Items Cited By Commission

County Studies Jail Standards

Meeting in workshop session Monday, Sheriff Lewis Craven and county commissioners attempted to muddle through numerous mandatory and recommended jailhouse standards as set by the State Commission on Jail Standards after the commission's Aug. 25, 1977, inspection of the Tyler County Jail.

Tyler County's jail does not meet some 74 mandatory minimum jail standards at this time but according to Sheriff Craven these items are "in the process of being corrected."

Many items such as fire escapes, fire warning systems and electronic door openers were labeled as "musts" by Craven and commissioners while other items as narrow bunks and exercise areas were marked as "get by with's."

Bob Viterma, assistant director to the Texas Jail Commission in Austin, said: "The attitude of the commission is one of cooperation. If a county shows that it is working toward compliance with the commission we will try and work with them."

Viterma also said that Tyler County's jail was in better shape than the average county jail. "It's not what a lot of money can do but what a lot of effort will accomplish," Viterma said.

Efforts to improve the jail have been lacking the past few years, county commissioners agreed, but they did not place blame on any one person.

According to Viterma, this is evident throughout the state.

"With a little effort and a little money, we can make this jail work and last for several years without going to the people and asking for a jail bond," said County Judge Allen Sturrock.

Topping the list of "must do's" is the installation of some sort of fire escape and warning devices. Sheriff Craven reported that smoke detectors and a two-way communication system between jail and office can be expected in operation within the next month. Automatic door openers are being investigated.

"We can't correct it all at one time but we're starting," Craven said.

Many of the items that do not comply with the commission's standards are things that can not be changed. Sate requirements provide for 8-foot ceilings in each cell. Deputy Billy Cowart said, "Concrete ceilings can't be raised."

Concerning the items labeled "get by with's," Viterma indicated that allowances could be made as long as the county is showing a willingness to try and improve the jail facilities.

County commissioners instructed Sheriff Craven to "get on with it," meaning any cost for jail improvements under $300 did not have to be approved by the court, and that Craven should go ahead and purchase the necessary materials for such improvements.

"We (the county) have the money to do the improvements. The initiative has been taken, and we can make this jail meet state standards," said Judge Sturrock.

WISD Hears Requests

Opposite ends of the educational spectrum were represented last Tuesday night as the Woodville Independent School District Board of Trustees heard requests from two groups.

On the agenda was the Tyler County Mental and Physical Handicap Association's request for the use of the old kindergarten through second grade classrooms for a sheltered workshop for the handicapped after the district completes its new high school and vacates the structures.

Following the completion of scheduled business, the board heard from a group of concerned parents and teachers about overcrowding in the first and sixth grades.

The school district buildings requested by the TCMPHA will probably be demolished or sold after the children are moved to newer facilities, possibly in the Fall of 1980.

The TCMPHA is seeking "rent-free" lease on the buildings for a sheltered workshop, according to John Morrison, a spokesman for the organization. "We feel that it is ambitious in size, but also feel that since Tyler County is about four years behind all our neighboring counties in tending to its needs, that we could gain some ground on that time lag."

Morrison also promised the WISD that the buildings would be rented in the same or better condition than when leased, and that the TCMPHA would "protect and indemnify" the district against any liability.

Larry Heaton, director of sheltered workshops for the Deep East Texas Mental Health Mental Retardation Association, estimated that approximately 140 Tyler County residents might benefit from a sheltered workshop here. "We serve the needs of people who cannot be served in the public schools," explained Heaton.

At a workshop, clients perform simple labor in return for a minimum wage salary. Usually, the work is part of a contract with a larger business. Eileen Mason, director of the Tyler County Developmental Center gave an example of a contractor her group had with Western Electric for repair of salvaged parts of old phone equipment.

"A workshop never will support itself," said Heaton. "All we get out of a workshop is to pay the clients' wages, pay the insurance and buy a little equipment. Most of the dollars earned by the clients are spent within the community."

Reaction to TCMPHA's request ranged from concern over the conditions of the buildings to a prior agreement between the WISD and the local committee on aging.

