The February decline comes on the heels of a 25.4 percent gain recorded in January and gives the county a yearto-date total of $48,966.44, a figure that is about 3.9 percent ($1,823.64) more than the $47,142.80 the county

received during the first two months

Thus far the county has received about 23.9 percent of the $205,000 it project it would earn from the half-cent sales tax in its 1994 budget.

Prior to January's strong gain, the county's sales tax income experienced a sharp drop of almost 34 percent in December. Despite that decline, the county ended 1993 on a positive note, receiving a total of $251,784.78 in sales tax payments during the year. This reflected a 6.2 percent increase from the $236,978.89 received during

HUNTSVILLE - If it's any consequence the Woodville Eagles can say they defeated a state final four team twice this season.

While district brother, Hardin-Jefferson, is off to the state playoffs this week, the Woodville Eagles are home still wondering what happened last week in an upset loss to the Columbus Cardinals in the area championship.

"I thought Columbus played well," said the Woodville coach. "We might have got the carly lead. Their two big kids hurt us on defense, and we didn't hit well from the outside."

The Eagles fought back to harrow it to 64-61 with just over a militiate to go in the game. An intentional foul gave the Cardinals in the area championship.
