

Woodville Man A Survivor

Pearl Harbor Remembered

By MADELON GRAHAM
Ed Miller was drinking coffee and reading the Sunday comic strips when the Japanese air attack began at 7:55 a.m.

Eighteen years old and a Seaman First Class on the U.S.S. Dobbin, Miller, now a resident of Woodville, had been in the Navy only a short while when the bombs fell on the U.S. Pacific Fleet and he and Americans everywhere were plunged into a world war.

The morning of December 7 on Oahu was sunny, with temperatures like mid-May. Hawaii's wind swept beaches, white sand, intense blue sea and cloud-hung green mountains made Pearl Harbor a beautiful place to be stationed. When the tranquility of the island was shattered by the air raid, most Americans caught in the attack went through successive stages of shock, disbelief and anger and then, despite total surprise, responded with individual courage and resilience.

At Pearl and Hickham Field few men were aware of the five phases of the battle, noted later in the Official CINCPAC Report. To most it seemed a continuous attack until shortly before 10 o'clock, with a fifteen-minute lull around 8:30 a.m. According to Miller, "the first wave of planes caused the greatest damage to the Navy."

The most stunning moment of the battle was the immense explosion as the U.S.S. Arizona blew up at 8:10 a.m. Of this event Miller says, "my ship was 100 yards away from the Arizona and the heat of the explosion scotched the paint off of it. The sky seemed filled with fireworks. Despite the proximity to the Arizona, the Dobbin, though hit, lost only three men. Miller recalls the experience as "like a bad dream." Of the 2,403 men killed at Pearl Harbor, nearly half were lost on the Arizona.

By mid-morning the Pacific Fleet had been wrecked. The Arizona, with most of her crew aboard, was sunk. Not far away the Oklahoma lay bottom up, and the West Virginia and California had settled at their moorings. The Tennessee, Maryland, and Pennsylvania had all sustained heavy damage.

Only one ship got into action under her own power. On board the Nevada they were making morning colors just as the enemy planes came screaming over. The flag broke out in the breeze and the band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner" as the bombs began to fall on Battle Ship Row. The band stayed on quarter deck and played the anthem through as the ship got underway.

Although she had taken a torpedo and two bombs, the Nevada cleared the billowing smoke and burning oil of the harbor and made for the open sea, but was called back by Navy headquarters because it was feared the ship might get stuck and block the narrow channel. The Nevada ended her brief sortie aground off Hospital Point.

The U.S. Pacific air arm Army and Navy both had also been severely hit. At the six main airfields of Oahu, 188 planes were destroyed. The three huge aircraft carriers of the Pacific Fleet, the Enterprise, Lexington and Saratoga, were at sea and therefore spared. Thanks to the intense reaction of the military men at Pearl Harbor the attack cost the Imperial Japanese 29 planes and one large and five midget submarines.

The battle at Pearl Harbor alerted the nation and brought it to its feet dedicated to the principles of freedom. Ed Miller knows first hand of the men who sacrificed their lives in order to defend their country. In the days following the attack he helped recover the bodies of American seamen for burial. "We should never forget December 7, 1941," he said. "Our enemies believed we did not have the will to fight or the capability of winning a war."

Miller is a member of The Pearl Harbor Survivors Association, a group incorporated under a federal charter with 7,400 members, whose motto is (Continued on page 3A)

REMEMBERS IT WELL—Ed Miller of Woodville remembers the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor vividly. Miller was at Pearl Harbor when the attack came and was on a ship only 100 yards from the U.S.S. Arizona when it blew up. "It was like a bad dream," Miller said.

Ain't It Great!
By MIKE BURROW

Most people around Warren know Billy Burks. He runs Ace Grocery. Well, old Billy owns one of the luckiest turkeys in the world. The bird escaped Thanksgiving and it appears that he will most likely make it through the Christmas holidays too. The turkey has become the Burks' family pet, along with several other critters that roam the Burks' place.

The family has a few ducks, some cats and some horses and now a pet turkey, it seems.

