Gray Wins .10-Year Clock Lease

After several months of battle between the City of Houston and Clyde F. Gray of Heritage Village in Woodville a settlement has been reached.

It all started in 1957 when Gray found an old clock in a junkyard in Shepherd, Texas. After much research it was found to be the clock built in 1903 by the Seth Thomas Company of Connecticut for the City Hall and Market Square of Houston.

When the clock was removed from the old City Hall building and put in storage in 1940, it was apparently forgotten. There are some records of it having been moved from place to place but it eventually disappeared until it was found by Gray in 1977.

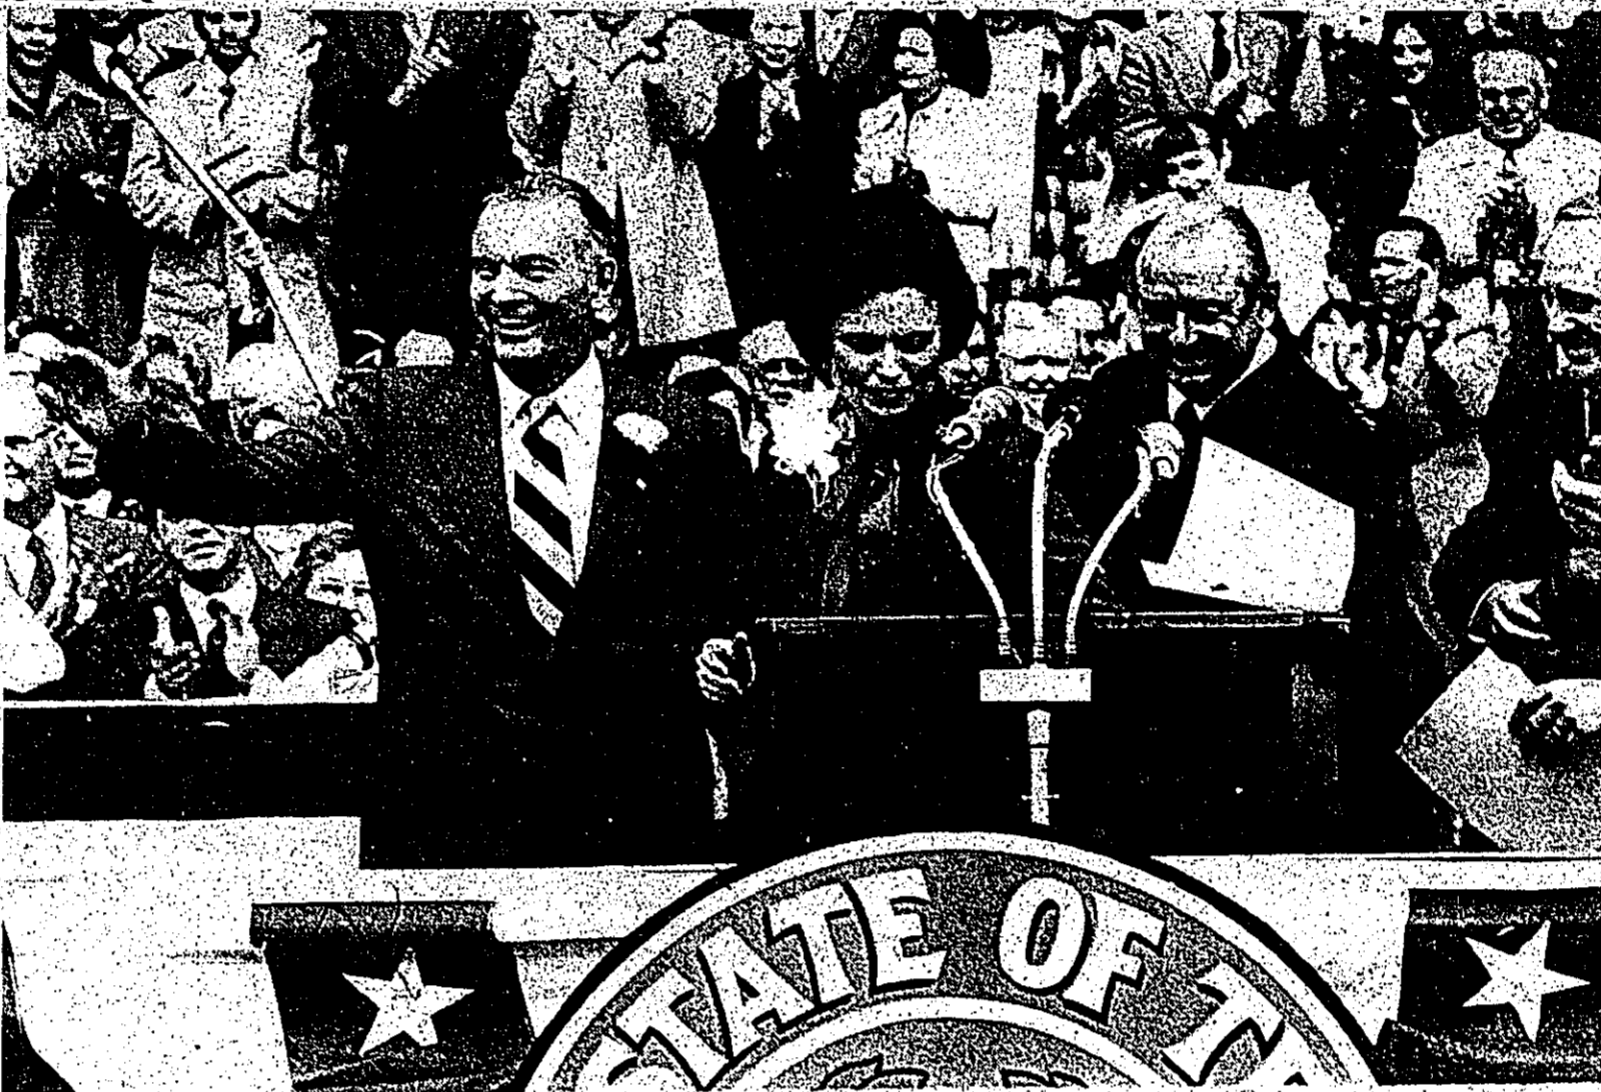

In its years of wandering and being moved many of the valuable parts of the clock were lost. The largest piece of the clock that was lost was a two thousand eight hundred pound bell.

When bells were cast back in the 1880's the casting material contained about twenty percent silver. The silver was put in to give the proper tone to the bell. So a bell of this size would have about 170 pounds of silver and at today's price of about $500 per Troy ounce the silver in the bell would be worth between ten and twelve thousand dollars, not to mention the other metals.

Gray hopes that eventually he will be able to find the bell to add to the clock.

The old historical Houston clock, has reappeared in the form of a giant mantel clock at Heritage Village in Woodville, Texas and because of Gray's battle to keep it has become known all over the country. The City of Houston now has given Gray a ten-year lease for $1,000, with an option for renewal for another ten years for another $1,000, making a total of twenty years. After five years or in 1984, if a historical organization in Houston raises, around one-half a million dollars and builds a monument or building suitable for the clock, Gray will let them have it. Until the money is raised and the building constructed the clock will remain where it is. So, Gray says, come to Woodville and see this spectacular that everyone is talking about.

GOVERNOR WAVES TO CROWD-The first Republican Governor in the State of Texas in over 100 years, Bill Clements is shown waving to the Austin crowd which attended his swearing-in ceremony, January 9. The crowd, which numbered about 10,000 persons heard Clements tell the crowd that he expects to trim state expenditures and cut taxes and let the people of Texas have more involvement in the operation of their government.

Judges At Seminar

County judges from across the Deep East Texas region gathered Thursday, Jan. 18 in Tulsa for a one-day seminar sponsored jointly by the Deep East Texas Council of Governments and the Deep East Texas MHR Service.

The seminar, held in central administrative offices of Deep East Texas MHR on South Midland Drive, was conducted in an informal workshop atmosphere with each of the participants given an opportunity to share experiences and to answer the questions of incoming judges.

Subjects discussed included law and procedure relating to probate, revenue sharing, court administration and the needs of old and mentally retarded.

Participants in the judges' seminar included Paul Mason, attorney for the Texas Department of Mental Health, Mental Retardation, Paul Kaufman, acting superintendent of Rust State Hospital, Judge Kemp, regional director of Texas Department of Human Resources, James Soules, County and Rural Services Division, Texas Department of Community Affairs, J. D. A. Coyle, deputy state treasurer, George Harrison for the TDCG, and Charles Lawrence of the Texas AAM Extension Service.

Fourteen judges attended the seminar.

