If you're like me, you've probably been hearing a lot lately about cuts saved the company millions in 1984. auts saved the company millions in 1984.4 (1995) (1995) Just like on the national and state levels, we know financial a

The buck stops here

Here's how we're tightening our belt in Texas: reducing our work force — by not hiring behind retirements and other losses. On an annual basis this is saving us more.

mechanizing jobs and procedures — where there are potential savings and efficiencies. · holding the line on overtime — we've cut these expenses by 33 percent since 1983 for a savings in Texas of 925 million.

renegotiating contracts — with outside office equipment suppliers. Compared to previous contracts, we're spending 85 million a year less on office supplies and machinery. \( \)
• reducing customer telephone-line reports — our statewide effort is paying off. Total trouble reports are down.88,000 a month compared to last year. Savings in report processing costs exceed 845 million's year.
On top of all these measures and others, we'll take up the spending belt a few more notches in the coming months. Our * major operating departments in Texas have already committed to doing their jobs in 1985 with a zero budget increase.

That means they'll have to absorb the traditional expenses inflation and growth.....

Additional mileage from the network

Beyond expense measures, we recognize there's also an imporusiness. We're continuing to look for new sources of revenue outside of the "rate arena." And we're also constantly seeking opportunities to get additional mileage from the telephone network investment already in place.

It takes months, and sometimes years, to bring a new service on line, successfully market it, and then realize a revenue, stream, But we're working on developing these new services. In fact, we have in umber of them in the works which should pro-dure new revenue in Texas in the near lutine. Providing you with quality service who prides himself on himiness integrity.

That's why when he started his Green Bay Pack, aging Corporation on $750 in 1926 one year after graduation from the University of Wisconsin, he achepted responsibility for the hankruptcy of his father's firm and made it a point to yeary every creditor, with repay every creditor with

That's why,'a half-century later in 1977, he couldn't believe that he too faced bankruptcy or certain de-atruction because of a class action suit charging anti-trust price-fixing filed by persons he'd never done business with

And that's why today he's supporting an amendment to the Sherman and Clayton Antitrust laws, the Antitrust Equal Enforcement Act (S.995). Current law makes every company named in a suit potentially liable for the total damages even those caused by others.

It was this accepted practice of assessing liability in class-action cases that forced Kress to pay more than $5 million to the plaintiffs even though a federal grand jury later found that Green Bay was not a conspirator.

To pursue his innocence the civil case, instead paying the amount deanded by plaintiffs to settle, would have meant filing statement of potentia liability of as much as $5 billion to all creditors (and potential creditors) of Green Bay Packaging! (as much as 1000 times the settlement figure of $5 million!) It could have meant withdrawal of all credit to the corporation, which in turn would have prevented Green Bay from getting the funds needed to invest in and expand its business. Credit is critical to Green Bay. The potential liability would have destroyed its borrowing capability; Kress could have sold the business and retired or could have watched 58 years of hard work slowly

As Kress pondered whether to fight or settle, he had to recall highlights of the five decades of energy he and put into the operations. He also thought of the perto his father, and to his sons James F. Kress, now the Donald F. Kress, now senior rice president.

George Kress knew he hadn't conspired to fix prices and, initially he decided to wait and rest on that fact. But then the full amifications of the suit hit. He learned that, by the time n offer of settlement outof-court was made to Green Bay Packaging for more than $5 million, 80 percent of the companies in the suit and already settled.

Under the current law, the remaining companies that had not settled were lable for the total damiges, less only the amounts the previous settlements. Reluctantly, Kress con-cluded that he had no choice but to settle, too. There are currently over 900 companies in world in cases which would be affected by 8.995, now pending in the U.S. Senate.

They and the Kresses feel this legislation should restore fairness without delay both in pending and future