Billy Burks was one of the first people I met when I moved to Woodville. He's a volunteer fireman in Warren and he was busy extinguishing a house fire when I first ran into him. The man loves football and apparently most every other sport played at Warren High School. He helps with the annual bonfire at Homecoming, and is as upset as anyone when some outsiders try to burn it down early.

I have always thought it was a small world and Billy Burks is a good example of this. It appears that Billy's son is now attending Southern Arkansas University at Magnolia, Arkansas. Well, Magnolia is my hometown and my wife and I both attended SAU. His son plays football there and apparently had a fantastic year. Bonnie and I were dorm parents at the athletic dorm for a couple of semesters when we were there.

Warren's head football coach, Jack Powell, is also from Magnolia. In fact, his dad, Rip Powell, used to be the head football coach at Southern Arkansas University.

Bonnie, my wife, was by the Burks' place a couple days ago and was telling me about the turkey. I don't know what the bird's name is. He may not even have one. Bonnie said the little critter is friendly as all get out and likes to just follow people around.

So, if you are ever out that way and hear Billy shout, "Back off turkey!" don't be alarmed. He won't be talking to you; he'll be talking to his pet bird.

Brian White of Beaumont wrote me a letter awhile back telling me that he liked my column in the Booster. Last week Brian was in town for a short visit and came by to meet me at the Booster and to tell me how much he liked Tyler County.

Brian is a young feller, married and the father of a two-year-old son. His wife is apparently expecting the stork to drop by any day. He said he would like to locate here one of these days. I sure hope he can.

There was an error on the front page of the Tyler County Booster last week. Joe R. Smith of Woodville announced as a candidate for County Attorney in the Democratic Primary election. We made an error in the headline and used the wrong initial in Mr. Smith's name.

Dog's Life Not Always Easy

By JACKIE FLANAGAN
Staff Writer

At first glance one would think that a dog's life would be pretty easy, but that just hasn't been the case with Fladstrand Earl Eglamore, a beautiful wheaten colored Irish terrier owned by Mrs. W. E. Hickam of Woodville. Eglamore isn't just a common Irish terrier. He's a little special. Eglamore is from Denmark and he's found out first hand, or least his owner has, just how difficult it is to be an "immigrant." (Continued on page 2A)

DANISH REUNION—Danish movie producer-director-actor Ebbe Landburg poses with an Irish terrier that he gave to the W. E. Hickam family of Woodville three years ago. Landburg was in Woodville visiting the Hickam family during the Thanksgiving holidays. The terrier, whose name just happens to be Fladstrand Earl Eglamore, recently received his registration papers from the American Kennel Club after a three-year paperwork effort by the Hickams.

JOE O. GOODE

Goode Runs For County Commission

Construction worker Joe O. Goode of Colmesneil announced today that he will be a candidate in the Democratic Primary for commissioner of Precinct 1.

Goode is 53 years of age and has been a lifelong resident of the Rockland and Colmesneil area. He is presently employed by the Mid-Valley, Inc. as an equipment operator.

Tour Of Homes

Three beautiful homes in Tyler County are featured in this year's Christmas Tour of Homes which will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

City Provides:

Housing Rehab Program Here

Woodville has established a program of special interest to home owners. The program, which is being funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, provides money for general home improvements or rehabilitation, at no cost to the homeowner.

The Housing Rehabilitation Program is an effort on the part of the city to promote safe, decent and sanitary housing by rehabilitating existing owner-occupied houses. The program is designed for low to moderate income families who own and live in a "rehabable" house. Rehabable refers to safe, decent and sanitary.

Preference will be given to applicants living within the Neighborhood Strategy Area indicated on the map. However, applicants outside the Neighborhood Strategy Area, but within the City limits of Woodville are eligible.

The City will contract directly with local builders to carry out the improvements needed. Most of the work will encompass repairing or replacing damaged portions of the existing house. Examples of work to be done will be repairing leaking roofs, insulating attics, repairing and/or replacing siding, flooring, and windows, and inspecting and repairing existing plumbing and electrical systems.

