First Hand Experience

THE FIRST AMERICANS-- Students of Miss Brenda Andrews' second grade Woodville Elementary Class did a special Thanksgiving activity on the First Americans. The scene shown at left is a scale version of St. Augustine, Florida, the oldest City in America. It is over 300 years old. The model shows the Spanish Fort St. Augustine, part of the Atlantic Ocean, and an Indian reservation complete with teepees and various forms of animal life. Shown also in the photo are: Three Pilgrim girls (Amanda Grissom, Ashley Chadick and Ashley Yancey). Of Catastrophic Health Care Surtax Gramm Urges Repeal

WASHINGTON--U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm has urged Congress to repeal or totally reform the Catastrophic Health Care surtax which will cost Texas senior citizens $127 million next year and over $2 billion by the end of the decade.

"Congress' extraordinary inability to admit its mistakes, coupled with its massive reluctance to correct them, occasionally leaves the American people to suffer," Gramm said. "Such is the case with the catastrophic care law."

Under the law, the average, taxpaying senior citizen in Texas will owe $250 more when they file their income tax returns by April 15, a recent study by Gramm's legislative staff showed.

"By the year 2000, a full 50 percent of the projected 1.4 million taxpaying senior citizens in Texas will pay an average mandatory surtax of $450 a year" to fund the government program, the study revealed. The total cost to Texas senior citizens from 1990 through 2000 will be

$2.4 billion. Gramm was one of only 11 senators who opposed final passage of the surtax. "As I said then, 'The burden is going to be placed on basically middle and upper income senior citizens, people who have worked all their lives to be secure in their retirement, and they are going to have catastrophic costs whether they get any catastrophic benefits or not,'" Gramm noted.

"Millions of senior citizens, both in Texas and across America, will be forced to pay a surtax they can't afford for benefits that many will never receive," he added. "This is unconscionable."

"Congress owes seniors either outright, immediate repeal or top-to-bottom reform of this bad law," Gramm said.

Chamber Meets Monday

The Tyler County Chamber of Commerce will hold its monthly meeting on Monday, November 27, 1989, at Noon in the Heritage Room of The Woodville Inn. This will be a luncheon meeting and all directors, members and interested persons are invited to attend. Our five new directors will be announced at this time.

Library Closed Thanksgiving

The Allan Shivers Library and Museum will be closed Thanksgiving Day, November 23rd.

Fairway Foods Store

GRAND OPENING-- Members of the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce were on hand this past week to mark the Grand Opening of J. & S. Drugs inside the Fairway Foods Store. John and Sheryl Reed and Betty Reed are shown cutting the Ribbon to get things underway. The Reeds have moved into Fairway Foods from their former location at 304 S. Magnolia.

Post Office Says "Shop Early"

This year, the Postal Service is joining forces with the business community of Woodyville in urging customers to shop early for the holidays.

Many overseas mailing deadlines--including those for the armed forces stationed overseas--occur this month.

While there are no domestic mailing deadlines, I would like to encourage those sending parcels and greetings to distant locations around the country to take advantage of the early display of holiday merchandise.

When you stop and mail early to far away friends and family, you won't need to worry about a winter storm that could halt air or ground traffic and possibly delay delivery. We are well prepared for the volume of mail we will receive locally, but it does help to have it sent early.

Let me encourage mailers to make certain that mail is addressed correctly and legibly, and to include apartment numbers and proper ZIP Codes on cards and parcels.

Since mail sorting depends on the ZIP Code as well as the name of the particular city and state, the use of proper ZIP Codes will aid the Postal Service in processing the mail.

Mailers can get specific information on international mailing dates and other matters by calling us here at 283-2191.

Last year, our customers helped us tremendously. They mailed early in the season and early in the day. We hope you will choose to mail early again this year so we will all have an enjoyable holiday mailing season.

B. C. McCoy Receives Distinguished Director Award

B. C. McCoy, director of missions for the Sabine-Neches Area, has been awarded the prestigious annual Distinguished Director of Missions Award by East Texas Baptist University. At their annual January Bible Study Workshop and Praying Week, according to Dr. Frank A. Johnson, president of the university, McCoy was chosen for his exceptional leadership in the field of missions.

