

* Evacuees find shelter

"I didn't realize we needed more people there and they didn't realize there were no vacancies until they got ready to close down Wednesday morning."

The emergency management coordinator said this is a problem which will be taken care of before the next evacuation.

"Next time we will have security officers there and at the other shelters," he said. "This is a real strong agreement for us to have a whole lot of reserve deputies on hand to take care of situations like this."

During the night of Aug. 25-26, Yearwood said two, Anne Jean Red Cross shelters were opened in Tyler County. The largest, at the Woodville High School gymnasium, housed about 450 evacuees, while the shelter at the Warren house housed another 400.

In addition to the official Red Cross shelters, Yearwood said other shelters were opened by a number of area churches, the Wood Fair Opera House, Chester High School and the Chester Volunteer Fire Department. He estimated that between 1,000 and 1,300 people took advantage of these shelters.

"We were set to open shelters in Colmesneil and Spurger, but we did not do so because I wanted to wait until Wednesday," Yearwood said. "If the storm had blown in at Port Arthur and Jefferson County, the chances were very good that we would lose power and water here and I wanted to have some shelters in reserve for the people of Orange County, Louisiana and Jefferson County."

The judge and commissioners also voiced appreciation to a number of others who were heavily involved with the evacuation last week, including Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace Wade Brasher, Constable Davis, the entire sheriff's department, the county's school districts, the volunteers running the shelters, the staff at Tyler County Hospital, the Warren Volunteer Fire Department, all area nursing homes and all local churches.

"I also hope that those people in Beaumont with the state highway department will look at all the traffic we had on Highway 69," Precinct 1 Commissioner, Mervin Riley said. "Cres was bumper to bumper to Warren and something needs to be done about that."

"A lot of people are misinformed. They think the county pays the emergency management coordinator a salary," Judge Jerome Owens said. "That is not true. John does this on his own time and at his own expense. That includes the use of his own car."

Owens noted that Jasper and Hardin counties currently pay their emergency management coordinators about $20,000 per year and that other nearby counties pay the EMC up to $30,000. "As the county's EMC, Owens praised Yearwood for the time he has volunteered in putting together an emergency plan and in filling out the "thou-teams of individuals to participate. Trophies, ribbons and cash prizes will be awarded in this event, with losers given the chance to get revenge during the Good Ol' Days events on Oct. 31.

Judge Roy Bean, the Law West of the Neches, will again be the center of attention, with judges, who are sentencing offenders of all types to jail time.

Opening the day's musical entertainment at 10 a.m. will be "Roy Rogers," in the person of Tyler County crooner Roger Byars, on the outside stage in front of the Opera House. He also will act as master of ceremonies throughout the day, assisting Good Ol' Days King Maxie Riley and Judge Bean in keeping order.

Other entertainers scheduled to appear are William Hoffman, Renée Pittman, Jimmy Hall, the Tyler County Ramblers, High Country Roads, the Over the Hill Gang and many others. Other groups and singles also are welcome to perform.

Featured for the first time on the outside keyboard will be the Opera House's own Timothy Hughes, who also will entertain at given times inside the Opera House at the 100-year-old upright piano.

Returning this year for two demonstrations of their expertise will be the Doywood Round Dancers, who will perform at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. on the dance floor of the historic old Opera House.

The Opera House is a converted movie theater which was built in 1939 by early entrepreneur Wood Paul. It has been renovated and is now displaying small, town theaters can become, remaining a center for local entertainment.

Ending the day's activities will be the finals of the annual You Can Be a Star Contest, with a cash award to be given to the first place winner. In addition to the contest, the First Saturday Gospel, Country Music Show will hit the boards at 7 p.m. The show is open to the public with a free will offering to be taken during the evening.

other PCPC newspapers.

A native of Corsicana, Holley has been involved in newspaper work since joining his hometown newspaper, The Corsicana Sun, as a paperboy. From that beginning, he worked his way up through positions such as circulation manager, advertising manager and general manager before he and his partner, Durrant, purchased PCPC and moved to East Texas in 1972.

"I am looking forward to meeting the people of Tyler County," Peak said. "I have spent most of my life in East Texas and have enjoyed working with the men and women who make their homes beneath the piney woods of the region."

