DETDA Hears 'Wilderness' Proposal

The Deep East Texas Development Association heard a report Friday from the United States Forest Service which used the DETDA monthly meeting to solicit input for the Roadless Area Review and Evaluation (RARE) of the Presidents proposed "Wilderness" area set of 1975.

According to John Courtney, of the U.S.F.S., this study called RARE II is actually the second attempt at seeking public comment when the Forest Service found that the first study in 1964 did not qualify Deep East Texas as a Wilderness area.

According to Courtney the act means that no power machinery including vehicles or chainsaws or the like will be permitted within the Wilderness area. Hunting will still be allowed. But no timber harvesting or private timber management will be allowed.

According to the Courtney there will be areas set aside for hiking and walking and for primitive camping, such as clearings but no permanent structures will be permitted he said.

Rich Lindell, another U.S.F.S. official who spoke to the DETDA members said "This is possibly the most extensive study the U.S.F.S. has ever undertaken."

Lindell said that the study will determine which, if any, federal forest land will be set aside as wilderness areas.

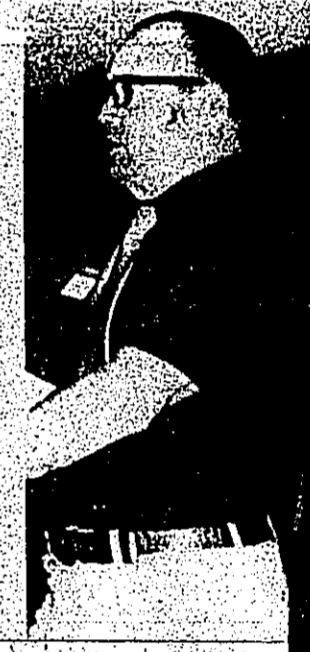

The review period, over the next 100 days, calls for interested persons to address the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John McGuire, chief of the U.S. Forest Service, Texas, P.O. Box 969, Lubbock, Texas, 79601. Only written comments will be accepted Courtney said.

Courtney said that Forest Service offices will be open Saturdays throughout July in order to accommodate the flow of public comment which U.S.F.S. officials say will be "massive."

The DETDA group was welcomed to Woodville by Mayor Terry Watts.

the boundaries of the areas under consideration and suggested 10 alternatives ranging from "no wilderness" to full allocation to wilderness of the 16 areas inventories.

Deadline for the public review is Oct. 1, 1978.

U.S.F.S. J. Courtney

Final recommendations will be made to the Forest Service in December with Congress to act on the suggestions as the only agency empowered by government to put the decision into effect.

With comments to be made part of a public record Courtney told the group to address their opinions on the project to National Forests in Texas, P.O. Box 969, Lubbock, Texas, 79601. Only written comments will be accepted Courtney said.

State Jail Commission Officer Bob Derring points out to County Sheriff Lewis Craven, one of the many safety corrections needed in the jail facility. Here, door stops are needed to prevent the heavy iron doors from crushing the jailors fingers should a prisoner suddenly kick the door open when the prisoner is being moved from the cell for some reason.

County Jail Report Good

The outlook for the county jail facility is good according to State Jail Commission officer Bob Derring who gave the facility another "close inspection" early Monday morning.

During his report to county commissioners, Derring told the officials that the county and the sheriff should be commended for the many improvements made in the jail since his last inspection three months ago. "I see lots of changes and improvements in jail and I am proud to see them," Derring said. "As long as the county is willing to try and improve jail conditions, the commission will be happy to work with you and make recommendations towards future improvements," he added.

Although the county received praise for work done, Derring cited many improvements that are still needed. One of the most important, he said, was the hiring of extra personnel to insure a jailer 24 hours a day. "You needed to hire them yesterday," Derring stated in response to a question asked by County Judge Allen Sturrock as to how soon the jail needed extra personnel.

Due to the low daily occupation of the jail, Derring said the county could apply for variances on some requirements, but some of the items that would definitely need to be corrected included a secured area designed to keep visitors from passing contraband to the prisoners, emergency operation of cell and jail doors, bigger fans for more efficient air flow and ventilation, security and or insect screens on all windows and three fire extinguishers.

Other corrections, but more easily done, will include the removal of 4 bunks to allow for proper floor space, lowering the bunk in the "drunk" cell to just 8 inches from the floor and door stops for all the swinging doors.

According to County Sheriff Lewis Craven, many of the items are already being taken care of.

Meals and medical care techniques were also discussed during the meeting, with the county meeting state requirements on both items.