McCoy served as the director of missions in an area which included East Texas, South Texas, and North Texas. He has been a member of the Texas Baptist Convention since 1965 and has served in various capacities for the past 25 years. He is a graduate of East Texas Baptist University and has a Master's degree in Divinity from the same institution. He is currently serving as the director of missions for the Sabine-Neches Area.

McCoy was born in Texas and has lived in Texas for twenty years. He was born in Smith County, Texas. He is a graduate of East Texas Baptist University (BA '65) and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has served in Texas in various capacities. He is currently serving as the director of missions for the Sabine-Neches Area. He is married and has three children. He is a member of the Texas Baptist Convention and the North American Baptist Convention.

COVER STORY: The Texas Baptist Convention will hold its annual meeting in the state capital building in Austin, Texas, on January 1st with the theme "A New Vision for the Future".

OPINION

Letters To The Editor 'Thanks For Article'

Dear Readers,
I wish to thank Dotie Johnson publicly for the article about the Windle Museum Seminar. I recently attended.

My head and my heart are bursting with information and feelings gathered from this seminar. I would like to take the opportunity to share some of this experience with all of you.

I doubt that I have ever worked so hard as been with such creative people. Even though many of the speakers gave very "nuts and bolts" information about building exhibits on the care of artifacts, many deeper philosophical ideas were expressed.

Museums do so much more than take care of old stuff.

Museums are the keepers of memories. Museums take people from the past through the present and lead them to the future.

I thank all of you for your support of Heritage Village Museum and enlist your continued support to help us build a first class museum facility for the enjoyment and benefit of all the citizens of Tyler County as well as our many visitors.

Sincerely,
Christine Moor Sanders
Pres. Tyler County Heritage Soc.

"A Word I Hate To Hear"

Dear Editor,

Have you every looked into the sky looking for a cloud, but found nothing but dust and smoke? If you've been to Houston you have, Pollution, a word I hate to hear. The earth is a wonderful place but if we treat it like a garbage can it will not last long. I'm only a but I respect the earth.

Self-Adhesive Postage Stamp

No Tearing, No Licking, Self-Sticking.

EXTRAORDINARY Stamp Format: how the Postal Service describes its new self-adhesive postage stamp product, the first to use peel-and-stick technology since 1974.

Postmaster Jack E. Johns said that the Postal Service has responded to customer demand in the issuance of this self-adhesive stamp. The stamps have several conveniences — no licking to affix, no need to be torn from coil or pane, stamps will not stick together in high humidity conditions, and they have a superior bonding adhesive.

Also, he added, "Stamp collectors will be pleased with the new stamp issue, since they are constructed so that they do not discolor, and although the stamp is self-sticking, it is still water-soluble as are our other stamps so they can be collected."

The Postal Service met the challenge to meet both consumers and philatelic requirements in the production of this self-adhesive stamp.

The stamps are in a revolutionary do-it-yourself booklet. Each booklet features a colorful eagle and shield motif. They will be sold on a test basis in 15 cities across the country.

The first day of issue ceremony will take place November 10 in conjunction with the VAPEX '89 stamp show in Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Eighteen 25-cent stamps are arranged on a backing sheet so that the customer may fold it into thirds to form a booklet. The product is priced at $5, which includes a 50-cent charge for its special features. It is expected to appeal to consumers with pay extra for a deluxe product.

Available only from the Philatelic Sales Division while supplies last will be a coil version of the Eagle and Shield issue. It will be sold for $5 in strips of 18 stamps. The coil version was required for the Postal Service to use a label affixing machine to affix stamps to first day covers.

Since there are no perforations, there is no difference on coil between booklet and coil stamps.

The premium stamps will be available in the following cities for a test period of 30 days or while limited quantities last: Atlanta, GA; Chicago, IL; Cleveland, OH; Columbus, OH; Dallas, TX; Denver, CO; Houston, TX; Indianapolis, IN; Kansas City, MO; Los Angeles, CA; Miami, FL; Milwaukee, WI; Minneapolis, MN; Phoenix, AZ; and St. Louis, MO. The coil strip of 18 will only be available from the Philatelic Centers and in self-service vending machines in the above test cities, at the "1-Entire Postage" Philatelic Center, Washington, D.C., and from the PSD by mail order — US Postal Service, Philatelic Sales Division, Washington, D.C. 20262-9907, telephone (703) 696-1522 and FAX (703) 876-0696. (The standard $10 million order and 50 cent handling fee apply.)