Judge Wayne Baker, Polk County; Judge David Cook, Angelina County; Court at Law Judge Dan Dunning, Trinity County; Judge Lee Roy Hillman, Newton County; Judge Johnnie Johnson, Shelby County; Judge Dan Jones, Angelina County; and Harold Kennedy, Jasper County.

Also attending were Judge Eugene M. McElvay, Houston County; Court at Law Judge Ray Martin, Hardin County; Judge Herbert Morgan, Houston County; Judge Royce Smith, Sabine County; Judge Allen Starbuck, Tyler County; Judge Van C. Teel, San Augustine County; and Judge Ove Westmoreland, Navarro County.

Post Office Location Sought

WOODVILLE-The U.S. Postal Service is seeking a suitable site upon which to build and lease a new post office building in Woodville, Postmaster Bruce Latiolais said here.

The "preferred area" for site consideration is within a one-mile radius of the present post office located at the corner of Wheat and Charlton Streets.

Minimum site size needed is 30,000 sq. ft., or a lot with dimensions of approximately 150 ft. by 200 ft.

Property owners are asked to submit their site offerings not later than February 15, 1979, to Ray F. Barnes, realty management and acquisition specialist, Dallas Real Estate and Buildings Office, U.S. Postal Service, P.O. Drawer 239, Dallas, Texas 75221.

After a suitable site has been located, the Postal Service will call for construction bids for a building that will be built with private funds and leased to the Postal Service over a period of 30 years.

The proposed new post office will have approximately 4,440 sq. ft. of interior floor space.

DETDA To Meet Jan. 26

J.L. Baird, President of the Deep East Texas Development Association announced today that the regular monthly meeting of the Association will be held January 26, 1979 at the Meeting Room in the First National Bank in San Augustine, Texas. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 10:00 A.M. The directors, members and guests of the Association will hear reports from the State & Federal Agencies and from several County Chairmen from the eight-county area.

The principal speaker for this monthly meeting will be Mr. Richard J. Klemp, Regional Legislative Director for the Glass Packaging Institute in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Klemp has a bachelor's degree in journalism from UCLA. Before joining the Glass Packaging Institute in 1977 as Regional Legislative Director, he was staff assistant in Washington to California Congressman Jim Lloyds and has been political editor and managing editor of newspapers in California, Maryland and Virginia. His position with the Glass Packaging Institute involves legislative responsibilities in 18 central states.

At recent meetings of the Association, the problems of litter on highway right-of-way has received much attention. The "bottle bills" have come up and the Legislative Committee of DETDA has looked at comprehensive litter legislation. Mr. Klemp should be able to give some alternatives for decreasing the litter along the highways of our beautiful part of the State.

Members of the DETDA and guests are all urged to attend this informative meeting. The Deep East Texas Development Association office which is located at 508 Augustine in the One Nine ten Building is open three days a week, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9:00 A.M. until 4:00 P.M.

At Chamber Banquet Friday

Final preparations for the Chamber of Commerce Annual Banquet are being completed in time for the event to be held this Friday, Jan. 26 at 7 p.m. at the Woodville High School Cafeteria.

Featured speaker for the event will be O. Ray Hurst, CAE, President of the Texas Hospital Association from Austin.

Hurst has held the position of chief executive officer since 1956. A graduate of Tenaha High School, he received his BBA with Honors from Stephen F. Austin University in Nacogdoches, Texas, in 1949.

He is extremely active in the American Hospital Association. In December 1976 he completed serving a three-year term as Chairman of the Council on Legislation and is currently serving a three-year term on the Council on Allied Associations (1978-80). A member of the American Society of Association Executives, he has been designated a Certified Association Executive (CAE) and has served as Vice President and also a Director of that organization. He has also served as Secretary-Treasurer of the Texas Society of Association Executives and in June of 1978 was elected to serve as Vice President. In addition to numerous other professional and civic activities, he has been a member of the United States Chamber of Commerce's Association Committee of 100 since 1972, and in December 1977 completed seven years of service as a member of the Board of Directors of the Citizens National Bank of Austin.

He served several state appointments, by governors Preston Daniel, John Connally, Preston Smith and Dolph Briscoe and has participated in national invitational conferences, under Presidents Eisenhower and Johnson, as

Rotary Club Project Will Beautify Town

The Rotary Club Beautification Committee is instructing a project to beautify Woodville where the members will be selling crepe myrtle trees, reds and whites, 3 to 4 feet high at $5 per plant. According to Jiggs Kennesson, a coordinator of the project persons who wish to receive a tree may do so by calling Betty McDonald at J.B. Best and Company at 283-2124.

Persons are asked to leave their names and addresses and are instructed to place a stake in the ground where they would like the crepe myrtle tree planted. Rotarians will try to get the trees planted in the early part of February, said Kennesson.

The crepe myrtle trees will bloom this spring and persons who are interested are asked to get their requests in early due to the limited number of plants.

Pageants Co-hosts

Fowler, Latiolais

Rhonda Fowler is to be Mistress of Ceremonies for the fourth annual Miss Tyler County on February 3, 1979.

Rhonda is the reigning Miss Huntsville, 1978 and was 1976 Miss Tyler County. In 1977 she was Miss Southeast Texas in the Miss Texas U.S.A. Pageant and was third runner-up to Miss Texas. Rhonda is a Junior at Sam Houston University in Huntsville where she is majoring in Home Economics. She was named President's Pick and is on the Deans List. She is in the Fashion Merchandising Club and American Home Economics Association.

Co-Host for the Pageant is Bruce Latiolais, Postmaster of Woodville, and is originally from Groves, Texas. He is a graduate of Bishop Byrnes High School, Port Arthur, Texas and attended college at Lamar University. Bruce began his Postal career in Groves in 1961, advancing through the ranks and promoted as Officer-in-charge, Nome, Texas, 1972-73; served as Postmaster, Kountze, Texas, 1973-77; appointed as Postmaster, Woodville, Texas in July 1977. Bruce and his family are newcomers to Tyler County. They moved to Woodville in January, 1978 and he is a welcome addition to our pageant. He is married to the former Janis Warren of Port Arthur, Texas, and they have one daughter and two sons. He is a member and

This committee also has jurisdiction over the State Board of Insurance, including its organization, powers, functions, and responsibilities.

T-Wheeler

By Allan Miller

T-WHEELER What is the loudest sound you ever heard in your life? In the middle of the night? The one in the Miller house? A little bit more... never really in its nature, and that is the basis for this tale. The T-W was usually quiet during the daylight hours. Just sat there in all its portly splendor. A gleaming monument to man's inventive genius. True it is vented by some enormous group as a waste of water, but my knowledge has been a bit more. I have a reasonable suspicion that there is some noise coming out of it.

It's time to check for noise. I had a very good idea of my compressor's status. It was a little noisy, but I know it was a good one. I had a good idea of its status. I had a good idea of its status. I had a good idea of its status. I had a good idea of its status.

State Senator Roy Blake Human Resources Committee To Study Legislation

As reported to you last week, I have been appointed to the Senate Committee on Human Resources. This committee will consider all forms of social legislation, some of which is of great concern to our area.

The Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation (MHMR) is severely understaffed. The committee will consider legislation to increase the number of state-funded beds for the mentally retarded.

MHMR is unable to cover adequately in this area because they are so varied. One of the goals of MHMR in 1979 is to eliminate the waiting list for admission to state schools for the mentally retarded.

The Federal Government has provided a number of grants to the state to help it deal with the needs of the handicapped. The committee will study these grants and determine if they are being used to the best advantage.

Postmen Are People

Dear Editor: Postmen are persons who deliver the mail in all kinds of weather, sleet, snow, rain, humidity, cold, hot or even hurricanes. They are people, some friendly dogs, some not, Woodville has good postmen, especially one, who is always smiling and goes out of his way to find the right person for the mail. His name is John Rector. Thanks John!

THE CONSUMER ALERT

By Mark White Attorney General

When antitrust violations are found, they may result in a fine of up to $1 million or imprisonment for up to 3 years.

Under Texas antitrust law, the State is entitled to civil penalties of between $50 and $1500 for each violation of the law. Or, the Attorney General may proceed under federal antitrust laws which are more stringent.

The way in which our Consumer Protection Unit, enables an injured party to collect the benefits of a Texas consumer's welfare. It is well known that three times the amount of damage in each case, an antitrust suit would be more beneficial to consumers.

That is because Texas consumers and the Texas State are entitled to the full benefits of a private cause of action to recover their losses. Antitrust laws are neither anti-business laws nor effort to regulate business or interfere with free enterprise. As a matter of fact, enforcement of our antitrust laws can benefit all legitimate businesses as well as all consumers who are injured by price fixing, cartels, and other restraints on trade.

If you are a consumer who has been injured by price fixing, cartels, or other restraints on trade, you should contact our Consumer Protection Unit immediately. Division. If you need a consumer complaint, you can also contact the division, or your county or district attorney.

