Shopping." With Diane

The thing about fishing, says Booster pro Luther "Backlash" Lowery, is that two boats can be anchored fifty feet apart on the same lake on the same day, both parties can fish with the same gear, and invariably, one will bag the limit while the other comes up with grass and old shoes.

Catching fish is rarely a sure thing. It is a sure thing, however, that you'll hear from the fella's with the limit and you won't hear much from the guys with the footwear.

While many Tyler County ''pros' have been on the lakes all winter, alot of us are just now fishing around our garages for tackle, bait buckets and the few lures we didn't leave in the trees at the end of last season, If you're in that category, the weather IS warming up and it's time to get going. As Luther says, "You can't catch 'em at the house."

RUNABOUT - MonArk Boat Company, headquartered in Monticello, Arkansas, is one of the best known names in the industry. And, no wonder. MonArk has been building, developing and improving boats for the past.

24 years. While they are probably best known for their aluminum fishing boats, they also manufacture, work boats for commercial, industrial and military use and of build them plain and fancy and this season offer 37 models.

If you're ready to get down to some serious fishing, stop by H & H Boat Dock And Marina, Highway 190 at Dam B. According to cording to manager, Lavella Ralley, they have over 100 boats in stock and carry several models of MonArk.

a 36 inch wide bottom and an 18 inch side depth. The boat is made from .064 guage aluminum and is rated for a 20 h.p. motor. It weighs approximately 161 pounds. It's lightweight, easy to handle and maneuvers like a champ through those tight spots that are usually between you and the "hot spots" Don't let this one get away!

You'll probably find some well-worn lures, some rusty hooks tangled line, a crusty pair of pliers and somewhere down underneath, a worn book of matches that just might light when you strike them.

If you look real close and if you know a little about fishing yourself, you'll probably find something special...alot of personal history including where the fisherman has been, where he might be going and how he plans to catch them.

There's no doubt that the tackle box is cherished companion to most fishermen. if yours, however, has seen about all the "history" it can take, stop by Wal-Mart, Highway 69 South, and head for the sporting goods department. A large inventory of Plano Tackle Boxes, Model 6300, are now in stock.

The boxes are sturdy, made from rugged polypropylene, and have brass or alumin-um hardware. They feature a no-tip top and an exclusive tackle rack which will hold 2 utility boxes. According to Annie Maloy, Sporting Goods Department Managers the Plano tackle tact Jar boxes also have a total of 33 compartments. By the way, the Rapala Shad Rap fishing lure is turning out to be the hottest new item since Cabbage Patch Kids. Begun by Lanri Rapala before his death in 1974. Shad Rap was ten years in the making. It was completed and perfected by Scandinavian craftsmen trained

The Shad Rap is available at Wal-Mart, but you'd better hurry. SEEING THE LIGHT. All outdoorsmen, including fishermen, hunters and campers, have a way of leaving early and coming home late. More times than not this involves alot of loading and unloading. IN THE DARK,
