Burglars hit Tyler County Courthouse

LOOKING FOR CLUES — Woodville Police Chief Scott Yosko (right) and Sgt. Bryan Weatherford examine one of the Tyler County Courthouse windows Monday in an effort to determine how thieves broke into the courthouse over the weekend. Although extensive damage was reported throughout the main courthouse as well as building housing the district attorney's office, Yosko said only a "small amount of cash" appears to have been stolen. The theft was discovered about 5:30 a.m. Monday by District Attorney Jim Clark. While investigating the break-in of the building housing the DA's office, officers discovered that the main courthouse also was entered, apparently through a window in the county clerk's office. "Almost every office in the place was entered and ransacked," Yosko said. "Doors were pried open and filing cabinets, locked drawers and safes were broken open. On the second floor the courtroom door was taken off its hinges and a hole was knocked in the courtroom wall. They were trying to get into a safe through the wall but they failed. The burglars were able to break open a safe in the probate department. Anyone with information about the burglary or who saw someone hanging around the courthouse over the weekend is being asked to call the Woodville Police Department at 283-5262. ## Commissioners voice support for extended dialing program

By Greg Peak
Editor

WOODVILLE — Voicing support for plans to offer extended dialing services throughout the county, the Tyler County Commissioner Court met Monday with chamber of commerce officials to discuss the telephone service proposal.

Gene Koci, who is heading up the extended dialing effort for the chamber, told commissioners that he wanted to provide them with information about the matter to better enable them to answer questions from their constituents.

"This does not require any action on your part. I'm here to answer your questions and to let you know what we are doing," Koci said.

The chamber official explained that under a new law, Senate Bill 632, residents of outlying areas may petition the Public Utility Commission for extended dialing privileges that would eliminate long distance charges to and from business, medical and governmental centers.

In this case, residents of the Colmesnell telephone exchange, as well as those in the Warren, Wildwood and Village Mills areas, are seeking extended dialing service to and from Woodville. At present, only those in Woodville's 283 and Spurger's 429 telephone exchanges can call one another toll free. All other areas of the county have to pay a long distance charge for all calls to Woodville.

Koci noted that under the law, if the extended dialing service is approved, residents of the outlying areas will have to pay a flat, monthly fee rather than the individual long distance charges assessed for each call to Woodville. That fee would be $3.50 a month for residential customer and $7 a month for businesses.

Residents of the Woodville exchange would not be charged the additional fee, although if the service is approved, the long distance charges would be eliminated from their bills as well, Koci noted.

He explained that under the law, the extended dialing service is designed to allow residents of outlying areas to have toll free access to things such as the county courthouse, sheriff's department, emergency medical services, hospitals, doctors and state offices.

"The folks in Woodville already have access to these offices on a local calling basis so they are not eligible to petition the PUC for extended telephone service," Koci said.

"In order to petition the PUC for this service, you are required to have 100 signatures," he added. "An indication of how much support this has, is that in just five days we were able to get about 400 signatures in Colmesnell. We also ran the petition for seven days

Incumbents unseated in city, school votes

-Write-in wins Chester council seat-

TYLER COUNTY — Saturday proved to be a black day for incumbent city council and school board candidates with Tyler County voters rejecting all but those running unopposed in the five school and three city elections.

In one race, the for three at-large city council seats in Chester, a write-in candidate, Ronnie Bradley, was a winner. The Sam Houston Electric Co-op lineman came in third with 13 votes while incumbent B.E. Williams received 20 votes and Todd Pounds garnered 19. The third candidate on the ballot, Nathan Shoemaker, did not receive a single vote.

Throughout the county, low voter interest proved to be the rule of the day. Only in the Warren school board election, in which seven candidates were running for two school board positions, did voter turnout top the 500 mark.

Following is a breakdown of how each candidate fared in the local elections. An (I) appearing before a candidate's name indicates that he or she was the incumbent and a ✓ after the vote total indicates the winners.

