TYLER COUNTY BUSINESS SUMMARY

The following is the monthly report on local business activity prepared by Wheat Abstract/Tyler County Title Insurance Company of Woodville.

The records in the Office of the Tyler County Clerk indicate that, for the month of September, 1981, the loan volume in the county decreased by a very small amount from $1,353,622.95 to $1,366,314.71 for the same month of 1980. The latest single figure reflected for September 1981 was $348,000 and for September 1980 was $210,000.

According to the records at the time in Woodville, sales tax collections from new homes from $10,497.82 in September 1980 to $9,443.13 in September 1981.

Meanwhile, new home construction remains stalled by high interest rates and the outflow of funds from thrift institutions into money market certificates and other high.

yielding securities. Additionally, figures recently released by the Commerce Department showed that spending on public projects, including water systems, roads and schools declined 25% from January through August of this year. New statistics compiled by the Department of Agriculture show the purchasing power of net farm income in 1980 was below the annual average reported for the 1970's period. The survey further reflected that while farmers earned 19.9 billion dollars from farm income last year, they earned almost twice as much from off-farm employment.

At week's end certificates of deposit were 14.85% for 30 days, 14.85% for 60 days, and 15.05% for 3 months on deposits of $100,000 or more. By contrast, the new one-year "all-savers" tax exempt certificates being issued by Savings

Dr. L. Gayle Burton Recognized By Physicians Academy

Kansas City, Mo. Dr. L. Gayle Burton of Woodville, Texas, maintained a quarter century of membership and service in the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) -- the nation's largest medical specialty organization.

In a letter to the local family doctor, the then-AAFP President Sam A. Nixon wrote,

"Because of the activities of the Academy and busy individual physicians like you, family practice has made incredible strides. In fact, this growth has been unparalleled in the history of medicine."

Today, family physicians enjoy a status within the medical community which never would have been possible without the support you and other members have provided."

Dr. Nixon continued:

"And while our job is not finished, your efforts as a long-term member have enabled us to become a well-established specialty and gain the respect of our colleagues in medicine."

More than 7,000 family physicians have maintained membership in the 50,000-member AAFP continuously since February 1954 or before. The Academy expressed its gratitude to these members September 21 in a special ceremony at its 1981

Annual Convention and Scientific Assembly held in Las Vegas. The members received a silver pin and certificate noting their achievement.

Family practice is one of medicine's newest primary care specialties that focuses on comprehensive and continuing health care for each patient, regardless of age or sex, in the environment of his or her family and community.

Halloween Is Near!

Tiny spooks and goblins are busy getting their scary costumes and masks ready for the big night. Halloween is coming!

The ancient observance of All Hallow's Eve is almost strictly for the younger set these days. They take full advantage of the occasion to mooch candies and other goodies from willing neighbors, chanting the call, "Trick or treat!"

Although Halloween has been tamed somewhat in recent years, and many parents and schools organize parties to replace the traditional neighborhood rounds, a lot of kids will still opt for that old standby, trick or treat.

You can help make this Halloween a safe and memorable one for everyone. They often the little ones by giving them a block vision and, if they even suggests the Texas Medical Association (TMA).

It's a good idea to accompany youngsters on their neighborhood treks, since in their excitement they may be less than cautious about traffic hazards. Also, encourage them to go trick or treating early in the evening, while it's still light outside.

When making your small spook's costume, use bright colors for visibility. You might even sew on some reflective tape that can be easily seen in the dark.

Don't make loose-fitting costumes that may catch on fences or other obstacles. And, make sure that costumes aren't so long that little ones trip over themselves.

Masks that cover the entire face can be dangerous. They often the little ones by giving them a block vision and, if they even block breathing. A "skin mask" made of grease paint or make-up is safer, and a lot more creative, too.

If the giddy goblin wants a light, give him or her a flashlight, not a candle. Never allow small children to carry around sharp objects that can hurt them if they happen to fall.

Difficult though this may be, convince your children not to eat any goodies until you have inspected them first. There have been a few incidents of twisted individuals giving children fruit or candy with needles, razor blades, glass or drugs hidden within.

Be considerate of other people's children. Try to make your yummies nutritious. Also, keep pets indoors--bands of noisy children may excite them. Keep outdoor lights on, so small ghosts won't stumble.

If you take reasonable safety precautions this Halloween, maybe the Great Pumpkin will grace your pumpkin patch this year!