Woodville Gallery Opens Friday

Formal ribbon cutting ceremonies marking the formal opening of the Woodville Gallery at 312 West Bluff in Woodville will take place this Friday June 30 at 10 a.m. with representatives from the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce and the City of Woodville present for the occasion. Miss Tyler County, Cindy Russell will cut the ribbon, opening the gallery in the presence of several regionally famous artists and guests. Placed there also for public viewing will be approximately one-half million dollars worth of art produced by various artists to spice the local event.

The construction of the facility which involved extensive remodeling which was accomplished by the Williams Construction Company, also to be housed in the Gallery building, along with the Hudson Farmers Insurance business, and the Woodville Travel Agency. The Travel Agency will be managed by Ester Carroll.

The ribbon cutting ceremony will act as a prelude to three days of public viewing of the art available within the Gallery. The public will qualify for three prizes as a result of a drawing to be held at 6 p.m. on Sunday for those who registered during their tour of the Gallery facility. The prizes which are in the form of gift certificates to the Gallery ranging from a $200 first prize, to a second prize of $100, to a third prize of $50.

According to Lewis Hudson, owner of the facility the gallery will offer custom framing plus a choice of over 600 pieces of art within the gallery including originals and artists signed and numbered prints.

Another feature which will occur during the weekend event will be the formal signing of Cut and Shoot Artist Carolyn Ruthstrom as the staff artist to the Woodville Gallery.

Artist Ruthstrom has already left her mark on Woodville by designing the emblem of an Eagle to be used for the new Woodville High School.

Other famous artists to be on hand for the occasion include Sonny Timme, from Victoria, well known wild-life artist and Birdie Gray of Nederland, along with Max Griner, who recently moved to Woodville from California.

Citizens Bank Closed Tuesday

Citizens State Bank of Woodville will be closed Tuesday, July 4. The Bank will be open during regular business hours Monday, July 3.

WELCOME BACK—Woodville Mayor Terry Watts and F.M. Poly Archer were on hand Tuesday to escort Democratic Candidate for Governor Attorney General John Hill to what Hill termed a "unity get-together." Hill said he wanted to make it known to the democrats and former Briscoe supporters in Tyler County that they welcomed and needed their support in the upcoming election. Hill and a party of five met with about two dozen influential Tyler Countians while here for the short visit.

Notes From An Oldtimer

By PHEBE ARMSTRONG

A picnic and watermelon feast on the banks of Turkey Creek! What better way to celebrate the glorious Fourth?

The Jay Kelley family were still newcomers, but they had already entrenched themselves in the life of the town. Miss Pate could be counted on to chaperone such an outing and Mr. Jay would let Jack use the delivery truck, painted red and white checkerboard to advertise the brand of feed they carried in their store, for transportation. Daughter Louise would keep everybody in a good humor.

A hen from somebody's barnyard would be the makings for chicken salad sandwiches; the boys would furnish the watermelons fresh from somebody's patch. So it was that plans were laid for the happiest Fourth of July any bunch of young people could be likely to know.

This was the 1920's when people still had considerable respect for their government. The men they elected to represent them in Austin and Washington sincerely tried to be statesmen then, unlike the arrogant, self-seeking twerps they so often send to those places now.

It was habit to take time out to mark the day when our fore-fathers had declared our independence. For a body had suggested that, in a few short decades, Americans would forge for themselves a joke of oppression far heavier than the one that had been thrown off at Valley Forge, he simply wouldn't have believed. (Today's taxes make the Stamp Tax look penny ante.)

It seemed a good idea that blistering noonday so long ago to put the hot watermelons in the creek to cool. It was a good idea until after lunch, while games were in progress the melons started floating away in the current of the creek. Up went the boys' pant legs in rolls above their knees and off came girls' shoes and stockings and everybody waded in to retrieve the melons. It took a good deal of splashing and bawling around pushing the melons back and forth before the picnickers and their quarry were all back on the sand bank. Admittedly, some clothes did get a little wet.

The sun quickly dried out the sodden garments and with a little straightening and ironing, nobody looked the worse. Parents didn't even notice any difference.

Another habit that was ingrained in young people of that day, was going to Sunday School and Church every Sunday. At Sunday School they learned Bible verses. The shortest ones such as "Jesus wept" and "God is love" were the most popular, but there were those who strived themselves to quote the Twenty-third Psalm. But these bits of knowledge all spoke of love and charity and peace and forgiveness.

When they went to church, however, a different one and a different preacher each Sunday in the month because none of the denominations had services every week it was as though the preachers had another kind of God in mind. At that time preachers were mostly of the shouting variety. They paced up and down the pulpit or pounded on the lectern ranting about the sulphurous flames of hell that were waiting to consume wicked souls.

