Tarver Complaint Pending

Precinct 3 Commissioner Leon Fowler has been verbally accused of slugging a Tyler County Sheriff's Jailor in an altercation which took place in the County Courthouse around mid-morning Monday.

According to Precinct 1 Peace Justice John Spanhanks Tyler County Jailor Melvin Tarver came into his office to file a complaint against Fowler, regarding the incident.

Spanhanks said that he advised Tarver that he would have to check with County Attorney Rois Brockman as to the details and the nature of the charge, before he could act on the matter. "He needed some time."

Spanhanks said that Tarver never finished the complaint procedure; but instead left to file with Peace Justice Frank Grimes in D&B, who then issued a warrant for Fowler's arrest. That move by Grimes was later rescinded and the authority to accept the complaint returned to Precinct 1 at the courthouse with Spanhanks.

Spanhanks said that his office was ready as of Tuesday to accept the complaint, so he could finish his oral complaint then put something on paper regarding the incident.

Tarver who is recuperating from the incident at Mary Dickerson Memorial Hospital in Jasper, was reported to have been admitted with multiple contusions, bruises and mild shock.

Spanhanks who terms the complaint and charges procedure as "pending" indicated that action regarding the incident still rests with Tarver to complete the filing process.

Spanhanks indicated that the range of charges could run from various levels of assault charges (misdemeanors or felonies level) to disorderly conduct.

The fracas was apparently broken up by County Judge Allen Sturrock, outside his office door.

Several reported witnesses to the incident said they saw the two men start up the stairs, Fowler first, when the Commissioner apparently turned and knocked the jailer down to the stairstep landing below where he allegedly pursued him further.

Fowler, who offered a comment on the incident said, "There's only one thing I have to say, there are two sides to every story."

Clark about an upcoming accreditation required by the state to insure that Woodville schools are meeting prescribed standards of education.

It takes five years to complete the process. The first meeting of a 28 member committee appointed by School Superintendent Tom Linam was scheduled to have been held on Wednesday at 2:30 p.m.

The School Service League members thanked Clark for his comments and then went into a business session (with League President Teddy Kinney) hearing reports for each committee person present.

Bank Application Turned Down

An application for a bank charter in the name of the Community State Bank with a proposed location in Woodville was formally denied by the three member State Banking Commission following lengthy hearings resulting from an early July, 1978, application made to that commission for a state charter.

The charter denial took place on Tuesday, Jan. 9, citing "lack of public necessity" and "lack of volume of business as the prime reasons for the charter rejection. According to Karen Bernard, applications clerk for the commission and who functions under Dan Krohn, State Banking Commissioner said, "The board having found negative with respect to the following factors as enumerated in Article 5, Chapter 3 of the Texas banking Code: 1-

Public necessity exists for the bank and 3-the volume of business in the community where the proposed bank is to be established is not as to indicate profitable operation of the proposed bank.

The three member board is made up of the following persons: State Banking Commissioner, Robert E. Steward; State Treasurer, Warren Harding; and Citizen Member, Sam Carter, of Temple.

Warriors Earn First Victory

WARREN-The Warren Warriors came up with their first victory of the season on Saturday, Jan. 13, by beating Kirbyville by the score of 59 to 52. The game was played on January 13.

Warren coach Billy Williams said, "We were tied at half-time, and then we came out in the third quarter and used the full-court press. They started making mistakes, which helped us."

Warren now has a 9-5 non-district record and a 9-5 non-district mark.

Hemphill Over Warren Warriors

HEMPHILL-The team is tearing up District 17-A, the Hemphill Hornets, did it again, this time to the Warren Warriors. Warren traveled to Hemphill, and lost to the Hornets, by the score of 63 to 45. The game was played on January 9.

Larry Thomas led the Hornets offensively, scoring 19 points, with Joe White putting in 12 points.

The Warriors trailed by only 7 points going into the third quarter, 34 to 27, but the last half of the game, they put up little opposition to Hemphill. Warrior coach Billy Williams said, "We went cold in the third quarter, and that has been hurting us all year."

Hemphill has a good basketball team, but they'll get beat before the season is over," Hemphill thus far has a 4-0 District record.

