Misuse Of Garbage Dumps Upsets County Commissioners

Public misuse of out-lying garbage dumps was not on the agenda for Monday's Tyler County Commissioner's Court meeting but the subject drew a lot of discussion nevertheless. Commissioner Macie Riley set the tone of the discussion when he announced that "people are going to have to start helping out, or I'm going to have to close my dump." He reported that persons from other areas of the county were using his dump and that he is currently taking care of garbage from Fred, Spurger, Ivanhoe and other areas. "The dumps are supposed to be for household garbage only," he stated and then went on to explain that people have been dumping trees, television sets, furniture and other large items at his facility. "I can't keep up with it," he told the commissioners. Riley contends that one-third of his time is spent cleaning up the dump area. He said that his crews dig a hole for garbage and then the people who use the dump won't even put their trash and garbage in it. Riley brought the dump subject up at the Monday meeting and explained that he didn't feel like he could wait until the next meeting to discuss the problem. "By the time I wait for it to get on the agenda, there will be another mess out there," he said. Other commissioners voiced similar problems with their dumping areas and it was agreed that the matter should be included on the Commissioner's Court agenda for the next meeting which is scheduled for Friday at 10 a.m. Commissioner Leon Fowler informed the court that his dump would be closed effective Sept. 1. He explained that the landowner on whose land his dump is located has asked him to close it. He said he is currently looking for another site but has been unable to find one at this time. The commissioners agreed that dump sites were difficult to find. Riley stated that he felt the people living near the dump sites were not the ones abusing them. "One-tenth of the people mess it up, for everyone else," he said. Since the dump situation was not included on this week's agenda, the commissioners postponed any action on the matter until the next meeting.

Monday, the commissioners voted to transfer the title of a used pickup truck from the Solid Waste Department to Precinct 1. Precinct 1 paid the Solid Waste Department $750 for the pickup. Mrs. L.E. (Joyce) Crowson was reappointed to a two-year term on the Public Responsibility Committee of the Deep East Texas Regional Mental Health-Retardation Services. The opening of bids on bridges for Precinct III and Precinct IV was postponed until Sept. 10. Commissioner Adnan Odum explained that the specifications for the bridge projects had not been completed by the engineer. The commissioners raised the pay for jurors to $6 per day, which conforms to a new state law. The $6 per day pay will go to all jurors called for jury duty. If picked and seated on a jury, the juror

Ain't It Great!

By MIKE BURROW

Naming a newspaper column is just about like naming a child. It is something one should give a lot of thought to, because once the brand is fixed it is there forever.

Let me tell you right off that "Ain't It Great" was an accident. It just popped out of thin air at the last-minute deadline last week. It's not that I hadn't been thinking about a column heading, I had. But for some reason or other, I hadn't been able to settle in on one. I had centered in on several possibilities: "Squarely Speaking," "Burrow's Diggins," "Woodville Rambles," "Wooden Nickles & Other Treasures," "Piney Woods Chatter." They aren't too great, right? So now you know the dilemma I was in.

I asked the other staff members around the newspaper office for their suggestions but none were offered. No one wanted to commit themselves. It was my decision, and mine alone. The monkey was on my back and as the deadline drew near I resorted to my too often familiar mental state. I drew a total blank. I didn't know what to call this thing.

Then, as we were laying the column out on the front page, it came to me. The first paragraph of my first column was about Woodville and Tyler County and how great it was to be living here. It just seemed natural and the more I milled it around in my mind, the more I liked it. Consequently, "Ain't It Great" was born.

With some different punctuation marks, the heading has got some unusual possibilities. If the contents of the column are really outstanding, I can state it like this—"Ain't It Great!" If things are running about average, I can just say "Ain't It Great," without any punctuation marks at all. Now, if things are really bad some particular week, I can resort to "Ain't It Great???"

Well, that's enough of that "great" business...let's move on to something that really matters.

I went to the Tyler County Lions Rodeo Friday and Saturday nights and I can assure you of two things for sure. One—the event is really great entertainment for spectators. The folks in the crowd really seemed to enjoy themselves. Two—it is hazardous duty for newspaper photographers. Don't get me wrong. It's fun for photographers, too, once you find out where your stomach is and get used to your heart beating like a drum in your chest when those bulls start running for you.