It was only natural, therefore, that the younger crowd went to church early to be sure to get a back seat. It was easier there to tune out the preacher and concentrate on pleasant thoughts. Since whispering in church was strictly tabu, sometimes, to allay boredom and make the time pass faster, these young people would communicate by writing notes and passing them down the pew using a hymn book for cover.

And so it was on the Sunday following that wonderful Fourth, during one of these note-passings, we were startled by the familiar sound of our own names. We sat straight up to listen while the preacher read from a sheet of paper the name of every boy and girl who had been on that Fourth of July picnic!

Then he really poured it on.

Parents, down front, were shaking their heads either in disbelief or in dismay at the doom that preacher was outlining for their erring offspring.

His punch line was slow in coming. We waited. We looked at each other, questioning. What had we done? What was this heinous sin for which we were to suffer the torments of hell forevermore?

It was out at last. And would you believe it was "making bad names."

What would that preacher think if he could see the beach at Galveston this Fourth of July?

Alan Miller's T-WHEELER

Remember your high school courses in English Literature? If you were like most of us, poetical memorization was a substantial part of the diet.

One that still lies stored in my memory bank, and comes back occasionally, is Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "How Do I Love Thee?" and the opening line "How Do I Love Thee? Let Me Count the Ways."

Meaning no disrespect to Ms. Browning, I have a suspicion President Jimmy Carter, Secretary James Schlesinger, and Senator Henry Jackson are reminded of the same bit of poetry; only they have inserted gasoline in the opening stanza, so that it now reads "Gasoline. How Do I Love Thee? Let Me Count the Ways."

Carter, Schlesinger, and Jackson are bound and determined to break our love affair with the automobile, which of course would mean an entanglement with gasoline, as well.

We aren't going to try and find additional supplies anywhere. We are committed to dance to the Arab's song, so the only solution is to price gasoline out of the marketplace, or ration it to us, a gallon at a time.

The President seems to feel a tax at the wellhead is the answer. Of course that only means more billions of our dollars into the Federal Treasury to support programs that don't work, or create other programs that won't work.

Secretary Schlesinger believes we should do something with those billions of ration stamps we printed up years ago, and have stored in some cave in the Colorado Rockies. Only if the Arabs declare another embargo, you understand.

Senator Jackson, on the other hand, says the President is sitting in the Oval Office with a billy club, and if the Congress doesn't pass an energy bill pronto, he, the President, will put an import tax on crude coming from overseas. Money money for the Treasury, at no small cost to all of us.

So now, we're caught in the premise—gasoline, how do I love thee. Let me count the ways.