Anti Nuclear Movement Seen As Energy Power Threat

While America needs increased electric power production for economic growth, the nation's utilities continue to encounter opposition and harassment from a variety of sources. Certainly, it's not the business of a power company or a telephone company to provide free services comparable with food stamps or other social welfare expenditures.

Info Released For Vietnam Era Vets

A new statistical profile of the 8.7 million men and women in military service during the Vietnam Era is available in a Veterans Administration report. "Data on Vietnam Era Veterans" shows that 43.4 percent of the youngest group of veterans, those who served from 1964 to 1968, are 31.9 years of age on the average.

A Journey By Oxcart: 1854

Heinrich Otto Mackensen spent his late adolescence and early manhood as a sailor on German merchant ships. After several voyages to America, he decided to leave the sea and settle in the United States. Like many young adventurous German men of his time, he selected Texas as his new home.

Arriving in Galveston together with his friend Edmund Ebeling, Mackensen immediately began to look for a way to travel inland, where he hoped to find work as a farm laborer. In the remoteness which he wrote in 1903, "Experiences Recorded for His Descendants," Mackensen told of his journey by oxcart from Houston to Austin, Texas. This journey of about seventy miles required, in the winter of 1854, exactly one week of hard travel.

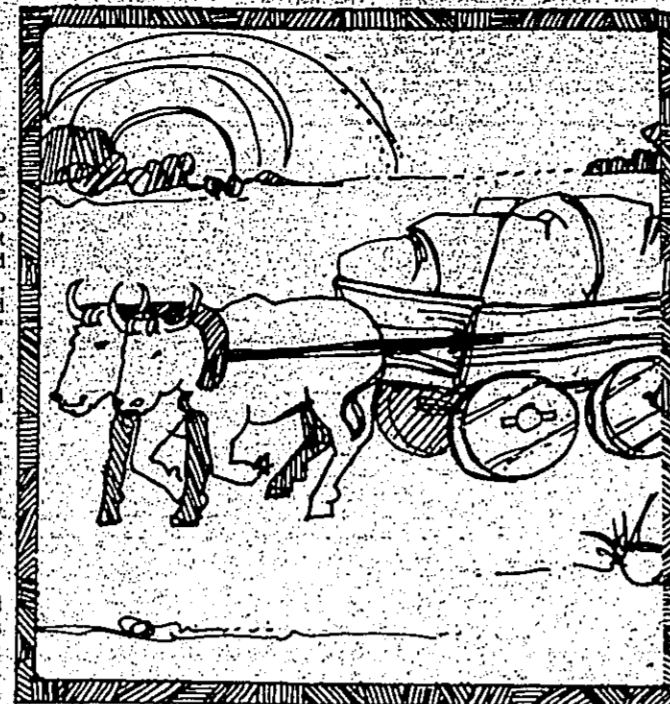

"We could get only heavy wagons pulled by eight to twelve oxen . . . and even these were rare considering the large number of new-comers. The owner of the wagon and oxen was Karl Oldendorf, a veteran of the Mexican War who later became my brother-in-law. . . ."

"Of such a trip in an oxcart wagon as we started on Christmas Day in 1854, no one who has ever undertaken such a journey can have a conception. These wagons, piled high with merchandise and covered with a wagon sheet as tight as possible to protect the goods from rain, were a sight to see. Like a good neighbor, the oxen were treated in the best of ways. These wagons moved

Broadus Man Charged In Arson Case

A Broadus cabinet maker caught in the act of setting fires on the Angelina National Forest was sentenced on January 12 to two years imprisonment by U.S. District Judge Joe Fisher of Houston.

Charged with arson by officers of the U.S. Forest Service, the offender pleaded guilty in federal court and was ordered to serve out the sentence with 60 days confinement in the Beaumont county jail and five years probation.

The San Augustine county resident was arrested on August 15, 1978, when spotted by Forest Service aircraft on routine fire patrol over the national forests.

The willfully set fires destroyed nearly nine acres of a young forest plantation and cost the government $835 to extinguish the flames.

Texas leads In Oil, Gas Royalties

State Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said today a survey of states which receive income from lease of state lands shows Texas led the nation last year with almost $400 million in oil and gas royalties, bonuses and rentals.

Armstrong, as chairman of a Western States Land Commissioners committee on fair return for use of public land, prepared the survey for presentation at a meeting of commissioners tomorrow in Reno, Nev.

Texas received $261 million in oil and gas royalties from production on state-owned lands last year. 86 million in other mineral royalties, $93 million in bonuses paid by oil and gas com-

Loans Ok'd For Fuel Conversion Techniques

WASHINGTON—The Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) today approved two loan guarantees to finance pilot projects that will convert agricultural and forestry products into fuel and other energy sources. This makes a total of three projects contingently approved by CCC.

Current legislation provides for loan guarantees of up to $15 million for a maximum of four pilot energy projects. . . .

New Life's Nutritions Still Not Clear To Public

The role played by heredity in the life of a newborn is accepted and understood, but the prominence of nutrition in the development and perpetuation of a new life is still not clear to the general public.

Yet, proper nutrition for the mother during pregnancy can have a life-long effect on the mental and physical development of the child, says Dr. Raymond T. Moore, Commissioner of the Texas Department of Health.

Lamar Rome Trip Application Now Being Taken

BEAUMONT—The application deadline for Lamar University's Rome summer program has been extended to Feb. 2. Dr. Andrew Johnson, director of the university travel study program, announced today. Johnson, more than half of the limited reservations have been filed for the June 4-July 14 trip.

Focus On Fred

BY VIRGINIA ARGENALIK "LET ME ENTERTAIN YOU" would certainly serve as the theme song for the group of young ladies that will be entering the Twirling Contest in Warren next month.

Quite proudly that each girl has already won either medals or trophies at one of the past contests which they have entered.

Sonya Moore and Tanya McInnis have done exceptionally well. The group will also be marching in the Dogwood Parade in Woodville.

Many long years ago when this writer was a twirler, the emphasis was on military maneuvers. We worked long and hard on routines to march to while the Warren Band would beat out "March about that time, and we had many good times along with the hard work. . . ."

Ramblin' 'Round Rockland

BY ALLOHA FREELAND Greetings from Rockland, again. It's been a week filled with sickness and sadness in our area as many of our group are either in hospital or attempting to recover from death of a loved one or some sort of tragedy.

Feed Beef Herd According to Need

COLLEGE STATION—For sound winter nutrition programs, beef cattle must be fed according to their individual requirements to achieve proper maintenance and production of the herd.

"This means that cattle should know the nutritional requirements of their herd and those factors influencing those requirements, so they can separate cattle into groups and feed accordingly," points out Dr. Larry Boleman.

More Employed In 1978

A strengthening Texas economy saw more people at work during 1978 than in the previous year.

The Texas Employment Commission, in its annual report, says that the Texas labor force passed six million in four months of the year, and that actual employment rose more than 4 percent.

The bottom line is a 5.1 percent jobless rate for the state, one of the lower ones in the nation and well under the 5.8 percent national jobless rate.

At fiscal year-end, about 6,041,200 people among Texas' 13 million were either working or were between jobs looking for work. 5.7 million of the former and over 300,000 of the latter, the Commission estimates.

Efforts to place people in jobs, a basic function of the Commission, were successful in that 480,916 job placements were posted, an increase of 4.3 percent over 1977. Non-farm job placements showed the largest increase. Agricultural placements were down 5 percent.

The Commission continued to emphasize services to employers and to apply for more than 200,000 job openings. Even though the state is still short of 500,000 jobs, the Commission is optimistic about the future.

On an annual basis, the Texas economy showed steady improvement in its unemployment rate which was at 5.8 percent in 1978, dropped to 5.1 in 1979, then went to the year-end 5.1.

Manufacturing wages and salaries, employment gained 4.9 percent over the year, led by manufacturing with 950,200 at the end of the fiscal year. Increases in non-electrical machinery, electronic and electronic equipment, and transportation equipment led the growth.

Non-manufacturing employment was on the rise, leading increases in mining and government.

Agricultural employment continued to decline, hitting 210,300 at the end of the year.

The average production worker in Texas manufacturing was earning $5.95 per hour for a 40.8 hour week in August of 1978, an average weekly wage of $242.76. A year earlier, it was $5.41, or $222.35.

1978 was also a signal year for unemployment insurance developments.

Fewer people filed claims for the regular state jobless benefits—almost 40,000 fewer than 1977, and so benefits paid out dropped by $7 million plus, to $140.8 million.