Here is my weekly tip for amateur camera bugs: When taking pictures of bullriders (inside the arena), aim your camera and focus before the bull leaves the chute. Try to look cool so the crowd will not know you are scared to death. As the chute opens, hold the camera steady in that direction as you turn your eyes away, determining your best escape route. When you hear the footfalls of the angry beast, click the shutter and start running for cover. The real trick here, folks, is to click the shutter before you start running. Remember that, as you don't get a very good picture if you reverse that order.

The Woodville Little Theater group met last week at the Dogwood Country Club. It is apparently not definite yet, but the group may present Neil Simon's play "Barefoot in the Park" as their fall production.

The organization's membership drive is still underway and persons wishing to join in the fun are urged to contact club president Scott Daniels or any other member.

Several members of the Silsbee Little Theater group attended the meeting and told the Woodville group of their accomplishments during the past few years. Silsbee now has its own Little Theater building and the club features a dinner theater performance, which runs for several nights, each year. The Silsbee group has also produced musicals and conducts drama readings at each of their meetings.

It is exciting to think about what the Woodville Little Theater group can evolve into, but its continued success relies on strong membership and community support and that, folks, is up to you.

Congratulations to the Lions Clubs in Tyler County for a job well done with their annual rodeo. The announcer took an "applause survey" during the final performance and it was great to note that people came from far and wide to see the event.

Cong. Wilson Will Attend Spurger Meet

Congressman Charles Wilson will attend the annual meeting of the Southeast Texas School Board Association Friday, Aug. 17, at the Spurger High School in Spurger.

School board members from more than 20 school districts and representatives of the Texas Legislature will be in attendance at the meeting, according to A.B. Crank, Spurger superintendent.

Joe Jordan, secretary of the Spurger School Board, is president of the association. Approximately 200 persons are expected to attend.

Two Persons Arrested On Marijuana Charges

Two persons were arrested at 10:45 p.m. Saturday for possession of marijuana "other" charges at the Rodeo Arena, according to Gordon Toler, Tyler County deputy sheriff.

Floyd Simon, Lacombe, 21, who had the address of Room 136, Woodville, Inn, was arrested for public intoxication, disorderly conduct and misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

Justice of the Peace Frank Grimes fined Lacombe $103.50 for the public intoxication charge and $103.50 for disorderly conduct. Lacombe entered a plea of guilty to the misdemeanor possession of marijuana charge to Tyler County Judge Allen Sturrock. Bond is pending on the marijuana charge.

Deputy Toler said that Lacombe is wanted in Louisiana for distribution of methane amphetamine. The Tyler County Sheriff's Department had a hold on him for the Lake Charles Sheriff's Department. Lacombe was to be extradited back to Louisiana Wednesday.

Also arrested was David Bruce Doltite, 33, who gave his address as Room 235, Woodville, Inn. He was arrested for public intoxication, resisting arrest, and misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

Justice of the Peace Grimes fined Doltite $153.50 for public intoxication, resisting arrest, and to the misdemeanor possession of marijuana charge but the fines have not been determined. Judge Sturrock set bond at $2,500 on the misdemeanor possession of marijuana charge.

Arresting officers were Sheriff Lewis Craven, Chief Deputy Butch Kraus and Deputy Toler.

Mother Appeals For Bike's Return

Crime strikes even the young. Ronald Whisenant, 9, son of Mrs. June Whisenant of Woodville, worked hard during the past several months and saved $64 to purchase a bicycle. He mowed grass, cut weeds and did various odd jobs for persons around Woodville to earn this money.

Finally, three weeks ago Ronald had his $64. His mother added an equal amount and they went down to the Western Auto store here and purchased the bike the boy had been dreaming about. It was a 26-inch black bicycle with orange trim. It even had "mud grip" tires. At the time of this writing, Ronald wasn't aware of what had happened to his hard-earned bicycle. It was stolen at about 8 p.m. Monday from the garage of his babysitter, Delores Hall, on Dogwood Street. There are apparently no clues. The neighbors reported that they saw nothing unusual.

"The only thing that I can hope for is that someone will read this and bring the bike back. Ronny worked so hard to get the bicycle," Mrs. Whisenant said.

Mrs. Whisenant said no questions would be asked if the person who took the bike would return it. She can be reached at 283-2917 or 283-2924. If the guilty party so desires, they can leave the bicycle in front of the Booster.

