rate will soar and the sale of ten-gallon hats will plummet.

Let's face it folks, the rest of the nation is already snickering at us. We're the only ones who'll drill for oil off our shores so they can be warm in the winter, and at the same time, pay more for natural gas than a Yankee 2000 miles from the well.

If for one, plan to flee to Mexico should the unspeakable happen. I feel confident, however, and have not purchased a plane ticket, yet.

It's now or never.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

Good Industry Year

The industry statistics indicate a "good" year for the state's economic development in 1977.

Manufacturing companies reported a 10% increase in production last year, with a similar rise expected for 1978. And plants are hiring more workers.

While plants are hiring, the state's unemployment rate has fallen to 6.5%.

Land Sale Set

A large sale of state-owned land may be set for next year, according to state officials.

The state has about 10 million acres of land, and officials are looking for ways to dispose of it.

AG Opinions

The State Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies must report to the press documents concerning some of its investigations.

By ALAN MILLER

Some of us remember years ago, when American workers emphasized their wage demands by going on sit-down strikes. They would refuse to leave the plant when their shifts were over, and literally sit down, stopping production, in the hopes that management would buckle under.

Then there were the hunger strikes. Most notable recently, the entertainer, Dick Gregory. I forget now what Mr. Gregory was upset about, but his picture was in the newspapers from time to time, looking all gaunt and bagged.

Well, the sit-down and the hunger strikes have finally left their imprint on the old homestead, and I have only myself to blame.

Mollie's family part German shepherd of rather inertly unattractive ancestry, was reading the Wall Street Journal the other evening, after watching Sesame Street, and noted an item that the dog food industry was under fire from the Food and Drug Administration.

"No, that is something any self-respecting dog would get upset about, some bureaucrats in Washington messing with her dinner."

As I understand it from Mollie, the FDA is upset because the dog food manufacturers are supposedly putting too much red coloring in their product, and this misleads the dog as to how much meat there is in each serving.

Consequently, "The Mol" who is refusing to eat the canned food she has thrived on for years, has let me know she believes the television commercials entailing her favorite brand are nothing but a ruse, and from now on she eats at the very least ground chuck, and rack of lamb at least once a week.

She sulks around the house, gets up on her lounge chair on the sun porch, and forces me to try to make up with her.

There is one thing about this whole episode that baffles me. I read somewhere that dogs have no color perception. That through their eyes everything is shades of gray. Well, if that is the case, why is the FDA so alarmed about the red coloring in dog food, or, perhaps more importantly, why is the FDA wasting our tax money on such a silly project?

First there were eye-balls, then there was saccharin, now dog food. Where is it going to end?

If New Yorkers never walk behind low all pet-owners are going to feel, if Mollie's sit-down-hunger bit catches hold.

After all, we collectively spend more for pet food annually than we do to educate our kids. Where even that the ladies prefer to enhance their pretty faces.

If Carter thinks he has problems with Sadat and Begin, wait till Mollie leads a strike on the South lawn of the White House. Less regulation in the Federal government, you say? Don't you believe it. It confirms my earliest suspicion. The bureaucrats have literally gone to the dogs.

Warriorettes Win Colmesneil Girl's Tournament

COLMESNEIL—While thunder and lightning filled the skies Saturday night, the Warriorettes used a similar combination to shock Colmesneil, 52-44, for the championship of the Colmesneil Girls Basketball Tournament.

Warriorettes forward Melissa Caswell scored 38 points but it was teammate Kelly Evans 10 points tall of which came in the second half, which made the difference.

Once again, the game turned into a scoring contest between Caswell and Colmesneil's Linda Gilder who also scored 38 points but missed many more. Nevertheless, Warriorettes led 24-24 which came in the second half.

Community Workshop To Begin Tuesday, Jan. 17

What is leadership? How can it be more effective as an individual? In a committee? How can it structure a meeting? How can it be more productive?

These are only a few of the questions that will be answered in the Community Development Workshop for interested Tyler County citizens beginning Tuesday, Jan. 17.

