Beginning last month, the Kittells, who own the Wood Fain Opera House, and their managers, Bill and Belva Leach, are holding dances for teenagers. The opera house will have a dance the second weekend of every month, on Friday and Saturday, rom 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. The music will be provided by a DJ, who will play an assortment of the latest pop

The Kittells have also installed a spectacular light show, complete with a huge rotating mirror ball and llinking lights: There is a snack bar, where kids can order pizza, chicken or tuna salad sandwiches, chili. ot dogs and soft drinks. *

The part that parents are sure to like is the supervision. During the first dance last month, over 100 cenagers attended. According to Belva Leach, there were no problems, arguments, drugs or attempts to smuggle in alcohol. She said that several of the teenagers approached ner after the dance and thanked her for sponsoring the

There are four adults on the premises during the dances, and Leach said that if the number of kids attending continues to grow, they may hire a security uard in the future. It's good, clean fun-and it's also inexpensive. The cost is $3 per person. The best part of all, though, is hat it keeps these kids off the streets and highways. These dances are what the Kittells and Leachs hope vill be the beginning of many more activities

Effective sales techniques which stress the strongest qualities about each property. 4.) Knowledge about the financing terms that are available. 5.) A pre-qualifying service which screens people who want to buy property from those who are "just looking," which can be extremely tiresome to a property owner. 6.) Advice to owners on preparing the property for sale suggesting improvements that aren't costly, but make a big impact. 7.) Information on negotiating price, terms and possession and the countless other details in pulling a deal together. 8.)