PHILATELIC DAY CANCELLATION ORDERING INSTRUCTIONS:

Standard ordering in stamp vending machines affixing stamps should send their covers to: CUSTOMER-AFFIXED ENVELOPES: EAGLE AND SHIELD SELF-ADHESIVE POSTAGE, P.O. BOX 248, WOODVILLE, VIRGINIA, BEACH VA 22450-9991.

Customers who would like the Postal Service to affix stamps should send their covers and 25 cents for each stamp to: EAGLE AND SHIELD SELF-ADHESIVE, PHILATELIC SALES DIVISION, WASHINGTON DC 20265-9997.

To allow customers to obtain the booklets, an extension for placing orders, until January 9, 1990, has been granted. Full panes cannot be affixed, as stamps are individually die-cut.

Only the foldable booklet version will be available in the 15 test cities. Both the booklet and the coil versions will be available from the Philatelic Sales Division and the following item numbers must be used when placing orders: foldable booklet, item number 6609; coil version, item number 660C.

Best Of Texas Publishers.

Some 50 years ago, the U.S. Government brought to East Texas hundreds of prisoners of war from Germany, who were housed in POW camps at Lufkin, Tyler, Alto, San Augustine, Chireno, Center, Patmon, Bannister and Milan.

The experience of these prisoners and the East Texas men who came into contact with them during World War II is the subject of a new book by writer/teacher Mark Choate of Lufkin.

Nazis in the Pineywoods is the culmination of several years of study and research by Choate to learn about the prisoners of war in the pineywoods and the effect they had on the communities and the lumber industry for more than two years.

While Camp Fannin in Tyler served as the principal POW camp in East Texas, branch camps were located in Alto, Chireno, Lufkin, Center, Patmon, San Augustine, Bannister and Milan.

During World War II, more than 400,000 German and Italian prisoners were interned in the United States. Nearly 80,000 of them, mostly Germans, were in Texas.

When thousands of East Texas men left the region to serve in the armed forces, East Texas timber industries recruited the German POWs as a labor supply until the war was over. As a result, a number of prison camps were built in the pineywoods and maintained for more than two years.

W.I.S.D: Lots Thankful For.

Thursday, November 23, we will celebrate Thanksgiving Day. Thanksgiving is a day for joyful reunion of family and friends. It is a day to give thanks for the many blessings received during the year.

One of the first occasions for our forefathers to celebrate Thanksgiving occurred on December 16, 1619, when colonists from England landed in America. Upon their arrival, they celebrated their safe journey across the Atlantic with a thankful prayer. The celebration has continued as a harvest holiday, or a day to give thanks to God for a plentiful crop and other blessings received.

On Thanksgiving Day, I have so much to be thankful for — God, family, children, health, friends, and our community. Also, I am thankful for our students — the most precious resource we have; teachers — well prepared and dedicated to student success; parents — supportive and involved; administrators — strong instructional leaders; teacher aides, bus drivers, office staff, cooks, custodians, and maintenance — supportive; and caring; and the board of trustees — committed to excellence.

I am thankful for the Woodville Marching Band for their first place in the District and Region and participating in the State Marching Contest; the Varsity Football team — for winning 2nd place in district and competing in the bi-district contest; the Drug Education Program — for being selected as a presenter at the State Drug Education Conference; Eleanor Holderman — for her work on the Student Leadership Program; County Juvenile Officer, County District Judges, Child Service Welfare Board, Caring and Sharing, and Bless the Children — for cooperative work with the school, and my wife Paula — for her love.

As you celebrate Thanksgiving, take a few moments to thank our students and staff. Our hope is for their success and happiness.

TO WATCH THE CORNWALL OR THE BLOSSOMS SET; TO DRAW A HARD BREATH OVER THE FLOWERS; TO READ, TO PRAY, THESE ARE THE THINGS THAT MAKE MEN HAPPY. (JOHN RUSKIN)

3rd Court Rules On GSU Case

The 3rd Court of Appeals ruled Sept. 20 that the Public Utility Commission of Texas has the authority to review the reasonableness of $1.4 billion of Gulf States Utilities Co.'s investment in the River Bend nuclear power plant.