Pira-ettes Lose Second 35-34

BIG SANDY-The Spurger Pira-ettes dropped their second game in the young District 51-B race, losing by the score of 35 to 34 to the Big Sandy Bulldogs on January 12.

Tina Fredrick and Lisa Jordan led the Pira-ettes scoring, with both girls' putting in 15 points apiece.

The game was close and exciting for both teams. With about three minutes in the last period, the Pira-ettes trailed by one. Spurger, then began making mistakes, and Big Sandy pulled away for seven points ahead. With less than a minute and a half left, Spurger pulled back within one point, but could never go ahead.

Both teams had players shoot with the flu, but they played well under the conditions, according to the Spurger coach.

Chester Quartet Play Well On Court

CHESTER-Led by the quartet of Kent Botley, Mike McQueen, Wayne Hubert, and Gary Tolar, the Chester Yellowjackets had little trouble against the Colmesneil Bulldogs in the District 50-B season opener. The game was played on January 9.

The Yellowjackets beat the first quarter, taking a 16 to 6 lead, and advancing that lead to 31 to 18 at half-time. Colmesneil pulled with in 11 points by the end of the first quarter, but could never completely narrow the gap.

Botley had the game high of 16 points, McQueen and Hubert scored 14 points each, and Tolar scored 11 points.

The Bulldogs' leading scorer was Kevin Davis, who scored 19 points.

Chester Mark Warner, of Chester, said, "We put together a pretty good ball game."

Woodville's coach Jerry Minter said, "Shelbyville has a pretty good team. Our opponents this season have been averaging 39 points while we have been averaging 36 points. So we have been losing by a average of three points a game."

Woodville's record is 7-12 overall, and 0-4 in District 17-A.

Wildcats Over Warren

WARREN-Shelby, Shoemaker and the Kirbyville Wildcats swept into Warren to face the defending District 17-A champions, and when the night was over, Warren fell behind another game in the District race, Kirbyville knocked the Warriors off their feet, beating them by the score of 50 to 30.

Shelby Shoemaker, thought by many the best player in the District, scored only 12 points, but once again she proved to be the sparkplug of the "Wildcat" machine, who have a 2-2 district record.

The only player who shot in double figures for the Warriors was Paula Price, who scored 11 points.

Warren's loss to Kirbyville drops its District record to 2-2, and its overall record to 5-3.

The Warriors get a chance to make up that loss when they face Shelbyville. The game will be played in Warren, on January 16.

Big Sandy Whallops Spurger

BIG SANDY-Some days it is better to spend the day in bed. The Spurger Pirates should remember that old adage and took the advice, when they traveled to Big Sandy to face the powerful Wildcats. They were trounced by Big Sandy, losing by the score of 76 to 32.

Spurger was immediately dropped behind in the first quarter, falling behind 20 to 4, and were even farther behind by half-time. Big Sandy held a 40 to 13 lead as it went into the locker room at the half.

The Pirates slumbering offense began to come alive in the third quarter, but their defense could do little against the onslaught of the Wildcats, who scored and ended the third period with a 62 to 23 score.

Marcus Hale was the leading scorer for the Pirates. Spurger now has a 0-2 District 51-B record.

The word taxidermist is defined as: One who practices the art of preparing, stuffing and mounting the skins of animals to make them appear lifelike. It is taken from the Greek taxis, arrangement plus derma, a skin.

but not the man. For in this trade, the craftsman must be skilled as a sculptor, painter, and, in addition, possess a keen knowledge of animals, including their habits and expressions.

Henry Ogden, of Colmesneil, is such a man. A taxidermist by profession for the past 10 years, Ogden says he first studied the art through books and a correspondence course. Later, he spent one year as an apprentice, before taking over the shop he now runs.

According to Ogden, his interest in taxidermy developed naturally as a result of his love of animals and the outdoors. His first project, he says, was a meadow lark. From this tiny beginning, he soon progressed to mounting larger trophies, both for himself and friends.

