Sitton Joins 'Booster' Staff

It is a big jump going from a newspaper where there are over 1000 employees to one where there are only six or seven, but Diane Sitton, new advertising representative at the Tyler County Booster, feels she can make it.

New Ad Rep. Diane Sitton

Sitton, 37, worked for seven years at the Houston Post. She was married in April, and in July she and her husband moved to Tyler County leaving the hustle of the big city behind.

A native of Homestead, Fla., she moved to Houston after graduating from the University of South Florida in Tampa. She initially worked in the advertising department at Occidental Chemical, but after a massive layoff there, she walked across the parking lot to the Post and got a job in the promotion department.

"While there, she worked on a variety of jobs. She edited a four page monthly publication that was sent to retailers in Houston explaining marketing trends, marketing tips, and an interview with a leading and successful retailer."

She also was a coordinator of special events for promotion and public relations. "I was involved in promoting the Post to the public," she said. "I had to put together complete promotions. That included coordinating the event itself, designing the advertising campaign for the paper itself and implementing the ad campaign."

This included organizing all details from getting the halls set up to coordinating the stage shows, she said. She comes to the Booster after her experience at the Post, knowing things will be different. "I realize there won't be 14 staff artists to draw up any ideas I have, but I enjoy working putting together ads," she said.

John Morrison, publisher of the Booster, said, "Diane Sitton will bring a lot of professionalism to the advertising department of the Tyler County Booster. She will do it well into the retail marketplace in a way that will supply a needed innovative advertising service to all those who are in business here in Tyler County."

"The adjustment from a giant organization like the Post to a smaller area like Tyler County may be as disconcerting as moving from Woodville to Houston, but Diane Sitton comes well prepared for the move," Morrison added.

Alford, upon retirement in 1963, said that he wasn't going to be satisfied to loaf and he set out to find a "hobby for profit". He began investing money in stocks and bonds and said he wanted something to even-up anyway.

Life is primarily a mental attitude he chides. "Alford's life, with its 8-year-early-start near Warren, tacked on the next 40 years doing sawmill front office accounting work in the vicinity of the cities of Newlin, DeRidder and Singer in Louisiana.

At one time he served as a "soda jerk" in the sawmill town's confection store in Carson, La. He married in 1918 to Lucile Vivian Hatcher, who said he was the best looking tall handsome man in town and saw him first one day at the post office, at Camp Riley, where Alford came to replace the book-keeper who had been drafted for World War I. Mr. and Mrs. Alford just celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on August 4.

Alford has worked in accounting and book-keeping capacities for wood preserving companies in the cities of Shreveport, Bon Ami and DeRidder. His subsequent return to Tyler County and his acceptance by the people of Tyler County and his return investment in his community is an achievement unmatched so far in Tyler Chamber of Commerce circles.

Early Voter

FORMER COUNTY JUDGE-E.D. Walker, a former office holder in Tyler County is caught early Tuesday morning casting his ballot in Precinct 1 at the courthouse in the election which saw sparse attendance by the registered voters in Tyler County. The polls closed at 7 p.m. with little more than 50 percent of the registered electorate exercising their right to vote.

Stamps Easier To Get

Beginning December 1, there will no longer be a cash-outlay required of food stamp recipients.

The change, according to Texas Department of Human Resources Chief of Financial Services M.J. Raymond, is intended to help poor people who cannot accumulate enough cash to buy all the food stamps they need for a month's worth of food.

The existing system requires food stamp users to buy their month's allotment of stamps all at once, or at most, twice a month.

"Accumulating enough cash to pay their rent and utilities, and still have enough left over to buy food stamps, is simply more than many people can handle," Raymond explained.

"The change allows people to get food stamps without investing any cash," he said, "and this should make the program more accessible."

Formerly, food stamp users paid a certain amount of money, determined by income and the number of people in the household, and received an extra amount of food stamps over and above the amount paid. This was called the "bonus" amount of stamps.

Under the new system, recipients will be mailed monthly an Authorization to Participate (ATP) card which they will exchange for the bonus amount of stamps only. This means that in order to have the same amount of food and the same level of nutrition, the food stamp user will have to spend some of his money at the grocery store.

Additional food stamp changes designed to make the program more accessible to people are to be implemented by the Texas Department of Human Resources in March 1979.

Persons interested in more information on the food stamp program are invited to call their local Department of Human Resources Food Stamp Office.

Oates Reelected

Elmer Ray Oates of Woodville was recently reelected to the Long Leaf Soil and Water board of directors Oct. 5th. Oates represents Zone 5 of the district.

The purpose of the Long Leaf SWCD with headquarters in Woodville is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farm and ranch lands within the district and to serve as a voice for farmers and ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting private property rights of landowners.

The board of directors coordinates the conservation efforts of various local, state and federal agencies and other organizations and has authority to enter into working agreements with these governmental agencies and private concerns to carry out its purposes. As one of five individuals serving on the district board of directors, Oates will be responsible for district policies and procedures for carrying out the district program within the framework of the Texas soil conservation district law.

Major Alford 'Citizen Achiever'

The Tyler County Booster November Citizen Achiever of the Month Award belongs to Major Fitzhugh Alford of Woodville, a long-time Chamber of Commerce supporter and motivational force that many folks feel makes him singlehandedly responsible for the Tyler County Chamber's ultimate existence today.

Alford, who is 80 year old, says that his greatest joy is to watch the young newcomers arrive in Tyler County and pick up hopes and dreams initiated many years ago.

"The beautiful part is when they become involved and begin percolating together about the economic business of a community that's trying to work together for a common cause."

Alford has tried to focus the community eye on what he calls "The passing parade of tourists."

You begin to realize that you're not talking to a mass meeting, but you are talking to a passing parade that you constantly have to tell your story over and over again. Tyler County has more than most counties," Alford said, and "We seem to have something here in our lakes and trees that most people seem to be interested in."

Tourist development is our most important commodity and Alford has spent much of his own time and money traveling around regional East Texas and the rest of the state delivering the attributes of Woodville and Tyler County.

"Some folks think we've got to mushroom," he says, "but what we really need is steady growth." Alford is an advocate of solid industrial economic development and has worked diligently through out the years to accomplish that.

Alford, who retired on August 31, 1963, in Joplin, Mo. from the International paper company set his sights on the sun belt when his wife said she was getting tired of the snow and wanted to go south.

Alford said he and Lorraine traveled throughout Texas and came back to visit Woodville three times, because "The people were so friendly."

Alford was born 7-miles east of Warren in 1898 in Tyler County, stayed in Tyler only 8 years when his parents picked up and moved to the sawmill town of Newlin, La. in 1906.

"We didn't come back to Tyler County because I had lived here in my youth for a short while, but we came back because we liked what we saw."

Alford says the home they live in now, at 708 North Beach was very much in the Woods when they moved here.

He said that he was amazed at the number of people who asked sensible questions and made you feel like you were wanted.

Alford says he has always felt "Like I was a new-ol-dimer not a newcomer," and in this philosophy, he feels the hopes for the future of Tyler County is in identifying "New-ol-dimer" retirees with as a great source of energy and ideas.

For November

Notes From An Oldtimer

BY PHEBE ARMSTRONG

It was the seventh day of November, 1918, when Papa and I set out for the woods to find a tree that had fallen or one that needed cutting that could be sawed up for firewood. The going was slow since I was riding on the horse's rump behind Papa in the saddle. We had ridden a good way out of town, however, when we heard church bells clanging like mad and guns shooting from every direction. The War was over! The Great War, the one to make the world safe for democracy, was over!

Hurriedly Papa turned the horse's head back toward home. We rode as fast as we could but, by the time we got to town, the bells had stopped ringing and the guns were silent. A solemn hush hung over our town. There was no joy, only sadness clouded the faces we met. It was a mistake. The War was not over. There was no armistice.

Sorrowfully the women went back to making bandages and knitting socks. Back young girls went to the mufflers they were knitting out of drab khaki yarn. Still younger girls had to keep on trying to knit wash cloths though the boys at the front likely never received any finished product from their hands. But the war effort had to go on.

