Dodge, Chrysler, Plymouth Dealer Will Open In Woodville

A modern $500,000 investment in automobile retailing for Chrysler, Dodge and Plymouth products, will open soon, around mid-

June, just south of Woodville, when Larry Trest, a local insurance salesman and pastor will officially open the Larry Trest Chrysler Center,

Inc. on South Hwy. 69. Trest anticipates that the enterprise will employ about 16 employees to start. The building of glass, brick and steel will put 8,770 square feet under roof. Trest said. Trest is undergoing the venture here along with a partner-in-business, John Carpenter of South Lake, who has been a Chrysler-Plymouth Dealer for 17 years. Trest says the building will have a modern Mansard roof line and will be faced, to the front, with brick and glass.

Trest says the dealership will offer 8 service bays, and a full-line parts area.

The dealership will be located on a 5-acre tract of land which was formerly occupied by the Dogwood Outdoor movie theater. The location is at the intersection of Seneca Road and Spring Valley Roads, on Hwy. 69.

Construction activity began last week and a formal sign was put in place Monday.

Trest said his reasons for opening the dealership were both personal and business. He said, "I just feel like there is a tremendous need for a choice of what I think is an excellent product."

The enterprise is operating under what is known as The New Chrysler Corporation.

Shopping With Diane

We've all heard the saying, "Clothes make the man". While a lot of us might disagree with that old adage, most of us would agree that looking our best can often help us feel our best. With that in mind, this week we've visited Tyler County shops and looked at summer fashion. Let's take a look at what we found.

IMPORTANT IMPORTS - "Uniqueness" is the word for a new line of summer fashions now at Jacques, 114 West Bluff. Blanche Ralinger, owner of the specialty shop, has a talent for finding garments and accessories that are unusual and distinct. Her new line, imported from Guatemala, is both.

BATHING BEAUTIES - Swimwear, perhaps even more so than most garments, has undergone dramatic changes over the years. The evolution, in the name of fashion, has seen bloomers, bulky fabrics and bikinis made from string. Designers, eager to please, have pleated, trucked, tied and gathered. They've given us straps and wraps, and then added flaps. Swim wear has at last settled down to modern good sense and style. If you're in the market for a dazzling new look, stop by Country Miss, 15 S. Magnolia where Catalina's latest collection is now in stock. According to owner Kathi Henssling, this year's beach wear features bright flowers mixed with geometrics. Stripes are everywhere, both on one-piece and two-piece suits and you can expect to find them running in every direction. Tie-string sides and the new "high leg" are also prevalent in Catalina's '84 line. As in the past several seasons, the suits are made from lightweight, durable fabric.

SWEATER GIRLS - If you're building a summer wardrobe, like clothes that are smart, yet comfortable, and prefer garments that offer versatility, we have a great suggestion. Stop by The Image, 206 S. Magnolia and ask to see the "Sweater Bee" line by BANFF LTD. If you're not used to thinking "sweater" for summer wear, you may be surprised. Manufacturers are returning to natural fibers, and BANFF LTD. is no exception. Most of their summer sweaters are 100% cotton. They absorb body heat and are ideal in our East Texas climate. Besides the right fiber, "Sweater Bee" has found the right colors for summer. "Ice Cream Colors" According to owner Myrtis Martindale, pink, melon, lemon cream and white predominate. BANFF LTD. has provided the right fiber and color and with this sweater collection, you can create the "right" look. Dress them up or dress them down. Wear them separate or layered. They're as versatile as you are and almost as pretty!

YOU'RE INVITED - Celebrate the beginning of spring this Saturday, March 24, at the J. B. Best & Co. style show. The program begins at 10:30 a.m. According to Huntley Kenneson, refreshments will be served and you can register for a special door prize. Certified color consultant, Annette Hedderly will be on hand for appointments after the style show.

TEXAS WRITERS' PROGRAM THEME

"Texas Writers" was introduced by Julie Archer, in recognition of the 60th anniversary of the program presented by Ruth Chen. She was a guest of the "Woman's Study Club" in the audience of 28 members, seven former Club members, and one guest. The "Texas Writers" program was a technique with some of the best contemporary writers. Doug Kenneson, a member of the Texas Writers' Program, presented the work of some of the local writers that were represented in the display.

The GOLDEN YEARS

Would you be flattered if someone wanted to write your biography? It could happen soon, and the author may be a person you know very well. A grandchild or great-grandchild, nephew or niece. A number of school systems around the nation are now introducing "generational studies" to their Social Studies curricula. Class assignments include a taped or written interview with an older member of the family about the person's life and his or her part in such historical events as World War II and the Depression.

Remember when? March 18, 1953. The transfer of the Boston Braves baseball franchise to Milwaukee was approved by members of the National League.

We had a long talk with Suzy (the family pooch) about which of the Democratic candidates had the best of a turnout. After all, she was out to handle on what our foreign policy posture should be. Whether she thought the gunslinger in the White House should be replaced with an unknown gunslinger who wanted his job.

By this time Suzy is getting distracted with all the heavy talk and has decided to swipe some chocolate chip cookies we had put on the arm of the recliner for later.

But we took one last shot and asked her about South America.