* Hennigan wins

nigan squealed. "This is terrible!"

Weatherford, however, was all smiles as the winner was announced. "I think it was political," Weatherford smirked. "It's not right. Politics were involved in this election and I want a recount."

But, the tally was confirmed by the election judges and despite Weatherford's tongue-in-cheek lament, Sheriff Hennigan is King of the Sty.

"I am glad to see that my Chief Deputy had helped catch his wife, said ominously. "You mean my ex-wife deputy?"

"I'm not worried," Bible said with a broad grin.

Hennigan said that he didn't have a preference on what kind of pig he kissed, just as long as it was a "little bit thingy." He didn't even care which end he had to kiss.

"I'm glad it's for a good cause," Hennigan added. "Those people at the women's shelter do a fine job and we're glad we could help out."

Weatherford agreed with Hennigan and said that he was really glad that he had personally raised so much money for the Crisis Center.

Hennigan, when told that he would be proclaimed King of the Sty at noon Saturday, said that he would have to cancel his golf game but that he would be there.

The pig will be there, too, if it can be caught after learning that Hennigan will be the one administering the kiss.

Presidential politics arrive in Texas

By Lyndell Williams
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — President Bush followed his opponent on the campaign trail to Texas last week, turning on the federal funds spent to boost the economy here.

Meanwhile in Houston, U.S. Attorney General William P. Barr criticized 12th Circuit Texas Attorney General Dan Morales for being too lenient in favor of prisoners in the proposed settlement of a state prison lawsuit which has cost Texas taxpayers millions of dollars.

Bush told growers near Lubbock he has converted $775 million in disaster relief for farmers and announced a $1 billion package of farm export subsidies.

In Fort Worth, where General Dynamics makes F-16 fighter jets, Bush announced the sale of 150 planes to the U.S. ally Taiwan for defense against China.

Chinese officials said they weren't happy about the sales, but several Texas officials were, including Bush's southwest political fix, Gov. Ann Richards, who applauded the news for the sake of the Fort Worth economy.

The Clinton campaign in Texas accused Bush of trying to buy Texas voters just before the election.

Regarding the prison lawsuit, Barr said he was disappointed in Morales' decision to settle the Ruiz case "too much in favor of inmates."

Some state legislators want Morales to appeal to the now-conscientious U.S. Supreme Court, where a decision against the prisoners would save Texas taxpayers millions in new prison construction for court-ordered remedies.

Barr said among the nation's federal judicial district, San Antonio led the U.S. in prosecutions with Dallas third and Houston fifth.

Dollars to Judges

The on-going battle between trial lawyers and business took a planned turn last week when a group of trial lawyers released their study of political contributions to Texas Supreme Court candidates.

Austin trial lawyer David Dragg said over 47,500 gifts were included in the study, which found that:

- 57 percent of all contributions were made by lawyers, bankers, insurance companies, and doctors.
- Among lawyers, $442,821 came from top defense firms and $317,623 from plaintiff firms in '91-'92.
- Lawyers also contributed almost $1 million to GOP candidates and $877,000 to Democrats.

Brage concluded that favorable decisions for consumer groups are at an all-time low over the past 10 years.

Other Highlights

- A new rule, issued by the Texas State Treasury, prohibits miners from bringing cigarettes across the border. The Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission, which collects state taxes on tobacco products for the treasury, will enforce this regulation which went into effect last week.
- State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison stated, "This rule closes a loophole in the existing law. Previously, while we were enforcing the ban on bringing cigarettes in Texas, they legally could bring cigarettes into the state from Mexico. Now, if a person under the age of 18 attempts to bring cigarettes across the border, those cigarettes will be seized." No other penalties will be assessed.
- On the personal income chart, individuals have dropped their demands for certain income tax breaks. Charlie actually cares about the people of East Texas. He's helped thousands of good folks with jobs and assistance in unimpaired government rate. He fought Communism harder than most anyone in history and we are now reaping the benefits of his efforts. And perhaps most important, he has learned to love the natural beauty of our country and is working to protect it from those shortsighted greedy folks who would clearcut the last tree on the planet for a new color.
- Silly little Donna Peterson has not matured and has fallen into the clutches of a greedy gang of clever yahoos whose main goal in life is to concentrate the wealth of America into the hands of a tiny elite and sell our forests and our jobs to Japan.
- Her little forced tongue has been yapping all sorts of nonsense about how woodpeckers are taking jobs away from folks when she knows good and well that more timber has been harvested in the last two years from the woodpecker areas than from the parts of the National Forest without woodpeckers. Telling lies to attempt to destroy endangered species and the natural beauty of our public lands is evil, malicious and unethical. We have enough greedy, shortsighted, dishonest people in Washington. We sure don't need Donna up there to add to their ranks.