Four bleak days passed and not a word about a cessation of hostilities. On the morning of November 11, Papa said winter was about on us and the dang war never would end, but we had to have firewood. Once again we set out to find the trees. We were well into the woods this time when the noise back in town began. The bell ringing and gun shooting were like faint echoes of the other time. But Papa was adamant. No more trying around. Waste another day for another phony armistice? Nostalgic!

We rode deeper into the woods and heard no more. By the time we got back to town that evening, the excitement had simmered down, but folks told us there had been a wild time in Woodville that day. There was dancing in the street - not real dancing, just joy dancing. People were hugging and kissing each other, laughing and crying at the same time. The war really was over. Now, at last, our boys wouldn't have to shoot any more and most of them would be coming home.

Some of the Woodville boys like Roy Pace, Ray Pope, Masio McBride, Ernest Pedigo, Sam Wright, and the Freeman boy would make it back in pretty good shape. Allen Faves would get back but without one arm and Andrew Reid's son, Sam, was badly wounded. Roy Pace's brother Bobby, wouldn't come back at all. Bobby was killed in Europe. Esca Walker's brother died at Camp Bowie.

Larry McAlister seemed to be all right. He came back to marry the girl he loved, but he went to an early grave and some folks thought that might have been caused by exposure to poison gas.

Among the boys from the surrounding area who would come home were E.M. Pitts, Milton (Big Boy) Griffith, Esca Sermons, Hayman Duncan, Bill McGraw's boy from Fred, Henry Roberts, a Pontecosi boy from Egypt, and Grady Wigley. Matthew Blackmon's son from Emilie died overseas. Otto Weeks of Rockland died at Camp Travis.

Oh, there was jubilation and mourning in the old town that day! And questions unanswered: Did they make the world safe for democracy? and "Where do we go from here?"

Glorry be! How I wish I could have been there! Drot that firewood!

HEY THERE SONNY!
SURE HOPE YOU'LL
VOTE T'HELP OUT
US POOR OLD FOLKS!

A major, bipartisan effort to halt the sale or transfer of American technology to communist nations has been launched in Congress. It's an effort that is long overdue.

U.S. Rep. Clarence Miller of Ohio has introduced a bill, HR 14081, to ban the sale of any goods or technology to communist nations. Miller's bill has potential military law enforcement, or intelligence gathering value for the Soviets and other communist states.

Congressman Miller and the co-sponsors of HR 14081 deserve the thanks of the American people for introducing this legislation. Since the beginning of the so-called detente era, the Soviets have been acquiring sophisticated American technology which has enhanced their war-making capabilities.

In 1972, the State Department approved an export to the USSR 164 Centrifuge Precision grinding machines manufactured by the Bryant Chucking Grinder Co. of Springfield, Vt. These were used in the production of precision miniature ball bearings in advanced nuclear warheads. According to Rep. Miller, the ball bearings enabled the Soviet missiles to rapidly change direction in flight and to achieve greater on-target accuracy.

One wonders: how stupid can the American people be to permit such sales of military technology? Yet the stupidity continues.

Only recently, President Carter allowed the sale of a $144 million plant for making oil drill bits. This sale will speed development of the Soviet Union's Siberian oil and gas fields, thereby augmenting the national power of the USSR.

Ample supplies of petroleum are especially important to the Soviets as the principal ground striking forces consist of tank armies equipped with more than 50,000 tanks. While Mr. Carter proposes increased assistance to NATO, his green light on the oil drill bits assures large fuel reserves for the huge Soviet combat formations in Europe. There is plenty of blame to go around. Presidents Nixon, Ford and Carter all have allowed or encouraged the transfer of strategic technology to the Soviets in the name of detente.

The Miller bill would give Congress a means of preventing the Soviets from upgrading their military capabilities through the use of American technology. Under terms of the bill, Congress would be allowed to veto any technology transfer after it is notified by the President of the proposed export to a communist country and after the Defense Department gives Congress a military impact statement on the technology.

The congressional veto would consist of a simple majority approval or disapproval by either House of Congress. This legislation is wisely directed at all communist countries, not simple the Soviet Union.

Pressures are growing for the sale or transfer of U.S. military technology to Communist China. One sale of advanced mapping equipment already has been made. Peking's receipt of the impact of the transfer of

There would appear, from an outsider looking in, to be something pretty ominous in the abrupt resignation of Texas A & M football coach Emory Bellard.

As most of us, I only know of the situation from what the newspapers report, but forcing Bellard's resignation, midway through the season, could invite a much more uncertain future for Aggie football.

If we let the record speak for itself, Bellard would have seemed to have pulled together a stunning football program at A & M in the six years he was head coach. Certainly the Aggies played some flattering football. There must be a flock of coaches across the country who would love to carry home a ten and two season, trying to post-season bowl games, a wealth of talent, and all the accolades that go with big time football.

Again, if we go by what we read, it was Bellard's not getting to the Cotton Bowl that set off the Aggie slump. But still, if the most of the alumni people were after his scalp, why in mid-season?

Most of us recognize the impressive power of a fired up alumni organization, especially when it comes to football, or I suppose more appropriately football coaches.

But I wonder if they realize recruiting a new coach at A & M may prove a little difficult. How many would-be coaches to replace a coach with a 48-27 record, and a team in the top twenty for most of the years he was at the helm.

Maybe the Aggies are just following the same destiny that has befallen the Boston Red Sox all these years. The Aggies would be a powerhouse in the South-west Conference if it weren't for Texas, and occasionally Arkansas and Houston. I'm sympathetic to the situation, having the Yankees to contend with all these years.

In passing, I hope Emory Bellard doesn't give up football, or certainly athletics. If he doesn't like the pressure of college coaching, there must be any number of professional teams that would welcome his talent for innovation. After all, his wishbone-option changed the complexion of offensive football for years. To the extent that Oklahoma and Alabama still swear by it, Emory, you were good for football, and your A & M teams were a credit to the game. And if you know what a frenzied Razorback fan I am, you will recognize that remark as the sincerest of compliments.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

ASSTIN - The State Capitol building, built by a coalition of Democrats and Unionists says Texas institutions of higher education may slow their expansion and emphasize quality.

In a 142 page report the board said no more new public colleges or universities should be established; and that some existing public grants are due a critical look.

Substantial support will have to be obtained and perhaps even increased for colleges and universities already in operation.

high quality is to be maintained. The study concluded:

Enrollment increased less than one per cent in both public and private institutions last year and will increase only 1.69 per cent in the next 10 years, according to the report.

Student expenses at public colleges increased from $1,972 five years ago to $2,924 today.

State funds going to higher education increased 354 per cent from $636 million to $2.3 billion in a decade.

The board further recommended:

Q. Couldn't the federal government quietly bring an end to inflation simply by balancing the budget and eliminating the deficit?

A. Yes, how it would pay in human terms must be considered. The government would mean throwing millions of people out of work, yet the gains in reducing inflation would not be great unless the recession continued for several years.

Q. Many say that mandatory wage and price controls are the solution to the problem of inflation. Is that true?

A. Again, it's not that simple. Wage and price increases would have to be strictly regulated and the federal government would have to solve the problem of inflation without the contribution of everyone.

A. The standard applies to the average of all the company's prices. Thus, price increases for individual products in product lines may exceed 7%. As long as they are offset by lower rates of increases in other product lines.

Q. Suppose you have a company that produces everything from bread to nutmeg. Does it have to average the price of these products and how does it do it?

A. At the option of the company, one or more subsidiary may be treated as a separate, single company. The Council on Wage and Price Stability will publish some detailed examples of alternative measures that companies can use to compute average price increases.

Q. Does the program apply to imports?

A. No. Imports are exempt from the program within the United States.

Carter's Inflation Package

Q. Couldn't the federal government quietly bring an end to inflation simply by balancing the budget and eliminating the deficit?

A. Yes, how it would pay in human terms must be considered. The government would mean throwing millions of people out of work, yet the gains in reducing inflation would not be great unless the recession continued for several years.

Warriors Drop 4th Game

BY DON WOOD
SHELBYVILLE—The Warren Warriors, virtually out of the District 17-2A race, dropped their fourth district game in a row, being defeated 17-24 by the Shelbyville team, by the score of 56-7.