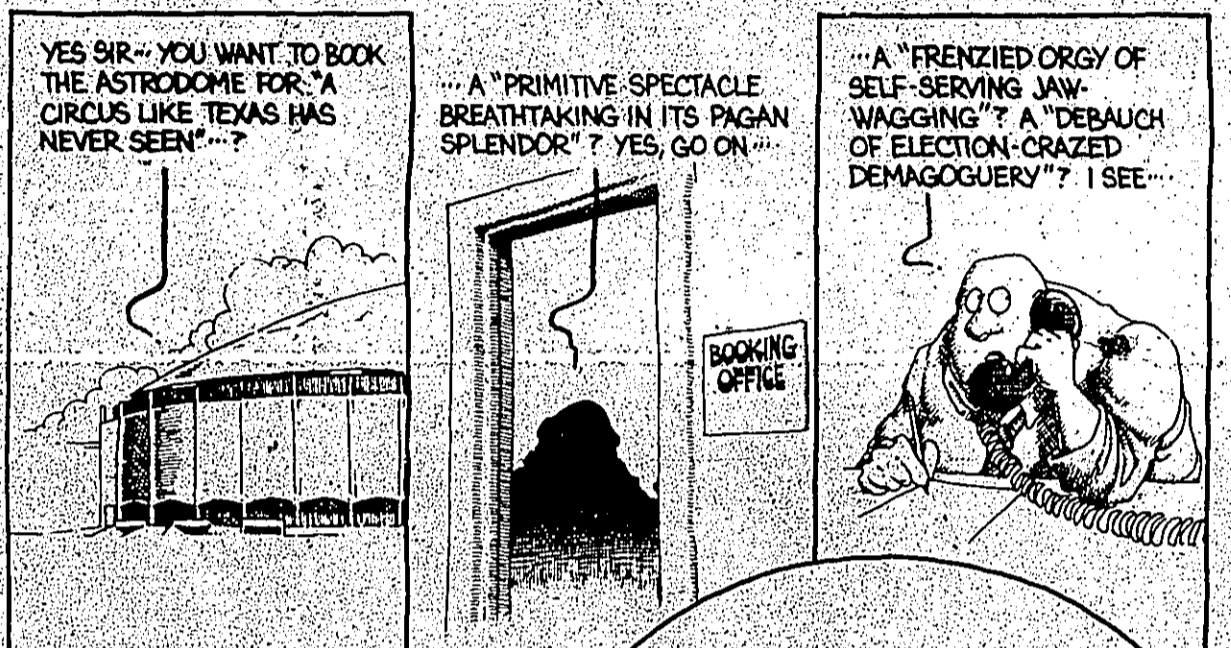

The Senate, an hour, speech time hasn't worked, except for the unwary with out of county plates, who get caught by an alert peace officer. Motor homes and pleasure boats are getting bigger all the time, and Detroit iron of the larger sizes, are all of a sudden a hot commodity in Europe, where we thought they all liked small cars.

Too many of us have tried to put six foot long bodies into compact to be misled, too believing that this is The Great American Dream.

In the meantime, we all sit here, waiting for the other shoe to drop.

Gasoline prices are going up, to our expense, but it would appear the Federal treasury is going to reap the bonanza. Our friends Jarvis and Gann out in California saw the mood taxpayers were in over skyrocketing property taxes. Can Carter, Schlesinger and Jackson expect a different reaction when we are confronted with a "penalty" tax on a commodity that through federal regulation has artificially kept prices at far below the world price.

Tating all of us to reach the world market price of gasoline, and inhibiting exploration doesn't seem to be the best of alternatives we might pursue.

'Bottom Line'

By Trish Browning

The Fourth of July means all of different things to many people. Some remember the joy of the day, with family and friends close at hand, but others will remember the little boy who lost his eyesight or the small girl who will never regain the use of her hand. Others still will remember their homes and all their worldly goods burning to the ground and the people of Tyler County especially remember the holiday that the Kirby High School was ablaze, completely ruining one part of the facility.

Most of the tragic accidents could have been prevented through the use of a little common sense. Each year millions of dollars worth of property and countless lives are lost from carelessness with fireworks.

Fireworks are fun and exciting to watch especially to small children, but they can be very dangerous. Never allow youngsters to play with or shoot fireworks. This dangerous activity on the Fourth of July past time should be done only under the supervision of a responsible adult.

According to the American Medical Society, the majority of fireworks victims are under the age of 15.

A few safety rules observed by those who plan to use fireworks could save lives and property during the upcoming holiday.

- Never allow children to ignite or hold the firecracker, bottle rockets or skyrockets.
- Don't throw fireworks at other people.
- Don't hold Roman Candles in your hand to fire them.
- Make sure that when the firecracker lands it is completely extinguished.
- Don't mix alcohol and fireworks.
- Never take for granted that the firecracker you have just fired correctly. Short fuses and poorly manufactured fireworks can be very serious injuries.
- Lighting firecrackers and placing them in closed containers may be fun but the containers could explode, shattering fragments of the container in all directions.
- Make this Fourth of July a happy and safe one by following a few rules and using good old fashioned sense.

Bentsen Against PCP

Washington, D.C. — Senator Lloyd Bentsen told a Senate hearing Wednesday that more than 300 people died and untold minds were warped beyond repair by the drug PCP during 1977.

"People die from PCP not so much by overdose but by jumping off buildings and bridges, down elevator shafts, or by drowning in one case in less than 2 inches of water in a shower."

"A typical example would be the case of a young man in Los Angeles who leaped from a second story window while under the influence of PCP."

"The influence of PCP, crashed through a window fence prior to striking the ground, got up, undressed, went back into the building and dove to his death from an upstairs balcony."

"While we have relatively reliable figures on the number of deaths attributable to PCP abuse, there is no firm evidence available on the number of minds warped beyond repair by this readily available, easily manufactured animal tranquilizer. But we do know that PCP is capable of inducing extreme, psychotic behavior in its users, Senator Bentsen said.

"The Bentsen bill seeks to reduce availability of the drug by requiring persons purchasing the chemical piperidine key ingredient of PCP to show positive identification."

Know Your Farm Bureau

Now that the President has signed the bill authorizing the shipment of two hundred million pounds of beef into the United States for the purpose of reducing the price of retail sales to the consumer, yet hamburger is less than two cents lower, but the price of live cattle and calves have DROPPED from 10 cents to 25 cents per pound.

Make this Fourth of July a happy and safe one by following a few rules and using good old fashioned sense.