LEMONAIDE PROS—These enterprising youngsters took advantage of a hot day this past week and went into the "lemonade stand" business on Harmony Road. By 1:30 p.m., they had collected 81 cents but were confident of the afternoon rush in traffic. From left are Shanna Jones, 10; and Lattisha Jones, 8, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jones of Woodville; Allen Williams, 5, of Port Neches; and Lisa Polk, 12, of Hampshire, both grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McKinney of Woodville.

City Council Approves Police Car Purchase

The Woodville City Council approved the purchase of a new police car at their meeting Monday night.

The council had only one bid for the car submitted before the 7 p.m. deadline. John Lininger, sales manager for Knapp Ford in Woodville, arrived at the meeting with that firm's bid at 7:10 p.m. The council refused to accept the bid as it was submitted after the deadline.

Ogden Chevrolet, Inc. in Colmesneer, was awarded the bid for the car. Ogden has submitted two proposals for council consideration. Ogden Chevrolet offered the council a full size car for $6,300 or a medium size car for $5,950. Ogden allowed the city the following trade-in on two used 1976 Plymouths: $500 for the gold car and $600 for the blue car.

The council elected to purchase the medium size car for $5,950 and to trade the two used vehicles in for the amount offered.

City Manager Walt Davis explained revenue sharing projections to the council and answered questions. The revenue sharing funds were up for discussion only and no action was taken at the Monday night meeting.

Chester City Council Buys New Typewriter

The Chester City Council voted to purchase a new typewriter for the city office during the regular meeting Monday, Aug. 13.

The council agreed that the old typewriter, purchased used in 1969, was "in very bad shape" and subject to completely fair at anytime.

In other action the council approved the reading of the minutes of the July meeting and approved the financial report of the City of Chester and the Chester Gas System for July.

Fred Sullivan, representing the Tourism Committee, asked the council to approve a $386.84 expenditure for brochures to be distributed by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. The council approved the expenditure.

The council discussed curb and gutter work on North Highway 69. The council passed a motion stating that there were no funds in the city budget for the curb and gutter work and that the city would not participate in the project.

High Speed Chase Results In Arrest

A high-speed chase by law enforcement officers and a roadblock near Woodville Saturday afternoon resulted in some jail time and $828 in fines for a 20-year-old Kirbyville man.

The driver of the 1979 Pontiac Trans-Am was Barney Joe Beasley, 20, of Kirbyville. A passenger in the car, Kenneth Wesley Holland, 18, of Austin, was fined for public intoxication. After arraignment before Justice of the Peace Frank Grimes, Holland was fined $153.50.

The chase began in Kirbyville by a Kirbyville City Police officer. Beasley traveled down FM 1013 to FM 92. The chase went south of Spurger, before Beasley turned back north toward Dam B. Then he turned onto US 190 toward Woodville.

Texas Highway Patrolman Jim Miller of Woodville began his pursuit of the vehicle approximately four miles south of Dam B on FM 92 when the subject was checked by radar in excess of 100 miles per hour.

The pursuit traveled through Dam B and then turned west on US 190. Miller said speeds during the chase was pointed out that the city is expending several thousand dollars to redo the sewer and water lines in that area.

In discussion of the budget for 1979-80, Davis indicated that increases in water, sewer, and gas rates may be necessary. The council asked Davis to run some projections on the budget before the next meeting.

The council went into executive session to discuss salaries of city employees. Davis later said that a seven percent pay raise was discussed.

Senator Lloyd Denton Watching Washington

Since the Great Depression, U.S. economic policy-making has been dominated by the Keynesian school of thought. The Keynesians call it "demand side" economics.

"Whenever inflation threatens to blow prices through the roof, the traditional response is to raise taxes and cut government spending," says Denton. "The idea is that when people are richer and have more money, they will spend more and the economy will grow. But when people are poorer and have less money, they will spend less and the economy will shrink. So, to stimulate the economy, you need to raise taxes and cut government spending."

But Denton says that's not the only way to stimulate the economy. "You can also stimulate the economy by cutting taxes and increasing government spending," he says. "That's the 'supply side' approach. It's based on the idea that when you cut taxes, people have more money and they spend more. And when you increase government spending, you create jobs and that stimulates the economy."

Denton says he's been watching Washington closely and he's seen both sides of the coin. "I've seen the Keynesians in action and I've seen the supply side folks in action," he says. "And I think the supply side folks have a much better idea of how to stimulate the economy than the Keynesians do."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—A layman who is accused of brought to the courtroom by witnesses often confused and cowed by the judicial process, its jargon and its requirements for legal procedure.