Warrior's only score came in the third quarter on a superb 99 yard kick-off return by Jay Bertrand. The PAT was successful, putting Warren seven points closer to Shelbyville had a total offense of 563 yards, which tells the story of the game. Warren had a total of 54 rushing yards and 132 passing yards. The Warriors caught passes for the Warriors were Gary Benoit, who also made several interceptions. Paul Staff, Albert Wise and Mike Benyard.

The Warrior's next game will be against the front-running Newton Eagles in Newton, this Friday night.

Chester 2nd In District

BY DON WOOD
COLMESNEIL—The Chester Yellowjackets put one more marker in their bonnet with a decisive 36 to 8 victory over the Colmesneil Bulldogs, last Friday night in Colmesneil.

The Yellowjackets, who hold a 3-1 district record and a 6-2 mark overall, defeated the Bulldogs for the second time in the season. The Bulldogs have a 1-3 district mark and a 2-6 season record.

The Yellowjackets, held Colmesneil to a total of 103 yards in the second quarter with 10-43 left as Kent Botley, the Yellowjackets' leading rusher in the game, scored on a counter-play that covered 34 yards. Chester rushed for 223 yards on a pass from Julius Johnson to Frank Krause, to give Chester a 22 to 8 lead.

The Bulldogs received the kick-off and promptly handed the ball back to the Yellowjackets from a fumble which they capitalized on.

With 9:10 left in the quarter Kent Botley struggled into the endzone from the 10-yard line, to give Chester an additional six points, and a 14 to 8 lead, as the PAT failed.

Chester scored once again before half-time, with 4:41 showing on the clock, on a 29 yard run by Botley. The two point conversion try was successful, as Johnson hit Sylvester Parks in the endzone, to give Chester a 22 to 16 lead at half-time.

Colmesneil came back in the third quarter and managed to put eight points on the board on a one-yard plunge into the endzone by Darren Bean. That score was set up by a 44-yard kickoff return by Kevin Davis. Davis ran the ball into the endzone for two extra points, to trim the Yellowjackets' lead to 22 to 8.

Chester rallied back with 10:02 left in the third quarter and scored on a two-yard carry by Wavne Hubert.

The extra point was kicked by Botley, to give Chester a commanding 29 to 8 lead.

Chester added the knockout punch with 4:41 left in the third quarter, after Rusty Barefield took the ball into the endzone from the 15-yard line. The PAT was kicked by Botley, which ended the scoring in the game, giving Chester a 36 to 8 victory.

Chester rushed for a total of 296 yards and completed one pass for 23 yards.

The Yellowjackets' leading rushers were Kent Botley, who had 144 yards on 11 carries and Wayne Hubert, 9 carries for 74 yards.

The Bulldogs rushed for a total of 103 yards, and had 17 yards passing. The leading rusher for Colmesneil was Kevin Davis, who had 84 yards on 18 carries.

The Yellowjackets, who are chasing an elusive district 12-C crown, are a game behind the front running High Island Cardinals, who have a perfect 4-0 record. Chester, who has been beaten once by High Island, will play them in a rematch next week in Chester.

Chester Head Coach Gary Garaway said, "We have put a lot of time into getting ready for the High Island game. They are undefeated, well coached and they are fundamentally sound. Hopefully we can correct the mistakes we made in the first game."

Colmesneil Head Coach Sabine Pass Sharks, who they have defeated once already, in Colmesneil, "game time is 7:30 Friday night."

Jr. High Bulldogs Look Good

BY DON WOOD
The junior high Colmesneil Bulldogs defeated the junior high Apple Springs Eagles for the second time in the season, with a 30 to 14 decision last Thursday, Nov. 2.

The Bulldogs took the lead early in the first quarter as Gene Boykin fought his way into the endzone from the five-yard line, capping a 50-yard drive. Boykin also converted the two extra points, giving the Bulldogs a 6 to 0 lead.

Colmesneil extended that lead in the second quarter on a 40 yard toss from Matt England to Rusty Hunter for 44 yards.

The Bulldogs' next opponent will be the Goodfellow Cardinals on November 10 at 5:30 p.m.

HIGH ISLAND—The junior high Colmesneil Bulldogs fought to a 0-0 tie with the junior high High Island Cardinals last Thursday in High Island.

The Bulldogs were beat by the clock, as they were on the Cardinal 5 yard line when the clock ran out on them.

The leading rushers for the Bulldogs were Gene Boykin, 84 yards; and Rusty Hunter, 6-32 yards.

The Colmesneil offensive game netted a total of 166 yards.

V-Ball Teams Winning

WOODVILLE—The varsity and junior varsity volleyball teams of Woodville, both played good volleyball, in defeating the varsity and JV teams of Kirbyville, Monday night in the Woodville High School Gym.

The junior varsity won their match 15-5 and 15-9. The varsity also won their match 15-5, 9-15 and 15-8.

The district tournament is slated to start on Monday, Nov. 13 and 14 in Warren High School Gym.

Coach Sheri George said, "It is too early to tell who we are going to play against, but I feel that we have a good chance of coming in first or second in the double elimination tournament; and so we can still win district, play a lot of extra games."

Newton Squeaks By Woodville

BY DON WOOD
WOODVILLE—The Newton Eagles, out to win the District 17-2A title and preserve their No. 1 state ranking, 17-2A crown, was victorious in everything but the loss as the Eagles of Woodville showed a few clues of the own, walking off the field allowing Newton a meager 2-point win, a "victory" of sorts for the home team.

The hotly contested District 17-2A crown was victoriously decided Friday night in Woodville, in a game that was marred by fumbles and unpopular official calls.

The Newton Express' sporting a perfect 4-0 district record, continued to hold their No. 1 state ranking as Woodville dropped to a 3-2 district mark, and a 5-31 overall record.

The first quarter was mainly a defensive battle with

EAGLE STADIUM
YIPPEE!! Charles Spurlock, along with the rest of the Woodville crowd, erupts with wild jubilation, after Woodville successfully executes a on-side kick off fumble recovery following a 60 yard touchdown play.

Squirrel Hunting Cheaper Than Deer

AUSTIN—In these days of spiraling deer lease prices, many Texas hunters may be looking around for less expensive types of hunting.

One solution to the problem is the abundant and sporty squirrel.

Liberal seasons and bag limits are in effect with the availability of good hunting in most areas of the state.

Film Shown At First Baptist Nov. 12

PILGRIM'S PROGRESS, a feature motion picture based on the famous book by John Bunyan, will be shown Sunday, Nov. 12, in the auditorium of First Baptist Church in Woodville at 7:00 p.m.

Second only to the Bible itself in volume of sales, PILGRIM'S PROGRESS was written three centuries ago by John Bunyan. A common man by trade and lifestyle, Bunyan none-the-less became an astute student of the Bible. As a result of his studies, he voiced sharp dissent against many of the religious practices of his day. Although never brought to trial, he spent twelve years in prison. It was while in prison that he wrote the book.

The motion picture was produced by Ken Anderson. Selects highlights from the original novel.

E. 1st Texas Infantry, the American Legion, the Sublime Texas Foxhunters Association, the Budo-High Lumberman American Legion, Post 7 in Post Arthur and of the Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A. (the Baracks No. 1488).

He was an honorary member of the International Association of Firefighters and of the Texas Navy.

Survivors include a brother, A. M. McSwain of Brivan; two sisters, Mrs. Lurline Edge of Bryan and Mrs. Grace Tison of Harney, and several nieces and nephews.

Nineveh

Nineveh was an ancient city (Gen. 10:11) on the eastern bank of the Tigris (ISBE). Now Nineveh was an exceeding great city of three days' journey (Jonah 3:3). It had become important in the Assyrian Empire, being only 65 miles from Asshur, the capital.

God sent tidings of destruction to Nineveh through the prophet Jonah. "For forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown" (Jonah 3:4). Why was this message sent? It was not because of 1) their form of government; 2) the size of the city; 3) their material situation - wealth or poverty; 4) their educational background.

Nineveh was a Gentile city. While not living under the Law of Moses (The Law of Moses), but under the law of their conscience (Rom. 2:14, 15), they were still responsible before God. Herein lies their mistake. "Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and cry against it; for their wickedness it come up before me" (Jonah 1:2). Nineveh was to be destroyed in forty days because of their sins against THE GOD OF HEAVEN.