SETS&L Now In New Building

Officials of Southeast Texas Savings and Loan remind their customers this week that offices have been moved to their new modern two-story building at 400 West Bluff Street.

According to Dick Davis, vice president, formal dedication ceremonies are being set and the date will be announced in a few weeks.

Davis said that all facilities are in service at the new location and persons are reminded that the Savings and Loan now has two operational drive-in windows ready for its customers.

The firm of Semetko & Waxman, Inc. has been hired by the City to implement the Housing Rehabilitation Program. (Continued on page 3A)

JIM CLARK

Jim Clark Seeks County Attorney Post

Jim Clark, Woodville attorney, announced today his intention to seek the nomination for the office of County Attorney of Tyler County in the 1980 Democratic Primary.

An experienced trial lawyer, Clark stated that at the time of his official filing in January, he would issue a detailed platform, but that as the office is subject to explicit statutory duties, the best platform he could embrace would be that he would perform all of the duties of the office imposed by such statutes.

A resident of Tyler County for 12 years, Clark was born in Houston, December 25, 1924, and attended the public schools there, graduating from John H. Reagan High School in 1941. He attended the University of Houston (Continued on page 2A)

AUSTIN -- Is the energy crunch coming again to Texas, land of petroleum and natural gas? Some say it isn't, some say it is. And a few say it's already here for regular citizens and for a much longer time.

Some days ago, Gov. Bill Clements, who had been monitoring the energy situation in Texas, said the gasoline supplies may become tight but there will be no need to reinstate the odd-even rationing plan of last summer unless consumers panic and begin topping off their tanks.

Home heating oil is another major shortage diesel here in Texas, at least for farmers and ranchers.

Several farmers and fuel suppliers testified during a House subcommittee hearing on the energy bill.

It seems there is diesel fuel available for them, but it is through irregular channels and for a much prettier price.

The farmers opened the secret channels "the Black Market," which is an inaccurate form of hearing.

Since diesel was deregulated last July, there are no government controls to keep the price down.

Black Market, as used during the hearing, is a reference to manipulations by oil firms, which though legal, are done in secret to hike the fuel price and avoid bad publicity.

Several oil companies representatives were present to testify they were not secretly directing fuel to the spot market.

So is there a shortage?

Our 1979-80 Cancer crusade is moving right along. We had 500 October as our crusade month and 45% of the packets have been turned in so far.

I want to take this means to express my thanks and appreciation to the following persons who have collected and turned in packets to us: Irene Williams, Liz Arnold, Sara White, Jesse Howard, Virginia Blakely, Marteen Kowalski, Gladys Dinsell, Mrs. V.C. Tidwell, and their girls: Rachael, Krufe, Della, Laura, Sadie, Phyllis, Agnes, Britie, Dorothy, Cates, Marie, King, Mrs. Russell, Cronin, Jean, Glass, and Mary Coyer, Carolyn Hughes, and Ju Ju Ogden.

Many Americans are looking for a solution to the "energy crisis" for their fellow citizens being held hostage in the United States.

Also, Dick Collins, Carolyn was a member of the American Charge in Iran. Bruce Laing, who is being held at the Foreign Ministry, has suggested that church bells be rung each noon until the hostages are released.

Several members of Congress and the Attorney General also have suggested that Americans write the Iranian government to express their concern for their fellow citizens being held hostage in the United States.

My sincere thanks also to those who have helped me in my crusade. I would like to see you as soon as possible.

Again, thanks for all your help. Beth Howard, Pres. American Cancer Society, Tyler County Unit.

American dogs don't know just how easy they have it being native born and all. Ever since Eglamore's arrival in the United States in November of 1975 he's been engaged in a paperwork battle that the average dog would find hard to believe.

Eglamore has an impressive pedigree. Both his mother and father are Danish Irish Terrier champions. He's the sire holding the title five years in a row. Also included in his pedigree are winners of the International, Scandinavian, Great Britain, Irish and Dutch Championships.

But, even all this impressive ancestry didn't help Eglamore with the American Kennel Club. Mrs. Hickman has spent many long hours during the past three years meeting all the requirements necessary to get Eglamore registered with the AKC.