Sincerely,
George Russell

Dear Mr. Yearwood:

In reply to your letter dated June 1, 1992, to Postmaster General Marvin Runyon, please be assured that the Coleman, Texas Post Office was not involved in a political procedure nor did it condone or at least facilitate the anonymous slander against a political candidate.

The letters you refer to were deposited in the local mail slot after the lobby was closed. There were only a handful of letters addressed to the rooms and the post office boxes. There would be no way that 100 letters, let alone 600 letters, would fit in the area where the local mail is deposited.

Since there was not that many letters in the collection box and it was necessary to deposit the mail in the Post Office boxes and the rural route boxes as early as possible, the stamps were cancelled with a ballpoint pen. This process was faster than hand stamping.

Sometimes the stamps will not get cancelled at the origin and if they are not cancelled before arriving at the destination, then they will be cancelled with a line mark.

Trusting this will be of help.

Sincerely,
Joyce Ann Polite

Secret Places

By Andrew Hicks

There are many secret places that you only know about. You can get away from everything and everybody and do just what you want.

Some secret places are more special than others. You can sit under a huge, leafy oak tree and watch squirrels play. If you are quiet, you might see a deer gracefully walking through the trees.

Another secret place might be out in your yard. You might be able to get ideas for school work just looking around. You may see a bird fly by that inspires you to write something about it.

Your room may also be a secret place where nobody bothers you. You might be able to get away from everything and everybody and do just what you want.

Holiday Pines Manor-News

By Jessie Haynes

The month of August ended well. We had plenty of rain, and the heat took over before we were ready to come in. We played Yahzee later that day and enjoyed a visit with my friends. The ladies from Warren stayed a good while and the conversation was of friends and family. Bro. Cauten made his usual Monday morning visit.

We brought the new month in with our usual Tuesday of exercise, music and tales, bingo and a occupation word game. We also had our hair done by Betty Cauten and a 16.4 percent rate. Brownsville, Harlingen at 12 percent, El Paso with 10.6 percent, Odessa at 10.3 percent and Corpus Christi with a 9.5 percent July rate.

July unemployment rates for other East Texas counties include:

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has asked the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) for approval to offer new optional call management services called Caller Identification Service (Caller ID) and Anonymous Call Rejection (ACR).

Caller ID is a new optional phone service which allows subscribers to see the phone number and/or name of most local calls before they answer the phone. Caller ID also allows the recording of the date, time, name and/or phone number of calls. Currently, Caller ID will work only on most local calls, not long distance calls. It would also require that a separate display unit be connected to the telephone. These units that attach to the telephone will be available from various vendors, including Southwestern Bell, at a cost starting at approximately $50.

Southwestern Bell is also proposing that all customers be able to "block," or stop their name/number from being transmitted to callers. This service would allow subscribers to block calls that they do not want to answer. This service would be available for a fee. If you want to block your name or number, you need only press "67" on your touch-tone pad (or dial 1167 from a rotary phone) before dialing the telephone number. Special weekend tours at Fire Museum during October

BEAUMONT—Thanks to Junior League of Beaumont support, the Fire Museum of Texas is pleased to announce that tours will be available for three weekends in October. The Fire Museum of Texas will open its doors on Saturday afternoons from 1-4 p.m. and Sunday afternoons from 1-4 p.m. for the weekends of October 10-11, 17-18, and 24-25.

Rebecca Woodland, Curator hopes to encourage families to visit the museum during fire prevention month.