Jonah preached to the people believed - from peasant to king the people drank, no water, put on sackcloth, sat in ashes and made their cry unto the God of heaven (Jonah 3:5). Nineveh averted destruction.

Nineveh reached its greatest power later during the period - 704 BC to 606 BC. Ultimately becoming the chief city of the Assyrian Empire, it's noted library was discovered by archeologists last century. But, Nineveh was destroyed by the Babylonians about 606 BC. Do you wonder WHY? SIN - murder, lying, robbery, fornication and sorcery (Dea. hum. 3:1-4) caused the Lord to say, "Behold, I am against thee... a nation stand if God is against it? Paul said, "If God be for us who can be against us" (Rom. 8:31).

Will God let America go on forever when murder, lies, robbery, lying, and sorcery are on the scene? ABSOLUTELY NOT - "He are the very things that destroy Nineveh long" - "ERICA your shepherds slumber (close their eyes to sin and corruption). (Jonah 3:18). THE ENEMY IS WITHIN!

Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people" (Dan. 1:27).

Send your Bible questions or comments to Glenn Melton, 306 N. Beach, Woodville, Tx. 75799, ph. 283-5402.

Uniquely, PILGRIM'S PROGRESS was filmed just outside of Belfast, Northern Ireland, where terrain and facilities for production requirements were found to be ideal.

The public is invited to attend.

Putting forth a Real effort

A child's first attempt at printing requires deep concentration and great effort. However, with patience and practice he becomes more adept and lettering is easier. Then he is ready for the next step; learning to write.

The first step is to put forth an effort to improve ourselves.

"I teach you, therefore, brethren, by the grace of God, that by personal good conduct a writing scripture, holy, acceptable unto God, which is the praise of his glory, service."

The church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for men and for the redemption of man to the glory of His love. God, no government or society or way of life will long preserve and the freedom which we hold so dear will inevitably pass away unless we have a selfish past of our own should support the church for the sake of the welfare of our world and the family of man. We must, every day, be ready to stand and witness in the church because it is the truth which we believe and desire, but which we must share with all men who live as a child of God.

Clothing and Shoes for the Family

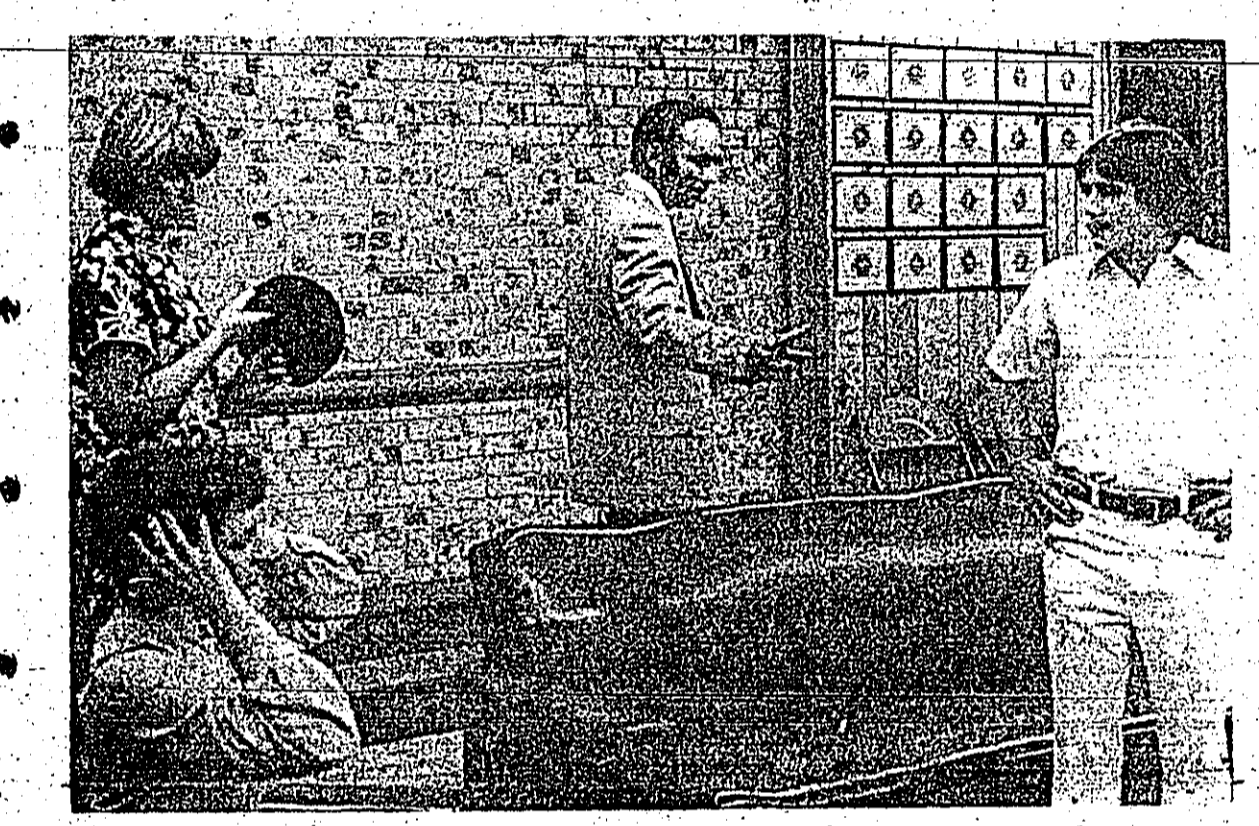

In a scene from the Arthur Lang play 'Never Too Late' Edith (Nancy Upchurch) prepares to tell her daughter (Joan Loidice), her husband (Frankie Rogers) and son-in-law (Ted Watts) she is pregnant.

The 50 year old Edith finds out she is to have another child, 24 years after the first one, a daughter who still lives at home. Here, she talks with next door neighbor Grace (Paula Onsdorn).

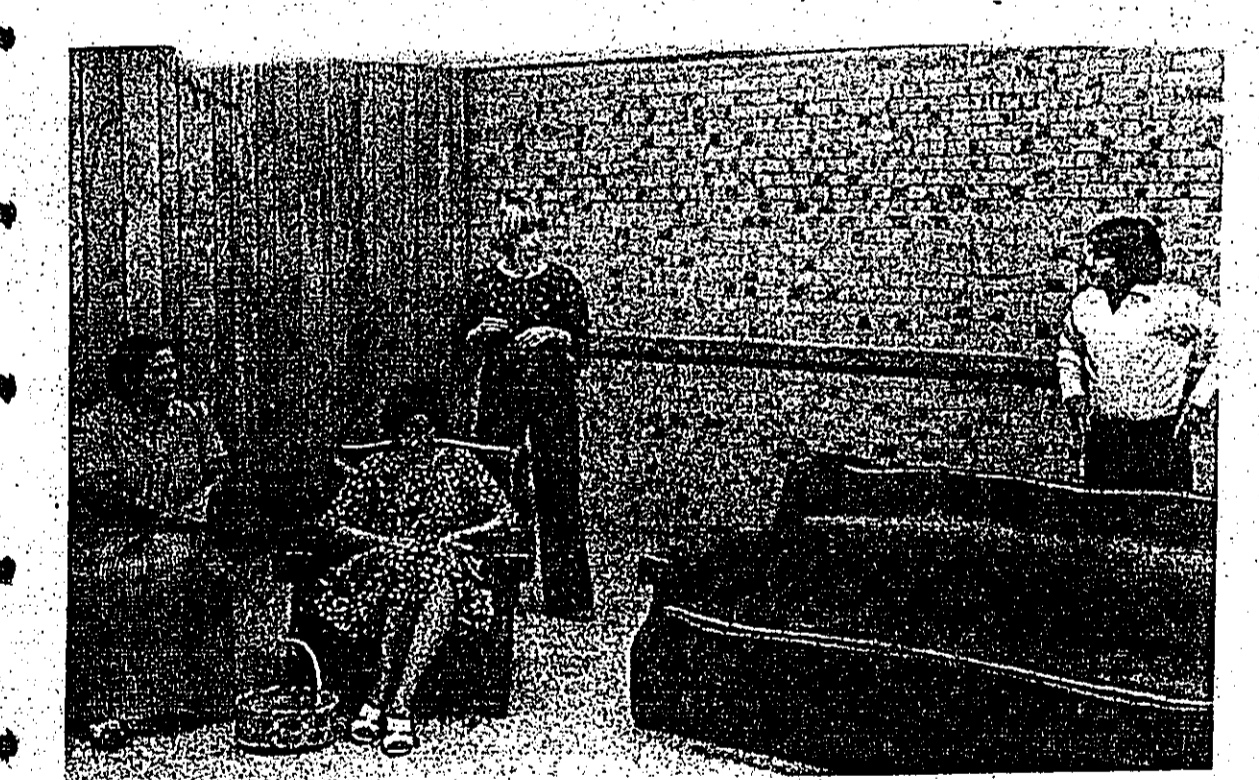

'Never Too Late' Saturday, November 11

As Edith prepares to tell the family the news, she explains she has been to the beauty parlor getting her hair done, and she has something big to tell them.