In November of this year the papers finally arrived. Eglamore was brought to the United States in November of 1975 by Mrs. Hickman's son, Shelby. Nothing was too good for Eglamore as Shelby transported him as a first class airline passenger on his maiden journey to the United States.

The terrier, one of less than 2,000 in the United States, was a gift to the Hickmans from Ebbe Landburg, a Danish movie producer-director, who is a close friend of the family. In fact, Landburg flew to the United States recently to spend Thanksgiving with the Hickman family in Woodville and while here he joined in the celebration of the receipt of Eglamore's AKC papers.

Mrs. Hickman said the Monsignor Joseph O'Sullivan of Baytown assisted her in obtaining Eglamore's AKC papers. O'Sullivan has been raising terriers for more than 25 years and is active in the Houston and American Kennel Club.

GSU Officials Comment On Nuclear Power

The Presidential commission report on the Three Mile Island should be reassuring to Americans concerned about the safety of nuclear power. Gulf States Utilities Company officials said.

W. Donham Crawford, GSU's chairman of the board, told news conferences in Baton Rouge and Port Arthur that the so-called "black box" of the commission report makes recommendations already being implemented on a voluntary basis by the nuclear power industry.

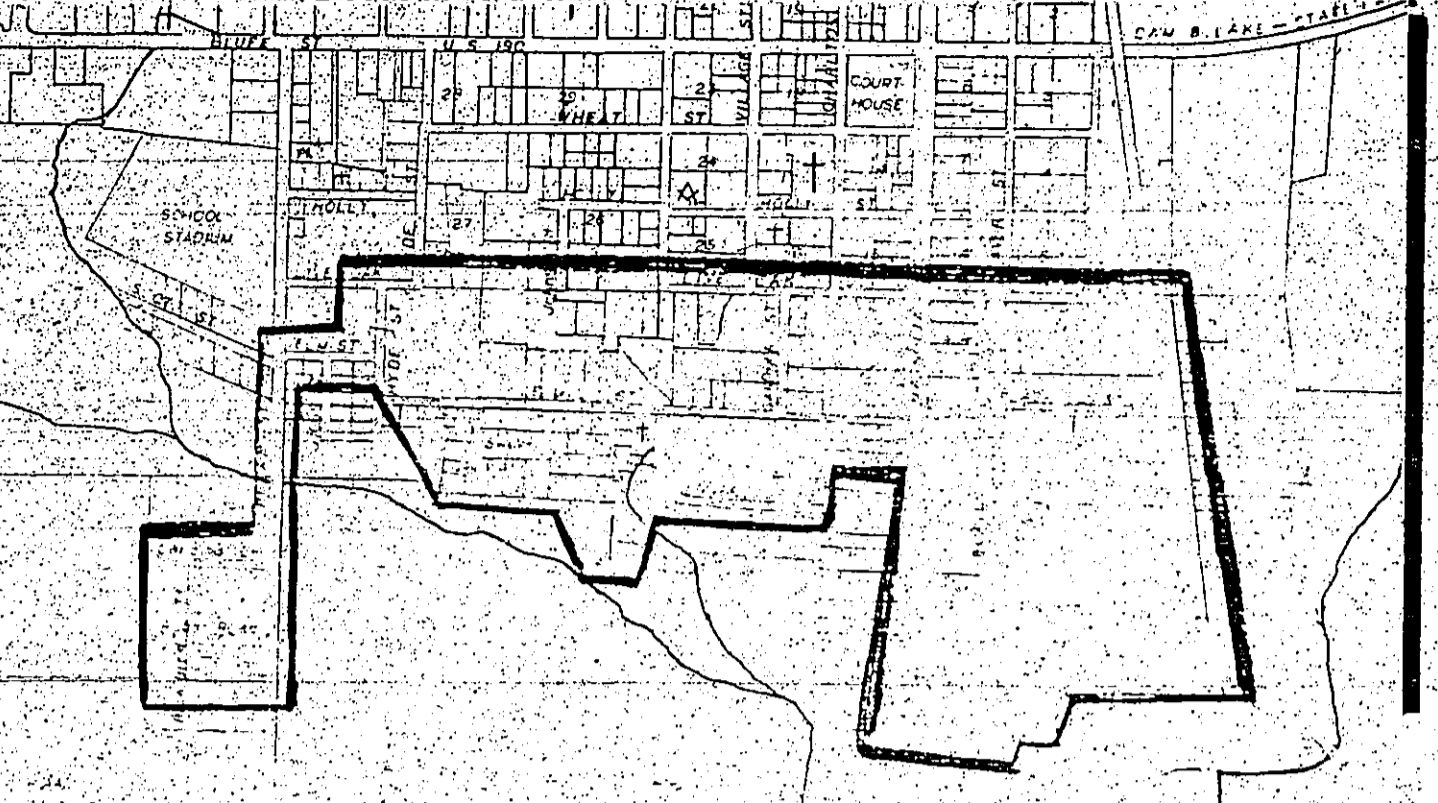

The commission's most significant finding is the absence of a finding that the industry has not recommended a moratorium on any kind of nuclear power plant until the industry has completed a study of nuclear power ever undertaken and examined the most serious accident ever to occur.

Crawford and Dr. T.M.L. Draper, GSU's technical assistant to the chairman, outlined several steps already taken by the industry in response to T.M.L. The Nuclear Safety Analysis Center, created in the wake of T.M.L., has analyzed the technical aspects of the accident.

The Institute of Nuclear Power Operations, now being formed, will concentrate on operators' training and emergency preparedness, including improved communications between utilities and governments and the media. The institute also will conduct audits to make certain that utilities comply with the "bench marks of excellence" that will be established for nuclear plants. These areas were emphasized in the Kennedy Commission report.

In addition, the industry is in the process of establishing a mutual insurance program that will provide financial protection for utility customers in the event that a nuclear accident requires large purchases of expensive power from neighboring utilities.