According to Belinda Covington and Clinton Curtis, county extension agents, the workshop will provide training and experience for local people to help them better perform their role of working with and involving people.

The workshop is a series of three sessions. It is scheduled for Tuesday, beginning at 7:00 p.m. at the Kirby High School Vocational Agriculture Building.

Festival Plans Underway

Plans are well underway for the 1978 Dogwood Festival following a meeting of the operating directors on January 10, according to Executive Director George Jarrott.

The flowermaking is progressing according to Herb Branch, Dist. Jarrott, chairman, and Sue Bracken, advisory chairman, are looking for the many volunteers to help in the annual making of paper flowers that decorate the stage each year.

Ben Worthy encourages anyone interested in participating in the parade to contact him at 834-2520 in Warren or by mail.

Joan Graham, director in charge of the parade, stated that the writing of the script is well under way and the tentative title is "Thicketland," a musical fairytale set in the big thick of Tyler County.

A Kingman meeting is being set in the near future, reported Fred Sullivan, and all Tyler County Kingmen should be looking forward to meeting soon.

Entrants for the Annual Beard Growing Contest, which held one week prior to the festival, will gather Saturday, Jan. 21, on the county court-house lawn. In order to enter, Tyler County males must be clean shaven and make their formal entry between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m.

The beard growing contest will last eight weeks. Jarrott stated that the directors and their committee will be seeking the many Tyler Countyans whose volunteer efforts make the festival a unique and rewarding experience.

PROGRESS REPORTS
Cheers were heard at WHS when it was announced that progress reports would not go out in December. They will be issued in January instead.

CAKE FROM FFA
The Warren Farmers of America Chapter presented the WHS teachers with a cake for Christmas. The cake was made by Brenda's mother, Mrs. Jack Spurlink of Fred.

BOB METLINS
Bob Jenkins, WHS junior, made it back to school Dec. 15 after being out of school a week with pneumonia. He didn't want to miss out on all the fun and Christmas parties, and Bob is the only one back after pneumonia.

TEACHERS OUT
The school's intercom system is now installed and working. The system enables the main office to converse with people in all the buildings on campus.

FFA PROGRESS
The Coleman FFA recently met for their first meeting. Reports of success were given by Larry Lucas and Richard Baker. After the pigs have been fed, the students are planning to continue the barn clean-up.

DISTRICT BASKETBALL
The first district games of the season are this week. On Tuesday the girls and boys met in the gymnasium. Besides my news, such fields of reading include Science and Social Studies. Tales, biographies and folk tales.

Hudson Fells Woodville 66-44

NACOGDOCHES
Hudson slapped Woodville 66-44 here last Friday as the Eagles fell for the fourth time in a row and slipped to a 3-16 season record.

The Eagles' mistakes apparently are coming from cold hands offensively. "We made about 15 more shots off than Hudson, but just couldn't hit them," said coach James Rogers.

"We've played a pretty good defense and are doing a fair job rebounding," added Rogers. "We play about two and a half periods extra, then our shooting ability gets us down."

Steve Hadnot and Keith Blackmon led the Eagles with 12 points apiece in the Hudson loss.

"It's not a slump," said Rogers of the Eagles' losing skin. "We don't have one to shoot confidence in. We could hit 50 percent."

Woodville was to get a quick taste of the worst of the District 17-2A foes Tuesday as the Eagles traveled to Kirbyville. The Wildcats along with D'Boil's lumberjacks, appear to be the top favorites.

The Eagles' record may find some of their district foes, however, if they follow their coaches' strategy. "We're not going to lay down in district," said Rogers.

SCHOOL FAVORITES SELECTED
Last week the student body of KHS voted for class favorites. The freshmen favorites are Tammy Oborn and Don Freeman, Lisa Dean and Michael Tolbert were selected as the sophomore favorites. The junior class elected Susan Brodnax and Charles Branch. The seniors have chosen Jennie Fortenberry and Tobin Rainey as their favorites. School favorites were also chosen. They are Jennie Fortenberry and David Ashworth, Chrissa Sherrod and Kevin Hudson were chosen as Most Likely to Succeed.