Before Edith can break the news, Harry and Charlie get into an argument, while Kate tries to shut them up so Edith can tell them the big news.

In a scene from the first act of the play Grace tells Edith (in chair) that she should quit doing so much housework and get her husband to take her out sometime. Charlie expressed his disapproval.

Dr. James Kimbrough (Scott Daniels) visits Harry Lambert on a Sunday afternoon. Harry is not enamored with the idea of another child, and Dr. Kimbrough tries to smooth things out.

The Primrose Path: 1912

Hugo deVries, the Dutch botanist who originated a means of studying evolution in plants by an experimental method which came to be called a "mutation," visited Texas in 1912. A professor at the University of Amsterdam since 1881, he was among the dozen scholars from around the world who were invited to participate in the dedicatory ceremonies of the newly established Rice Institute in Houston.

DeVries' experiments had been conducted largely with a species of wildflower known to botanists as Oenothera lamarckiana, first grown in Europe from seeds reported to have been taken from plants native to Texas. One of his chief projects during his American visit was to try to locate and collect seeds and specimens of the plant in its native habitat.

To his consternation, DeVries was unable to discover Oenothera lamarckiana either wild or in gardens in the state. The variety distinguished by a relatively large, blossomed yellow flower, appeared to have vanished from Texas. If, indeed, it had ever grown here, it was among wild plants rather than in a garden, are not known. There have been virtually no efforts to rediscover the Oenothera in Texas, but around the edges of roads, as the case of Lamarckiana, first grown in Europe from seeds reported to have been taken from plants native to Texas. One of his chief projects during his American visit was to try to locate and collect seeds and specimens of the plant in its native habitat.

Consequently, I in consultation with Professor B.M. Davis of Philadelphia and Mr. H.H. Bartlett of Washington, sowed in a few places some seeds of my own cultivation of O. lamarckiana, which I knew to be of pure origin. I chose for the purpose, the edges of corn and cotton fields, or the broad "weedy margins of roads," as the other species of this group are to be found growing by preference, if not exclusively, in such places.

On an automobile ride near Austin I had the opportunity to sow seed in a cornfield at the springs of the San Marcos River, and in San Antonio along the road near Mission San Jose.

As the chances are slight, however, that this seed not only will germinate, but also will become the source of enduring growing places, I tried to inspire interest in this problem in several colleagues. For this purpose I placed into their hands samples of the seed, with the request that they sow them; and use the harvested seed of the resulting plants, for a further distribution in this area. In this matter I would hereby be considerably increased. By the same means, one would later have the opportunity to study the production of mutations in natural conditions.

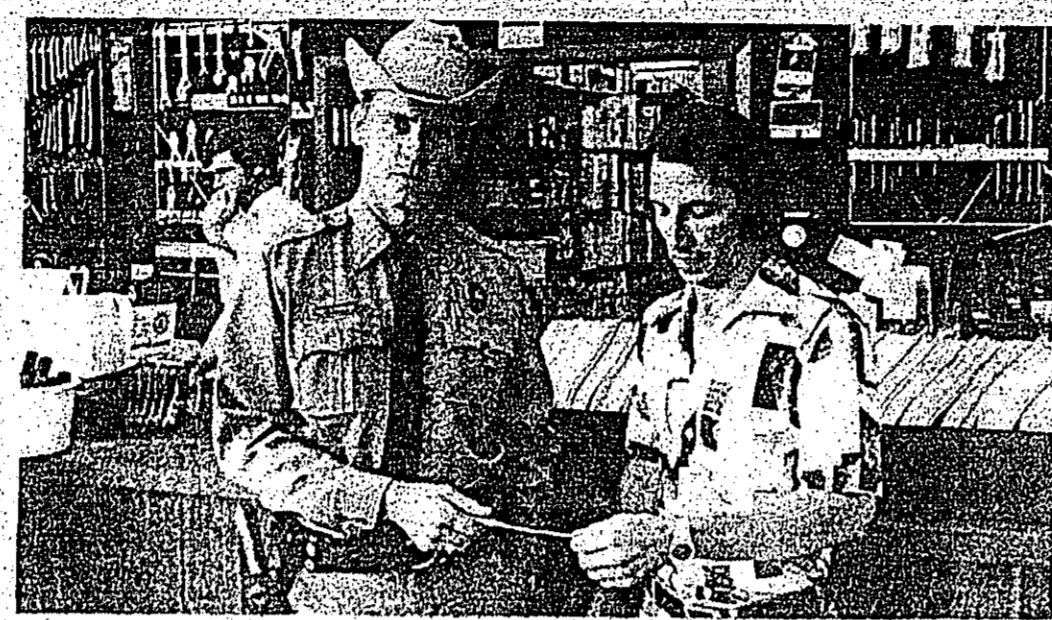

Apparently DeVries' experiment failed. Botanist nurserymen, and amateur plant collectors in the area are unfamiliar with Oenothera lamarckiana, though an encyclopedia of its growth in more northern states. Travelers on Interstate Highway 35 during wildflower season may wish, however, to pay reverence to the man who attempted, though unsuccessfully, to add another species to the beauties of the Texas countryside.

FOOTBALL CONTEST RULES:

- All entries must be placed in entry box at one of the following locations by 4 p.m. on Friday:
The BOOSTER office, Davis General Merchandise (Colmesneil), Hilltop Grocery (Colmesneil), Mike's Super Stop (Chester), Davis Food Market (Warren) or in the mail (Tyler County Booster, P.O. Box 248, Woodville, Texas 75797) postmarked before Friday.
- Entry can be made on entry blank on opposite page or facsimile of such drawing on a 3" x 5" card. All entries become the property of the Tyler County Booster. ONLY ONE ENTRY PER PERSON PER WEEK WILL BE ACCEPTED.
- If a game is cancelled or rescheduled, that game will not be judged.
- Every effort will be made to notify each week's winners by noon the following Monday. If a winner cannot be contacted by that time he/she has one week to claim prize money after his/her name appears in paper.

Gospel Singing Set At Rockland Baptist Church

The Baptist Church at Rockland will schedule its first gospel singing on Saturday evening, November 11, from 6:30-8:30. There will be group singing and plenty of good old-fashioned gospel songs by the congregation. Roy Tompkins will be in charge of the program for the evening and will direct with Aloha Freeland of the piano. Everyone who enjoys singing or just listening to gospel music is invited to attend.

and when it does, it's good to know you're protected with Foremost Mobile Owners. Because unlike some mobile home insurance policies and most homeowners policies, your Comprehensive Mobileowners includes coverage against the perils of fire, windstorm and vandalism.

Remember, too, Foremost Mobileowners policies include Emergency Removal coverage (up to $500) and Additional Living Expense coverage (up to $100 per month) in most cases. It will cover you up to $25 for debris removal after the loss occurs.

Foremost Mobileowners. We've tried to make it the most complete mobile home insurance protection available. Because as we both know, it can happen.