Payroll tax payments by the 224 employers into the Texas Unemployment Compensation Fund, which finances jobless benefits, brought the fund balance to $133,784,000, a high enough to trigger a tax rate reduction for some employees not already paying the minimum rate in 1979. About 77 percent of the experienced employees of the state are already paying the minimum tax rate of 1.10 of one percent.

A recession-era Federal unemployment benefit program, Special Unemployment Assistance, was terminated by Federal legislation June 30, 1978.

An estimated 245,000 Texans received some regular state jobless benefits in fiscal 1978.

TEC continued to decentralize and computerize its local offices and operations during the year.

Major metropolitan centers now use several "satellite" offices to accommodate people and industries moving from the central city. Several such offices were added during the year.

Dallas' Worth now has a Job Service Matching System (JMS) which uses keywords to describe hiring requirements and applicant qualifications for computer processing. Houston will have such a system next year, while Austin has a batch employer-oriented system and San Antonio is getting one.

The Commission is installing a statewide telecommunication network to permit on-line collection, processing and distribution of data to increase and expedite service by the field offices.

Bentsen Introduces Beef Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Senator Lloyd Bentsen on Monday reintroduced with minor modification his counter-cyclical beef import bill which was vetoed by the President last year.

The modification increases somewhat the President's authority to raise import quotas established by the bill.

The President has said that he must have authority to increase imports to protect consumers when domestic supplies are inadequate. The counter-cyclical import formula in my bill is intended to do this, but he still wishes to retain his authority just in case," Bentsen said in remarks accompanying the legislation.

This new version of my bill will allow this. When domestic beef supplies are abundant the President could raise the quotas only in case of a national emergency or natural disaster. But the bill would leave the President his existing authority when domestic supplies are short and the counter-cyclical formula is increasing imports.

The Bentsen counter-cyclical beef import bill, which would replace the pro-cyclical Meat Import Act of 1964 - was given overwhelming approval by Congress last year. It was passed 298-66 in the House and by voice vote in the Senate. The President vetoed the measure after Congress adjourned.

The counter-cyclical approach proposed by Bentsen would allow fewer beef imports into this country when domestic supplies are abundant and more imports when domestic supplies dwindle. The pro-cyclical approach in the existing law has the reverse effect, allowing more imports as domestic supplies increase.

In 1979 we must again seek a solution to problems created by the current meat import law, which has worsened the situation of both consumers and cattlemen, by magnifying the "boom and bust" cycle of the cattle market, Bentsen said.

"This problem has gone from bad to worse and we do a disservice to the country if we sweep it under the rug because a bill was vetoed. I have come back today with another bill which endeavors to reach a more workable arrangement on the question of presidential discretion," Senator Bentsen said.

Plan Before Eating Out

COLLEGE STATION - Avoid a wasteful disaster when eating out by planning in advance, a foods and nutrition specialist, Marjory Haggard, advises.

Remember extra calories do count and they do add-up, she points out. Miss Haggard is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

So, keep the following suggestions in mind: "When eating lunch out regularly, plan smaller morning and evening meals."

"When eating a late evening meal out, eat a light snack such as a piece of fruit, a small cube of cheese or a couple of crackers earlier in the evening to curb appetite."

"Read menus carefully selecting entrees that are broiled, baked or grilled. Avoid items which are prepared with breadings, sauces and gravies."

Remove breadings from fried meats and discard. "Select plain vegetables. Cut baked potatoes in half and eat only one portion. Limit butter or margarine to one pat and season to taste. Decline sour cream, cheese and bacon bits."

"Green salads are an excellent slimming choice. Ask for dressing on the side. Use only enough to lightly moisten and flavor the salad. Better yet, request vinegar or lemon juice for the salad. Limit intake of extra bread servings by asking that the server not leave bread baskets on the table. Instead of cocktails try a fruit or vegetable juice. Ask that plates be removed immediately after finishing and do not return to buffet lines for second servings. Immediately after finishing, select the smaller burger or fish dinner. Remove butter from fried chicken to save calories. This creates a pizza in lower in calories than thicker crust pizzas."

Reed Visits China

SAN FRANCISCO—Martha Reed, director of public information of Lamar University and first vice president of the National Federation of Press Women, is in the People's Republic of China for a 16-day tour of the country with which the U.S. re-established diplomatic relations on Jan. 1. Reed had been planning the trip for press women for three years, but was unable to acquire visas for journalists until this year.

Pete Smith, U.S. State Department specialist on the People's Republic of China, said the women should be greeted with cordial good will on their arrival in Kwangchow, the port of entry.

There are 14 NFPW members on the seminar tour which spent three days in Hong Kong before crossing to Kowloon and the Chinese border. Once inside China, the itinerary was uncertain, but was expected to include visits to universities and grade schools, trading, industrial centers and agricultural communities.

The group expects to visit Shanghai, Nanjing, Kowloon and Peking. They have planned a "junk" with a television officer, Leonard Winkler, who is expected to be named U.S. ambassador to the People's Republic of China by President Carter.

Among those on the tour are Carol Griffin, Arkansas Press Women president and state House reporter in Little Rock; Dorothy Adams, feature writer for the Milwaukee Sentinel; Maybeth Clark, managing editor of the Geneva Gazette in LaCrosse, Wis.; Beverly Reese, co-publisher of the Loveland Color Reporter; Herald, Emilio Lepthien, children's author from Chicago; Harv Branson, Smith of Lexington, Miss., publisher and Pulitzer prize winning editor; and her husband, Walter Smith, public school administrator; Earlene Oberly, feature editor of the Washburn, Ind. Plain Dealer; author Upar Brown of Lawton, Okla.; Cornelia Bowers, medical writer of Summit, N.J.; Norma Sumerville, educator in Boulder, Colo.; Dora White of Champaign, Ill., retired publisher; and Louise Donegan of Fort Arthur.

The group will leave China Jan. 16 for Tokyo where they will meet with Mike Mansfield, former U.S. Senator from Montana and new ambassador to the People's Republic of China.

"We hope to get an overview of life styles among the people of China," Reed said. "We want to know how they live, what they are doing about education and how they are feeling about 900 million people."

The group also wants to know the prospects for Chinese investment in American industry. Reed said that she has announced four major goals in bringing the country up to full development by the year 2000. China has announced a "New Long March" for developing technology, agriculture, science and industry and defense, also called "The Four Modernizations."

According to the Jan. 1, 1979 issue of Time magazine which named Teng, "Man of the Year," the "normalization of relationships opens potentially lucrative avenues of trade and new perspectives on world politics, even though it will be a long time before Peking joins Washington and Moscow as a capital of first-rank global power," Time wrote.

The press women first writers to enter China as a group, will have further reports on their return.

Wins Scholarship

BEAUMONT—Karen Brunow McLane of Jasper, winner of a South-East Texas Press Club scholarship, was an honor graduate from the College of Fine Arts of Lamar University, graduation ceremonies Saturday, Dec. 23.

Dr. DeWitt Holland, head of the department of communications, said she was "an outstanding student."

She received a Bachelor of Science in Journalism. She plans to become employed in the area.

Dr. Holland said, "She was active on the University Press, is married and is the mother of two children."

Jones Has Job On Graduation

BEAUMONT—Larry Jones, graduate of Lamar University, has a job waiting for him. He plans to leave Lamar with a letter in his pocket because a figment injury sidelined him, but with a certificate showing he's completed a two-year course in diesel mechanics in the College of Technical Arts.

So does John McCarty of San Augustine, Texas. He came to Lamar to study diesel mechanics and is rolling right along toward his two-year degree.

There's an enormous demand for diesel mechanics, says Jerry W. Campbell, instructor in diesel mechanics.

These two students are doing well in class and will do well after they graduate, Campbell says. It's a well-paid field they are getting into.

Jones and Campbell and McCarty all point out that auto and truck manufacturers are increasingly installing diesel engines in autos and trucks and that creates an additional demand for diesel mechanics.

They say customers are buying diesel in preference to fuel economy and because diesel fuel burns cleaner—a concern the government has about many present day automobiles.

As a hobby, Jones likes to work on racing cars. Houston's A.J. Foyt made it popular among mechanically inclined youth.

"I enjoy working on gas-line engines," Jones said.

Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Jones, 10419 Donna, Houston. His father maintains a press at Gulf Printing Co., Houston, which prints telephone books for such cities as Dallas, Houston and Lufkin. In his spare time, the senior Jones likes to work on his truck. My Dad's truck always runs right. He always wants to buy it.

At Jersey Village High School, Jones took two years of wood shop and four years of metal shop. He played four years of football at Jersey Village and was recruited to play football for Lamar by Ray Sewall, former Lamar defensive line coach. Jones came to Lamar on a football scholarship, but that all ended when he tore ligaments in his right leg in 1976.

He started at Lamar as an undeclared major, but later enrolled in diesel mechanics.