The main disadvantage of renting is a financial one. As living costs rise so do rents. A lease may protect you temporarily, but when it expires, the landlord is free to increase the rent—even under rent control when justified. Rent payment cannot be deducted from income tax as the homeowner can deduct real estate taxes and interest on the mortgage payment.

The purpose of the tour, according to its director Don Sartell is to "carry to Europe baton twirling at its best." Those involved will give free clinics, pageant demonstrations, parades, and command performances before "European Dignitaries."

The first stop will be in Munich then on the Seefeld, Austria. In Vienna, the home of the most colorful composer of the 19th century Johann Strauss, the tour is giving a free exhibition. The lyric strains of the "Blue Danube" will be replaced by the beat of a different drum as the winners host a music festival before thousands in the Ringstrasse, the focal point of the city.

There will be shows in Padua and in the National Baton Twirling Association Twirling Festival. Other stops include Venice, Nice and Paris. With enough countries involved in baton twirling soon see the sport as part of the olympic competition in the future. Dolores Brunet will travel with Deborah as her chaperone. They will fly from Houston to Chicago on June 30. The group leaves Chicago by Capital International Airways Jet for the overnight Trans-Atlantic flight.

Buying VS Renting

To buy or to rent is the question. Both have their place. First, renting can be the answer for families who know they'll only be in the area for a short time or who prefer not to contend with maintenance. It's also the only solution for anyone with insufficient funds for the down payment on a home.

Your best buffer against inflation is to own your own home. You'll also be pleasantly surprised to find it also is one of the best financial investments you ever made. Your payments will remain level while your resale value, especially in this area will continue to rise.

Paints For Homeowners

HOUSE PAINTS THAT WEATHER THE WEATHER
If you are planning to paint your home exterior this year, consider these basic guidelines from William S. Rosenblatt, technical marketing manager for PPG Industries' Coatings and Resins Division, maker of Pittsburgh Paints. His major concern has been to provide homeowners with weather-resistant paint.

If you live in the storm, snowbelt, or quick-change weather regions, be certain that you choose a house paint that has maximum flexibility and breathing character. Use a paint that will endure harsh exposure such as Sun-Proof house paints, either latex or oil base. For exterior siding and trim, choose a paint that is resistant to mold and mildew. Check all house surfaces for any signs of blistering, peeling or flaking. It may be necessary to use a primer before painting. Or it may be necessary to use a primer from the same manufacturer as the paint you are using. If you are painting over a previous coat of paint, be sure to use a primer that is compatible with the new paint.

Umpires Here Work For 'Free'

By DON WOOD
The life of an umpire, sometimes a "hard one" but Norman Turner, a resident of Woodville says, "I like it."

He started out playing sports in high school where he received his basic background in college he didn't participate in any sports.

When he was asked how he got involved in officiating, Turner said, "I sort of got dragged into it. When I was coaching junior varsity football they needed a referee, sometimes I volunteered, since there was no one else to do it."

Although this is the first year that he has been affiliated with the SBPA he has been umpiring informally for 5 or 6 years. A SBPA chapter has just started here in Woodville and it has 12 or 13 members. "This is the first year that I have really gotten into baseball umpiring," he says, "and I'm really enjoying it."

To become an umpire he had to take a course in officiating at Saint-Houston State University and to become part of the SBPA he had to take and pass a test. He has also taken sometimes the coaches think they are professionals, and they try to act like most professional coaches do."

He has been nominated to umpire at the District and Regional "playoffs," but he doesn't know if it'll make it. It would depend on where and when it was, he said.

The life of an umpire is a hard one, but it would seem like Norman Turner gets a quiet satisfaction out of watching young boys grow up into men; that end up having a sense of sportsmanship and can also accept the responsibilities of playing baseball as well as the game of life.

Sun Rays Can Be Harmful To Skin

We have become a nation of sun worshippers. Regardless of the season, we go where the sun is to sit, swim, play tennis, boat, golf, garden, hike, fish or simply stretch out in its warmth. It certainly is a healthy habit. Many people think a sunbather makes them look more attractive. It certainly is the fashion today to have a tan, but it wasn't always so. Fifty years ago, sunbathers were fair-skinned people.

Some people think soaking up the sun makes them healthy. In general, this is true, according to the Texas Department of Health. State health officials say the benefits of the sun are mostly psychological and are heavily outweighed by the dangers.

Almost all of the 30,000 cases of skin cancer reported by Americans each year are considered to be sun-related. Fortunately, if you are one of the most skin cancer victims, you can catch it early, before it is too late to do anything about it. Skin cancer is a disease that does not heal a change in size or color of a wart or mole, or the development of any unusual pigmented area.