Woodville 7th, 8th Take Warren

WARREN—The Woodville Jr. High girls basketball team played a 7th and 8th grade game Monday at Warren. The seventh grade girls won by a score of 108-76. The eighth grade girls played well after a slow start.

NEWTON—The girls' high basketball team came away with a third place trophy in the Newton Tournament, winning three games and losing one. The Woodville girls beat Deweyville 20-17, Newton 35-19, Kirbyville 25-20. They lost their ball game with Mauriceville 38-15.

The girls played outstanding defense and good offense even though two of their games were played without two starters.

Connie Smith and Valerie Jackson played some very good offense during all four games. Martha Hanna and Valerie Jackson handled most of the defensive rebounding.

PARTY GUESTS
Just before Christmas the various classes had Christmas parties and the eighth grade class took advantage of that time to have a party. They all had guests. Four People, classes of various classmates, attended the party. They all decided it was "some" party.

Hey this class also went to work on their hand Mullins from Lumberton on the class. Welcome from all of our guests.

LET'S ACT SERIOUS
That is the comment that Mrs. Martindale and reporters when she asked the class. She told us that the cast will begin serious practicing starting last week. And guess what they did!

LET'S ACT ANYONE
Yes folks, the time has come to choose the 1978 team. The need of evergreen on the team have not been announced. The sponsor for the team is Paul Mackintosh.

FROM WILLIAMS TO LUDDE
Congratulations goes to the second grade teacher, Miss Judy Williams. She became Mrs. Judy Lude over the Christmas holiday. Mrs. Lude seems very happy and with good cause.

DID YOU GET WHAT YOU WANTED
Before the Christmas holidays we asked everyone around the school what they wanted to get for Christmas, now after the season we asked everyone what they got to see if they got what they wanted.

The first graders all had more than one thing they wanted. Most of them got what they wanted but the ones that didn't are still very content with what they got.

All second graders are happy with anything they got just as long as it lives up to its purpose to have fun with.

Bicycles were the top for the third graders. Most all got bikes and most all have them. However, with a little love and patience from Mother they will be riding in no time.

The fourth grade didn't have much to say except what age is our assignment. But all were happy with what they got.

When the fifth graders returned they had a bit of a surprise. Their room had been painted a serene green. Most like a serene green. They are happy with what they got and glad to be back to school.

The sixth graders were hard to get anything from. One student was talking about his grandfather, who apparently got there by a BB. Other than that there were no more requests.

Everyone seems to be very happy with their many gifts and all are glad to be back to school.

We on the Deck must now say goodbye. See you next week. Have a good week and Smile! You're alive!

TEST TIME
Bad enough to return to school after the great Christmas holidays, but to return to six weeks tests is even worse. The test is on for book reports and it is time to hunt out all those papers that you really don't have the slightest idea what you did with.

It is a long time until Easter.

BULLDOG TOURNAMENT IS SUCCESS
The 1977-78 Bulldog Basketball Tournament held January 5-7, was a great success. The Warren Warriors captured the first place trophy with the Coleman Bulldogs following with second. Third place went to the Huntington Panthers. The Tubbs Macdonald sportsman award went to the Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs had the best scoring player, Lisa O'Neil, who scored a total of 173 points in four games and James Pittman led the Bulldog hustling on the guard end. He led the floor.

Congratulations to all participants.

Senior Pictures Arrive

The senior pictures made a month ago have returned to the school. They are to be taken in a 5 per package and may be purchased from the annual staff during school hours. Seeing oneself in a cap and gown makes the end seem that much closer.

Camel Roping In Texas Before The Civil War

Many Texans are aware that about 75 camels, with a number of Arabs and Turks to serve as trainers and drivers, were imported to the state in 1858. These animals, sent here at the insistence of United States Secretary of War Jefferson Davis, were used experimentally for transportation and hauling during expeditions in the Indian and Texas frontiers.

Before the usefulness of the camels for these purposes could be determined, the experiments were interrupted by the upheavals of the Civil War. In its aftermath, within a decade after the end of the war, Texas' Indian frontier was considered to be fairly secure. Railroads had begun to offer faster and more efficient transportation than the camels could have provided.