He said another influence on his choice of diesel mechanics as a career is his grandfather's father, Tom Zaiontz, foreman for a road crew for Mustang Power Products, Houston.

This summer Jones worked for Mustang on bushings for Mustang oil rigs in Texas and worked on motor, overhaul on ships. He plans to work for Mustang on graduation from Lamar.

McCarty is the son of John and Bonnie McCarty of San Augustine and finished at San Augustine High School. His father is a foreman for a sawmill, the White Rock Tie and Lumber Co., San Augustine.

They use diesel for everything at the sawmill, McCarty says.

"They use diesels for cutting railroad ties, for harvesting logs, getting wood to the mill, moving it about in the yard, and moving the finished product."

McCarty really became interested in diesel mechanics when a Lamar diesel mechanics instructor, James H. Smith of Trinity County, came to a family reunion and told me about it. I also was encouraged by Keith Davis and John Henley, graduates of San Augustine High, who enrolled in the diesel mechanics program at Lamar. McCarty said.

McCarty says he likes to work outdoors and likes to work with machinery.

In high school he took vocational agriculture and spent four years in the Future Farmers of America.

This summer he apprenticed as a diesel mechanic for Southland Paper. Lufkin.

He says they've offered him a job when he graduates. He's worked on diesel in trucks and in dirt moving equipment.

McCarty said of Lamar's diesel mechanics program: "I think it's real good. You can't say you leave here and know it all. That comes with experience. This is the best program I've seen."

"Rainmaker" Drought Ends In Romantic Storm

Terrible drought and a lonely girl set the stage for a brush dreamer to brew a romantic storm in "The Rainmaker." The Beaumont Community Players will present the play opening January 25.

The livestock are dying and the temperature is climbing past 104 degrees. Lizzie (Nancy Martin) is convinced she is doomed to be a plain old maid. She lives with her essaying father (Clyde Elliott) and a pair of brothers. Noah has a cutting edge of realism which keeps a damper on Jimmy's enthusiasm. Mike Hayes will play Noah with Dewey Cornwell as Jimmy.

Along comes Starbuck (Desmond Pease). He claims he is a rainmaker and is equipped with a crooked stick, magical paint, and a big bass drum. His talents as a salesman turn to convincing Lizzie she is more than a draft spunter.

Chit Chat At WCC

BY DONNA IRVINE

Due to the bad weather it has been very quiet here at WCC.

We would like to welcome Ida Martin, Craig Fortenberry, Mary Coyn, and Clenson Sylesine to our home. We hope you all enjoy it here.

Our deepest sympathy goes to the family of Pearl McByde, Ivory Soap Swearing, Ed Segrest, Nemiah Fraker and Jim Lee Hester. They will be missed very much.

We have in the hospital Verma Durham and Rachel White. We hope you both are soon better and back with us.

We were very sorry that our church service had to be canceled Friday, on account of the bad weather.

We would like to thank the women from the Calvary Baptist Church that came and fixed the ladies hair Thursday.

We had our birthday party of January 17th. Those who had birthdays this month were John Kelly, Gladys Culbert, Ella Harcus, Tom Moses, Sarah Tular and Clenson Sylesine. Thanks to the special story into a beautiful play.

"The Rainmaker" cast has a deep well of experience. Nancy Martin, Desmond Pease, and Mike Hayes have all won BCP acting awards. Martin and Hayes have directed several shows, too. All of the cast members have appeared in numerous plays.

Hickman, a native New Yorker, directed "A Thousand Clowns" for the BCP. She has directed several other plays and acted in shows ranging from "The Diary of Anne Frank" to "Carousel."

Production dates for "The Rainmaker" are January 25, 26, 27, February 2 and 3. The Little Theatre is on Gulf Street at the fairgrounds.

Call 838-4551 for reservations. Charitable organization wishing to attend a dress rehearsal may call 892-2157 to make arrangements.

"The Rainmaker" is produced by special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc.

Minter Joins Colmesneil Company

We are sorry that Mrs. DeLoach isn't feeling well. Also Mrs. Johnny Harrison, a volunteer, is a little under the weather. We hope you both are soon doing fine.

Paul Scarborough, Thomas Brown, Percy Letney, Burl Ashworth, and Gavin Hughes were able to attend the MMB meeting Tuesday. They all enjoyed it.

Mrs. Johnson, our Arts and Crafts teacher has sprained her ankle. We all hope she is soon back on her feet and able to come back.

We had our Bingo game Friday. The winners were Paul Scarborough, Mattie Sue Williams, Franklin Bruston, Lillie Simpson and Clara Vinson. Those that won two games were Percy Letney, Lillie Medley and Burl Ashworth. The grand prize winner was Aurelia Riley. We would like to thank Our Lady of the Pines Altar Society for coming and sponsoring these games.

We had our dance Jan. 18th. The bank was the Melody Masters. Thank you for coming and playing. Our next dance will be February 1st. Everyone that would like to come is welcome.

The Texas Department of Health, Public Health Region 3 office announced plans Friday for the continuation of a series of monthly immunization clinics for all children needing immunizations.

The clinic will be conducted at the Lions Den, Jasper Hwy., Woodville, Texas.

The next clinic will be held Friday, Feb. 2, 1979 and clinic hours will be from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Future clinic dates will be announced.

The Health Department emphasizes that this clinic is available to all children, preschool and school age, beginning at two (2) months of age. Immunizations to be offered include Mumps, Measles, Rubella, Oral Polio, Diphtheria-Tetanus-Pertussis (DTP) and Tetanus-diphtheria (Td). All children must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. Parents are reminded to bring the child's immunization record if it is available.

The Tetanus-diphtheria (Td) vaccine is also available to adults.

Kenneth Freeman, owner of Freeman's Concrete and Hardware, in Colmesneil, is pleased to announce the recent association of Wayne Minter as shop foreman of tractor, sales and service.

Minter, originally from Beaumont, takes on this responsibility in the newly formed Freeman Tractor and Implement Co. His duties, says Minter, include servicing and repair work on all brands of tractors.

Minter has lived in Tyler County with his wife, Cecile, and their six children, for the past four years.

Immunization Clinics To Continue

The Health Department emphasizes that this clinic is available to all children, preschool and school age, beginning at two (2) months of age. Immunizations to be offered include Mumps, Measles, Rubella, Oral Polio, Diphtheria-Tetanus-Pertussis (DTP) and Tetanus-diphtheria (Td). All children must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. Parents are reminded to bring the child's immunization record if it is available.

The Tetanus-diphtheria (Td) vaccine is also available to adults.

Hiccups Caused By Faulty Breathing

Hiccups are not symptoms of digestive disorders. They're signs of a disruption in breathing.

Hiccups happen when there's a spasm in the diaphragm, the breathing muscle, which causes the windpipe to shut. The spasms can be set off when anyone eats or drinks too much or too fast. Laughing or swallowing air can set off a spasm of hiccups. Smokers and snorers, who gulp down more air than most people, can be especially prone to hiccups.

Both food and air go into the upper throat. But at a critical point, according to the American Lung Association, they take sharply different routes. Just before we swallow anything, including food or saliva, we take in a little air and then hold our breath. This closes a valve in the upper throat called a glottis so that anything we swallow is forced down the passage that leads to the stomach.

However, the minute we talk or laugh, we start to breathe. (Just try talking while you hold your breath.) The glottis opens to let air travel into the windpipe and lungs.

Whenever normal breathing is interrupted and there's a spasm in the diaphragm, however, the glottis shuts. The sound of the hiccup is the squeak made by the tiny amount of air that manages to sneak by the closed glottis.

To help hiccup sufferers, several years ago a medical researcher at the University of California School of Medicine found that most persons in good health, who had not been hiccupping for more than several hours, got prompt relief from one spoonful of sugar-taken straight. If hiccups persist for more than six hours at a stretch, keep cropping up, this can be a sign of trouble and should be checked out with a doctor.

Textbook Choice Adoption Set For February 8

AUSTIN, Texas - will have an opportunity next month to make their views known concerning the proposed proclamation calling for textbooks before the annual process begins this year.

A committee of the State Board of Education has scheduled a public hearing on the textbook proclamation in Austin on February 8. Although public hearings have long been provided for in the Texas textbook selection process, according to J. Henry Perry, Texas Education Agency textbook division director, this is the first time that one has been held in connection with the proclamation.