Dr. Draper noted that the Kennedy report agreed with other independent studies that there never will be any detectable health effects as a result of T.M.L.

In 1971, Mr. and Mrs. Miller were chosen to attend the 30th anniversary of the Pearl Harbor Memorial. The group works to encourage Americans to maintain an active interest in the affairs and future of the United States.

Today Miller urges a commitment to patriotism adding, "I believe in Americans voting people. Regardless of what is said of them I know they will respond as Americans did in 1941." They were faced with a true national emergency. Some of the new headlines today ring a warning bell in Miller's mind and he says, "We must keep America strong so our enemies will not dare attack us."

As December draws near again, Ed Miller remembers Pearl Harbor.

THE SEASON FOR COLDS AND FEVER

THE COMMON COLDS - one of the few viruses that man has not conquered with a cure. The only thing that we have come up with so far, are medicines to give us relief. Perhaps, some day, someone will come up with the solution.

There are many different things that we do to keep the answers to these things. We must, however, take care of our bodies. The secret things that we do to keep our bodies healthy are: eat right, get plenty of rest, and exercise. These are the major things that we should do to keep our bodies healthy.

The Church is a place where we can find comfort and help. It is a place where we can find the answers to our problems. It is a place where we can find the love of God. It is a place where we can find the peace of God. It is a place where we can find the joy of God. It is a place where we can find the life of God. It is a place where we can find the hope of God. It is a place where we can find the faith of God. It is a place where we can find the love of God. It is a place where we can find the peace of God. It is a place where we can find the joy of God. It is a place where we can find the life of God. It is a place where we can find the hope of God. It is a place where we can find the faith of God.

Silk Flowers Popular Items

One of the most popular items today is silk flowers. They are so realistic that they must be felt to see if they are fresh or silk. Silk flowers have many uses other than all silk arrangements. Body flowers are very popular now, and with silk one may have a corsage, hair flower, or for an accent anywhere on your body.

Many brides combine fresh flowers and silk flowers. There are a couple of reasons for this. One is so the bridesmaids may save some money. Another reason is when the bride wants a seasonal flower out of season such as tulips in August.