The order reverses an earlier decision by Judge Charles Clark of the 25th Judicial District Court, Austin, and dissolves the permanent injunction he issued.

Company officials hailed the decision as a vindication of both the PUCT and the company's position that GSU should be allowed to proceed with the plant.

The premium stamps will be available in the following cities for a test period of 30 days or while limited quantities last: Atlanta, GA; Chicago, IL; Cleveland, OH; Columbus, OH; Dallas, TX; Denver, CO; Houston, TX; Indianapolis, IN; Kansas City, MO; Los Angeles, CA; Miami, FL; Milwaukee, WI; Minneapolis, MN; Phoenix, AZ; and St. Louis, MO. The coil strip of 18 will only be available from the Philatelic Centers and in self-service vending machines in the above test cities, at the "1-Entire Postage" Philatelic Center, Washington, D.C., and from the PSD by mail order — US Postal Service, Philatelic Sales Division, Washington, D.C. 20262-9907, telephone (703) 696-1522 and FAX (703) 876-0696. SHECo Gets National Safety Accreditation Honor

The safety of members and employees of San Houston Electric Cooperative is a top priority. To help insure that safety, SHECo has expanded existing safety efforts by participating in the National Rural Electric Cooperative (NRECA) Safety Accreditation Program.

To become accredited, an electric cooperative must meet the many requirements established by NRECA.

These requirements include: safety procedures, inspections, investigations, and safety education for employees and members. Also, an on-site inspection must be passed, and an extensive application documenting the safety program must be submitted to the NRECA National Safety Accreditation Committee.

The national committee met in Corpus Christi, Texas on October 23, 24, and 25, to review 111 applications for safety accreditation submitted by electric cooperatives from all across the United States, including Alaska.

The committee itself is comprised of representatives from rural electric cooperatives and related safety organizations from around the nation. On October 25, the results were made official, and SHECo was awarded the NRECA Safety Accreditation Certificate of Excellence.

The objectives of the Safety Accreditation Program are: 1. To establish evidence of effective loss control activities by rural electric systems; 2. To promote guidelines for reducing injuries, illness, and property damage; 3. To encourage on-the-job safety training programs; 4. To encourage public electrical safety education. 5. To promote compliance with applicable laws, codes, and standards. 6. To promote development and implementation of effective loss control policies. 7. To provide recognition for all rural electric systems which establish and maintain an effective loss control program.

The recent NRECA study showed that the average loss ratio for systems which had never participated in the Safety Accreditation Program was 42% higher than systems which had maintained accredited status for 12 years.

Another study by NRECA, using national statistics, indicated that there is a 64% greater chance of a work-related death at a non-accredited system. The bottom line is that safety awareness saves lives, and the participation of every employee and member is important to the success of the program.

The motto in God We Trust first appeared on U.S. coins in 1864.

The "broad stripes and bright stars" Francis Scott Key wrote of in the Star Spangled Banner each numbered 15 for the original 13 states plus Vermont and Kentucky.

Deer Have Bugs Too!

OVERTON—Most of the deer killed in Texas are healthy, but they do have their share of external parasites, according to an entomologist at the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The most common parasites are deer ticks (a louse fly), biting lice and ticks, said Dr. James Robinson, entomologist at the Texas Agricultural Extension Center at Overton.

Deer ticks, which are as small as a pinhead, feed on blood and can cause a tick fever. They also can transmit Lyme disease, which is a bacterial infection that can cause a variety of symptoms, including joint pain, fever, and fatigue.

Biting lice, usually no longer than one-eighth inch, feed on hair and skin. Robinson said they can cause a ticky feeling.

"They do not suck blood and cause little harm to deer," Robinson said. "They are not harmful to man but may get between the skin and clothing and cause a person to think they have the itch."

"Ticks are a different matter," Robinson said. "Several species of ticks may be found on deer and they will also attach to man. Ticks may be removed by hand or with a tick puller. When handling or skinning a deer to prevent ticks from moving from the deer to man, Robinson said.

"Robinson said that after the EIS should eliminate any problem with parasites found on the body of the animal."