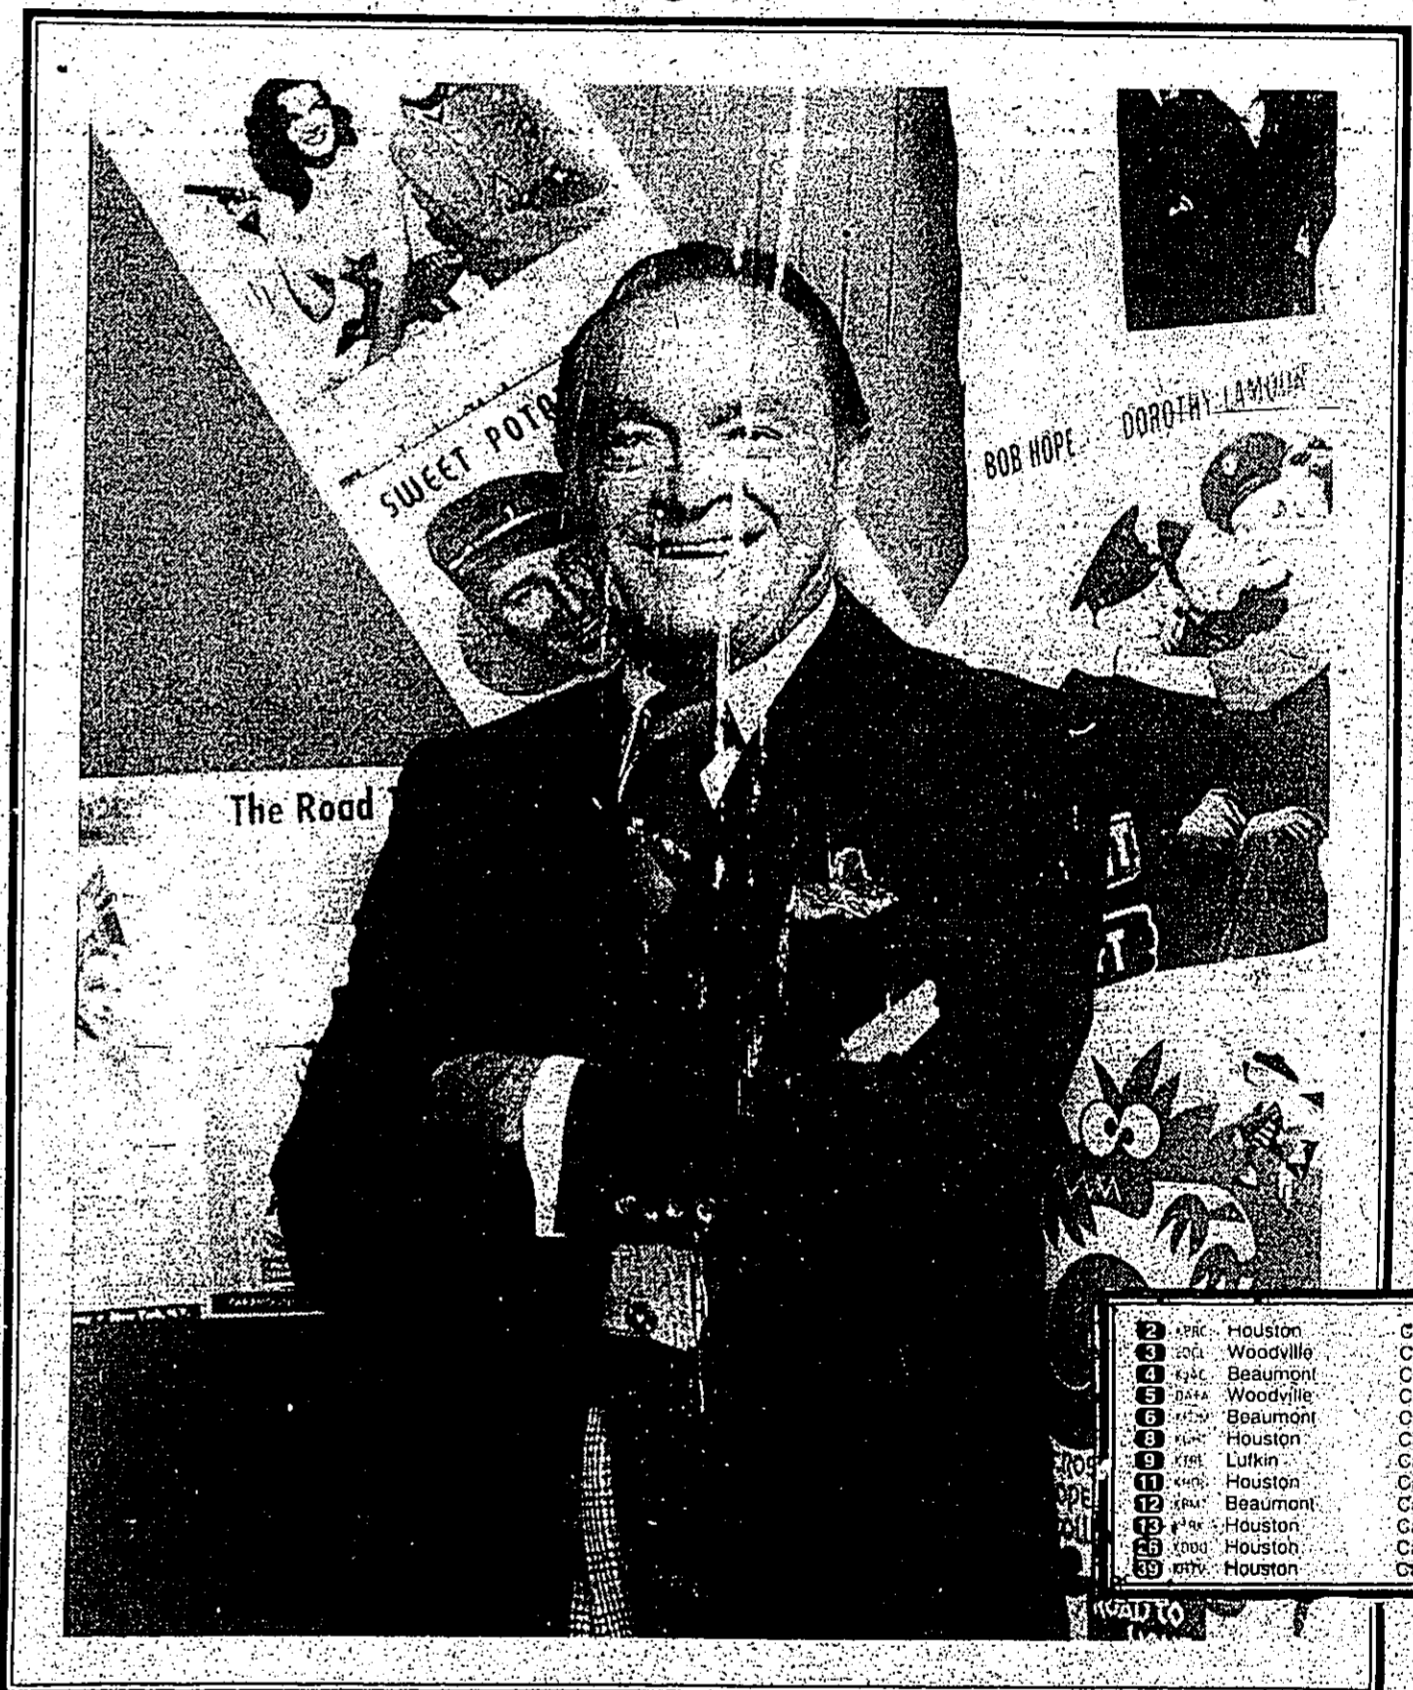

The proclamation calling for new materials to be considered for adoption for the 1980-81 school year will be issued by the Board at its March meeting.

The hearing will begin 1 p.m. in the Board Room, Riverside North building of the office complex occupied by the Texas Education Agency at 150 E. Riverside Drive. Members of the Committee on Programs and Personnel Development and other members of the Board will be present.

Persons wishing to speak are asked to notify Dr. M. Brockert, Commissioner of Education, no later than February 2. Time allocations will be determined at the hearing.

LEGEND

Katharine Hepburn, under the direction of George Cukor, for the 10th time in her career, stars as Miss Mollie in 'The Corn Is Green,' a special presentation to be broadcast Monday, Jan. 29, on CBS. Set in Wales at the turn of the century, the drama chronicles an Englishwoman's gallant struggle to educate youthful Welsh coal miners. She is met with wariness by the illiterate 'copperheads,' as well as by those who have had the benefit of education.