Fresh tulips can be imported from Holland, but they are very costly. By substituting silk tulips, the bride has her flower, and no one is Nutritional care is an important part of healthy growth and development. Yet more than four million children in the world are seriously malnourished, according to Mary K. Sweeten.

Check Out Your Checking Account

COLLEGE STATION - Comparison shop carefully to find which type of checking account best suits your needs, advises Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist.

Mrs. Granovsky is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Many financial institutions commercial banks, savings banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions may offer interest-bearing checking accounts of something akin to checking accounts if you have savings accounts if pending regulations are approved," she predicts.

Therefore, consider the potential costs and benefits of various checking accounts or help-paying options she recommends.

Among the factors to compare in selecting an account are:

- What is the monthly service charge and of check transmission charges?
- What are the overdraft and stop-payment charges?
- Is postage-paid banking by mail available?
- What is the rate of interest and method of interest computation for interest-bearing accounts?
- Now, compare some of the checking account options available:

MINIMUM BALANCE ACCOUNT - requires the consumer to maintain a minimum balance in exchange for "free" checking.

If the balance is not maintained, the financial institution can impose a service charge.

If the consumer must withdraw money from a savings account to maintain the "minimum" interest from that account will be lost.

AVERAGE BALANCE ACCOUNT - similar to a minimum balance account, has average monthly balance requirements.

This type of checking can favor those with substantial deposits at the beginning of the monthly checking account cycle and heavy out-go near the end of the monthly account cycle.

FREE CHECKING - is becoming rare due to the increased cost of servicing checking accounts. True "free checking" has no strings attached like minimum or average balances or per-check charges.

PER-CHECK PLAN - usually assesses a small service charge for each check that is written. This type of checking favors those maintaining low balances and who write a few checks each month and is often referred to as "dime a time" or "student plan."

FLAT-FEE PLAN - for a set fee ($2 to $5, per month typically) other services besides checking, such as travelers checks, money orders, safe deposit boxes or may be provided.

NO BOUNCE ACCOUNT - the bank deposits money into an account if the balance falls below zero. This deposit is really a loan for which you must pay a finance charge.

OVERDRAFT ACCOUNT - If you overdraw your checking account the bank transfers money automatically from your savings account in the same bank to cover the overdraft.

Since it is a transfer, not a loan, no finance charge is assessed. There may, however, be a service charge.

AUTOMATIC TRANSFER ACCOUNT - all deposits are made to a savings account with a zero checking account balance maintained.

When a check is written, funds are automatically transferred from savings to checking. Money kept in the savings account continues to earn interest.

An automatic transfer was authorized by the Federal Reserve Board in November, 1978, but not all commercial banks offer this type of account.

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS - savings accounts offered by savings banks in Massachusetts and New Hampshire since 1972 earn interest and permit a "negotiable" order of withdrawal to be written against the account.

These accounts function like checking accounts and may become more prevalent if pending proposals are approved.

SHARE DRAFT ACCOUNTS - some credit unions offer savings accounts that checklike drafts can be written against while savings continue to accrue interest.

ELECTRONIC TRANSFER SYSTEMS - some savings and loan associations offer bill-paying systems. They will pay your bills from savings account funds and send periodic statements summarizing earnings posted and charges assessed.

Some savings and loan now place electronic terminals in retail stores that allow consumers to withdraw cash and use it to pay for purchases at those stores.

Hunter Influences Deer Meat Taste

COLLEGE STATION - Deer hunting provides both outdoor recreation and table fare - venison for Texas sportsmen each year.

Some 11 million deer are harvested annually in Texas, points out Dr. Milo Shult, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"The hunter is the key person responsible for the quality and edibility of the venison he brings home," Shult emphasizes.

"The entire process of handling the carcass from field to table can add or detract from the desirability of the final product," the hunter plays an important role in determining whether a deer steak is tender and tasty or tough and bad-flavored.