The animals, already scattered to other areas of the country, were shot for sport where they roamed wild, never became domesticated, and were never used in the Texas scene.

The original consignments of camels to the U.S. Army were later supplemented by two privately sponsored consignments. The first of these came, to nothing, and the camel, once landed at the port of Galveston, was left to wander wild along the dunes of the coast until they died or were killed. The camels involved in the other private venture were more fortunate. Brought ashore near Houston in 1858, the animals found a new home on the ranch of L. Gov. (and later Gov.) James H. Rusk, near Bayou in Harris County. Governor Lubbock's memoirs, published in Texas, in 1890, describe the camels' use on the ranch. He published in 1900, reprints of his experiences with the camels. This first portion of a two-part series describes their disembarkation in winter the intervals of watering can up to four or five days. This was managed with so much care that only one or two camels bled at the watering place. These had to be drawn out of the bayou by a volunteer, for after several ineffectual efforts to extricate themselves and getting down deeper in the mire, they sank down quietly with only a few mournful plaints of distress, apparently resigned to their fate. And, it was not without some nursing and attention that they fully recovered from their sad experience on being hauled out. While not being perhaps so much of a water animal as the horse, the camel can certainly swim, as was demonstrated by one of this herd in Buffalo Bayou. I remember having lost but one from the effects of bogging.

Beware Of The Thirteenth

By TRISH BROWNING
This Friday if you wake up and leave the bed from the left side you had better walk backwards to the bed, climb in and start all over again arising from the warmth this time on the right side instead. For this is the day off all bad luck, evil happenings and just plain misery. It's a that mystical day, Friday the 13th.

Proclaimed for centuries as the worst day of the year, unless you were lucky enough to be born on that day, persons of all religions and races hold the 13th in high respect. Some out of fun and others out of fright or fear of the unknown.

Everybody knows that you can't do a thing right on this fateful day. You fight with your spouse, make bad business deals, get pneumonia poisoning from the local culinary cuisine and find your mother-in-law in permanent residency at your home.

But don't despair and feel alone in your misery. You are in good company. Eve tempted Adam with that juicy apple on Friday, the great flood began on Friday, the tower of Babel was in a state of confusion on Friday and you are being forwarded.

Friday was named after Frigg, the Norse goddess of marriage. She was later confused with Freya, the goddess of love and love and marriage don't always go hand in hand.

But, back to Freya. When the Norsemen and Germans became Christians, Freya was supposedly banished to the mountains as a witch. Friday, the day she was known for, therefore, came to be known as the "witches sabbath."

It was believed that she and 11 other witches and Satan gathered on the mountain on Friday to bring curses upon the townsfolk below. One of the reasons everyone believed that anything bad or unlucky happened on that day was a result of this meeting.

The belief of bad luck on Friday has passed centuries with the best in scientist and other brilliant persons denouncing the days powers. But in our civilized times we so called educated people still revert to the olden days and blame any ill-stared occurrences by saying "Oh well, it's Friday the 13th."

To help you make it through the eventful day, carry an acorn for it will bring you luck wherever you go. Add a rabbit's foot for extra assurance of peace and good will. Don't trust a blonde with anything you hold dear and don't cross a red-head.

Highway Seal Bids To Be Let

AUSTIN—Bids for the seal coating of approximately 40 miles of highways in Tyler County are expected to be received at the January 17/18 opening of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Baron remarked that he did not believe that anyone could take a camel on his own. He said that Allen quickly affirmed the contrary, and finally bet Baron a camel that he could take a camel on his own. Allen, mounted his horse, lasso in hand, and struck the ground with a sharp whistle and a trial threw it over the head of a large camel and brought him to the ground. Baron, late in from Louisiana, had not learned that Texas generally cautions about the camels. He undertook, with his outlandish servants, Turks or Arabs of any name, to take the camels to his ranch, a few miles distant from Warren. He was in the pasture prepared for them.