The weekend docents from the Junior League will guide visitors through the historical fire apparatus exhibits and engage youngsters in the Fire Safety Activity Center. All of the tours will incorporate the 1992 National Fire Prevention Month theme "Test Your Detector—It's Sound Advice."

By making the Fire Museum more accessible to the public with these special weekend tours, Woodland urges the citizens of Beaumont to participate in fire prevention activities at home, work, and school, and to heed the message "Test Your Detector—It's Sound Advice!" as the 1992 Fire Prevention Week theme suggests.

"Having adequate smoke detector protection in your home is the absolute key to fire survival—and when it comes to smoke detectors, one is usually not enough for the average house or apartment," says Fire Chief Shelton. Smoke detectors should be located on every level of the home, and there should be a smoke detector outside each sleeping area. The Fire Museum of Texas recommends testing your detectors regularly and if they are battery-operated, replacing batteries when you change your clocks.

The Fire Museum is regularly open for tours Monday through Friday 8-4:30 p.m. Reservations are necessary for group tours. Admission is free. Please call the museum office at 680-3927 for more information.

Solid waste topic of DETDA program

LUFKIN—Public officials and businessmen concerned with the growing issue of solid waste disposal in Deep East Texas will be in Lufkin Friday, Sept. 25, for a speech by Texas Water Commission Peggy Sue Garner of Austin, one of the state's leading authorities on the issue.

The meeting of the Deep East Texas Development Association and the Deep East Texas Council of Governments will be held at the Day's Inn, starting at 10 a.m.

"With landfills being closed in many Deep East Texas counties, and state and federal regulators exerting more pressure, the solid waste issue is emerging as one of the most critical issues of the day," said Gordon Steele of Hemphill, president of DETDA.

The DETDA meeting is expected to be attended by county and city officials, state and federal regulators, solid waste engineers and contractors, businessmen, landowners and others.

Garner, former county judge of Union County, was appointed to the Texas Water Commission by Governor Ann Richards last year.

During her five terms as a county judge, she played a key role in resolving several of West Texas' environmental problems, including water supply shortages, drought relief, and solid waste.

She was instrumental in the creation of the Sparsely Population Districts of the Texas Water Commission, a group of 115 cities and counties which successfully lobbied the Environmental Protection Agency to give state regulatory agencies the power to grant variances to federal government's solid waste regulations.

Council okays small tax hike
-New Woodville budget increased by less than $100,000-

By Greg Peak

WOODVILLE — After conducting a hearing on its 1993 budget Monday night, the Woodville City Council unanimously increased the local tax rate by less than one-half of one cent per $100 of assessed value.

Under the measure, the city property tax will increase from the 1992 level of .3738 cents per $100 valuation to .3781 cents.

This translates to mean that for each $10,000 of taxable value, city property owners will pay $37.81 in 1993 taxes — or an increase of $0.43, a home valued at $80,000 after exemptions, for instance, would be required to pay $189.05 in property taxes under the new rate, as opposed to $186.90 this past year.

City Secretary Don Shaw noted Monday night that the new .3781 cent rate was the highest the city could go without holding special public hearings.

Mayor Billy Rose noted that while across the board salary increases were not being given this year, he did not stop at a motel for the night.

Police found Jimmy Lee Penbenton of Arkansas dead at the Hammond Motel on Nov. 24, 1988.

"Described as a 'bomber' by one detective, Magliolo is said to be a transient with ties to Texas. He was born in Groves and was living in the Dan B area at the time of his arrest.

Investigators believe the suspect occasionally worked as a truck driver although he didn't possess an operator's license, and that he has been traveling in and out of Southeast Texas for the past 11 months.

Murder suspect taken to Nashville

JASPER — A Tyler County man whom police suspect in strangulation murders in three states, was turned over to Nashville, Tenn. police Monday to face charges in connection with one killing.

Michael Scott Magliolo, 32, who was living with his sister in the Dan B area, was extradited from the Jasper County Jail to the metropolitan jail in Nashville.

Magliolo, a recent parolee from a Texas prison, was arrested Friday night by Jasper police after a routine traffic stop. When officers saw police say officer Chen on the suspect, they discovered police were seeking Magliolo on murder warrants from Nashville and Cincinnati.