The most difficult challenge, as a beginner, he says, was making the animals look lifelike. But, for a woodsman whose hunted all his life and remembers bagging his first deer at age 16—not because he got one that day, but because he got two, this challenge was easily overcome with some practice. "Spending time in the woods," he says, "is essential to becoming a good taxidermist."

There's a great deal more to taxidermy than meets the eye, according to Ogden. Most animals, such as deer, must be skinned out, the hide then salted, curred and tanned. This process alone takes about ten days.

Meanwhile, he says, a mold is made by working papier-mache into a two part plaster of Paris cast. Once these sections dry, they are removed from the cast and joined together at one major seam. The hide, now tanned and flexible, is glued to this lightweight mold. Antlers are attached, he says, by screwing through them and the mold to a wooden block underneath.

According to Ogden, he has business going in all directions. He comments that he's had orders for just about everything, including the rear of a sheep, the foot of an elephant and a large turtle. The sheep, he says, was ordered as a conversation piece.

Flexibility is a key word in the taxidermy business. Ogden's largest project to date was a black bear that stood six feet tall, killed in Newton several years ago; the smallest, he says, was a six inch brim, a little boy's first catch.

Bass are the most common trophies ordered by fishermen in this area, he says, and, like all fish, require some special handling. During the process of soaking in preservative, mounting and drying, they lose their natural color. Ogden replaces the muted stripes of deep green with an air brush and lacquer paint.

Deer, according to Ogden, are, by far, the mainstay of his business. During an average season, he reports, he takes in approximately 125 orders for deer head mounts. The largest trophy to date, brought in several years ago, was a 53-point rack bagged close to Trinity. According to Ogden, the rack measured 29 inches across and was a "once-in-a-lifetime" prize.

Taxidermists, says Ogden, see the results of hunting season first hand. He reports that, for size of horns, last year was one of the best seasons in some time. This season too, he says, is above average.

Ogden says that hunters who wish to have their kill mounted should skin the animal out and salt the hide, if they know the technique, or, keep the animal (or fish) on ice until it can be brought in.

Animals, fish and birds are not the only yields of the hunt that end up in Ogden's shop. Story telling abounds, he says with a chuckle, perhaps remembering a few of his own tall tales.

Racks hang from the ceiling, each identified with a tag, while the hides are tanned. Here Ogden holds a rack off a white tail deer. The widest brought in this season, it measures 24 inches across.

Fish Pond Management Provides Good Fishing

Almost everyone who enjoys a good fishing lake requires proper management to insure a good quantity and quality of fish, said Steve Gelwick with the Soil Conservation Service.

Physical features such as site and depth will determine the stocking rate and the pounds of fish a lake will maintain. Supplemental feeding or fertilizing can increase the pounds of fish that can be maintained.

TREC Forms For State Industry

Texas industry and labor leaders have banded together in forming a broad-based organization concerned with economic and environmental matters across the state. The Texas Resources & Environmental Council (TREC) has headquarters in Austin and will serve as a clearinghouse for information on industry-related environmental matters.

"For many years industries have been getting their technology toward producing the most practical, economical and efficient product the consumer will buy, but now we have started pursuing another angle and are concentrating on getting these products back from the consumer to the manufacturer," said Robert Gamm, TREC chairman.

The goal of TREC is to develop and communicate to the public as well as to our members a system for maximum resource utilization. Gamm said, "We have successful recycling, litter reduction, solid waste and source recovery systems operating all over the state, but now they exist on an individual basis," he said. "By joining TREC, the industries have committed themselves to making the public aware of how industry and the public can work together to help prevent any problems," Gamm said.

TREC is comprised of members of the glass, steel, aluminum, plastic, paper, brewing, soft drink and other related industries as well as labor and trade associations. TREC has no legislative or judicial authority, but Gamm believes the council can have a positive effect on the Texas environment. "I believe the public will react affirmatively and favorably once they know how they can help remove some of the causes for environmental problems," he said. "TREC can never be a complete answer in itself, but if we are able to accomplish our goal of educating the public, we believe the people of Texas will determine what is best for the state," he said. "Then TREC can help them carry out their chosen solutions."