The camels came in my care, Michado returned to Galveston, leaving the herd to the care of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

The project, which will also include approximately 350 miles of highways in Liberty, Chambers, Jefferson, Jasper, Newton, and Orange counties is designed to correct deficiencies caused by highway surfaces by heavy traffic and severe weather conditions.

A new surface will be applied to seal the existing roadway to prevent further weather damage to the base material. A smoother, safer surface will also result, according to the highway department.

Roads scheduled to be seal coated in Tyler County include U.S. 69, U.S. 287, F.M. 2097, F.M. 2592, F.M. 256, F.M. 1013 and F.M. 1014.

The exact portions of these highways that will be affected are listed below.

U.S. 69 from the intersection of F.M. 1013 in Hillier County to a section north of the Hardin County line for 4.3 miles.

F.M. 287 between 1.2 miles northwest of U.S. 69 in Woodville and 11 miles north-west of Woodville.

F.M. 2097 from U.S. 287 in Chester north for 3.7 miles.

F.M. 2592 from F.M. 1013 north 2.9 miles.

F.M. 256, a 2.6-mile section located between U.S. 69 in Colmesneil and 12.2 miles southeast from 1.3 miles southeast of U.S. 69 southeast for 2.8 miles.

F.M. 1013 from Jasper County line west 2.7 miles; from F.M. 92, west for 5.5 miles.

F.M. 1014 from U.S. 69 east for 1.1 miles at Rockledge.

C.B. Bond of Orange will be the department's engineer in charge of the work, which is expected to be completed in the past few weeks. Overall project supervision will be supplied by Beaumont District Engineer Franklin C. Young.

Fryers,
Lettuce,
Eggs Are Good Buys

COLLEGE STATION—Attractive prices appear on fryer chickens, eggs, and lettuce, at Texas grocery markets, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clark, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Grocery shoppers also can expect the following price and quality levels:

FRESH VEGETABLES—Reasonable prices highlight cabbage, carrots, dry onions, sweet potatoes and hard-shell squash. Moderate price items include eggplant, cauliflower and Brussels sprouts.

FRESH FRUITS—Good quality oranges are "most economical when shoppers let price and intended use determine the size to buy. Texas grapefruit is plentiful and quality is excellent, but quality is slipping on grapes and tangerines. Bananas and apples are good choices both quality-wise and price-wise.

BEF—Demand for beef is increasing, with prices the same as pre-holiday prices or slightly higher. However, many markets are featuring some "beef" cuts—primarily chuck roasts, sirloin and T-bone steaks. Good values appear on ground beef and beef liver.

PORK—Prices are a bit irregular, although attractive values show up on Boston butt roasts, end chops, semi-boneless ham, bacon, frankfurters and liver. Economical prices appear on quarter loins cut into chops and rib-end roasts.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES—Features are less numerous, but there are some specials on fruit pie filling, canned peaches, green beans and pork and beans.

FROZEN FOOD COUNTS—Leading feature items are a variety of vegetable orange juice and fried chicken.

CONSUMER WATCH WORDS—In "snagging" last promotions, check for less expensive cuts, such as riblets. Instead of the more expensive leg of lamb.

HADA Show March 2

HOUSTON—The 14th Annual Houston Antiques Dealers Association (HADA) National Invitational show and Sale is scheduled for March 2-5, 1978, in the Albert Thomas Convention and Exhibit Center, West Hall, Capitol Street entrance, Houston, and will benefit the Houston Symphony Society.

Featuring more than 100 exhibitors from across the nation, the March show will be quality-controlled with a panel of authenticity judges examining all exhibits before they are admitted to the show, says Herb Wiener, HADA president.

HADA will stress quality and authenticity in this, the largest show of its kind in the Southwest, Wiener said.

The goal of HADA is to educate everyone about antiques in general, their use, value and potential value.

The show will offer a wide variety of art glass, cut glass, dolls, primitives, clocks, silver, porcelains, European and Asian enamels and lacquers, antique jewelry, furniture and many other collectibles from other fields.

It will be a complete show attracting the collectors, dealers, decorators and those just beginning to collect antiques, said Wiener.