Holiday Pines Whisperings

BY CHELSEA LEAVES

As we entered the doors of the Pines this week, we all took a look around each corner. The spooks were running wild. At 2:00, Oct. 31st, all the spooks met in the dining room for the costume judging. The residents filled the dining room as we all voted our luck-doing the Melody Masters displayed another great night of entertainment for us. Laughter filled the dining room as we all voted our luck-doing the Paul Jones. After several attempts we finally got things going our way. I would like to thank Edna Collier for bringing a very delicious cake for refreshments.

At this time I would like to welcome five new residents to our family, here at the Pines. They are Thelma Royer, Walter Agttee, Mary Richardson, Henry and Flora Schenkowitz. We are very happy to have them and hope they will soon feel right at home.

Our lucky bingo winners

Save of Woodville. Thanks again for your generosity. Thursday night was dance night at the Pines. Everyone was feeling their best. The Melody Masters displayed another great night of entertainment for us. Laughter filled the dining room as we all voted our luck-doing the Paul Jones. After several attempts we finally got things going our way. I would like to thank Edna Collier for bringing a very delicious cake for refreshments.

The happy faces and laughter in Holiday Pines this past week during all of the interaction among the residents and employees, is one of the rewards of being a Nursing Home Administrator. I would like personally to thank each of my employees for taking the time to dress up in some of the "weird" costumes and for their participation - residents and employees alike enjoyed the day, and the most rewarding of all was seeing the smiles on the faces of the visitors and family members. It takes a great deal of effort for an employee to work 8 hours or more in a Nursing Home setting and then to go home and cook for a family and take care of a home - this is one reason I think the residents and families of the residents should feel and sometimes express to the employees the knowledge that we're here at Holiday Pines are not only trying to give quality care but to make everyone feel that it is a place where they can be almost as happy as if they were in their own homes.

THANK YOU STAFF FOR YOUR COOPERATION AND EXPRESSION OF CARING...MAY GOD BLESS AND KEEP EACH OF YOU SAFE AND HAPPY.

Personal Mention

Visiting in the home of their grandmother Mrs. G.L. Jarrott for the weekend was Betty Marks and her two children, Jamie and Brian. They are from Baton Rouge, La. Mike Swearingen, his wife and their daughters, Michelle and Holly from Fayetteville, Ark., also visited. They all attended the reunion at the home of Elza Oates in the Dyes Community, Sunday. There was a total of 73 children, grand children, great and great-grand children of Uncle Cab and Aunt Missie Oates.

NACOGDOCHES—Kirby High School of Woodville won outstanding honors in competition in the annual homecoming parade at Stephen F. Austin State University.

Mel Montgomery, director of bands at SFA, said Kirby High was judged the outstanding band in the Class AA division of the parade. Kirby High is directed by Barry Johnson.

In competition involving all bands regardless of classification, Kellie Sterling of Kirby High was runnerup as the outstanding drum major in the parade.

'Our Lady' Takes Part In Project

WOODVILLE—In cooperation with the Department of Human Resources, Our Lady of the Pines Parish family will participate in the "Caring is Sharing" project during the month of November, with parishioners donating canned or other non-perishable food items to the boxes placed in the vestibule every Sunday. These items will be distributed to needy families for Thanksgiving dinners. Cash donation will be received by Martha Reynolds.

From The W.C.C. Chit Chat

BY ERNESTINE FAIRCLOTH

Once again, I would like to thank all of you mothers, out there, who brought your youngsters by our home, or treating last week. Our residents really enjoyed visiting with the kids. Clara Vinson won first prize for the "Best Dressed" at our party last week, and Aurelia Riley captured second. Congratulations ladies!

Last week, our staff class went to the Cat Fish Kitchen, in Beaumont, for lunch. Residents enjoying the trip were Mattie Sue Williams, Bertha Austin, Aurelia Riley, Eula McDaniel and Clara Vinson. Margaret Johnson, Betty Collins and Jenny Hawkins accompanied this group on their trip.

The ladies from Eban Baptist Church in Chester, were here last week to open our beauty shop. We would like to thank them for being so faithful to our residents.

We would also like to thank Wana Whitson, for coming out last week, to bring our residents some new books from the library and also a movie.

Church services were wonderful again last week, as Rev. Claude Reid was here to bring our message. We would like to thank all of you who joined us, and welcome you to be back with us.

The Melody Masters will be at our home Thursday afternoon at seven to entertain for our dance. Everyone is invited to attend. A special invitation goes to the residents and staff at Holiday Pines. The Melody Masters are with us on the 2nd and 4th Thursday of each month. We would like to thank Edith Carlton who donated money for our Halloween Dance.

Our residents get together every afternoon, for a domino party and would like to challenge you to a friendly game one afternoon. If you are sitting at home with nothing to do, come on out, they would love to have you join them.

We have a new sewing machine for our craft class. They will now be making a lot of pretty things to sell, to help pay for the machine. Feel free to come out anytime and pay a visit to our craft class. You may find a lot of pretty items that you would enjoy giving for Christmas gifts this year.

We would like to send get well wishes to Fred Polander and Chester Rove, who have been ill and are confined to the hospital. Our prayers for a speedy recovery are with you!

We would like to welcome Claud Harrison and Mary Woodville Convalescent Center. We hope you enjoy your new home with us.

Colmesneil News

BY ELLA MOSELEY

On Saturday, November 11, there will be a working day in two nearby cemeteries, the Mann and the Hickory Grove. All who are interested are urged to bring their tools and join in the work of the day.

A revival is in progress during the present week at First Baptist with Bro. Junior Hill of Hartselle, Ala., as the evangelist and the pastor, Bro. James Best as music director. Everyone is invited during the remaining days of the week, to hear these splendid messages and join in the fellowship.

Mr. and Mrs. George Downing had with them over the weekend their son, James and wife and two children, Tracy and Lisa of Rosenberg, and also their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Jordan, of Lake Charles.

On Sunday the mother, Mrs. G.R. Downing had for her day her daughter, Mrs. E.W. Ripley of Nederland.

Vernie Fortenberry joined her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fortenberry of Beaumont for a night Sunday to a point in Canada, with their sight-seeing. Marie will undergo tests for an unusual defect in her vision.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Svatek returned Friday from a two week trip through South. Joining her sister, Thyra Harmon and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Colley of Anahuac, the group visited the Great Smokeys, Washington, Williamsburg, and various other places of historical significance returning home by way of Biloxi, New Orleans and the coastal area.

Three recent newcomers to the sons and daughters of our community demand a cheerful welcome. Mr. and Mrs. Randy Bell of Nederland have a little daughter, Wendy Hope. Mr. and Mrs. Randy Gardner of Beaumont also have a little daughter, Kelly Lee, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Micham of Woodville have a little son, Justin Wayne.

Easter Mann spent the weekend in Lufkin with her son, Bobby and family. Also in Dallas with their son, Darrell were Mr. and Mrs. George Youngblood.

Visiting, Faye Gardner over the weekend was her twin brother, Jay Worthy of Beaumont.

Spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Hughes were their daughters, Josie Greer, of Alvin, and Lorene Riley of Houston with their husbands, Alvin and Brett of Houston.

Ben Durham and his brother of Vidler.

With Mr. and Mrs. John Sturrock over the weekend were his son and wife, Dr. and Mrs. G.W. Sturrock, and their children, Stacy, Brandi and Brett of Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Creech spent the weekend at Athens with their son, Eldredge and family. While there they attended the baptismal ceremony of their grand-daughter, Nita. They report that Eldredge, his wife and daughters are happily engaged in school, church and community work.

Mrs. Velma Rivers enjoyed a delicious dinner during the past week honoring her sister, Velma French of Chester on her seventy-fourth birthday. There were forty guests present coming from Lufkin, Beaumont, Newton and the surrounding areas.

The local Home Demonstration Club was hostess to the County Council Saturday. Meeting at the Community Center, the group heard the reports of the delegates to State Convention, which led into plans of activities for the future and closed with a delicious luncheon and a reception for their county director, Belinda Covington who will soon be transferred to another area.

Confined to Memorial Hospital in Jasper for the past two weeks was Ruth Simmons and previous to her confinement was that of Mrs. Barney Creech, both for tests and treatments.

In the Woodville Hospital is Olen Harrington suffering from an infected eye and in the Baptist Hospital in Beaumont is his wife, Mattie, due to a severe throat condition.