There is a rare form of skin cancer called melanoma, which accounts for most of the nation's skin cancer deaths each year. Even though it is not primarily sun-related, the warning signs are the same as for sun-related skin cancers. So, it is very important to see your doctor if you see any of the warning signs.

What is the best method to protect your skin from the dangers of the sun? The best answer to that really sounds too simple to say: Stay in the shade as much as possible. If you can't do that, then the next best thing would be to wear a hat, sunglasses, and a long-sleeved shirt and long pants. If you are outdoors, use a suntan lotion. If you are indoors, use a suntan lotion.

Some people run a greater risk from the sun than others. Blacks are relatively safe because their pigment provides good protection from ultraviolet rays. Asians, whites, those with olive-toned skin usually tan quite easily. It is those with the fairest skin, notably blonds or those with red hair, who usually don't tan well. These are the people who should take special precautions.

Despite the possible damage to their skin, most people are unwilling to give up their sun-centered lifestyles. If you are one of these, learn to sun safely.

Sun before 10 a.m. and after 3 p.m., when the ultraviolet rays are the weakest. If this is too restrictive, lie out a maximum of 15 minutes during the danger hours.

What about the multitude of suntan lotions and other preparations available to protect your skin? They are not all created equal. Some are good, some are bad. Some contain chemicals called sunscreens that absorb the ultraviolet rays. Some contain chemicals called sunscreens that reflect the rays.

ment often used by lifeguards. Here are some additional tips:

It is true that sunbathing is a source of vitamin D. But it is also true that you get all the vitamin D you need in a well-balanced diet.

Altitude plays a role. The sun is more intense at high altitudes. The sun is more intense on mountainsides than on flatland.

You aren't fully protected in the shade of a beach umbrella, and tug-of-war just as children do today.

Children in ancient Rome played hopscotch, blind man's bluff, and tug-of-war just as children do today.

The sun can, in some cases, help certain skin disorders like acne, eczema, and psoriasis, but check with your local doctor before trying the sun as treatment for your skin problem.

Solar Energy Potential Celebrated on "Sun Day"

On hot July days, the sun's power is hard to ignore. And sunlight falling on earth, scientists say, could provide 100,000 times the total energy now provided by all existing power stations.

This spring, "Sun Day" celebrated the future of solar power. And hundreds of groups across the country, including many long associations joined in the celebration. The president of the solar company in Los Angeles drove his sunpowered Chevrolet across the country to the Washington Monument, which had been converted for the day into a massive sundial. The car ran on hydrogen fuel pumped by solar power. Water was the only element spewing out the exhaust pipe. If every car in the country used solar power, our energy bill and polluted skies would clear up fast.

Solar devices in homes are becoming widespread, and the Carter administration has set a target of 2.5 million solar-heated homes by 1985. Some manufacturers say that figures will be three times higher. There are already two million homes and buildings in Japan with solar devices, and one-fifth of all homes in Israel—200,000—use solar heating. American companies are one of the move in other areas, too. One major company recently developed a tank that uses common salt to store heat collected by solar panels. The company is also working on advanced vacuum-tube roof-top solar collectors that double the efficiency of such heating systems and cut costs in half. There are now solar-powered calculators and solar-run furnaces. One beer company is also using solar heating to pasteurize its product.

Most solar systems now in use are designed to warm the air, but some about to be marketed can humidify, ventilate—and also cool—the air.

A money market certificate is a short-term, high-yield investment for savers—much like 6-month Treasury Bills. Certificates mature in six months and a $10,000 minimum deposit earns 7/4% higher interest than the average weekly auction rate for 6-month Treasury Bills. In other words, you can purchase a Treasury Bill and earn the going rate, or you can purchase a JASPER FEDERAL Money Market Certificate and earn 7/4% more. # Protect Against Accidental Drowning

Swimming is one of the 8,000 American drownings that makes summer so much fun. But every year, according to Dr. Beaght, Wetmore, aquatic director at Boston University, 95 percent of those who drown could survive, if they knew a simple technique called downproofing. Downproofing is a kind of the water the person can reach forward with the arms, and give a kick. This will move them into a horizontal position; then they can sweep their arms back to the side and glide in this position. To rest, the person can keep resorting to more downproofing.

There are a few people who have great difficulty floating in any direction—vertical or horizontal. And for them, experts recommend the travel stroke.

Lungs are for life. And to find out more about how they help you survive in all kinds of situations, contact your local American Lung Association—you take. All year long.