Best Buys This Week

COLLEGE STATION. Best buys at Texas grocery markets this week are fryer chickens and several fresh fruits and vegetables. Mrs. Owendayne Ciyatt reports:

Farm Bureau Federation Now In Session

WACO. Some 125 Texans will attend the 60th annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation Jan. 14-18 in Miami Beach, according to Carol Chaloupka, president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Chaloupka, Daliart, grain and cattle producer, will head the 16-member steering delegation. TFB has that number of voting delegates by virtue of its 1978 membership of 228,079, third largest state Farm Bureau in the nation. Policies to guide the three-million-member AFBF will be formulated at its Miami Beach convention. Several recommendations from the Texas Farm Bureau were forwarded to the TFB's convention in late November in Dallas.

Main speakers at the AFBF meeting will be former California Governor Ronald Reagan; Ambassador Robert S. Strauss, President Carter's special representative for trade negotiations; and AFBF President Allan Grant of Visalia, Calif.

Texas will play a prominent part in the national convention. Chaloupka will be chairman of a conference on group purchasing. Uvacek, Jr., Texas Agricultural Extension livestock marketing specialist, will address the livestock conference on the subject of "Livestock and the Meat Situation."

In addition, the TFB's 1978 Outstanding Young Farmer, Thomas E. Baber and his wife, Dianne, of Waller in Harris County, will represent Texas in the competition to select the nation's Outstanding Young Farmer/Rancher of the year. Baber's operation consists of peanuts, soybeans, and beef cattle.

Other official representatives from Texas will be winners of the state competition for Queen, Talent, Find, and Discussion Meet.

The TFB Queen, Melissa Lane Cooper, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cooper of Edna, Jackson County, will be presented along with other state winners at a recognition program. There is no national Queen contest.

The Talent winner, 16-year-old Sandy Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hudson of Canton, Van Zandt County, will perform with other state finalists in the national Talent Find. There is no national winner chosen.

Bruce Dugger, a young farmer from Robstown in Nueces County, will represent the Texas Farm Bureau in the national Discussion Meet final.

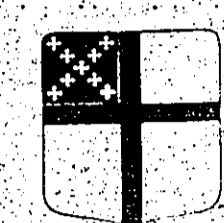

The TFB convention delegates in late November approved a long list of recommendations for national policy. Included were resolutions dealing with farm programs, inflation, export markets, imports, government regulations, energy, and water.

The farm program recommendation called for beefing up supply with domestic producers would be encouraged to set aside additional acres. In vetches, high target prices, with each producer having options to select the best combination of acreage and target price, which best suits his operation.

Angelina Students Get New Regs.

Students at Angelina College were exposed to a new system of academic procedures and regulations in going from the Fall to Spring semesters. Academic standards were made tougher with expected academic performance based upon cumulative grades rather than on each semester. This change was only one part of a series of changes designed to give students better assistance in reaching their educational goals. In December, the first Fall to Spring pre-registration was held with 700 students taking advantage of the opportunity. The pre-registration as well as the January registration provided each student with the opportunity to see an advisor in his major area for counseling before registering for classes. The advisor will help the student to select proper courses, design a degree program, change majors, assist in choosing a career field, and give advice concerning academic problems.

According to Dr. Frederick Kanke, Director of Admissions & Records, the whole idea is to give guidance to students as they pursue their educational program as well as to make them aware of the job possibilities in their chosen field upon finishing their studies. "The advisor will be a person the student can count on for assistance when necessary." Rather than just allowing a student to follow the catalog, in scheduling courses this new system brings a highly personal aspect into the process of getting a college education. "As many colleges grow, the student tends to find himself in an atmosphere which is more, and more impersonal." At Angelina College we are determined to get it this happen. "Such an advising program can only make Angelina an even better place to undertake a college education because each student will be assisted by a qualified person." Students will be able to pursue their education much more effectively and perhaps find their entire educational experience at A.C. much more rewarding than ever before.

Future plans call for an expansion of the pre-registration and advising system to a full week before registrations. Such a move will serve to enhance the quality of education at A.C. and strengthen its position as an educational institution in the community.