The exhibit space, with appropriate showstands and the show will benefit the Houston Symphony Society.

Chester Buzz

By DEBBIE KRAUS
For several years people have wondered and asked why Chester did not have a column in the Booster. I decided to see if the Booster was interested in having a column from this area. The Booster was indeed interested and I would like to try to write this column.

I am 19 years old and graduated from Chester High School last year. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Butch Kraus. I have two sisters and one brother.

There have been quite a few birthdays this week. Don Cray had a birthday Jan. 2, last Monday and his wife Mary is having hers Sunday, Jan. 8.

Tuesday, Jan. 9, Nora Scamans celebrated her 22nd birthday in the old Scamans home with 16 family members present for supper.

Billy Todd Hickman celebrated his birthday Thursday Jan. 5, with a family supper and cake. Mr. and Mrs. Kimbrell, Mrs. Ross, Kevin and Kimberly from Corrigan were present.

Neighbor Fernoy McKinney is in St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Beaumont for surgery.

Bo Payne has been visiting with his family, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hopkins, Ricky, Donna, and Little Wayne.

Nora Handcock is visiting with her children in Houston.

Robert and Audrey Massey from Junction, Texas visited Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Huntinger and Family.

Gordan Whitworth had supper with his children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore and boys Saturday evening.

I see Linda Sue Whitworth has a new car! Lucky Lady! Her husband, Joe Lynn lost a dog while hog hunting Saturday.

Steve Watts had coffee in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reagan Priest this week. Other visitors were Elvie Priest Bennie and Sandra Johnson and their baby, also J.W. Wilson and his son from Nederland were guest in the Priest home.

Chit-Chat At WCC

By ERNESTINE FAIRCLOTH
 Woodville - Conversation Center has a full schedule this week as fun and excitement will fill our home through out the week. The exercise class will meet Monday through Friday, the Joyful Noise will practice at 9:30, Wednesday morning the craft class will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday, the beauty shop will be open at 9 a.m. and at 2 p.m.

The big event of the week will be held Thursday evening at 7:30. The Melody Masters will be here to entertain as Woodville Conversation Center will have a dance for the residents, as well as the public. We are all looking forward to this and you can help make it a big success by coming on out and being with us.

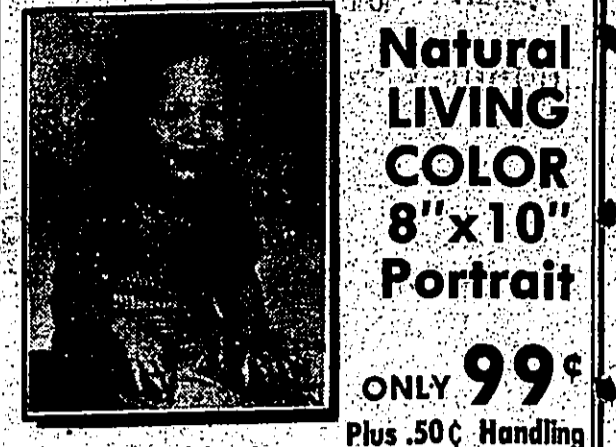

Our holiday party will be next Tuesday at 2 p.m. Mrs. Dilyan with the First Baptist Church of Woodville will be in charge of the party. If you have relatives in our home celebrating birthdays, please come out and be with them. It means so much to us to see our residents with smiles on their faces, instead of hiding in a corner all alone, so come on out and put that smile back on their face. They really get down when they don't get to see their love ones for awhile, and it really means a lot to us to see them happy and gay instead of sad and lonely. So the next time you are sitting at home with nothing to do, come on out and let them know that you love them and you really do still care.

Our Sweetheart of the Month is Hattie Owens. Hattie is 86 years young and has been a resident of our home since November 1, 1972. Congratulations to Hattie for being selected our "Resident of the Week".