Paroled from a Texas prison in March, 1991, Magliolo is charged in the September, 1991 murder of a prostitute in Cincinnati and with killing a Nashville housewife eight days later, Nashville police said.

The fast food restaurant junior also is reported to be a suspect in a 1988 murder in Hammond, La., police said Monday.

That accusation stems from the Thanksgiving Day, 1988, death of a 65-year-old man who police say offered his killer a ride. The victim was gagged and strangled to death after

County opposes TCAD salary increases

By Greg Peak

WOODVILLE — Citing a $600 per employee pay raise as the reason, the Tyler County Commissioners Court once again rejected a proposed Tyler County Appraisal District budget for 1993.

In his report, with Precinct 4 Commissioner Henry Earl Sawyer favoring the budget, the commissioners voted 3-1 to again veto the TCAD spending plan. It three other major Tyler County tax entities also veto the budget, the appraisal district will increase for all other TCAD employees.

The revised 1993 budget rejected by the commissioners Monday totals $367,070 and is $20,100 less than the budget proposal voted by a majority of the county taxing entities last month.

"The TCAD budget is funded by taxing entities such as the county, City of Woodville and five school districts, each of which must pay a portion of the overall budget based on its level of tax collections. Because the county is the second largest tax collecting entity served by TCAD, it would be required to fund a large portion of the budget.

Based on the $367,070 figure, the county's share would be about $101,425. The largest tax entity, the Woodville Independent School District, would have to pay about $103,770.

Part of the problem in the county is that we've given one pay raise in the last six years to our people and we $101 feel we can justify an increase, the other entity without increasing our own employee salaries," Mahan said.

"Until all of the increases in salary are taken out of this budget, it would be hard to justify," he added.

Hollis Norman Dorvee
HILLISTER — Memorial services for Hollis Norman Dorvee, 75, of Hillister, were held at 1 p.m. Monday, Sept. 7, 1992, in the Riley Funeral Home Chapel in Woodville with Paul Rachal or Our Lady of Pines Catholic Church, and his son-in-law, Bro. Leo Gaston, officiating.

* Evacuées find shelter

"I didn't realize we needed more people there and at the other shelters," Yearwood said. "If the storm had blown in at Port Arthur and Jefferson County, the chances were very good that we would lose power and water here and I wanted to have some shelters in reserve for the Tyler County folks to use."

During the night of Aug. 25-26, Yearwood said two American Red Cross shelters were opened in Tyler County. The largest, at the Woodville High School gymnasium, housed about 250 evacuees, while the shelter at the Warren house housed another 400.

In addition to the official Red Cross shelters, Yearwood said other shelters were opened by a number of area churches, the Wood Park Church, Chester High School and the Chester Volunteer Fire Department. He estimated that between 1,000 and 1,300 people took advantage of these shelters.

"We were set to open shelters in Calmeswell and Spruger but we did not do so because I wanted to wait until Wednesday," Yearwood said. "If the storm had blown in at Port Arthur and Jefferson County, the chances were very good that we would lose power and water here and I wanted to have some shelters in reserve for the Tyler County folks to use."

During a special meeting of the Tyler County Commissioners Court on Monday, local officials took the opportunity to praise the effort by Yearwood and other volunteers in handling the crisis.

"A lot of people are misinformed. They think the county pays the emergency management coordinator a salary," Judge Jerome Owens said. "That is not true. John does this on his own time and at his own expense. That includes the use of his own car."

Owens noted that Hopper and Hardin counties currently pay their emergency management coordinators about $20,000 per year and that some other nearby counties pay the EMC up to $30,000.

As the county's EMC, Owens praised Yearwood for the time he has volunteered in putting together an emergency plan and in filling out the "thousands and thousands" of documents required by the state.

"We were much better prepared for this because John had put an effective plan together," Owens said. "As it turns out, we didn't need the plan for ourselves but we did need it for the people of Orange County, Louisiana and Jefferson County."