IRA Deadline Given

Qualified workers may make 1978 contributions to Individual Retirement Savings Arrangements (IRAs) until Monday, April 16, 1979, the Internal Revenue Service said. Most taxpayers who have individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs) no longer will be required to file an annual information return to schedule supporting an IRA deduction on Form 1040, according to the new provisions in the Revenue Act of 1978. Only those individuals who owe excess contribution taxes, premature distribution taxes, or taxes on certain accumulations in IRA accounts or annuities will file revised Form 5329, "Return for Individual Retirement Arrangement Taxation."

Since penalties are assessed for excessive contributions, this 3 1/2 month period allows taxpayers to closely calculate and contribute the correct percentage of income, and still be able to deduct it from their 1978 taxable income. IRAs are taxpayer initiated retirement plans set up by workers not covered by qualified pension or retirement plans where they are employed. IRAs also are available to non-working spouses of eligible workers. Many banks, insurance companies, credit unions, and other financial institutions can provide additional information on setting up and maintaining IRAs. In addition, the IRS has a free booklet, "Tax Information on Individual Retirement Savings Programs," which can be ordered by filling out the coupon in the tax package.

I.D. Cards For Priority Cases

For the first time in its history, the Veterans Administration will issue personal identification cards to more than two million service-disabled veterans to emphasize their top priority in obtaining treatment at VA medical centers and outpatient clinics.

The innovative move was ordered by VA Administrator Max Cleland, who said today, "Veterans disabled in the military service are of prime concern to the VA. These identification cards will expedite the medical care they receive and will serve as a constant reminder to our employees as well as to veterans themselves that they are special people entitled to special care from their government."

In a letter to 2,225,000 veterans receiving VA monthly compensation checks for service-connected disabilities, Cleland explained the priority system and enclosed an application blank which veterans are to return to obtain the cards.

The cards, with bold markings "Priority" and "Service-Connected" in a distinctive purple design, will alert staff members in VA facilities that bearers are entitled to special attention.

Veterans needing treatment for conditions not sufficiently covered in service may get VA medical care if they can't afford to go elsewhere and VA facilities are available. Cleland said the new identification system does not remove the need to make appointments for examination or treatment at VA medical centers.

"Making and keeping appointments is still important to veterans seeking health care from the VA. Appointments assure that records are available, that staff is ready and that treatment is given."

Eligible for the cards in addition to those Cleland wrote are another 500,000 veterans with service-connected disabilities for which they are not now being compensated. They will not be contacted by VA but may call the nearest VA regional office or medical center for information. Cleland said the only time a service-connected patient does not get priority attention is when there is an emergency for another patient.

Veteran's Q & A's

Q - I was released from active duty April 30, 1978, with my Servicemen's Group Life Insurance in force. But I did not apply for VGLI within 120 days following separation. Can I apply within one year following the 120-day period, or must I apply for VGLI only within one year following my separation?

A - Application may be made up to one year following the 120 days after separation, but medical questions must be answered. The application for this purpose may be obtained from the Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington St., Newark, N.J. 07102, or from any VA office.

Q - Is there any time limit on when a veteran's widow must apply for burial allowance?

A - Application for burial allowance must be made within two years after the veteran's burial or cremation.

Q - Did the Veterans Housing Benefits Act of 1978 increase the amount of loan guaranty?

A - The maximum home loan guaranty was increased from $17,500 to $25,000. The law provides that guaranty not to exceed 60% of amount of the loan, or $25,000, whichever is less. The effective date of this provision was Oct. 1, 1978.

Q - What is the Veterans Administration "work-study" program?

A - Veterans students enrolled as full-time students may agree to work up to 250 hours per semester for which they are paid a maximum of $660.50. The maximum amount payable will change to $723.00 Jan. 1, 1979, when the new minimum wage provisions become effective. Work sites may be VA regional offices, medical centers, national centers, as well as the college campus at which the veteran is enrolled.

Tourism Workshop Jan. 31

COLLEGE STATION—Boosting tourism in the Lone Star State—that's the essence of a workshop at Texas A&M University Jan. 31—Feb. 1.

The Basic Tourism Workshop will deal with practical aspects involved in developing a quality tourism program, points out Dr. Leslie Reid, head of the Department of Recreation and Parks at Texas A&M. This two-day program will seek to provide practical tools for individuals challenged with tourism development, he notes.