52 White House Years

Lillian Rogers Parks, a bright and active 81-year-old, will see her life story televised as a miniseries this Monday, Jan. 29, when NBC broadcasts Book One of 'Backstairs at the White House,' which became a mother's footsteps and became a White House maid. The family's service to 12 Presidents in a version of 'Backstairs at the White House,' which began in 1969 when her mother, Maggie Rogers, was hired. Lillian was still a child at the time, and had no dreams of working in the White House. Although she had been partially crippled by polio as a child (she still uses a crutch) she had a strong dream of becoming a dancer. But when surgery failed to correct the problem, she turned to sewing, and might have become a top dress designer if she hadn't been born black, and if she hadn't been desperate for work during the Great Depression. Lillian joined her mother as a White House maid during the administration of Herbert Hoover, and stayed until the last days of Dwight D. Eisenhower's terms. During her long service in the White House Maggie Rogers saved notes, clippings and photos, and, just prior to her death, passed them to her daughter, urging her to write a book about their years as White House maids. In 1961 First Press published 'My Thirty Years of Backstairs at the White House,' which became a national best-seller. Late last summer, the American First Families 'Backstairs at the White House' began production of the miniseries. Olivia Cole and Leslie Uggams star as Maggie Rogers and Lillian Rogers Parks, the mother and daughter domestics. Louis L'Amour, author of the 'Hombre' series, wrote the script. The miniseries is produced by Ed Friendly. He contracted a stellar cast of actors and actresses to portray the permanent White House staff and the temporary presidential occupants. Chief Usher Ike Hoover (Leslie Nielsen, right) and maid Maggie Rogers (Olivia Cole, left) are two staff members in NBC's miniseries 'Backstairs at the White House.'

Circus superstar Gunther Gebel-Williams displays the mastery that has earned him his reputation in 'Highlights of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus,' Tuesday, Jan. 30. Dainty Kaye tells circus stars from over 20 countries as host of the event. Other segments include Rudy Lenz with his chimpanzees, Anna S. DeBorja, the 'first' Bobotmar possessor, giant and the world's tallest man, artist Ganes, and the 'Willy' Napkin Boys.

The World From a Boat

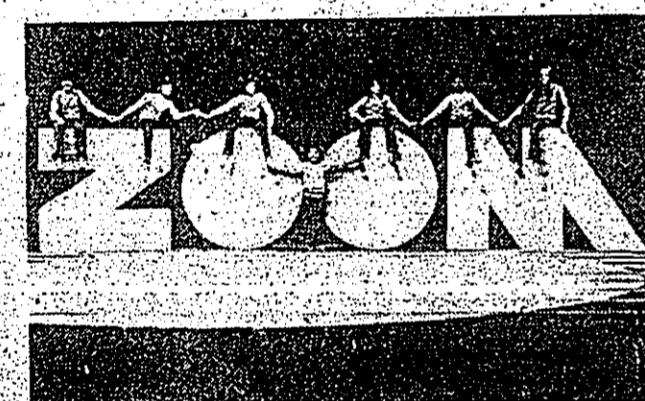

In 1997, less than 20 years from now, about nine-tenths of Hong Kong's territory is to be returned to China, which leased it to the British in 1898. For a colony that can barely find room for its more than four million inhabitants, that ought to be a sobering, even frightening prospect. Yet the people of the 'Fragrant Harbor,' as the name of Hong Kong is translated, spend little time worrying about what may happen in 1997. Most of their work too hard wrestling a living from the present. 'Hong Kong: A Family Portrait,' the National Geographic Special that airs Sunday, Jan. 28 (check local listings), on PBS, portrays the colony through the eyes of the Leong Family. The Leongs are a family of 15 whose daily lives center around their boat store in the 'Yau-mat' Typhoon Shelter in Hong Kong Harbor. They leave their boat each night for a crowded apartment on land, since staying on their slowly sinking vessel might invite tragedy. Yeong family members have lived on water for more than 100 years, and Mr. Leong, a merchant, carries on the family trade. He and his sons sell their wares to sailors aboard foreign ships in the teeming port. The Leongs' business is a floating general store, bringing the sailors everything from postcards to cassettes of American hit songs to the storied Hong Kong suits. The hard-working Leongs, like most Hong Kong families, are suspended between the modern world and ancient Chinese customs. For instance, Hong Kong families are very close and parents are treated with great respect and obedience. But Ah Lin, the Leongs' eldest daughter, has defied that tradition when she rejected a well-to-do suitor chosen by her parents, and started spending time with a co-worker, Ah Cheung, son of a cobble-painter. As modern as the industrial colony may be, its people still put great faith in the predictions of seers, fortune-tellers, and other communicators with the spirit world. In the film, Mrs. Leong consults one such fortune-teller who bases his prophecies on the facial features and hands of his clients. The climax of the film is the marriage of the rebellious Ah Lin to Ah Cheung, a marriage that the Leongs had discouraged. As the traditional bride, Ah Lin's wedding dress is red, the color of luck, and she serves Ah Cheung's parents the ceremonial tea that symbolizes her obedience to them and their acceptance of her. Ah Lin's parents host a lavish wedding feast for 500 family members and friends. It's a noisy, boisterous, stirring banquet, one that combines elements of the old and new Hong Kong. The lively celebration fills the guests with hope for the future of the young couple and for the future of their plucky colony.

Wild West
David Carradine stars in the title role of "Mr. Horn," a dramatic, four-hour miniseries revealing the fascinating story of the enigmatic frontier figure Tom Horn, whose colorful Wild West career encompassed the capture of the legendary Apache warrior Geronimo in the 1880s and a round-the-world, turn-of-the-century life as a Wyoming bounty hunter. The miniseries will be broadcast in two two-hour segments on Thursday, Feb. 1, and Saturday, Feb. 3, on CBS.

'WKRP in Cincinnati' Is on the Air

By JAY BOBBIN
Every once in a while, a series is greeted with high expectations. With some, other factors — ranging from the time slot to the creative elements — prevent instant success. The show isn't necessarily a failure; it just requires a little experimentation.

The gang at "WKRP in Cincinnati" has returned to CBC with the hilarious misadventures of daily life at a rock 'n' roll radio station.

Such is the case with "WKRP in Cincinnati," the comedy series, which has recently returned to CBC's Monday night lineup.

WKRP is a radio station. Many myths exist about people who work in the broadcast profession, and "WKRP in Cincinnati" gives credence to some of those rumors, at least it does so in a light-hearted, humorous way.

All sorts of folks inhabit media centers, running the gamut from those who are totally money-minded to those who are in it for an ego trip. The "movie network" and the ill-fated television series "W.E.B." attempted to deal with those aspects of the business.

"WKRP" also hits these areas, if only peripherally, opting to deal more with the unique qualities of each individual at the station.

When audiences (real and fictional alike) were first exposed to the Cincinnati station, it wasn't in quite the condition it is now.

Operating under a beautiful music format, it was just barely staying afloat. Though the older listeners wouldn't want the sound of WKRP changed in any way, its sales profits weren't anything to rave about, and its disc jockeys were literally falling asleep at the control board.

The station's general manager, Arthur Carlson (portrayed by Gordon Jump), knew that a change had to be made, but not one radical enough to displease his mother, who happens to own the station.

Change came with the appearance of a tall, handsome Southerner, Andy Travis (Gary Sandy), whom the somewhat inept Carlson recruited — by telephone — to come to Ohio and be WKRP's new program director. Andy's assessment of the station's problems was practically immediate; it needed an injection of energy. To his way of thinking, there was "one quick remedy for the music outlet, and that was to change the type of music being played."

Those who listened to WKRP on the afternoon Andy bezzed in received quite a jolt. They heard one of the standard, solemn numbers followed instantaneously by smashing, crashing rock 'n' roll. They also heard the formerly drowsy-voiced disc jockey suddenly spring to life and become the screaming, shouting "Dr. Johnny Fever" (played by Howard Hesseman).

Indeed, the station underwent a major change, and it was only a matter of hours (actually, MINUTES) before the public reaction started flowing in.

Some people were pleased with the innovation in WKRP's sound. But older fans were outraged — to the point of staging a sit-in in the station's lobby.

Some advertisers threatened to withdraw their accounts, a very real problem, which "WKRP in Cincinnati" deals with from a comic standpoint. Both trouble spots were eventually solved by Andy, who managed to save his new job in the process.

The "new" station has had its misadventures in getting off the ground.

"Johnny Fever" did his first live remote broadcast from a stereo store, which just happened to be targeted for a holdup by a gunman. This resulted in an on-the-air confrontation between the D.J. and the robber.

Possibly the worst crisis the station has had to weather was Johnny's departure and subsequent re-

TV Dialogue

The others who make their livelihood at "WKRP in Cincinnati" include: Venus Flytrap (Tim Reid), a smooth and talented disc jockey whose cool demeanor is enhanced by his knowledge of contemporary music; Les Nessman (Richard Sanders), the station's veteran newsman whose high-strung and nervous mannerisms lead him into believing that every story — including the election of a new dog catcher — is a potential Watergate; Herb Tarlek (Frank Bonner), the gung-ho sales manager who sees money in every idea anybody comes up with; Bailey Quarles (Jan Smithers), an overall help who does a little bit of everything and only has eyes for Andy; and Jennifer Marlowe (Loni Anderson), the gorgeous receptionist whom almost every male in the vicinity is eying.