Imagine how much more difficult this situation would be if you could not speak or understand the English language. A similar predicament would be if you were deaf. Yet, there are many individuals whose native tongue is not English or who are deaf. They are the "silent" victims in this unfortunate situation.

Two bills passed by the 66th Legislature and signed by the Governor deal with these particular circumstances. S.B. 567 by Senator Gene Hines amends the present statutes to provide for appointment of an interpreter for the court for a defendant and speak the English language. If the available interpreter does not have what are considered to be adequate skills to interpret for the defendant, the court is permitted to appoint another person to act as an interpreter. The bill further provides that the interpreter would be paid by the county a minimum of $100 a day and a maximum of $300 per day.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Do you own your automobile? Most of us would answer this question the same as if someone asked, "Do you own your house?"

But, do you own your automobile in the same way you own your house? The answer is no. When you purchase a new automobile, you are not the owner until you have paid for it in full. Until then, you are a lessee. This is a fact that many consumers are unaware of.

The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) has a program called "Title Act" that allows consumers to purchase a new automobile and have the title transferred to them immediately. This means that you are the owner of the automobile from the moment you purchase it, even if you haven't paid for it in full.

JEANS - WHICH FOR YOU?

For more width, choose jeans with crisscrossed pockets, especially those that are brightly decorated. You'll also look shorter in jeans with this feature.

Finally, the "back view" is just as important in all other considerations in jeans. Light colors generally make an area look larger. Lighter colors also tend to be more flattering.

To look your best and feel your best, consider how jeans make you look and choose the right ones for you.

Coach Houston Sees Strong Eagle Team

By MIKE BURROW

Approximately 100 hopefuls were scheduled to show up for tryouts this week and Melvin Houston, head coach of the Woodville Eagles, was somewhat reserved in his predictions for the upcoming season which intervened a couple of days before the first testing session. "We'll probably be pretty much the same as last year, with good overall strength and depth," Houston replied. "We're not having any new recruits."

When asked what teams would be the toughest on the schedule this year, Houston replied that "there aren't any parties anywhere" in the district. "We regard them all as tough."

"We have to try to make no mistakes. We stress the basics, the fundamental aspects of the game," he continued.

Even though Dave Campbell's Texas Football magazine pointed to the John Hadnot (6-0, 170) and DT Mark Sturrock (190) as the heart of this year's Eagle team, Coach Houston stated that he "always tries to stress the team concept." He said he does not like to name individual players. "It's a team effort," he said.

The trouble were scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. this past Monday. The first hurdle for the prospective players was a one-mile run.

The Woodville Eagles, a District 17-AA team, finished in a 6-3-1 performance last year—a definite improvement over the 3-7 finish the year before.

"Texas Football" gave the team a good shot at the district title this year. "Now, the powerful Eagles are shooting for a district championship with excellent strength on defense," the magazine stated.

Other returning defensive starters include: RG Kevin Lachausse, DB Mike Jackson and DB Kyle Brazil.

The offense appears sound also, especially in the line and backfield. Hadnot doubles as the quarterback, while Donald Mack and Victor Hadnot are a sturdy pair of halfbacks. Tackle Scott Ogden, TE Brad Cooley, FB Tony Dill, end Mike McKinley and guard Robert Hensaring anchor the depth chart.

Houston's coaching staff is comprised of Troy Holliman and David Barnes, assistant high school coaches. Danny Bomar and Gerald Babiniaux, junior varsity coaches; Kelly Broadwater, freshman football coach; Rick McCaw and Clem Sylvester, eight grade football coaches.

(Editor's Note: Coming up during the next couple of weeks will be the breakdown of other county teams and the opponents they will face in the season ahead.)

"The light is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."

The bible, God's word, has often been compared to a light, for it penetrates the darkness and reveals God to man. It is the light that leads man down life's pathway. For those who study it, it reveals not only the past, but also the future.

"The entrance of thy words giveth light, it giveth understanding."

At this time, Department of Public Safety officer Jim Deal, and two other DPS officers from Jasper arrived at the scene and the subjects were taken into custody and transferred to the Tyler County Courthouse where they were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Grimes.

Patrolman Miller said the two men were placed in the Tyler County Jail pending bond and payment of fines. Miller said Beasley will be transferred to Jasper County to face other charges there. Beasley had two warrants for his arrest from Jasper County for "worthless checks" and "hit by truck." The traffic fines totalled $828. Beasley was also filed on for evading arrest and was placed on for eight traffic under a $1,000 bond.