Experts from four major state organizations will focus their energies on tourism development at the workshop—the Discover Texas Association, A&M's Recreation and Parks Department and the Texas Agricultural Exension Service, State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, and Texas Tourist Development Agency. Topics included on the agenda are: "Becoming a Room-Tax City," "Organizing Special Events," "Brochures," "Tourist Bureaus," and "Photography and Publicity."

The first session is slated to begin at noon on Jan. 31, with the program concluding at 1:30 p.m. the following day. The entire workshop will be at the Rudder Center on the A&M Campus.

Information regarding the registration fee and additional details may be obtained from Mrs. Brenda Lee, Recreation and Parks Department, Texas A&M University, College Station, Tex. 77843 (713/845-5419).

On Saturday evening, Jan. 20, the monthly community supper will be served at the Community Center. Bring your covered dish, family and friends and join in this hour of fellowship and feasting.

On Tuesday the ladies of the local homemaking club met at the center for a very informative program, directed by a guest speaker, concerning the planting and pruning of shrubs. Presiding were the newly elected officers: president, Gloria Newsome; vice-president, Emira Harris; secretary, Ruby Youngblood; and secretary, Inez Sturrock.

At the Assembly of God on Sunday were the Evangelists, the Singers of Houston who brought a very inspirational program. Layers of gospel music of this vicinity are reminded of the good singing which may be heard at the convention which is to be in the Woodville High School Auditorium on the next weekend.

Visiting in the homes of Iva Riley and Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Hughes during the week-end were Aurelia Riley of the Woodville Convalescent Center in Woodville and her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Riley of Houston.

Also in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Nowlin was their daughter, Joyce Comie of Dam B who accompanied her parents to Bethany, the old family church and cemetery.

The Associational Workers' Conference met at First Baptist on Tuesday evening. With emphasis on "Brotherhood," a very inspirational program was presented. Bro. Sam Farris, encampment manager, was special speaker for the occasion.

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sturrock were Mr. and Mrs. David Prior and their three daughters of Houston, Elton Sturrock also of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Mildred Anness and her two children of Thornhill and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hayes of Lufkin. The Prior family had just returned from a visit with his parents in Ohio which was extended to include twelve states.

With Willie Mae Gibbs over the weekend were her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Moses of Zavalla and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Buck and son, Jason, of Huntsville.

Mrs. Marvin Fowler and Blanche Harper spent Sunday in Beaumont where they spent some time with Miriam DeCordova who is confined to Schlesenger Nursing Home, due to a stroke followed by a fall.

In a Dallas Hospital is Brenda Davis Derrard transferred from Athens, her home town.

Many hearts of this vicinity were made sorrowful during the past week because of the deaths of the loved ones of our families. On Saturday, Evie Freeman, former resident of Colmesneil who, at the time was employed in Lufkin, was brought back to Colmesneil for burial, accompanied by her pastor, family and many friends. Evie was survived by three daughters, Edna Earl Flowers and Maurine Jones of Diboll and Elsie Miles of Lufkin; and two sons, R.E. of Nederland and Harold of Woodville. Also several grandchildren, nephews and nieces, among whom are Novell Platt and Gladys Powell of Woodville.

A second death is that of Mrs. Irdell Powell, mother of Darlene Brantley of Colmesneil and Kenneth Powell of Houston. An expression of sincere sympathy is extended to the families of these loved ones as well as those of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Hebert whose mother, Mrs. Mary Hebert passed away in Gaspard's Nursing Home of Port Arthur on Sunday.

Returning to his home in Troutlake, Washington, on Monday, was Jamie Stewart who had spent a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart.

Parenting How-Tos

Most people undertake the most important job of their lives - parenting - with little or no training. "Footsteps," a major new 20-part series, is an attempt to help parents come to grips with the challenges of raising children.

Blending drama and documentaries, "Footsteps" confronts many of the issues faced by new and prospective parents and explores alternative solutions and coping strategies.

Each 30-minute program in the series is alternately hosted by two celebrity couples who are themselves parents - Rob Reiner and Penny Marshall; and Mike Farrell and wife Judy.