A workshop never will support itself," said Heaton. "All we get out of a workshop is to pay the clients' wages, pay the insurance and buy a little equipment. Most of the dollars earned by the clients are spent within the community."

Hicks, a life-long resident of Spurger, is employed by Sabine Industries of Orange as a sheet metal construction worker. He is a member of AFL-CIO Union Local #196.

A veteran of World War II Hicks has served for 15 years as a member of the Spurger Independent School District 10 years of which he has been the board president. He also has over 30 years of experience in construction and working with machinery.

"My experience qualifies me to oversee Precinct 4's roads and equipment and to safeguard the county's financial program," said Hicks.

Since the commissioners court approves the bills for county government, a person for this job must have a knowledge of sound business procedure as well as operation of road maintenance equipment.

"I am entering this race to make Precinct 4 a safer and cleaner place to live and to make sure the taxpayers of Tyler County are receiving the services that their tax dollar allow the various groups, such as the AARP and so forth, to use the homemaking department in that area of the high school after we had vacated," said Linam. "Of course, last summer took care of that."

Dr. Swearingen asked Rev. Adams if he thought the two groups (Aging and the TCMPHA) could work out an agreement, and Adams replied, "If we get the space, I think we can work it out."

Later in the discussion, Adams expressed concern that the senior citizen groups might be "submerged" by the MHMR program to the point that they would not be allowed to carry on their functions.

Heaton told the board that his organization would begin a workshop in Woodville in September, regardless of whether the WISD approves the use of the old elementary buildings, and added that he saw no problem in working with the aging programs.

After 12 Years

Jordan Will Not Run

Precinct 4 Commissioner James Robert "Bo" Jordan announced Tuesday that he would not seek re-election in the May 6 Democratic primary election.

Jordan, who has held the office for 12 years, said "I just feel like I ought to get out and let someone new take the office." Commissioner Jordan said the new commissioner would meet with garbage and road problems, but that "everybody seems satisfied and all things are running smoothly."

I would like to thank all the people of Precinct 4 for their support and cooperation over the years, I enjoyed every part of it," Jordan said, indicating that he would possibly go back into oil field work.

Jordan said that people should look at the county on a whole not just their individual precincts. "If we improve one part, it helps the whole county," he said.

Adnell Odom and John Mooney Hicks, both of Spurger, have announced their intentions as candidates for Precinct 4 Commissioner.

Hicks and his wife, Jennie V., have two married daughters Linda Segrest and Lucy Puntes who also live in Tyler County with their families.

Hicks joins Adnell Odom on the list of candidates who have filed for the Precinct 4 commissioner's post which is currently held by James Robert Jordan.

Deadline for filing for either party's May 6 primary is Feb. 6.

Woodville voters will go to the polls on April 1 to choose a mayor and two councilmen.

Up for election will be the posts currently held by Mayor Terry Wats and councilmen Doug Tolbert and Dr. J.M. Radford.

Filing deadline for the April 1 election is March 1. There is no filing fee for the offices, because they are unclassified. Persons wishing to file should do so at the city office, 113 N. Charlton.

The two council positions are at large, so the two candidates who get the most votes will be elected.

All three incumbents are expected to run for re-election.

courtroom on the first floor of the courthouse in Woodville.

The Federal Highway administration has endorsed the social, economic and environmental assessment of the proposed improvements to U.S. 69 between Kountze and Zavala as a non-major action, according to H.P.R. Smith of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation office in Jasper.

The plan also provides for the replacement of the railroad underpass at Warren on an improved location. This improvement will require acquisition of right of way. Projects for widening and adding paved shoulders where necessary will be contracted as plans can be completed.

Bridges will be widened to provide a full crown-width clear roadway. These improvements will be undertaken in stages over the next five years.

A contract for widening the Cypress Creek bridge at Hillister was let this month. It is anticipated that a contract for replacing the Neches River Bridge at Rockland will be let early in 1979.

Drake Announces

For J.P. Pct. 4

Roy C. Drake, 32, of Spurger has officially announced his candidacy for re-election for justice of the peace, precinct 4, in the May 6 Democratic Primary election.