Produced by Mary Tyler Moore's company, "WKRP" features some actors who have had estimable experience in the acting field. Gary Sandy is known to soap-opera devotees through his parts on three series, "As the World Turns," "Somerset," and "The Secret Storm."

Howard Hesseman is an exponent of the famed take-off on the soaps, "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman," and has also appeared in motion pictures including "Shampoo" and "The Other Side of Midnight."

Ironically enough, Hesseman was a real-life disc jockey at America's first underground rock station, San Francisco's KMPX.

After a short hiatus, "WKRP in Cincinnati" is back in full rock 'n' roll force on the CBC airwaves. It may or may not agree with your conception of what a radio station and disc jockeys should be, but the built-in laughs can help you overcome any objections you might have.

shy, oppressed niece Erika (Katherine Cieslinski) share Vanessa's life and reflect her despair.

At last, a handsome young man, Anatol (Henry Price) appears. Vanessa is shocked when she realized that this isn't the man for whom she has waited so long. She orders him from her sight; her shock is compounded with the realization that Anatol is the son of her now-dead lover.

Young Erika falls prey to Anatol, although he quickly dismisses her in favor of her much older Aunt Vanessa, whom he promptly marries. Vanessa, now buoyant, leaves her estate to Erika, whose time of silent waiting has arrived.

Cole was always the bridesmaid and never the bride when it came to TV series. Among the performers he's supported are Howard Duff in "Flaming Squad," an entire studio full of directors, starlets and models in "Bracken's World," and Rod Taylor and an antique car in "Slutz-Bearcats." One person he never co-starred with is Robert Vaughn. Sis is probably thinking of another blond, David McCullum in "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." As for Cole, he's still playing second fiddle — to Jaclyn Smith, now.

GROWN KIDS — My husband and I have been having an argument about how long "All My Children" has been on the air. He says it has been less than 10 years, and I'm sure it's been more like 35 years. Could you please clear up our argument? — Tyne Steiner, Tarril, N.C.

I'm beginning to feel like Solomon with all these controversies. The first bit of wisdom is never say you're sure when you're only counting on the probable odds being in your favor. According to ABC, the "Children" have been around since Jan. 8, 1970 — definitely less than 10 years.

TOUGH GUY — I'm just wild about Tony Danza from "Taxi." Could you please let me know where to write to him? Also, how old is he and is he married? — T.G. Wheeler, Odessa, Texas.

Danza's climb to the top was like "Rocky" in reverse. Danza had recently turned pro as a boxer and had compiled a 8-3 record in the middleweight division, when he was spotted training in a New York gym. He did a screen test, and filmed an unsold pilot before heading back to the ring. But again, just as he was practicing his left jab, the Brooklyn bomber got a call to head back to the Coast for "Taxi." The rest, as they say, is TV history. Still in his 20s, Danza is divorced with a 7-year-old son, Marc Anthony, who lives with his mother in Chicago. An American Opera

"Handsome" Anatol (Henry Price) seduces the shy Erika (Katherine Cieslinski) in the American opera "Vanessa," airing on great performances, Wednesday, January 31, on PBS.

The very first collaboration of Samuel Barber and Gian Carlo Menotti is the Pulitzer Prize-winning opera, "Vanessa." It airs Wednesday, Jan. 31 (check local listings) over PBS's "Great Performances" series.

"Vanessa" taped before a capacity audience at the 1978 Spoleto Festival, U.S.A., is a penetrating tale of a morbid love triangle, marked with unrequited love and loneliness.

For 20 years, Vanessa (Johanna Meyer) has waited for her lover to return. She maintains her silent vigil in a castle nestled in the somber Scandianvian countryside; the time is 1905.

Cukor and Hepburn in 10th Collaboration

By JOAN GEORGE

Movie buffs worship him. The greatest actors and actresses of Hollywood's heyday schemed for roles in his films. Television is just catching on to him.

Venerable Hollywood director George Cukor has wrapped his latest film, "The Corn Is Green," for broadcast on CBS on Sunday, Jan. 28.

It features Katharine Hepburn, Cukor's 10-time leading lady, as Miss Moffat, a school teacher in a Welsh mining town at the turn of the century.

At 80, Cukor epitomizes the glamour of Hollywood. He moved to Hollywood from Broadway with the advent of "talkies."

Among his many films are "Dinner at Eight," "David Copperfield," "Camille," "Little Women," "The Philadelphia Story," "A Star Is Born" and "My Fair Lady," for which he won an Academy Award.

Cukor made his only other television film "Love Among the Ruins," with Katharine Hepburn and Lawrence Olivier, in 1976. Warner Brothers approached him and asked him if he was interested in directing "The Corn Is Green" for television with Miss Hepburn in the lead. He'd seen the 1930 play with Ethel Barrymore and liked it.

"I spoke to Kate," he says, "we read the play that night, and we both said 'yes' the next morning."

"The Corn Is Green" appealed to him as something fresh, a story the audience would enjoy.

Cukor maintains that the difference between feature films and films for TV depends very much on the subject. Certain things are intimate, rather than epic. This is a very intimate and human story.

Katharine Hepburn and director George Cukor team up for the 10th time for "The Corn Is Green."

"The Corn Is Green" was shot on location in Wales and in a London studio. It was hardly Cukor's first job in London. He'd directed Spencer Tracy there, and "Love Among the Ruins" also was made in England.

"The Corn Is Green" was a unique experience for Cukor because it was the 10th time he had directed Katharine Hepburn in a film. Their liaison began back in 1932 when she starred in and he directed "A Bill of Divorcement."

"She used to be my tenant," he confides in a mischievous tone, as if to elucidate their professional and personal association, which spans 47 years.

He then explains that he had built houses at the back of his Hollywood property, and she had rented one.

When asked if working with such an old friend made "The Corn Is Green" a particularly pleasant experience for him, the mischief creeps back into his voice and he says, "Sometimes yes, sometimes no. We're very polite with each other. Sometimes she's mistaken because she thinks she's right."

Although he concedes it's not his best movie, he dubs "Little Women" as his favorite collaboration with Katharine Hepburn. "I have a weakness for it," Garbo, Hepburn, Crawford, Monroe... Cukor directed them all. Subsequently, he's been dubbed "a woman's director."

The title elicits an immediate defense: "I've worked with men, too; Jack Barrymore; Olivier; Tracy..."

He's "rather pleased" with the title, though. In fact, he comments that his starlets "were spectacular... it was the day of the movie queen."

Although Gavin Lambert's biography of Cukor attempts to capture his colorful life, Cukor is contemplating writing his own memoirs.

"I've enough material. I've seen a lot, been places. I have saved the stills from most of the pictures. I made it would be an interesting book. It's a question of being lazy. It's tough to write about yourself."

Beside the book, he'd like to do a comedy in this country.

"I do about a picture a year now," he says. "I've never been a regular about it." At 80, Cukor is keeping pace with his past output.

In making "The Corn Is Green" or any other film, Cukor recalls, "Every day we laugh and scream and carry on." But if he tries to remember individual anecdotes, his mind goes blank.

Of "The Corn Is Green," Cukor highly recommends Ian Saynor, Miss Hepburn's co-star. "He's a very talented young man." Saynor plays Miss Moffat's most gifted student, Morgan Evans, who suffers from a case of mistaken heroism.

On the possibility of directing Hepburn in an 11th film, Cukor adds, "It would be very nice if we could work together again."

NEW MAN

Brad Vernon (Steve Fletcher) insists that he is a "different" person, a man who has given up the lying manipulative behavior that got him in so much trouble, on "One Life to Live," Weekdays, on ABC.

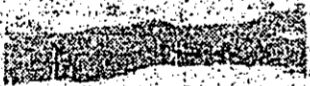

Sheriff Dumire

Brian Keith

Brian Keith stars as Sheriff Axel Dumire in "The Winds of Fortune," Chapter 10 of "Centennial" on NBC's "The Big Event," Sunday, Jan. 28.

Ski jumping

Slope sliding

Members of the United States and Canadian national ski jumping teams have been training at the newly completed 70-meter ski jump at Lake Placid, N.Y., in preparation for the national and international jumping season this winter, a prelude to the 1980 Winter Olympics at Lake Placid. Team members Jim Denny and Chris McNeill will compete in the international Springer Tourney in Germany and Austria, which will be televised on "ABC Wide World of Sports."

Expanded

Gene Shalit has expanded "Critic's Corner" on the "Today" show from once a week to five times a week. He'll continue to report on movie reviews and will comment on developments in the entertainment industry, publishing and magazines. He'll also continue his feature interviews.