Energy Plan Announced

COLLEGE STATION, Texas—Nearly $11 million will enable construction of 100 small-scale hydroelectric plants across the country, according to a plan recently announced by President Carter.

Federal funds totaling $300 million will help renovate 100 small-scale hydroelectric projects across the country, says Rick L. Jones with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

The projects would generate about 300 megawatts of power. Eight federal agencies are involved in this Department of Energy project, notes Jones.

Children Of Alcoholics Run Risk Of Serious Drinking Problems

AUSTIN—Alcoholism is the leading cause of family disruption in this country, according to a report by the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism.

Children of alcoholics are at a higher risk of developing serious drinking problems in some instances, says Dr. James M. Richardson, director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism.

Richardson said that even if physical abuse isn't present in the alcoholic home, the child still suffers psychological abuse. "An alcoholic as a role model," said Richardson, "exhibits little appropriate behavior."

Children in alcoholic families are affected in yet another way. As alcoholism progresses, social contact with other relatives and peer groups often decreases, said Richardson. "Children of alcoholics," she said, "often suffer a life-long difficulty in interpersonal relationships."

Tyler County Savings D Bond Sales Revealed

June sales of Series F & H United States Savings Bonds in Tyler County were reported today by County Bond Chairman David Feagin to be $7,117. Sales for the six-month period totaled $1,292, another way. As alcoholism progresses, social contact with other relatives and peer groups often decreases, said Richardson. "Children of alcoholics," she said, "often suffer a life-long difficulty in interpersonal relationships."

Allstate Bonds In County

Allstate Insurance Company has invested more than $1,000,000 in bonds in Tyler County, according to a report by the county bond chairman, L. Moore, Associate Vice President for Texas.

Tyler County investment are part of more than $1.1 billion of bonds held by Allstate in 132 counties in Texas.

Local Allstate investments have helped make possible the construction of the Tyler County Independent School District and Permanent Improvement Refunding.

Carter Energy Plan Raises Questions

Does President Carter's $142 billion energy plan pose a needless threat to our environment? Can the U.S. solve its energy problem without wiping out the environmental gains it has made in the past decade?

Eleven national environmental groups think the answer to both of those questions is "yes." They think the nation can meet its "energy needs" without adding two new powerful and expensive agencies: an Energy Mobilization Board (EMB) and an Energy Security Corporation (ESAC) to the array of government bureaus already working on the problem.

The environmentalists also feel that the Carter Administration has not put enough emphasis on what they see as the quickest and cheapest solution to the present fuel shortage: the conservation of energy. And, they have joined forces to protect environmental laws they see threatened by the proposed EMB and ESAC and to force the Carter Administration to pay more attention to "conservation energy."

Their arguments against the quiet creation of two new super-powered agencies is an impressive one: the more so because it comes from broad-based citizen conservation groups that have consistently supported the President on energy and environmental issues. The largest of the groups, the National Wildlife Federation, in fact, gave Carter its "Conservationist of the Year" award only last March. "These are not no-growth, stop-the-world, obstructive organizations," they are particularly fearful of the proposed EMB and ESAC. "The concept of three Presidential appointees sitting on a board to ensure that increasing critical energy facilities is an alluring one. Everyone likes to cut red tape," says an environmentalist who sees the EMB as an authoritarian vehicle that could ride roughshod over laws and regulations now protecting us from poisoned air, polluted water, and toxic substances everywhere.

More dangerously, in their opinion, the EMB is proposed by the White House to be exempt from many federal laws that protect us from arbitrary government action. The Administrative Procedure Act, which prescribes fair hearings on disputed issues; the Freedom of Information Act, which prevents the government from acting in secret; and the Ethics Government Act, which requires disclosure of conflicts of interest.

The environmentalists fear that EMB might use its powers arbitrarily as they are not allied by a Carter Administration official and not men at a White House briefing. "We'll simply have to be a government of men and women, not laws."

Second Quarter Shows Decline

WASHINGTON — Production in the private business sector declined 1.8 percent in the second quarter of 1979 at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

This was the second consecutive quarter of declining output per hour of all persons in this sector and the largest decline since the first quarter of 1977.

The decline reflected a 4.7 percent drop in output and a 0.9 percent decrease in hours of all persons engaged in the sector. In the first quarter of this year, productivity dropped 1.8 percent, as output increased 1.2 percent and hours rose 4.1 percent.