The foundation of each episode is a 20-minute drama in which a specific problem is dealt with by one of five diverse families: the Sandbergs, white, middle-class working parents with two children; the Marshalls, a black, middle-class family with a working father, a mother at home and two children; the Hornbrenners, a newly-divorced couple with an infant daughter; the Rileys, two rural, working-class teen-agers who are expectant parents; and the Sanchezes, an extended

Aquatic Wonderland

The waters of Mayotte, an island situated in the wide strait that separates Madagascar from the African continent, are the scene of "Exploring the Restless Sea," a fascinating 13-part study of marine life.

The series chronicles a six-month scientific research mission which probed deeply into a strange, often beautiful and sometimes menacing aquatic world.

Through spectacular underwater photography, the series examines many facets of life beneath the ocean. Divers explore the life and death cycle of marine existence as millions of varied species compete for food and space.

They discover a consistent, delicate balance in the food chain - beginning with microscopic algae, then plankton, then schooling fish and, finally, the large predators: 18-foot moray eels, barracudas, sharks and the amazing poisonous puffer fish.

"Exploring the Restless Sea" reveals how some species have developed highly unlikely systems of co-existence. The tiny rasses fish, for instance, swims without fear through the mouth and gills of man-eating sharks.

It feeds on small food particles that would otherwise block the shark's vital passages.

The series goes inside mysterious underwater caves to examine the curiously colorful life forms to be found in total darkness. And it studies the very different aquatic creatures stimulate a child's thinking and learning; the importance of giving children the freedom to express themselves through play; and the necessity of adequate emotional preparation for a child's arrival.

Each drama in the "Footsteps" series is followed by a five-minute documentary, which reinforces and expands upon the dramatic messages through interviews with learning experts and with children and through actual parent group meetings. All are designed to present specific information and skills, which parents may employ in their own homes.

"Footsteps" is accompanied by an extensive series of nonbroadcast materials, including viewer guides, discussion guides for leaders of parent and community groups, and curriculum guides for teachers and students in junior and senior high school.

The series, developed with the assistance of several prominent education and communication authorities, was successfully tested in six markets prior to national distribution.

Parts of the Mayotte coral reef are above the water level, creating an environment well suited for marine life which has taken its first step toward existence on land. One of the 30-minute episodes is devoted entirely to these strange creatures - walking fish plants that have breathing roots growing up instead of down, and spitting shrimp which hunt from trees.

"Exploring the Restless Sea," produced by West Germany's Studio Hamburg, is presented on public television by the Oregon Educational Public Broadcasting Service. Funding is provided by public television stations.

TV Star Scene

There could be gravy days ahead on TV for regional sleuths. Sonny Bono bowed last week in the pilot of his projected NBC series, which called for a trip to Nashville.

Word is that CBS is fingering Robert Conrad: one of the splash-to-icy gaze and quick fists, as a Chicago-based nucleus of bad guys, Chicago, incidentally, is his real home town.

Ironically, this makes a full circle for Conrad who a few years ago hoped his TV movie, "Nick Carter," would spin into a series. Others in the plot were up to skullduggery. Nick, up to his bowler hat in street-wise integrity, was out to foil them. The setting was turn-of-the-century. The mood was snappy and nobody was more baffled or disappointed than Bob when a weekly version didn't develop. The casting was perfect. Or, as he said at the time, "I could have phoned in my performance."

If we had a clown-of-the-year award to bestow, Tim Conway would be the winner. In case you missed the credits of his recent comedy special (a foretaste of his forthcoming series) it was put together by his company, and was "A Dunny Production."

The Lowdown on Dawber and Williams

Ever since Mork beamed down from the planet Ork, ABC's "Mork and Mindy" has been an out-of-this-world success. The series, about an extraterrestrial explorer sent to scout out Earth, stars Robin Williams as Orkan Mork and Pam Dawber as Earthling Mindy.

Mork has taken up residence in Boulder, Colo., where he has been taken in by 21-year-old Mindy. As a neophyte Earthling, Mork relies on Mindy to teach him human ways. The couple rises as he tries to assimilate our confusing customs.

