Woodville High Homemaking Department

Class Visits Art Museum

By Karen Phillips
On January 8, several of the Homemaking classes from Woodville High School, led by Mrs. Judy Coker, traveled to Houston to visit the Museum of Fine Arts. They were able to view a touring exhibit of apparel from the 19th century. This was very exciting for many of the students, especially those studying the history of fashion. The exhibit showed various examples of ladies' and mens' clothing and accessories, and it was interesting for the students to note styles which are popular in fashion today. Many were impressed by the elaborate design of the dresses worn by the royalty, while other admired the beautiful fabric. Some even discussed the inconvenience of the huge wigs worn by the women. While they were there, the Homemaking classes also had the opportunity to see the works of art permanently on display at the museum. Many of the paintings depicted people from the same period as those in the exhibit, and the students were able to examine their garments also. All in all, it was a very educational and enjoyable trip for everyone involved.

Shopping With Diane

By Diane Sitton
Today's calendars come in all sizes and shapes and reflect current emphasis on personal style and interests. In fact, whatever your hobby, pastime, or focus of endeavor there's a calendar for you. Let's examine some of them that are available in Tyler County.

PIN-UPS: If you are a gal with guys on your mind, Hallmark's Great Guys Calendar is for you. It's currently available at Jarrott's, 205 South Magnolia. This 13 month calendar is in full color and features 13 fabulous looking guys. It includes a small 1988 calendar and a listing of 1988 holidays. You'll also find birthstones, flowers, and wedding anniversaries. Jarrott's is currently selling its inventory of school year calendars at half price. The Sticker Calendar includes two pages of colorful stick-on emblems to highlight special happenings. There's plenty of room to jot down reminders and a special place for names, addresses, and phone numbers in back.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS: If you are looking for a great way to organize your days in 1987, stop by Office Supply Center, 806 West Bluff, and ask to see the appointment books. These sturdy spiral bound calendars are offered in three styles and three sizes. The largest is book size, the smallest, pocket size. You can select from monthly, weekly, or daily. Each includes a small calendar for 1986, 1987, and 1988 in addition to time zones and telephone area codes. A convenient address listing is included.

Office Supply Center also offers desk calendar refills (in several sizes) and desk pad calendars.

SIGN OF THE TIMES: Old-fashioned almanacs are more popular than ever and offer a variety of information to help you plan your new year. According to Bob Boykin, owner of Bob's Prescription Shop, 1010 West Bluff, the Ward Almanac and Health Guide, put out by the National Association of Retail Druggists, is one of his best sellers. This economically priced booklet includes monthly calendars which suggest the most advantageous time for planting crops and doing chores. The phases of the moon, weather forecasts, 1987 eclipses and planets, and the Zodiac are also included. Sections on yard garden, shop, and barn are especially useful as are the safety suggestions and the unit on self-medication.

The Harris' Farmer's Almanac, "For the Use of Farmers, Planners, Mechanics, and All Families," is also offered at Bob's Prescription Shop.

The Almanac for Farmers and City Folk is another popular booklet. It contains a 14 month weather forecast, fishing and planting tables, the

Project 'Youth For America' Will Use Extension Service

COLLEGE STATION. Community with government Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System will play a key role in a joint effort by the national agencies wide Cooperative Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture to help youth today. Through county Extension offices, volunteer youth and teens will be trained to deliver extension programs aimed at meeting the challenges of such crises as substance abuse, teen pregnancy, teen suicide and stress, and unemployment. Bob Gill, vice chairman of the 4-H program leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The cooperative sector support will be used for program development and volunteer training at the local level. Trained volunteers will then retain others and work directly with youth. The U.S. departments of Health and Human Services, Transportation, Labor, Interior, Education and Justice have pledged support for the project. Davidson points out, "The project will be administered at the state level by each state's land grant university and at the national level by the National 4-H Council."

Fishing Report

I haven't heard from many fishermen but a few of them had pretty good luck. Joe Glascock fished out of Caney Creek on Rayburn last week and had pretty good luck. He caught an 8th drum, and four bass. One bass went 6lbs 10 ozs, a little over three and two other good fish. His four bass weighed nearly 14 lbs.

Leslie Hicks caught a 7lb bass on the same day Joe was fishing.

Larry Skinner and Mike Scales fished Monday, as

It is hard to believe but the last week of the first semester is here. For the seniors, this means they will be taking semester exams for the last time.

Good luck to everyone on their tests. School will not be held Monday because of teacher meetings.

Both boys and girls play Daisetta this Friday at home. This will be their last regular season game.

The girls start district play next week and the boys start district play next week.

Good luck to all Bulldogs!
