Craft Fair Set November 4-5

The Colmenell Extension Homemakers Club will have their Annual Craft Fair on November 4 and 5 from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the community center in Colmenell. Chicken gumbo will be served on Friday. I would like to encourage everyone to go by and see what you might select for Christmas gifts or pick out something nice for yourself. A portion of the profits will go to help defray the cost of the Colmenell Community Center.

Sunny Dell News

Remember when you first checked double bubble gum? Before bubble gum was invented in 1928 and grew into a $500 million industry at one cent a piece. Today it cost about three to five cents on more depending on the size. The only penny piece left are in a few gum balls. The sweet gum tree is the best and the most common. You could always pick a good tree from a gum tree where the bark had been hacked by an ax or rubbed off by the hub of a wagon. You could mix the soft and hard resin together to get you a good chew for your teeth. After you did this you could hunt for some stretch berries to mix with it to make it soft and stretchy. The pine resin had to be pretty well right on it would stick to your teeth and feel awful. It is a carpenter for two or three days.

Pipelines... make good neighbors

America has over 220,000 miles of petroleum pipelines carrying crude oil and products to refineries and storage terminals across the United States. Each day, more than 1.5 billion barrels of crude oil and products move through this network. These pipelines have a safety record second to none in the transportation industry, and we want you to help us keep it that way.

When you see signs like those shown above, they tell you that there's a pipeline nearby. If it's underground, you can't see it, of course. But it's there, working quietly to provide energy for you and other consumers throughout this nation. Some of these signs tell the commodity transported in the pipeline, the name of the operator, and a telephone number where the operator's representative can be reached at all times. Although pipelines have an exceptionally good safety record, once in a while a leak can occur. Indications of a leak might include:
• A strange or unusual odor in the vicinity of a pipeline.
• A hissing or roaring sound (caused by petroleum or product escaping from a pipeline).
• A dense white cloud or fog.
• A spot of dead or discolored vegetation.
• An accumulation of petroleum.
• Avoid crawling sparks or sources of heat which could cause the liquids or vapor to ignite and burn. If you find yourself in a suspected vapor area, do not light a match, start an engine or even switch on an electric light.
• Notify the pipeline operator as soon as you reach a safe area. Call collect. Give your name, a description of the leak and its location. If you do not know who the pipeline operator is, call your local fire, police or sheriff's department, or the state police. Advise them of the nature and location of the emergency.
• If you see someone digging near a pipeline or doing other construction work... or if you plan to do such work near a pipeline yourself... please call the telephone number shown on the sign and let the pipeline company know so damage can be avoided. It's in your interest and the nation's.

America's Petroleum Pipelines
Pipelines are the safest way to move petroleum and products and you can help keep it that way!