The judge and commissioners also voiced appreciation to a number of others who were heavily involved with the evacuation last week, including Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace Wanda Brasher, Corbin Davis, the entire sheriff's department, the county's school districts, the volunteers manning the shelters, the staff at Tyler County Hospital, the Warren Volunteer Fire Department, all area nursing homes and all local churches.

"I also hope that those people in Beaumont with the state highway department will look at all the traffic we had on Highway 69," Precinct 1 Commissioner Maxie Riley said. "Cars were bumper to bumper to Warren and something needs to be done about that."

other PCPC newspapers. A native of Corsicana, Holley has been involved in newspaper work since joining his hometown newspaper, The Corsicana Sun, as a paperboy. From that beginning, he worked his way up to positions such as circulation manager, advertising manager and general manager before he and his partner, Duane, purchased PCPC and moved to East Texas in 1972.

Named as interim editor of the Woodman by Holley is Greg Peak, who has served as the area's news editor for all PCPC publications since 1979. Peak, 36, first joined the PCPC organization in 1973 as the area's news reporter while still attending high school in Polk County. He later served as the editor of The Trinity Standard before leaving the company to accept a position as a general assignment reporter for the daily San Angelo Standard-Times. During his nearly three years at the San Angelo newspaper, Peak also served as editor-in-chief covering both the public school system and Angelo State University.

"I am looking forward to meeting the people of Tyler County," Peak said. "I have spent most of my life in East Texas and have enjoyed working with the men and women who make their names known in the piney woods of the region."

Bobby Risch, 5, and Jailer Mark Wilson, 3. Wilson has been receiving one vote per week for the last three weeks. Each ballot, while not revealing the identity of the voter, has none the less had a term of endorsement. "With all my love," written on it.

At the end of the contest Monday, Sept. 14, had been raised for the Crisis Center.

"This is wonderful," said Dianne Duhon, VISTA volunteer in charge of the Crisis Center. "I want to thank each of the officers who participated in the contest and each person who donated to the shelter. The response has been overwhelming. But, perhaps the best thing of all is that people are aware of the shelter here. I can't say enough good things about the people and the officers."

As a finale to the Kiss a Pig contest, the Crisis Center will host a dance at the Woodville Inn September 19. The Pig Dance, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., will feature world renowned disc jockey Larry Flannagan and tickets will be $6 per person, available at the door.

An added attraction to the dance will be the King of the Sty, Gary Hennigan, who will dance with his subjects for a nominal fee.

The funds collected from the dance and from the dances with the King will benefit the Crisis Center. All donations are tax deductible.

"It's for a great cause," Sty King Hennigan added. "I don't really want to kiss a pig, but it's for a good cause. I just hope the pig is good looking."

"I'm glad it's for a good cause," Hennigan added. "Those people at the women's shelter do a fine job and we're glad we could help out."

Weatherford agreed with Hennigan and said that he was really glad that he had personally raised so much money for the Crisis Center.

Hennigan, when told that he would be crowned King of the Sty at next Saturday, said that he would have to cancel his golf game but that he would be there.

The pig will be there too, if it can be caught after learning that Hennigan will be the one administering the kiss.

Other officers participating in the Kiss a Pig contest included Chief Deputy Sam Bille, 200 votes; Lt. Tracy Ferguson, 24 votes; Sgt. James Chapman, 17 votes; Steven Shirock, 10; Ty Nowlin, 18; Jessie Wolf, 16; John Fuller, 3; Eddie Matthews, 5; Woodville Police Chief Scott Yess, 149; Richard Guitierrez, 26; Kent Graham, 9; Ralph Fuller, 29; Darryl Boykins, 19; and Gene Rawls, 3.

New superintendent takes over WISD helm

WOODVILLE — Carol Moffett, a 20-year veteran of the education field, has been named as the new superintendent of the Woodville Independent School District.

Moffett currently serves as the Mabank ISD superintendent and expects to begin work in Woodville by September or early October.

"I'm really excited about coming to Woodville," Moffett said in a telephone interview from Mabank last week. "I am interested in building strong academic programs and this is something that the Woodville school systems seems to be already doing."

"We need to be committed to building schools for the future. We need to do a better job of educating our students if they are going to be competitive in the global economy," she added.