Robin Williams has stolen the hearts of television viewers with his Orkan gibberish and his talent for mime. His portrayal of the quizzical alien Mork helped "Mork & Mindy" to top ABC's list of new shows this year.

Robin became a stand-up comedian as a "creative release" when he returned to San Francisco after three years of drama studies at The Juillard School in New York City and found a scarcity of acting opportunities.

During his first year as a San Francisco club performer, Williams appeared at the Holy City Zoo, Intersect, the Great American Music Hall and The Boardinghouse.

In Los Angeles, he continued to perform as a stand-up comedian at the Comedy Store, Improvisation and the Ice House.

His first television appearance was on "Laugh-In" followed by "The Great American Laugh Off." He then guested on ABC's "Happy Days" as a visitor from another planet in "My Favorite Orkan," the episode which prompted the current fall series "Mork and Mindy."

He also appeared on "America Tonight," several Canadian shows including "Ninety Minutes Live" and "The Alan Hamel Show."

He performed in a feature film, "The Last Laugh" for the American Film Institute and has also done several commercials.

Williams married Valerie Velardi, a dancer, in San Francisco on June 4, 1973.

His avocational interests include cross-country running, yoga, roller skating and dance exercises.

The other half of the "Mork and Mindy" comedy team is straight woman Pam Dawber.

Although Pam is all but eclipsed by Robin Williams' comedic talent, she provides a contrast — and a very pretty one at that — to Mork's zaniness.

Mindy's job in her father's music store is as far as Pam gets to exercising her four-octave soprano voice on the series.

A native of Farmington,

Mich., Pam moved to New York City to stretch her experience as a model and actress. While modeling and appearing in television commercials for a number of national products, she also was taking acting and voice lessons.

Pam's first professional performance was in a lead role in "Sweet Adeleine" at the Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam, Conn. During the run, she met with Robert Altman in New York City and was immediately signed for his feature, "A Wedding."

After performing in a mini-version of "Sweet Adeleine" in New York City at the Players Club, Gramercy Park, she went to the West Coast to screen test for the "Tabitha" series. Although she did not get the part, this led to other auditions, a contract in June 1977 and the lead in an ABC comedy special, "Sister Terri."

Although she plans to maintain apartments in New York City and Los Angeles, "home" to Miss Dawber is a rustic cabin on the Delaware River in upstate New York.

She enjoys canoeing, cooking, skiing and is an expert horsewoman. Her other interests include swimming, body surfing and water skiing. She also likes to read, particularly in the field of health foods and nutrition.

In a recent appearance on ABC's "Kids Are People Too," Pam revealed that co-worker Williams is "as crazy offstage as he is on" and that she is completely "hooked" on her new health food diet.

Conrad Janis plays Mindy's father, Frederick McConnell, and Elizabeth Kerr appears as Mindy's grandmother, Cora Hudson.

Cicely Tyson

Cicely Tyson has been signed for a starring role in "Airport '79 Concorde." She'll play a young mother flying to Paris to be with her young son who is to undergo a heart transplant operation.

PBS is a stage

PBS, in conjunction with the BBC, will begin "The Shakespeare Plays" on Feb. 14. Over the next six years, all 36 of the Bard's works will be presented.

The first entry is "Julius Caesar" with Charles Gray as Caesar and Richard Pasco as Marcus Brutus. On Feb. 28th, Helen Mirren stars as Rosalind in "As You Like It."

Skiing-celebs

Recording stars Mac Davis, Kristy and Jimmy McNichol, "Battlestar Galactica" star Richard Hatch and talk show host Phil Donahue will take to the slopes for John Denver's "2nd Annual Celebrity Pro-Am Ski Tournament" at Heavenly Valley, Calif., Feb. 23-25.

The tournament will air as an ABC Sports Special on March 25.

Lending an ear

PBS launched "Rainbow's End," a special series for hearing-impaired children, on Friday, Jan. 8. The six-part series provides positive role models and teaches basic reading and language skills for children.

Set in a fictitious television studio run by the hearing-impaired cast, the program includes captioning, voice-over narration, and American sign language.
