"THE HOUSE THAT PAIN BUILT" - J. Wood Pain will be honored on Saturday August 2, at 10 a.m. when Mayor Tom Knapp and Chamber President John Coker cut the ribbon and dedicate the "Wood Pain Opera House" on the square in Woodville. Pain built the old movie theater at that location in 1939. The building and Wood Pain himself generate happy memories for most Tyler Countians, according to Mary Ann Kittell owner of the theater property. Everyone is urged to come for the ribbon cutting and Open House following, she said. Bring your memories. Now is the time to tell Wood what you think of him and of the new Civic Center Facility now available in the "House that Pain Built."

Keller, City Agree On Water Contract

Woodville City Council met in regular session Monday and agreed on a motion by Councilman Malcolm Radford and second by Councilman Gordon Anderson that Keller Aluminum Plant be assessed a five-cent per hundred gallon intake charge for city water up to 500,000 gallons of water used in and in exchange for some $120,000 in value for sewer system materials which will be put in place with the City of Woodville providing the installation expertise.

Keller and the City agreed to further contract specifically for "time considerations" for the water charges and for environmental quality controls for acceptable chemical release from the plant here.
 City Attorney Josiah Wheat said he would draw a contract in the next few days which would subject Keller and the City to a mutual contract in the matter.

 "I think we can live with it," said Radford as he made his motion to allow the relatively low water charge after council had been informed by City Manager Walt Davis of comparative charges for surrounding cities and communities.
 Councilman Brian Basin said "We want a rate that you can live with and that we can live with."

In other city business the City heard suggestions from resident Edward Kuerbis of Live Oak Street who brought a petition bearing nine residents names to the council asking for stop sign placement to abate speeding and thought trucking traffic on Live Oak Street. "I'd like to have the council do something before somebody gets hurt," City

Alzheimer's Support Group

A support group for families coping with Alzheimer's disease and related disorders will be held Monday, July 21 at Holiday Pines Nursing Home in Woodville. The meeting, sponsored by the Area Agency on Aging and the Dept. of Health Services, will begin at 2 p.m.

Alzheimer's disease is a progressive brain disease affecting 1.5 million Americans. It strikes both the old and not so old and is often diagnosed as senility. The chief characteristic of the disease is an impaired ability to think, remember and care for oneself.

The disease causes considerable heartbreak and hardship for families, and families often need the support of others to cope with the disease," said Anne Pratt, Program Specialist.

For further information on the support group meeting, interested persons should contact Ms. Pratt at the DHEC/O of- fice in Jasper at 409/384-5704.

The East Texas Photography Club meets at 7 p.m., Thursday, July 17, at the Jasper Courthouse Annex.

Planning for the Indian Summer Festival Photo Contest, plus entertaining slide shows from members, are on the agenda.

All members and interested persons are cordially invited to attend. A carpool leaves at 6 p.m. from the Woodville Inn for the convenience of Woodville-area attendees.

"We're enthused over the Oct. 4 contest," says Virginia Messick, chairman. Last year's contest drew over 150 entries.

"We'll be celebrating the Sequoyanennial, and look for participation from everyone who loves Texas and has photos to photo it."

Entry forms and rules may be obtained by writing the East Texas Photography Club, P.O. Box 1285, Jasper, TX 75851 or by calling 847-3346, 384-5775, or 283-5621.

The event is part of the fun of the Indian Summer Festival in downtown Jasper, sponsored by the Jasper Chamber of Commerce.

Mott, Bolmanskie Wed In Hardin

Mrs. Paul Bolmanskie

Mott, Bolmanskie Wed In Hardin

Miss Darlene Mott became the bride of Mr. Paul Allen Bolmanskie on Saturday, March 22, 1986. Rev. Jimmy Clemmons officiated the double-ring ceremony at the Hardin Baptist Church in Hardin, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Mott of Woodville. The groom is the son of Mrs. Ethel Bolmanskie of Liberty (formerly of Baytown) and the late Mr. Phillip Bolmanskie.

The bride wore an original design of white satin. The princess came with a rose lace overlay bodice. The A-line skirt trailed into a chapel length train created by ruffles. The long sleeves were cuffed with rose lace overlay. Her hair was styled in a soft, romantic look.

The bride wore a white tulle and white tulle and baby's breath train with velling and white streamers.

Mrs. Debra Beckmann of Woodville was Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kenya Barrow and Miss Michelle Cuyos, both of Hardin. The attendants were long pink tulle dresses trimmed with silver satin ribbon around the waist.

The bride carried a single pink rose bud trimmed with silver streamers. Flower girls were Miss Kara Beckmann and Miss Lauri Beckmann, both of Woodville. The flower girls wore matching pink dresses trimmed with silver ribbons.

ALL SEWN UP: According to Georgia Collins at GC Fabrics, Vogue and Butterick Patterns are summer '86 as a season to play. Collins reports have moved toward clear, bright garden tones, a carry over from the popularity of last year's brights. In addition, there is a noticeable mix of primary colors including the psychedelic brights of the '60s.