In the nonfarm business sector, productivity declined 2.7 percent in the second quarter, as output dropped 5.4 percent and hours of all persons increased 0.4 percent. This was the second consecutive drop in productivity in the sector and the largest quarterly decline recorded in this sector, which began in 1977.

In manufacturing, productivity increased 3.1 percent as output declined 0.8 percent and hours of all persons dropped 4.1 percent. One quarter earlier, manufacturing productivity declined 1.9 percent, as output increased 5.0 percent and hours expanded 7.0 percent.

A six-year study by the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration has reached the conclusion that a stepped-up program to encourage conservation would prove far more rewarding than any other energy path.

The Harvard scholars, in a report called "Energy Future," also planned for an accelerated solar energy program, a favorite of the environmentalists, but conceded that they are less certain of gains to be made with solar than those achievable by conservation.

Physicists working at Princeton's Center for Energy and Environmental Studies, in a report prepared for the Federation of American Scientists, reached a similar conclusion. They found that the U.S. could produce "the energy equivalent of 2.5 million barrels of oil per day by the late 1980s if the government aggressively supported a conservation program, mostly by insulating and heating homes more efficiently. That would be more than one quarter of the 8 million barrels a day we are now importing and equal to the amount of energy the Carter Administration hopes the ESC will produce by 1990.

Soviets Allowed To Buy Wheat

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union will be able to buy up to 10 million metric tons of U.S. wheat in the next 14 months, according to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

Bergland also announced U.S. wheat producers will be eligible for farm program benefits in 1980 without setting aside or diverting acreage.

The 1980 wheat loan rate will be $2.50 bushel, up 15 cents from the rate in effect the past two years.

Administrative or legislative changes will be taken to discourage planting wheat on fragile land.

Bergland said department officials have begun a review of the "reserve program" for wheat and other grains for possible administrative or legislative changes to make the program function more smoothly and in line with its objectives of protecting both farmers and consumers. A detailed review of target prices for all target crops will be taken to discourage planting wheat on fragile land.

Bergland said under Secretary Dale E. Hathaway recently with officials of the Soviet government to review USSR import needs and U.S. grain supplies.

Based on that review, Bergland said, Hathaway informed the Soviets they may buy up to 10 million tons of wheat through September 1980. Up to 2 million tons of that amount may be contracted and shipped during August and September 1979. The last two months of the current year of the two countries' agreement.

The five-year agreement allows the Soviets to buy a total of 8 million tons of corn and wheat each year without consulting and requires them to buy at least 3 million tons of grain.

Conservation Begins At Home

COLLEGE STATION Water conservation begins at home, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System...

Water becomes a precious commodity when it is scarce, however, when water supplies are abundant, less thought is given to water-use habits, the specialist points out. The American Water Works Association estimates over-all residential water use at 60 gallons per person per day, an even 10 percent per capita reduction would result in a daily savings of a billion gallons.

On The Road To Success

The heat of the engine, a dirt track turned to mud, the excitement of winning or the frustration of a breakdown, sometimes taking minutes, sometimes hours, to repair. These are the realities of auto racing and all are very real and familiar to Kay Spears, a competitor on the track for the past several years.

Kay, a petite 5'2" and mother of two young sons, became interested in race car driving as a teenager. "I liked watching races," she recalls. Kay progressed from spectator to participant in 1970 when she entered her first race. She drove in the powder puff division in a car borrowed from a friend. "It was fun," she says, looking back on the experience. "I knew I was inexperienced and that would show, but whether I drove good or bad, I knew I had to do it for the first time."

Kay's early days of racing were filled with frustration. Competing in the powder puff division, which was always run last and relying on her husband's car or cars of friends, Kay could seldom count on racing. "The cars were often already wrecked," she says, "and it was unusual to have enough cars for the race. Finally, in 1976,

Kay got a car of her own. But still, she says, her opportunities to race were limited. "Sometimes in the powder puff division there were not enough cars to run." This year, driving her own #77 stock Cougar and competing in the men's division, Kay has seen her first full season of racing.

According to Kay, the men drivers, she began competing with took a wait-and-see attitude. The main differences Kay has felt this year though, have little to do with whom she is competing with. "When I was driving my husband's car or cars belonging to friends, I was more cautious. Now with my own car and more opportunities to race, I'm not only more confident, but if there is some damage, I don't feel so bad." Sustaining damage is common on the quarter mile oval dirt track. On the average, according to Kay, contact is made two to four times during a 10- to 20 lap race. "I never worry about it," she says. "The cars are designed to be hit and as long as there are no funny noises, you just keep going."