Warren News

BY BEVRIE RILEY

Twenty children from Buckner Home of Beaumont, with their House Mothers, actively directors and others put on a very good program on "I Am OK" for the First Baptist Church Sunday night. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the church after the program.

Warren High School will go to Lamar for contest Saturday. We are very proud of our band.

The Jr. High cheerleaders are sponsoring a supper for the Jr. High football team Thursday night.

Rex Burke was injured in a football game Saturday night. He had to have surgery Monday in Louisiana.

Oliver Bodine is home after a long stay in St. Elizabeth Hospital with heart problems.

The Woman's Workshop at Bethel Baptist was well attended by all members of Tyler County.

Rev. Spanhanks brought the message at Holiday Pines last Wednesday morning. Mr. Pat Nowlin led the singing.

We are looking forward to the Revival at First Baptist Church beginning Nov. 13th.

Ramblin' Round Rockland

BY ALOHA FREELAND
Greetings from Rockland once again, and here's this week's news.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stewart, Sr. and Mrs. W.C. Lilly were in Beaumont on Nov. 1 to attend the funeral of their cousin, Bill Moore, Jr. Mr. Moore was a former resident of Rockland and we extend our sympathy to all of his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Walker were pleasantly surprised October 31 when their son, John Walker arrived for a few days visit from Panama where he is employed.

We are so happy to welcome back to our community an old friend, Teddy Dykes, as he comes again to stay with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dykes. He has been living in Houston since school was out last spring.

Lowell and Jane Hardy of Nevada were weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Henderson.

Visitors with Mrs. Ida Davis last week were Tom and Patsy Davis of Huntsville, Mrs. D.J. Sanders of Colmesneil, Dr. Jerry Cammack and son, Dick of Jasper, and J.P. Dean of Colmesneil. Those from Rockland who shared in the celebrations of Bill Dean's 85th birthday last week were Mrs. Harlie Shillings, Ida Davis, J.B. and Jerry Dean.

We are glad that Mrs. Grace Jones is home again from a Lufkin hospital and our prayers continue that she will soon be completely well.

We are happy to report that Ernest Dykes is at home and recovering well from minor eye surgery performed in Memorial Hospital in Lufkin one day last week. Our prayers and get well wishes are with you, Brother Dykes.

Our prayers and wishes for a speedy recovery also go to Kathy Henderson who is in Memorial Hospital in Lufkin. Nancy Jones who is in the Tyler County Hospital, and Heather Green who is in a Houston hospital, and recovering nicely to treatment.

We also remember Mrs. Mars Holloway as she was transferred Saturday from Memorial Hospital in Lufkin to the Woodville Convalescent Center, while she continues to recuperate from a broken leg and other injuries. It was good to have Mr. and Mrs. H.M. Holbrook back in church on Sunday after a month's visit in Houston. We certainly missed them while they were gone.

Our Halloween Party at the Baptist Church was quite a success and enjoyed by the more than 50 attending. The following night, Wednesday, Nov. 1, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Reppond entertained all the young people at their home with a weiner roast which everyone enjoyed.

We say a big "thank you" to each and everyone who helped make these two events possible, especially the Repponds, Roy and Betty Tompkins, Charlene Brown, Becky Gilchrist and many others.

Thanks again for your help. On Saturday night, Nov. 11, the Baptist Church will hold its first community gospel singing. Roy Tompkins is in charge and he has announced that there will be a lot of old-time gospel singing by groups as well as congregational singing. Hope to see you there from 8:30 to 8:30 Saturday night.

Happy birthday to Lola Reppond on the 5th, Lennie Watkins on the 9th and Greg Cowart on the 10th. See you Saturday night at the gospel singing and in Ramblin' Round Rockland again next week. God bless.

Best Buys

COLLEGE STATION... Poultry still provides budget eating, when compared to red meats, advises Gwen-dolyn Cyatt.

Also, according to predictions, cattle and hog prices will remain higher than a year earlier through the first half of 1979, she says.

That forecast is based on smaller supplies of red meat, less hog production than expected and continued strong consumer demand, she adds.

Cyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

At Texas grocery markets this week, budget buys include whole fryer chickens, large turkeys on special in some markets and potatoes along with dairy, canned and frozen food features, she says.

DAIRY—Features include milk, sour cream, whipping cream, yogurt and cheeses.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES—Specials appear on canned fruits and vegetables, pork and beans, tuna fish and macaroni.

FROZEN FOODS—Budget buys are fruit pies and French fries.

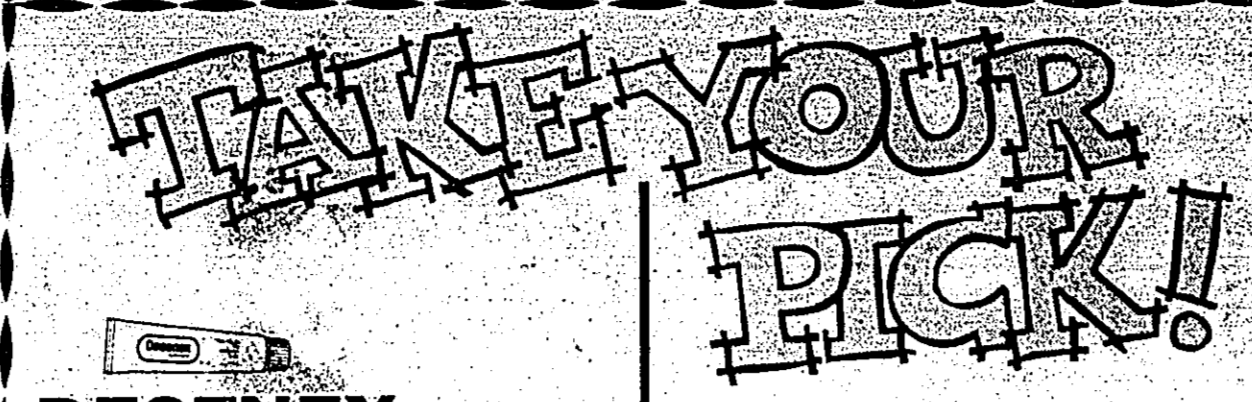

FRESH FRUITS—Apple quality is excellent and prices a bit lower. Check prices on red grapes and pears, which are in good supply, along with bananas.

Also, notice more cranberries with good quality. Expect lower grapefruit prices and sweeter oranges soon, as the citrus season arrives.

FRESH VEGETABLES—Along with potatoes, budget buys are possible with dry onions, hard shell squash and pumpkins.

Good values include carrots, broccoli, cooking greens, sweet potatoes and rutabagas.

BEEF—Highlight items are chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, ground beef with soy protein, liver and sirloin steak in some markets.

TO THE RESCUE. Albert and Andy insist that they are "men". To prove to them that they are not men yet, Charles (Michael Landon, left) and Garvey (Merlin Olsen) assign them an "impossible" task involving a lengthy trek through the woods in the episode "Men Will Be Boys." Monday, Nov. 13, on NBC. Charles and Garvey sneak along behind to rescue the boys when they get in trouble. However, the boys do just fine. It's the two men who run into all kinds of hang-ups. 'Star Wars' Revival

Princess Leia (Carrie Fisher) and C3PO return to their familiar roles in "The Star Wars Holiday Special," Friday, Nov. 17, on CBS.