Said she couldn't figure out why we had given away the Panama Canal, after all it was the only place in Central or South America where we weren't getting shot at. We allowed as how maybe that was the reason.

She said anytime you try to give away something that belongs to somebody else, such as the Panama Canal, it is supposed to be parceled out to the peasant farmers who work them, the fur was going to fly and people were going to get mad.

She reminded me a dog is smart enough to bury it's bone after all.

The more we listened to her the more we were convinced that Suzy would probably be a whole lot smarter at keeping our feet out of the fire every here in the world than the professional help we had been getting over the past forty years.

After all she marks out her boundaries, she'll tell us the other varmints in the neighborhood seem to respect her home yard with a little assistance from the home folks. The best part of her life is that she doesn't mess in their territory.

She may lead a dog's life, but it has kept her alive up to now. She just isn't let the Dobberman get between her and the screen door. She knows she has the rabbits on the run, and as far as the cats go, it doesn't seem to bother her that she can't climb trees.

Besides she has all the food she can eat, and a warm place to sleep and believe it or not we humans did a nuclear freeze would be an academic question anyhow.

Got your facts first, then you can distort them as much as you please. Mark Twain

Letters To The Editor

To the Citizens of Woodville.

We are facing a time and season of the year that we will have strangers and visitors in our city. Cleanliness is a law of nature. May we win our city and before our guests arrive by moving the junk from around our premises such as old lawns, stoves, and etc.—anything that is out of circulation. The city has been so nice to us as we may cooperate with them by gathering all junk from around our premises. Put the junk out near the sidewalk. The city will pick it up and haul it off.

You my dear fellow citizens the title given to some of our coming events such as the Dogwood Festival was not given because of the surplus dogs we have in our city, it was given because nature has such beautiful scenery of dogwood trees. May we as citizens, cooperate with the dog catcher. If you have any stray dogs around your premises, barking, turning over trash cans, litter over the streets, call the dog catcher. He will be happy to come out and pick them up.

My dear citizen a funeral home handle the remains of dead human bodies undesirable odor is forbidden by state law. A few weeks ago a state funeral home inspector visited the Tyler County Funeral Home on his regular routine inspection, it was an undesirable odor. He asked about the odor. I had to give an account of the odor fifty feet behind the funeral home someone had dumped semi a crate or two of spoil chickens also a dead dog. The owner has been allowing some dumping back their such as large rocks, broken pieces of cement brick bats etc. to fill in a wash up place, not just anything. It is against the city policy for a dumping yard to be in the city limit. Please do not dump anything in back of the Tyler County Funeral Home are around it without a permit.

Trust everyone will cooperate with our city officers in keeping our city clean and sanitary.

MEMORIAL IN Loving Memory

Opal Corrine Harrell
Born: April 10, 1924
Died: March 21, 1983

The Missing Rose
One day an angel came into my garden, taking from it a precious rose. One I had priced so valuable and held so dear. A precious rose in my garden, yet the angel seemed to know which one to take, for it would be used to beautify the Throne of God, in Heaven, for His sake.

Now since that rose is missing, it seems as if none other will grow in its spot until I view my roses I always see the rose that is not. And I am reminded that God knows best that He did love and care, but it was time for this rose to rest.

So daily I cultivate my other roses to help them grow strong and tall. So that they too, like the other, will be ready when the Master calls.

The Children & Grandchildren of Miller Hawthorne

Crime Rate Drop Shown In Texas

AUSTIN—Both the crime rate and the total number of crimes reported in Texas declined in 1983, according to figures compiled by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

The crime rate showed a decrease of 6.2 percent with 5,907.1 crimes per 100,000 population, said Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director.

In addition, Texas law enforcement agencies reported 928,827 major index crimes during 1983, a drop of 3.5 percent compared to the previous year. This is the first decrease recorded in the number of crimes since 1961 and it's very encouraging. We had almost come to accept a yearly increase in volume as being inevitable.

Adams said the public's perception of crime could be a factor in the reductions.

"A simple answer for these decreases is hard to come by," Adams said. "But I believe there's been greater awareness of the consequences of criminal acts, less tolerance of the criminal on the part of the law abiding citizen, and increased participation in neighborhood watch groups, crime-stoppers programs and other anti-crime efforts.

The violent crime category posting the greatest decline was rape, with offenses down 8.2 percent and motor vehicle thefts dropped 5.2 percent.

Theft, the only major crime category showing an increase last year, rose 0.4 percent.

Twenty-two percent of the index crimes were cleared by arrests in 1983. The value of property stolen during the commission of major crimes was estimated to be in excess of one billion dollars with $243 million in stolen property recovered by police agencies.

"Statewide DWI arrests were up 33 percent in 1983," Adams pointed out. "A total of 149,021 drivers were arrested for this criminal offense."

Eleven Texas peace officers were killed in the line of duty by criminal action last year. Six officers died in duty-related accidents. A total of 3,870 assaults of officers were reported.

A total of 7,486 arson cases were reported last year compared to 8,201 in 1982. Twenty-three percent of the 1983 cases were cleared by arrests.

The crime statistics were compiled by the DPS Uniform Crime Reporting Bureau based on reports supplied by 766 law enforcement agencies.