Kay competes in the Bomber Class, which she says, is restricted to stock cars with stock engines. The cars are stripped of accessories to reduce weight, and safety features, including a roll cage, are added. Winning races, says Kay, depends as much on driving ability as speed. The cars in her class average around 45 m.p.h. during competition, but she adds, "You gauge your speed by who is out in front of you."

Although driving race cars on a regular basis is fairly new to Kay, racing has been part of the Spears household for quite some time. Kay's husband, Rusty, a 20 year veteran of the sport, was grounded eight years ago due to a neck injury received while competing. "It does not scare me that Rusty got hurt," says Kay, who adds that racing remains a team sport in their family with her doing the driving and Rusty maintaining the car.

According to Kay, it takes on the average, three to four hours of maintenance on the car for every one minute on the track. At the time it takes to diagnose and repair a breakdown can mean the difference between winning or losing. Because of the importance of diagnosing mechanical

Kay Spears (above) entered her first race in 1970, driving a car borrowed from a friend. Since then, she has accumulated a lot of experience and an impressive number of wins.

In dirt track auto racing, safety features are specified and cars are checked regularly to insure compliance. A roll cage, a fire extinguisher, a fire wall and a seat and shoulder harness are among the requirements. Kay (photo above) fastens her helmet and safety checklist.

When it comes to race car driving, Kay has the best backup crew in the world, her family. Her husband maintains the car and owns, Bro's Auto & Auto Parts, 1215 S. 1st St. In addition to being her biggest fan, Kay (photo left) relaxes at home with Brian.

Changing tires on a race car is no ordinary task, and at times, can require an unconventional method to get the job done, as Kay demonstrates (photo below).

In dirt track auto racing, maintaining the car takes, on the average, over the course, three to four hours for every one minute on the track. Kay, who began working on the car herself this season, is shown above using an air impact wrench to remove the main mounting bolts that hold the steering gear to the frame.

Cut Your Utility Bill With Fans

COLLEGE STATION Test out your air conditioner and cool off with fans. Absorb! Not if you want to slash your utility bill in half in some Texas areas.

Are conditioning accounts for up to 50 percent of all home energy used in some areas of Texas, says Dr. Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishing specialist.

Fans have money, and they provide comfort, she says. You can use them as helpers to your air conditioning system.

In Berry's Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Here are two types of fans that will help in your home. One is a portable fan that you can use anywhere.

The other is a ceiling fan. It circulates the air in a room, and it keeps the ceiling cool.

Many Texas residents already report that using fans in their homes at higher temperatures can save them up to 50 percent on their electric bills.

Homebuilders Training Workers WASHINGTON - Home building contractors will train 1,400 low-income workers in a variety of housing construction trades under a $1.47 million contract renewal.

The National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) will promote and develop sub-contractors with members employed in its states and the District of Columbia under the contract.

Of the 1,400 training opportunities, 500 are pre-apprenticeship positions in carpentry, electrical work, plumbing, brickmasonry, and heating and air conditioning.

All will be filled economically disadvantaged persons. They will receive five to six weeks of classroom instruction and 16 weeks of on-the-job training to prepare them for apprenticeship.

Another 300 pre-apprenticeship trainees will receive 24 weeks of on-the-job training after three and-a-half weeks of classroom instruction.

The remaining 540 are journeymen who will receive training to improve their job skills and ability to supervise and teach apprentices. During the on-the-job phase, all trainees will be paid as regular employees.

The contract is funded under Title II of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), which is administered by the department's Employment and Training Administration (ETA). Both funds and training opportunities may be transferred among states or extended to additional states wherever the need for apprenticeship is greatest.

Feed Lots Require Permit COLLEGE STATION Failure to obtain a construction permit from the Texas Air Control Board (TACB) causes legal trouble for one or more cattle feed lots, poultry operations or other farms each year, says Dr. John M. Sweeten.

The TACB requires a permit before construction begins on new livestock and poultry feeding operations with a capacity of at least 1,000 head of animals.