Tips On Mosquito Control At Home

Mosquitoes have a way of finding us as uninvited guests at picnics and back-yard cookouts. For instance, if you don't have to let mosquitoes take all the fun out of your summer fun, there are some measures you can take to ward off their bites. Says the Texas Department of Health Research, an experienced expert in insecticides.

Beautiful and frequent spring rains throughout most of Texas have left the state high for mosquito infestations in practically all areas. Perhaps you've already seen and had evidence of a mosquito which in your own yards, or in a camping or picnic area.

It only takes a little standing water and some adult mosquitoes to bring on the pain, discomfort, aggravation and sometimes disease from the pesky insects.

Water in which to pass their early life stages is a necessity for mosquitoes. Adult flying mosquitoes frequently rest in grass, shrubbery or other foliage but they don't develop there. In walking through such areas you can run into a swarm of them, leading you to believe they hatch out there.

Some mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water where they hatch in a day or two. Other mosquitoes lay their eggs in old tires, tin cans, or other water-holding containers in which they may remain unhatched for weeks or months until they are covered with water.

With both types of mosquitoes, the eggs and larvae grow quickly and turn into pupae or pupas. Soon the skin of the tumbler splits open and out climbs another hungry mosquito-looking for you as its victim.

In addition to being pests, says the Texas Department of Health Research, "General Sanitation Division, mosquitoes can spread disease. Such diseases as encephalitis, yellow fever, dengue, fever, and malaria are common diseases spread by the flying insect. They are major health problems in other parts of the world."

One of the latest epidemics of mosquito-borne diseases in Texas was Venezuelan Equine Encephalitis (VEE) which struck the state in 1971 after entering through Mexico. The disease hit many people, mostly in the Rio Grande Valley and made heavy lands into the half-million horse population.

While mosquitoes are a threat to health and bodily comfort, there is something that you as an individual can do to ease the situation, and lessen the job of local and regional health organizations and mosquito control units.

These could be called the Ten Commandments of Home Mosquito Control. They are:

1. Empty, remove, cover or turn upside down any receptacle that will hold water, particularly old bottles and tin cans.
2. Change water and scrub water holding flowers or cuttings twice each week or grow cuttings in sand.
3. Discard old tires or store them indoors.
4. Screen rain barrels and openings to water tanks or cisterns.
5. Repair leaky plumbing and outside faucets. They may cause standing water in which mosquitoes can hatch.
6. Connect open waste water drains to a sewage system, or construct separate sump or catch lines.
7. Clean clogged roof gutters and drain flat roofs.
8. Fill holes in drains with sand or mortar, or drain or spray them, as required.
9. Stack ornamental ponds with mosquito-eating fish.
10. Clean and drain evaporative coolers frequently.

These tips will help you prevent mosquitoes from reproducing. Your health department may have summer spraying programs to old infested areas of the insect. You can keep your window screens in good shape across fireplaces and other openings and also kill all mosquitoes inside your residence with proper insecticide.

When you're going into areas where mosquitoes may be prevalent, there are several repellents on the market which can be used on your skin. You can also use clothing that may also protect you from chiggers and ticks.

Jelly & Jam Good Eating

COLLEGE STATION—Use rose petals, mahawa, cacti or pomegranate berries to make unique jellies—add variety to Summer meals.

Texas, with their affinity for making jelly out of any and every thing, may want to try one of the following recipes, suggests Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service—The Texas A&M University System.

HYACINTH JELLY
2 cups pomegranate juice
2 cups sugar

Using about one-third ripe berries, place equal parts of washed fruit and water in a non-metal container. Let stand overnight.

Boil for five minutes. Then, mash, strain and squeeze to remove juice.

If fruit is very ripe, use commercial pectin.

Place juice over heat and let come to boil. Add sugar and boil about five minutes until it gives the sheet test.

Remove from heat, skim off foam and pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

ROSE PETAL JAM
18 pink or red scented roses
4 lemons
3 pounds sugar
2 cups water

Put sugar and water in a pan and boil gently for one-half hour to make a syrup.

Gather roses. Pull petals off roses and cut off all white at their bases. This part of the petals is bitter.

Put petals in a pan and pour one cup boiling water over them, keeping them pressed down with a wooden spoon.

When petals are thoroughly wet, pour both water and petals into the syrup. Stir mixture constantly.

Let boil one-half hour. When petals, become transparent and tender, add juice of four strained lemons or one-half teaspoon citric acid crystals.

Put jam for 10 or 15 minutes more and pour into sterilized jars and seal.

CACTUS JELLY
2 quarts cactus juice
2 cups lemon juice
3 boxes powdered pectin
5 pounds sugar

To make cactus juice, gather tunas and slice apices over gas flame with a two inch fork. Scrub with a stiff brush in cold water.