If you're a "Star Wars" freak, make sure your interceptor is tuned to CBS on Friday, Nov. 17. An interplanetary trip on "The Star Wars Holiday Special," will star Beahm Johnson, Art Carney, Diahann Carroll, The Jefferson Starship and Harvey Korman. Luke Skywalker, Princess Leia and other members of the film cast will make special appearances: Mark Hamill (Luke Skywalker); Harrison Ford (Han Solo); Carrie Fisher (Princess Leia); Anthony Daniels (C3PO); Peter Mayhew (Chewbacca); R2D2; and the voice of James Earl Jones as Darth Vader. A spectacular trip into outer space on the planet of the Wookiees takes place on their special holiday of Life Day, at a time long ago in a galaxy far away on the two-hour show that combines a dazzling lineup of stars, animation, adventure, music and visual effects. The story takes us into the adventures of Chewbacca, the giant furry Wookiee who is co-pilot of intrepid Han Solo's interplanetary pirate spaceship, the Millennium Falcon. We meet Chewbacca's little son, Lumawarump (nickname Lumpy), a typically mischievous 10-year-old, his loving wife Mallatobuck; and his 400-year-old father, Attechtuck, known as Tichy. Featured in special musical numbers are Miss Arthur, Miss Carroll and The Jefferson Starship. Art Carney plays a loyal friend of the Wookiees in their struggle against the ruling imperial troops. Harvey Korman appears in three different roles - as a Dromboid, as a unique television chef, and as a bar patron of Miss Arthur, who manages an interstellar cantina with a wild assortment of customers. In the constant interstellar warfare between imperial troops and rebels, Chewbacca and Han Solo starship in their flight to Chewbacca's own planet and family for Life Day, the most important holiday on the Wookiee calendar.

In all the years of movie mogul pressures, not more than half a dozen of those touted as "stars" outlasted their initial popularity. The first three who come to most minds are Garbo, Clark Gable and Cary Grant.

Television fame, though even faster, is more ephemeral. So, double the honors for Carol Burnett. Though she is the major comedienne with singing and dancing competency "thrown in" to arise from TV, her 10-year-long series died last year, when the public taste for variety shows palled, but demand for her services has snowballed as producers realize hers is also a major acting talent.

Carol is rumored to be a potential nominee for an Oscar Award for her theatrical release movie, "The Wedding." And she could compete with herself four times over the next time members of the Television Academy cogitate about who is the best actress among them.

Star Scene Kevin Brophy's Co-stars Are Wolves!

By RUTH THOMPSON

There were some who chose to disbelieve Robbie Benson when he withdrew from the Broadway-bound show "King of Hearts" because he said its long gestation was conflicting with his next movie commitment.

Well, chalk one up for Robbie's sense of timing. His movie, "Gang," though it has had its on-location "delays" involving some hassling between real gangs and their actor counterparts in Los Angeles barrios, is nearing completion while "King of Hearts" — after major re-writes and long sojourns out-of-town — only recently made it to Manhattan.

What makes a series click? Assuming you have a popular star in a well-made show, the difference between success and failure can be the slotting, or what the competition is at the assigned time on the assigned night. Last year's most vociferous star fighting for what he considered the "right" slot, was Robert Conrad on behalf of his "Black Sheep Squadron" on NBC. If you remember, "Black Sheep" ran opposite "Charlie's Angels."

NBC also is the target of this year's scrappiest actor. It's Jack Klugman, formerly of "The Odd Couple," who's screaming that if his "Quincy" is clobbered in the ratings — it will be the scheduling that's to blame.

As expected, she's a howl in Erma Bombeck's "The Grass is always Greener Over the Septic Tank" for TV.

The pace changes, however, and so does Carol's image with her next two TV roles. Powerful is the word for what she does in ABC's "Friendly Fire" as an angry, agonized mother whose son was killed in Vietnam. Her newest TV movie, to air on CBS, is no bundle of laughs, either. She's playing a middle-aged, unwed mother who decides to keep her child.

Don't discard, but at least table for a while, the rumor that Lesley Ann Warren will be seen in a sequel as the glamorous young madam in the well-set, but steamy "79 Park Avenue" miniseries that rated high for NBC last season. Reason: she's been too busy rushing through scenes for "Betrayal," the two-hour movie airing Monday night (Nov. 13), also on NBC.

For the daytime viewers among the readership — and they are legion — it surely makes sense to enlist some of the soap opera headliners as panelists. It makes sense, too, to Joyce Becker, who with her husband Allan Sugarman has been staging Soap Opera Festivals around the country every weekend.

By JOAN GEOGHEGAN

On Monday, Nov. 13, Kevin Brophy returns to ABC with his limited series, "Lucan." The handsome young actor stars as a young man who was raised in the northern Minnesota woods by a pack of timber wolves.

Kevin explained his character's background:

"The pilot took place in northern Minnesota. Some hunters got lost and saw a two-legged person — a 10-year-old — running with a pack of wolves. Lucan is brought back to a research facility, something like Stanford Research Facility, and educated. He ages from 13 to 15 to 21, which is his age in the current episodes."

Kevin explains, "The man who is doing my training (John Randall) is at odds with the University people who think I should be locked up."

In the Nov. 3 episode, Lucan is back at the University living with Randall and working at the University. He's still proving that he is not a dangerous person.

Kevin describes his character as "a person put in compromising situations. He responds as best he can. It's a survival story. He can run 60 miles an hour, because he ran with wolves. His conditioning makes it hard for him to accept cultural and society manners — like why a man would lock up his son because of a drug disorder. "I would class 'Lucan' as an adventure series," he concludes.

For one thing, most of the series is shot outside on location. The upcoming "Brother Wolf" episode was shot at Big Bear Lake, 130 miles east of Los Angeles. Kevin guesses that 98 percent of that show was shot outdoors.

Another reason for label-

Kevin Brophy returns to ABC on Monday nights as "Lucan," a boy who was raised in the wild by a pack of wolves.

ing "Lucan" an adventure series is the practice of using two real wolves.

Kevin explains the technique of working with these dangerous animals in a matter-of-fact voice:

"Dorka is a female, and Kolcheck is a male. Both are Arctic White Wolves. We use one for a half-hour, then substitute the other. That way they're assured of getting an even performance from the wolves."

There can be problems. Kevin says that one guest star, a young boy, had a scene where he antagonized the wolf. When the trainers first introduced him to the caged Kolcheck, the wolf lunged at him. When Dorka was substituted, however, the boy got along perfectly with her.

Kevin admits that "I had to work out with the wolves for a while. You have to remain very relaxed and calm with them." There are tricks Kevin can use, too. In one scene the wolf follows him up a mountain side. He admits to holding a steak in one hand to keep the wolf beside him.

"There're not dangerous, they're really well trained," he insists. So far, the only ferocious canine on "Lucan" was a dog, which took a big bite out of Kevin's shoulder. The wolves are seasoned movie animals. They're owned and trained by George Toth, who owns Cougar Hill Ranch and a very large collection of trained wolves.

Kevin has a dog at his Sherman Oaks, Calif., home. It's a cross between a Malamute and an Australian shepherd and weighs about 110 pounds. Although Kevin got the dog because "we wanted a guard dog at the house," he adds that "I gleaned a lot of things from just watching my dog to help me with wolves."

Although Kevin is very happy to be back on network television, he would like to spread his actor's wings more.

This summer, Kevin did a guest spot on a two-hour "Hardy Boys" episode titled "Last Kiss of Summer." "I was the bad guy!" he happily exclaims.

"I'm hung up on 'Lucan,'" he continues. "I was up for the lead in 'The Fury' and a small role in 'Taxi Driver,' but couldn't find the time to do them."

In regard to movie work, he insists, "I'm very patient, I can wait."

Of the future, he says, "I'd like to find out what's happening with 'Lucan.' I have an option on it through May of '79."

Surprisingly enough, Kevin doesn't intend to stay an actor for the rest of his life. Instead, he'd like to exercise his interest in politics and run for public office.

"I'll continue acting for another 10 or 12 years. I'm learning organization, how to deal with people. It will come in handy. It would be foolish for me to dive into politics right now without a law degree. By being an actor I can experience and be all things."

Kevin agrees that people do look askance at ex-actors-turned-politicians. "It's all how you let yourself be packaged," he claims. "Athletes and movie stars are the American royalty. That's the power right now."

"I'm a radical-liberal. I'll make social change through film right now. In 15 years, I'll do it as a newscaster, a legislator or as governor of California."

Olympic Update

The United States Olympic Committee reports that American athletes are already in training for the 1980 Olympics. The USOC has established regional training centers at Squaw Valley, Calif., and at Colorado Springs, Colo. Both centers have conducted clinics for coaches and athletes and have served as training camps for U.S. teams before departing on international tours.

Test-tube series

Creators of "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company," the PBS Children's Television Workshop, will premiere a science program as early as 1980. The as-yet untitled series will consist of 65 half-hour programs on science and technology aimed at the nation's 14 million 8-to-12-year-olds.