Fabrics are dominated by fresh, exciting prints and patterns including everything from the wild west (Carmen Miranda fruits and hot '60s Art and big. Everything this season is on textured surfaces in patterned cloths such as pique, towelling stripes or checks. Cotton and rayon blends are popular as are fine twills, gabardines and ticking. Stretch and rib knits are everywhere.

The styling as seen by Vogue and Butterick is less serious and more relaxed. There is even an exaggerated detail. Shapes are soft, masculine, with oversized shirts, full trousers and Western details. Cutaway armholes, halter and sweetheart necklines are everywhere as are circle skirts and prairie pinnafores and stirrups.

Some of the hot summer themes outlined by the pattern companies include the following:

Pinkie Garden is a new romantic look from the countryside that combines utility with charm. Colors under this theme include fresh, flowery tones with sun baked dapples and bright white accents. Gingham, checks, ticking, stripes, dots, novelty denims, chambrays and lots of cotton and linen blends.

Hearing Tests Set For Senior Citizens

Patterns and materials for these current favorites are available at GC Fabrics, West Bluff. While you're there check out the 100 percent cotton bold geometrics for jams, short suits, polo clothes and casual dresses. You'll also love the 100 percent rayon machine washable fabric in a paint brush blend of orange, magenta, green, blue and hot pink. Compared to the others its subtle and ideal for work or church dressing.

Georgia also stocks machine washable bathing suit fabrics in a lycra and nylon blend. Most are 60 inches wide and reflect the new emphasis on color. One features a bold stripe of grape, raspberry, orange, lemon and blue. There is even a selection with pastel hearts for babies and young children. Remember to ask for the bathing suit lining material and special swimwear elastic. It is chlorine resistant.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor: Having just returned home from the Hospital in Houston I am beginning to fully realize the support and help for late husband and myself received from the people of Tyler County immediately following our car accident. I do not know for sure who was present at the accident but I would sincerely like to thank each and every one who was there and helped us. I would also like to thank everyone who helped the girls with the funeral arrangements and with food and flowers. A special thanks to Father Pat O'Connell and Ned Lewis and everyone from our Lady of the Pines Catholic Church. From what I am told helped in some way and I will be eternally grateful to everyone. Also everyone prayers were and continue to be appreciated. Personally I would like to thank John and Teddy Kinney for taking care of me until my parents could arrive from Alabama. Love Vicki Kinnon

Some of the hottest reflected in our monthly weather exp. experience in Texas usually cools in the end of the summer. We make much use of our air conditioning in August and without making a September. And we see this

Electric Rates Forecast To Be Lower

Governor Mark White said that the largest reduction in electric rates will be for residential customers. The Public Utility Commission will approve a 10 percent rate reduction for residential customers starting in August. The commission also approved a 5 percent rate reduction for commercial and industrial customers. The commission's decision is based on a study by the Public Utility Commission of Texas which shows that the cost of electricity has declined significantly since 1980. One of the most cost-effective actions you can take is to turn up your thermostat. For each degree that you move your thermostat up (during hot cooling), it is estimated that you can save three percent on your cooling costs. Over an entire summer, this adds up to a higher temperature without feeling too comfortable (if the air in the room is moving, you can feel as comfortable at 80 degrees as you feel in a 74-degree room where the air is still). If your home is equipped with ceiling fans, use them in conjunction with your air conditioning. Otherwise, use portable oscillating fans (such as those you're using before air conditioning became common). Remember, the fans use much less electricity than your air conditioning system does. Furthermore, if you plan to leave the house for longer than two hours, you can save even more by setting the thermostat higher than would be comfortable if you were home. An 80-degree home is a little warmer to return to, but it will cool off quickly. There is no need to air condition an unoccupied house, and pets and plants will not suffer at a moderately higher temperature. Make sure that your air conditioning system is operating as efficiently as possible. Check the filter on the inside unit. During the cooling season, the filter should be changed at least once a month. Next, check the condenser coil on the unit outside the house to be sure that debris is obstructing the passage of air. You can hose down the coil to remove any leaves or dirt or other debris that may have gathered there. Be sure to turn off your unit first. Keeping your air conditioner properly maintained not only will make it perform more efficiently, it will make it last longer. Remember also that you will not need to keep your house so cool if you dress appropriately. You will be more comfortable in short-sleeved, loose-fitting, unlined garments made of natural fibers such as cotton or linen. It is a good idea to keep one of the curtains or shades tightly closed on the sunny side of the house. If you have a fireplace, make sure that you remembered to close the damper last spring. Also, check to see that the damper is tightly closed, not cover or seal it to prevent cool air from leaking into your chimney. Most of these suggestions are simply good common sense. But common sense is one of the best ways to keep your utility bills down and still be comfortable. If you would like more detailed information on how to hold your utility bills down, it is available from:

Save Hope For The Battle Of The Bugs
 New Hail Fungicide gets the unique killing power from the active ingredient in the product. It can be used in any area of the home including bedrooms, garages, attics, basements, and porches. The active ingredient kills bugs and their eggs. It also kills many of the most common household pests such as fleas, ticks, and bed bugs. It is safe for humans and pets. During treatment insects are kept away from the treated areas and are killed.