Harvey selected as principal of the year

WOODVILLE — Dr. Tom Harvey, principal of Woodville High School, has been named Outstanding Principal of the Year for the Education Service Center Region 5 by the Texas Association of Secondary School Principals.

Carol Moffett, Woodville school superintendent, announced Harvey's selection as the top Region 5 principal Friday and praised his skill as an administrator.

"Nominated by his colleagues, Dr. Harvey's leadership in the pursuit of educational excellence was cited as exemplary," Moffett said. "Under his leadership, Woodville High School has been selected as one of the 80 national sites of High Schools That Work, and the school has focused on preparing students for successful participation in a competitive work environment."

Harvey said that he was both surprised and honored by his selection for the award.

"I've only been principal here at the high school for two years so I feel I'm still learning the job," he said. "When I was told last month that I had been nominated for the award, I was surprised and I told the teachers here how grateful I was to them for even considering me for the award."

"When I found out Friday that I had won, I was speechless," Harvey said. He explained that in nominating him

At the Village

By Dottie Johnson

Visitors from throughout the world continue to find our Village deep in the heart of East Texas, and so often it is clubs like Rotary International that bring these learning experiences to us. The most recent group included four young non-Rotarian business professionals from Japan in a Group Study Exchange that offers a person-to-person opportunity for the promotion of better understanding and friendly relations among the peoples of the world. Accompanied by a Rotarian Team Leader from their exchange district, the four selected for this study group came from the field of medicine, economics, music and academia.

Heritage Society and Woodville Rotary Club member Huntley Kenness brought the group to the Village for a tour and lunch at the Pickett House. They also visited the Abbot-Coushatta Reservation and the Big Thicket National Preserve.

During their stay in Woodville, the visitors were guests of Bob and Jane Boykin, Douglass and Peggy Libby, Robert and Erlene Allison, David and Gwen Campbell and Milton and Audrey Durham, all of whom we are pleased to report support the Heritage Society through their memberships.

Piney Woods grant

Marjorie Schultz often says she and the Village staff wish they could take one project and see it through to completion before starting another, but that isn't always possible, funds being what they are.

But now, the scene may be changed, somewhat.

The Piney Woods Foundation of Dallas, to whom our Heritage Society president Joella Knapp applied for a grant, listing several village needs, have responded with matching funds toward the building of our long awaited newspaper office. This office, which will house the vintage printing press from the Florence Vidette, will be built at the north end of the Livery Stable, where the Pavn Shop once stood.

The grant request asked for $5,000, half of the estimated cost of $10,000. Piney Woods responded with $2,500 in matching funds, a match that has nearly been reached in outside donations. At that rate, a second $5,000 should not be out of our realm of possibility.

And so we pass the hat and ask you to respond as you did during the purchase of the Village seven years ago so this important addition can become a reality.

We have the money to start, and we're asking the people of Tyler County, in whose trust the Heritage Society operates this Village, to help us see it through.

Newspaper responses

And speaking of starts, John Morrison reported that he had three calls in response to our plea for old papers. Not enough, but we're hoping to get lots more.

The microfilming of old newspapers before they crumble is a program started 20 years ago by the National Endowment for the Humanities, which teamed up with historical societies and newspapers such as ours to "preserve the historians of history."

According to an article in the Christian Science Monitor, that paper has been microfilming since 1908. We are a little behind, it would seem that Tyler County is one of the least recorded counties in East Texas. We see to have kept our history to ourselves, and it's time to let go.

It's not surprising that people are reluctant to share their precious papers, but what we are asking is simply that you make them available for microfilming, when the time comes. They will be returned to you, if you wish, but again, we strongly recommend that you turn them over to the Regional Library in Liberty, where they can be preserved for generations to

Kahla to guest at May 23 society meet

If you've never heard cowboy poet Bob Kahla of Winnie read his poetry and tell his stories, you're in for a treat.

And if you have, you know you want to come back for more, when the Tyler County Heritage Society meets on Monday, May 23, at the home of Steve and Jo Forcum, 50 Lower Lakes Drive in the Forest Lakes Addition.