Home Values Change With Inflation Rate

COLLEGE STATION
Can your home insurance match today's inflated prices, if you have to replace your property?
Be sure to insure your home up to at least 80 percent of its replacement value, cautions Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.
Mrs. McCormack is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
Many people who've failed to increase their home-owner's insurance coverage over the years would be unable to handle replacement costs on their house or its furnishings in today's market, she says.

agreement to enter into a feasibility study for the design, construction and operation of a plant to produce alcohol from milo for use in gasohol. It was announced this week.

Kenneth Johnson, a farmer near Hutto and chairman of the Board for Central Texas GPI Cooperative, Inc., made the announcement following signing of a contract with GPI, Inc., a marketing and management consulting firm.

The plant would process 4,200 carloads of grain sorghum into 20 million gallons of alcohol and sizable amounts of high quality food protein. The cost of the plant will be approximately $30 million and would take 18 months to construct, following groundbreaking. The feasibility study will take approximately three months, and if favorable, an additional two or three months would be needed for site selection and engineering. Officials are hopeful the plant can be in the Hutto area.

The Central Texas plant is one of 25 planned facilities—all farmer-owned cooperatives—to be built in the grain-producing states of the nation. Discussions are already proceeding in other areas of Texas and the upper Midwest. The Central Texas agreement was the first signed to proceed with the feasibility study.

"If everything goes according to our plan," Johnson said, "we would be producing alcohol for gasohol fuel within two years."

Other members of the executive board of the Central Texas GPI Cooperative are Roland Wieland, vice president, of Pflugerville, and Wayne Decker, secretary, of Hutto.

"When the 25 plants are completed, a farmer-owned cooperatives would be producing 500 million gallons of alcohol annually and would materially reduce our dependence on Arab oil imports and improve our balance of trade deficits," Ron Wood, Texas Coordinator for GPI, Inc. said.

The gasohol concept is not a new one, but has become more economically feasible with recent increases in the cost of oil imports and resulting increases in cost of gasoline. In the past two years, refining systems for this alternative source of fuel have been developed, processing the grain into alcohol with a yield of fuel far in excess of the fuel consumed in the process.

The mixture of 10 percent alcohol and 90 percent gasoline will fuel any car which normally operates on regular gasoline, leaded or unleaded. It does not require any modification of the automobile and therefore can be readily marketed as soon as production can be attained.

GPI, Inc., is an organization of Midwestern grain farmers headquartered in Foreman, N.D., who have conducted extensive research into the economics and marketing of alcohol fuels and related food products. The purpose of the organization is to assist farmers in developing production and marketing of alcohol to be used as a fuel in a mixture with gasoline.

"This is a real opportunity for farmers, through their cooperatives, to produce fuel, as well as food, with all the resulting benefits," Wood said. "If the farmers do not do it, some of the corporate giants will."

Ramblin Round Rockland

Gregg and Valrie Cowart of Nederland were last week's visitors with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cowart and other relatives.

Cotton Williams of Dallas spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Elvira Williams and Bobby Mitchell. Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Allan Dickerson and daughter, Kim of Nederland were recent visitors with his aunt, Mrs. W. C. Lilly.

Rev. and Mrs. E.T. Stanford enjoyed a recent four-day visit to Angleton with his sister and to Corsicana with his sister.

Tina Baskette of Diboll visited her grandfather, Ralph Dean, Sunday.

Wesley Mitcham of Beaumont is enjoying a vacation here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Mitcham, and other relatives.

Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil DuBose were Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Tompkins and sons, Gary and Curtis of Friendswood.

Mrs. W. C. Lilly returned home Friday after several days visiting in Beaumont with relatives.

We extend our sympathy to the family and relatives of Mrs. Mattie (Beverly) Barnes of Beaumont who passed away August 10. Mrs. Barnes was a native of Rockland and lived here until 1928.

We were glad to have Rev. and Mrs. Buren Williams and daughters of Woodville in the services at the Baptist Church Sunday. Also the other guests, Tina Baskette of Diboll and Wesley Conner of Beaumont. The special music was enjoyed when Candy Lawson and Amy Tompkins sang a duet "Now I Belong To Jesus" with Sharon Lawson at the piano. Rev. Williams brought a good message both morning and evening in the absence of our pastor who is still on vacation.

Our prayers and get well wishes go to Eliza Dean who is in a Houston hospital and to Mrs. Minnie Foster in a Jasper hospital, also to Dorothy Bennett who was able to return home Saturday after recent surgery in Mary Hospital in Houston. Mrs. Charlie Abbott is still in Tyler County Hospital in Woodville, and Mrs. Inez Brown who returned home Friday from Woodville Hospital.