Highway Landing

At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, January 7, 1978, due to bad weather conditions, an airplane was forced to land on highway 287 north of Chester. The four passenger Grumman American, with Pilot Brock Lively from Livingston, Texas was enroute to Tulsa, Oklahoma, when weather conditions forced him to land. He taxied down 287 into town and stored the plane in the old fire building next to the Chester State Bank. Sunday afternoon officers blocked traffic and Lively again used 287 for a runway to continue his flight. By DEBBIE KRAUS

Champion Eyes Land Purchase

STAMFORD, CT - Champion International Corporation exercised option to purchase 175 acres of land in East Texas Friday as a possible site for an unbleached pulp and linerboard production facility.

The site, located south of Kirbyville, was selected because of its proximity to the company's 500,000-acre-of-fore-owned Texas timberlands, as well as because of its proximity to water, good transportation and other requirements of a viable mill site.

The company's Hoerner Waldorf packaging division would operate the proposed facility, which is targeted for startup in the mid-1980s. A conventional, single production line mill, it would produce approximately 1,000 tons per day of linerboard. Initial employment would be approximately 200 persons.

Champion International has advised appropriate state and federal environmental agencies, as well as the Sabine River Authority, of its intentions and has requested their approvals. A company spokesman said, "We are now continuing necessary testing and gathering data on the proposed mill's impact on the site and the surrounding area, as part of the information these agencies require to make their decisions," the spokesman added.

Champion International is currently expanding its Hoerner Waldorf linerboard mill at Missoula, Montana, and the East Texas project would follow completion of the Montana expansion.

Ramblin' 'Round Rockland

By ALOHA FREELAND
 Hello, again, from Rockland. Hope you are beginning the New Year right and keeping a lot of important resolutions.

New Year's weekend visitors with Sherry Ross and family were Mary and Bobby Spears and their three daughters from Houston, and Mrs. Essie Wallace and Thomas Blanks from Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pease enjoyed the New Year's weekend with their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Roney and family of Grandview and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sellers and family of Lufkin.

We are happy to report that Glenda "Edge" has returned home after a stay in a Houston hospital.

We are sorry to hear that line Brown is in Doctor's Hospital in Beaumont. Hope you'll soon be feeling better again line.

Also reported to be doing better at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Beaumont is Mrs. Marie Brooks who was taken there on Sunday with a respiratory ailment.

We wish her God's speed as we say goodbye to Donna Michan who is leading toward California with her family. She plans to make her home there near her parents.

The Baptist Church has begun its yearly study course. This year's course is the study of Exodus. The first lesson last Sunday evening was well attended. Everyone in attendance enjoyed the slides depicting scenes from Exodus and the discussion of the book conducted by Bro. Kenn Freeland.

This Thursday night, at 7:00, the Baptist Church is having a special service for East Texas Baptist College for their Men's Brotherhood meeting. A salad supper will follow the meeting. The public is invited to attend.

History class will be held on Wednesday, at Deidre Reppong on the third, Bonnie Rava on the 14th, and Peggy Madel on the 16th. This is all from Rockland for this week. See you next time.

Consumer Resolutions For The New Year

It's that time of year again-resolutions for the New Year to balance the checkbook and write to old friends.

Along with the standard resolutions, the Better Business Bureau of Southeast Texas suggests a set of consumer resolutions to save wear and tear on the disposition and the family budget:

...Every purchase made this year will be more carefully considered than ever before to be sure that full value is received for every dollar spent.

...In anticipation of a purchase, call the BBB to get facts about any company before you buy.

...Read, listen to and watch advertising with greater attention, asking advertisers for a realistic picture of their products. Do not respond to price advertising that uses scare tactics or threats. Those who are responsible for these practices should be held accountable. You'll Pay More Later" serve only to encourage penny-pinching, a disservice to the economy.

...Consider product warranties in all buying decisions. Look for evidence that the warranty protects the customer at least as well as it protects the manufacturer.

...Read care-and-use instructions before using products.

...Consider the importance of energy efficient ratings and expect to find appliances labeled with accurate, energy efficient information.

...If buying a new car, insist on seeing the odometer disclosure form certifying the accuracy of the mileage on the odometer.

...Make every effort to have your car serviced by certified mechanics who have passed the tests established by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence.

...Go another step forward with the "use it up, wear it out, make it do" philosophy.