"Woodville has an excellent school system and I am excited at being a part of continuing this system into the future," she said.

The Woodville school board was scheduled to complete their superintendent selection process during a special meeting Tuesday night. Although the results of that meeting were not available at press time, a news release issued last week by the school board indicated that Moffett would be formally hired by the board during that special session.

A reception to introduce Moffett to the community was scheduled to be held immediately after the Tuesday meeting.

Moffett replaces former Woodville Superintendent Dorman Jackson who resigned in June to accept the superintendent job in Crockett. Since his resignation, Glenn Pearson, a retired Bridge City superintendent, has served as the interim superintendent. Moffett has been superintendent in Mabank, located between Kaufman and Athens, for the past two years. Prior to moving to Mabank, she was superintendent for the Ingram ISD for three years and principal of Ingram's Tim Moore High School for five years.

She also served as director of the private Broadway High School in Houston for eight years and worked as a classroom teacher for eight to 10 years in the Houston-Spring Branch area. In the classroom, she taught English, government and science, but specialized in 10th grade biology and 12th grade government.

She received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Texas at Austin, with a major in English and political science. She received a master's degree in management from the University of Houston.

Moffett and her husband, Milton, have three children: Susan, who owns her own desktop publishing company in Brown, Texas; Milton, who is employed in the medical textbook branch of Lipincott Publishing in Houston; and Frank, who is a pharmacist with Eckert Drugs in Dallas.

WOODVILLE — After being formally proclaimed as "King of the Sty" Saturday, Tyler County Sheriff Gary Hennigan planted a kiss on Mr. Willie, the pig, during ceremonies held in conjunction with the Frontier Frolic. Hennigan "won" the honor or publicly kissing the pig during a fund-raising contest benefiting the Crisis Center, the Tyler County Outreach Office of the Women and Children's Shelter. A total of $2,144 was raised during the first annual "Kiss a Pig" Contest in which area residents donated $1 per vote to determine which member of the sheriff's department or Woodville Police Department would receive the honor. Hennigan and the field received votes totaling $775. Prior to embracing Mr. Willie, Hennigan told the crowd, "I appreciate everyone who voted for me. All I would like is a list of the names of those people so that I can show my appreciation."

WOODVILLE — After peaking to a three-year high in January, Tyler County's unemployment rate fell to its lowest level of the year in July, according to figures released by the Texas Employment Commission.

The county's July jobless rate — the latest currently available — indicates that 7.5 percent of the local labor force was unemployed and looking for work during the month. The latest figure translates to mean that out of an estimated civilian labor force of 7,848 people, a total of 588 workers were unemployed.

Tyler County's new jobless figure is, however, significantly lower than the 4 percent figure recorded in January, which was well above the 1991 average rate of 6.7 percent and the 1991 high of 7.1 percent recorded in May of that year.

Since January, the local jobless rate has declined or remained stable with the exception of July, which saw a 5 percent increase. Unemployment figures recorded since January include February's 8.6 percent, March's 8.0 percent, April and May's 7.8 percent, June's 8.3 percent and July's 7.5 percent.

One year ago, the July unemployment rate stood at 6.7 percent. In announcing the latest jobless numbers, Texas Employment Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers noted that while the local rate was falling by 3.8 percent, the state's unemployment rate was dropping by 9 percent.

"We would like to view this month's drop in the state's unemployment rate as a positive economic indicator, but I believe that would be a mistake," Nabers said.

"The numbers are good but they're not out of the woods yet," she said. The state's jobless rate dropped in July from 8.3 percent. The number of jobless Texans decreased by 90,000 in July, leaving a total of 652,000 people looking for work in the state. The current unemployment rate, although down in July, was still well above the 6.8 percent rate recorded one year ago.

"While the report is good news, the decline is largely attributed to people who have given up looking for work during the summer," Nabers said. The state always expects increased rate in June when students begin seeking summer work, and there is normally a decline in July as we are feeling now."

"This decrease is certainly welcome, and this is the first time the state's rate has been below the national level in months. But the employment picture will not be stable until our economy can install a sense of confidence in the minds of consumers and employers," she said.

"Maintaining confidence will be difficult as long as the state's corporate