Use three cups water to 30 tunas. Cut tunas in half and add the three cups of water, and cook in a pressure cooker for 15 minutes.

Strain juice through white cloth.

Mix together cactus juice, lemon juice and pectin. Bring to a boil.

Add sugar. Bring to rolling boil for one to three minutes or until it slips off the spoon.

Pour into hot sterilized jars or glasses and seal.

MARAW JAM
1 gallon mahawa
1 cup water

2/3 to 3/4 cup sugar to each pound of fruit.

Wash fruit and remove stems. Add water to fruit. Crush and heat to simmer. Add sugar and cook until jam remains in a heap when piled on a plate. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal.

Reverend Eugene Dickey, minister of the First Emmanuel Baptist Church in Lumberton, will bring the special sermon. He has been an ordained Baptist minister for 50 years and is a graduate of East Texas Baptist College in Marshall, Texas. In his youth he was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Warren and has also pastored at Village Mills, Kountze and Sibley. Rev. Dickey was pastor of the Highland Baptist Church in Beaumont for 31 years.

Everyone is invited to attend the homecoming and share a day of fellowship and fun.

Sonny Timme

Sonny Timme will be at Woodville Gallery Friday, June 30 from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. to autograph and to participate in the grand opening and ribbon cutting ceremonies.

This young man's reputation as a wildlife artist grows with each new canvas that comes from his easel. He is a capable artist in many media including pencil and acrylic but he chooses to join the very few artists who paint wildlife and waterfowl in oils. His paintings have won numerous first place and best of show awards. In 1974 and 1975 his paintings won a best of show at the Midwest National Wildlife Art Show in Kansas City, Mo. Sonny is a charter member of the Texas Association of Professional Artists.

He spends hours observing the actions of his subjects in their habitat in order to capture that one movement that produces a painting. It is this love for nature and wildlife that has led him to become a sponsor member of Ducks Unlimited, trying to assure that our waterfowl will be here for generations to come.

His paintings are sold and collected nationally, and his reputation grows for fine still life, landscape and wildlife paintings.

Carolyn Ruthstrom

Carolyn Ruthstrom, staff artist for Woodville Gallery will be present for the grand opening and ribbon cutting ceremonies: Friday, June 30 at 10 a.m. She will be autographing brochures Saturday, July 1 from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. and Sunday July 2 from 2 until 6 p.m.

On long afternoons in childhood, Carolyn spent hours sketching people, trees, flowers and animals, guiding her crayons and fat pencils into lines that either looked right or looked interesting. Those sketching sessions continued through growing-up years, marriage, and motherhood. It was only six years ago, however, in 1972, that she decided to discipline her talent, to study under professionals. She called it her "hobby" at the time. Quickly, it became something more. Within six months she was a teacher herself, instructing beginners in painting. And awards began coming. "Best of Show" honors came in 1974 at the Lone Star State Convention in Conroe; the painting was a floral titled "Wisteria". Two years later, her portrait of actor John Wayne won First Place. In the same year, at the Cold Coast Fine Arts Association competition, her drawing "Tribulations" captured the First Place Award.

Burl Ives, will play the Swiss grandpa of the gruff exterior and warm heart in a new production of "Heidi," being readied as an NBC special by Pierre Cossette. . . . David Frost rates a couple of cheers for signing the real Kelly Garrett to sing up a storm each week on his summer series. Meanwhile, Jaclyn Smith — who plays the fictional Kelly Garrett in "Charlie's Angels" during the winter season — has been spending her hiatus from the show starring in a made-for-TV movie (set for ABC in September) based on Joyce Haber's novel, "The Users," all about the Hollywood you love to hate.

Telly Savalas is reported miffed at, but not crushed by, the cancellation of his "Kojak" series. You see he's not so miffed that he isn't continuing to do business with CBS . . . and they have another potential series for him now being developed for a trial run as a TV movie. Telly's cast as big league gambler in the new opus.

Bill Bixby is telling folks that his instinct tells him his new series, "The Hulk," is going to be renewed. And early Nielsen ratings seem to back him up. CBS slated the far out sci-fi show opposite James Garner's popular "Rockford Files."

Dear Sirs:

I just wanted to drop you a short note to thank you for the fine work your cablevision crew did when they hooked up my television to your excellent cablevision service.

I was most impressed with the courteous manners of the servicemen who did the work and with the time they took to explain their service to me.

My television gives a better picture now than it ever did before and there's so much more to see!

It sure is nice having a nice group of folks like you in Woodville.

Very Thanks,