Drake, a native of Hardin County, is a resident of Spurger and has resided there since 1960. He is a graduate of Spurger High School and married to the former Kathryn Yents of Pasadena, Texas. They have three children and are active in church and civic affairs.

We were elected to this office in 1975 at which time we assumed full responsibility and made a total commitment to the citizens of this precinct," said Drake. "This office was all but inactive in the sense of its full capability of duties to the people. Since 1975 we have spent countless hours and finances to improve the function of this office as to better serve the people to its fullest extent, whether it be civil or criminal matter. We have made it a policy to serve the people twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week.

I feel that I am qualified for this office because of the experience we have acquired the past three years during which time we have handled all kinds of criminal and civil cases that J.P. courts handle including jury trials.

Also during the past three years, we have attended five seminars consisting of 120 hours sponsored by the Justice of the Peace Association and have attended the last two semesters of night courses sponsored by Angelina College, working toward a degree plan in Criminal Justice.

I have developed a deep interest in this office and realize the importance of local county government. We feel we are old enough to help and understand our senior citizens and young enough to communicate to our younger citizens," said Drake.

As of Tuesday, Drake was the only candidate who has filed for justice of the peace, Precinct 4.

Ramblin' Round Rockland

ALOHA FREELAND
Well, it's been quite a week...here in Rockland! Numerous visitors have come to visit during the spell of bad weather we had last week, but it's sufficient to say that it was some of the nicest people we hope it's ever for this year!

Congratulations and best wishes go to Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Jack Baxter of Beaumont who were married on January 18. Mrs. Baxter is the former Miss Betty Worthey, who was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jack Worthey.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Carter of Lufkin were last Thursday visitors with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carter.

We are glad to report that both Mrs. Brown and Marie Brooks are home from their recent stay in Beaumont hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Ellington and little son, Jesse of Waco, were weekend visitors to our community. Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Dickerson.

Our best wishes go with Cotton Williams who moved back to Dallas last week to return to his job after being here in Rockland for a year. We will certainly miss him!

Mr. and Mrs. M.H. Best

A special birthday congratulations to Bobby Allen who celebrated his 72nd birthday on Saturday, Jan. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pace were in Houston this past Monday on business.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Valine has had to return to a Houston hospital where he was recently staying.

And get well wishes are sent to all who have had a bout with the latest flu strain which seems to have reached epidemic proportions in our area. Get well soon everyone. I'm sure including Ben and Delores Reppend. Do get well soon!

Happy birthday to Mrs. Brown on the 28th, Lonette Brown on the 29th, Linda Marshall and Michelle Moffett on the 30th, Billy Ross on the 31st, and Danny Beaird on Feb. 1st.

Goodbye for this time and keep well and happy.

Home Demo Club Plans Interesting Programs

Programs of interest to all homemakers in Tyler County are part of 1978 plans made by members of the Tyler County Home Demonstration Club Program Committee.

A special effort was made this year in surveying club members to determine something of interest for each, no matter what the age or experience in homemaking.

As part of the Tyler County Home Demonstration clubs programs during 1978, the theme is "Family Life" which is a subject chosen from recommendations made by the statewide Texas Home Demonstration Association (THDA).

In relation to that study, the county clubs will help sponsor a countywide Marriage and Family Week in the fall.

In addition, during the year, special research projects will include such a variety of workshops as part of the 1978 programs. Workshops are held at 10 a.m. the first Friday of each month.

Also the agent herself will teach programs for club leaders who in turn will repeat the programs to their club members.

In addition, the agent will visit each club during the year to teach special programs concerning family planning, nutrition, fiber arts for the home, and marriage and family relations.

The County Family Living Committee and the Extension Homemaking Committee identified these as subjects of most concern.

Home Demonstration Club members are open to anyone interested regardless of race, color, or creed.

For more information, contact Mrs. Belinda Covington, County Extension Agent, at Box 217, Woodville, or phone 283-2482.

Grapefruit, Fryers, Eggs Are Good Buys Now

COLLEGE STATION—
Grapefruit, eggs and bacon are among this week's economical buys at Texas grocery markets according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clegg, extension information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University system is the source.