Based on studies regarding the effects of handling on deer meat quality, Shult gives these recommendations:

"Whenever a choice is available, select a female animal for less flavor intensity (Game-ness). This does not mean that male animals provide undesirable meat, but rather most consumers may prefer the less intense flavor of the female.

"Whenever possible, place the shot in the neck or head to insure a clean, rapid kill. This prevents post-shot stress and also reduces tissue damage considerably.

"Field dress the animal as soon as possible. If contents of the intestine or paunch have been spilled, rinse the carcass with water. A publication, L-554 entitled 'Field Dressing Big Game,' is available from any county Extension office and provides more information.

"If weather permits, leave the skin on the carcass to help conserve moisture. However, in hot weather, skin and cover the carcass with a fly proof bag if a cooler is not accessible. Also, a male in the rut may have a strong urine odor on the hind legs and probably should be skinned prior to storage.

"If the family prefers a somewhat more intense flavor similar to aged beef, hang the carcass in a locker for about a week before final processing. Use a clean locker to avoid contamination of odors from poorly handled carcasses.

These recommendations are not the only way to handle carcasses," Shult notes. "For the hunter who has a preferred method which differs somewhat from these recommendations, but whose family is satisfied with the venison brought home, change is unnecessary.

"If a hunter has no experience in handling deer carcasses or has had a bad experience with deer meat, these suggestions may help increase the use of the deer resource," he adds.

Further suggestions on care and cooking of venison can be found in the publication, MP-1333, "Big Game Cooking Care," also available from any county Extension office.

Sweet Potatoes Offer Nutrition

COLLEGE STATION - Sweet potatoes offer high nutrition, they're nearly a balanced food and just plain good eating, says a good nutrition specialist.

They offer protein, carbohydrate, minerals and vitamins, explains Dr. Rose Tindall with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

In fact, one medium-sized, boiled sweet potato contains only 141 calories and it provides more than twice the recommended daily allowance of vitamin A for an adult.

Also, it provides 36 percent of the vitamin C an adult needs each day along with one-third of the necessary iron and thiamin, plus other vitamins and minerals.

Sweet potatoes are in largest supply from September through December, so now's the time to look for the most reasonable prices.

This traditionally fall-menu favorite has an interesting history and "family tree," too.

Used as a staple food for troops during the American Revolution, the Civil War and Reconstruction, the sweet potato is native to the Americas and was cultivated by the American Indians.

Actually it's neither a true yam nor a relative of the potato.

It is really a tuberous-rooted perennial and was named "batata" by the Spanish from the original Peruvian "papa," meaning tuber.

Nature's Changing Colors Explained

WOODVILLE According to the Texas Forest Service, the bright fall colors seen this year owe their existence to the presence of three primary groups of leaf pigments: chlorophylls, carotenoids, and anthocyanins.

Green leaves are up in the food manufacturing process -- are presence of chlorophylls. During the growing season, the chlorophylls green color dominates and masks out the colors of other pigments present in leaves.

As autumn approaches, the chlorophylls which are used in the food manufacturing process -- are replaced at a slower rate than they are used up. As the chlorophylls decrease, their masking effect decreases also; then carotenoids, which have been present within the cells of leaves all along, being to show through.

The carotenoids give us colors of yellow, brown, orange and the many hues in between. Sometimes carotenoids are in such abundance in the leaves that they give a plant a yellow-green color, even during the summer. An iron deficiency in plants called chlorosis, shows up in this manner.

NEW FIRE TRUCK--The Fred Volunteer Fire Department has purchased a second fire truck. There are 15 volunteer firemen in Fred and the department is five years old. The fire department is located on Highway 92 in Fred. The truck was paid for by donations from business establishments and fund raising projects, according to Fire Chief J.N. Cravy.

Salvation Army Has Many Services

The Salvation Army offers Texans a variety of statewide services. For example, the Army maintains a fleet of 16 emergency canteens strategically located across the state.

Each canteen is stocked with supplies and kept on alert 24 hours a day. When disaster strikes anywhere in Texas, one or more of the canteens can be dispatched to the scene immediately. Each canteen is staffed by trained, experienced Salvation Army officers and volunteers who perform many disaster related functions.

