Buying a car is a big investment. We not only have to pay for the car; but we also have to pay for insurance, taxes, and licenses. Having considered those expenses, we then proceed to pay for gasoline, oil, tires, batteries, and so on. When we consider the possibilities for expense, we begin to approach the investment of buying a car, with more than a little caution.

The first considerations might be: size, model, color, or 'new' and 'used'. But, sooner or later, we know that it is really what is 'under the hood' that counts. Wire-rimmed hubcaps make little difference when the engine doesn't run, or the transmission breaks down. And so, it becomes more mportant to find out what is underneath the ful paint job and the leather seat covers, as we approch the possibility of a new car and begin to Choosing a new friend also requires careful consideration. To be a friend takes a large investment or our time. Friendship can be profitable, or it can be expensive. Perhaps, we should consider the reason that we seek a friend, before we begin to shop' for one.

It seems to me, that people also come in various sizes and color. Some of them are loaded with expensive 'extras'. They are covered in shiny trinkets and flashy clothes that resemble a foreign sports car, Some people stick to the 'basics' and appear as reliable as a 'model A Ford'. Unfortuinately, it is often the outer covering of the individual that first strikes our attention. We tend to notice the physical traits of a person. And then, we begin our silent 'appraisal' of this person's potential.

Before we pass judgment on any individual, perhaps we should temember that it is, what's under the hood, that really counts. And, by the way, while we are out shopping, for a friend, there is one name that we should get to know. That name is 'Jesus Christ'. When EVERYTHING else in life fades away; this, 'Son of God', will still prevail. Now, that is an endurance record that will stand any judgment est! But, don't take my word for it. Go shead and check Him out for yourself. Just remember, it always pays to look under the