FRESH FRUITS—Besides grapefruit, oranges are also plentiful.

FRESH VEGETABLES—Summer squash, however, weather could change the picture overnight.

Thrifty selections include cabbage, carrots, potatoes, bulk turnips and sweet potatoes.

BEEF—Look for economical cuts on chuck cuts, round steaks, ground beef, rib steaks and beef liver.

PORK—Lower-priced ham will include Boston butt, shoulder, end chops, ham cuts cut into chops, rib and loin-end roasts, bacon and liver.

DAIRY—More economical prices may appear on these slices and loaves than in past weeks. Cottage cheese prices are also a bit lower. Other key items include milk, cream, sour cream, yogurt and variety of natural Cheddar cheeses.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES—Specials include meat, breads, cereals, soups and tomato products. Other features include past products, canned peaches and peanut butter.

CONSUMER WATCH WORDS—Quality grapefruit has several "signs": It is firm yet springy to the touch, heavy for its size, round, and has smooth-textured skin.

Protect Children From Electrical Hazards

COLLEGE STATION—
Practical electrical safety and protection often prevent electrical hazards, says Dr. Carolyn McKinney, a family resource management specialist.

Children under five years old are near the floor within easy reach of electrical outlets. Their natural curiosity leads them to explore many potential hazards in the home, she continues.

Dr. McKinney is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University system is the source.

Put plastic safety caps in unused electrical outlets to prevent children from sticking something into the outlet and being shocked, the specialist suggests.

Also, unplug appliances at the wall outlet rather than at the extension so children cannot have himself with the open ends of connected cords.

Remove as many potential hazards as possible from the plug-in areas.

Teach them that electrical toys are not toys and not to touch switches or appliances with wet hands.

And as a good example, practice electrical safety everyday in everyday, Dr. McKinney says.

Local Students Receive Degrees

HUNTSVILLE—Three Tyler County students received degrees from Sam Houston State University following the Fall, 1977, semester.

The students are:

Charles Patrick Murphy, a 1976 graduate of Charles High School, received a Bachelor of Business Administration in general business.

James Leon Whalen, of P.O. Box 124, Chester, received a Bachelor of Arts degree in fashion merchandising.

Sam Rutherford, in his second year of college service to Texas citizens, had a record Fall semester enrollment of 10,749 students.

Rotary Informational Institute

Approximately 90 Rotarians from throughout East Texas attended the District 591 Informational Institute at the Woodville United Methodist Church Saturday despite the snow and ice which covered the countryside. Hank Brunfield of Amite, La., was the featured speaker at the one-day institute. Also present were the incoming governor Glen Mattingly of Huntsville and the incoming district governor Stan Duitscher of LaMarque. Those attending the institute came from as far away as Galveston, Orange, Port Arthur, Nacogdoches, and Palestine. Fifteen other cities were also represented. Ironically, Jasper didn't make it. People keep mentioning my column. Most of the people say "I'm proud of you Debbie." So I would like to give most of the credit to the high school English teacher Mrs. Janie Dell. She is "great." When a teacher has little or nothing to work with, she does a good job; she is considered "good"; but when one teaches "Deb," makes improvements she's "great." Thank you, Mrs. Dell. Also, another teacher, Mrs. Linda, has given me new ideas; help me get new ideas; and thank you too, Mom.

Colmesneil News

By LOU ELLA MOSELEY

A Youth Revival will be in progress at First Baptist through the week, beginning Sunday, Jan. 28, and continuing through Saturday, Feb. 3.

Messages were brought by Allen Temple and Howard Doyle, leaders in the Sunday School.

Visiting with Mrs. Bye Met during the past week were her son, Deon of Port Arthur; her daughter, Mrs. and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Fondon of Dallas.

Spending the weekend with Gerald and Lois Atkinson and their children were from the sky weather in the few clumps of trees that have

Tommy, Stach, two sisters, and Mrs. Roy Minter of Texas City.

Mrs. Myrtis Givens returned from Beaumont Sunday, where she visited her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Givens.

Neighbors around Cherokee Church tell of seeing