In addition to serving food and coffee to disaster victims, rescue workers and emergency personnel, the Salvation Army also arranges housing, clothing and, in cases of flood or fire, furniture. The Army also relays messages to and from disaster scenes. They report on conditions in the affected area and answer inquiries from distant friends and relatives anxious for news of loved ones.

Salvation Army officers also visit the heretofore unvisited ambulances with the injured and try to ease the burdens on survivors and rescue workers.

Another area of endeavor that is beneficial to all Texas is the Corrections. Services performed by the Salvation Army. The Army provides counseling for the prisoner and his family. The purpose is to maintain communication in order to keep the family together while the prisoner usually the breadwinner, completes his sentence.

The counseling process is a continuing one, preparing the prisoner for his return to the family as well as to the community. The Army also has programs for parolees offering employment counseling and assistance. In addition, the Salvation Army operates a prisoner visitation program. Nominal fees are charged for the families of inmates to travel by bus to various Texas correctional facilities for visits. Here again is an example of the Salvation Army's commitment to keeping families together.

The Salvation Army is involved with young people all over the state by sponsoring character building youth activities in a variety of forms. The Army has a fully equipped 380 acre camping facility near Midlothian. Through its various camping programs, the Army invites some 4,000 deserving kids to Camp Hohlitzelle every year.

They receive instruction in craft classes, participate in athletics, and get to know others their own ages from around the state. Other programs designed for young people include boys' and girls' clubs and Boy Scout activities. The Salvation Army is well acquainted with the needs, desires, and problems facing young people today and strives to prepare them to be good citizens.

Another public service offered by the Salvation Army is the Missing Persons Bureau. Through its worldwide organization, the Army is in an excellent position to conduct searches on behalf of people seeking missing relatives.

Generators Prove Worth In Texas

For generators up to 45 kilowatts, an air-cooled engine is often used. A liquid-cooled engine is necessary for larger generators. The engine must have about a two and one quarter hp capacity with the proper drive system for each 1,000 watts of generator output.

A full load system will handle the entire load. Nelson says, "Automatic engine-powered full load system will begin to furnish power immediately or up to 30 seconds after power goes off."

The engine points out that small, less expensive part load systems may be enough to handle essential equipment during an emergency.

Power take off generators are about half as costly as engine operated units. Under a part load system, only the essential equipment is operated at one time.

Power lines, however, are representative of installation in structure since wiring and equipment must be installed.

Brookshire Bros. THE BEST FOR LESS Woodville, Texas

Smith New Manager At Brookshire Bros.

Officials of Brookshire Bros., Inc., have announced that Jimmy Smith, manager of the Kountze store, has been transferred to the store in Woodville as store manager.

Smith replaced Jeff Ratcliff, who has left Brookshire Bros. to join Farmers Insurance Co. in Woodville. Ratcliff has been with Brookshire Bros. for 11 years.

"I've had a very enjoyable relationship with Brookshire Bros.," Ratcliff said. "I couldn't have been created any better than I was by the company and I couldn't have worked for a better company."

Ratcliff was honored at a farewell party Nov. 12 at the Woodville Country Club at which time he was presented a watch from his fellow employees at the Woodville store.

Smith, 26, is a native of Jacksonville and a graduate of Jacksonville High School. He joined Brookshire Bros. in 1971 at the Chestnut Village store in Lufkin. He was later transferred to the Angelina Mall store in Lufkin before being promoted to assistant manager of the Brookshire Bros. store in Madenville, Nacogdoches and Judson Center in Lufkin.

He was assistant manager of the Silsbee store until January, 1979, when he was transferred in Kountze and promoted to store manager.

Smith and his wife Cathy have four children, Jimmy, Jr., and Melanie, Angie and Kevin.

"We will miss Jeff," said an official for Brookshire Bros., "and we wish him the best of luck in his new work. We know, however, that he is leaving the store in capable hands when Jimmy takes over."

Smith invites everyone in the area to stop by and get acquainted.