A fourth generation cowboy with a college education, Kahla grew up knowing how to ride. His father operated a rodeo "string" on their ancestral ranch at Stowell. But Bob learned something else, while training horses for others. He learned the romance of the cowboy, the music and stories that have made him a role model for youngsters in the Beaumont Independent School District, where he serves as official volunteer cowboy.

A few years ago, he started putting that romance into poetry, an avocation that has opened new doors for this man whose great grandfather, a German immigrant, operated cargo ships in Galveston Bay and ran a herd of 1,500 cattle on the upper Gulf Coast.

Heritage Society members and friends are invited to attend this second in our series of bi-monthly meetings at 7 p.m. on May 23.

But please, call the Village and let us know you're coming.

Homemaker Hints

Jams, jellies just as good without sugar

By Sherry Jeanes
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

Jam and jelly don't have to be "forbidden fruit" to people on sugar-restricted diets. Just use artificial sweetener instead of sugar when making them.

If an artificial sweetener is used, only a form of saccharin and/or 12d-K can be used. Aspartame such as Nutra-Sweet or Equal products cannot be heated without destroying the effect of the sweetener.

Diet jams and jellies must be refrigerated or frozen unless they are made by the long boil method. And storing them in the freezer keeps the natural color and flavor of Texas strawberries, peaches or dewberries at peak quality. Leave at least one-half inch head space in the container before freezing.

Fresh strawberry jam can be made to suit special dietary requirements. To prepare fruit jam, sort and wash fully ripe fruit. Remove any stems or caps. Crush the fruit.

For jams, the method of combining ingredients varies with the form of pectin used. Powdered pectin is mixed with unheated crushed fruit, and liquid pectin is added to the cooked fruit and sweetener mixture immediately after it is removed from the heat.

Cooking time is one minute at a full boil. A full boil occurs when bubbles form over the entire surface of the mixture.

Jams made without added pectin or gellan require longer cooking. Cook the mixture to a temperature of 220 degrees Fahrenheit.

If you are making jam without pectin or gellan and a thermometer isn't available, just cook the product until the jam has thickened slightly. Allow for additional thickening as the product cools. Jams made without sugar tend to be thinner than those made with the addition of sugar. Also, when preparing jams, be sure to stir constantly to prevent scorching the fruit.

Strawberry jam with pectin

1 quart clean strawberries
1 3/4 ounce package powdered fruit pectin
4 teaspoons artificial sweetener
1 Tablespoon lemon juice
red food coloring as desired

Crush strawberries in one and one-half quart sauce pan. Stir in powdered sweetener, food coloring, powdered pectin and lemon juice. Bring to a boil and boil for one minute. Remove from heat. Continue to stir for two minutes. Pour into freezer containers, cover and freeze. Thaw before serving. Store in the refrigerator after opening. One tablespoon provides five calories.

Jams made by the long boil method require another procedure. You may follow tested recipes for jams by a long boil method without the addition of pectin.

Cook the fruit with liquid sweetener until jam is desired consistency. Substitute two tablespoons of liquid sweetener for each cup of sugar called for in the original recipe. Pour the boiling hot jam into clean jars and seal each jar as soon as it is filled.

For making strawberry jam by the long boil method, take four cups of crushed strawberries and one cup of liquid sweetener. Measure crushed strawberries into kettle. Add sweetener and stir well. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Fill and seal containers. Process in a boiling water bath for five minutes. One tablespoon provides 10 calories.

Readers Write

'Censorship' not appreciated

Dear Editor:

I want to thank you for the magnificent job of "censorship" which you did to the letter I gave you concerning military "double dipping" as related to county jobs.

I should have expected this re-writing in light of your "misplacing" the first article I sent to you. I was found later after I complained of it not being published.

Coy W. Swinney

P.S. - What part of Russia did you say you were from?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The letter Mr. Swinney referred to appeared in the May 4 edition of "The Tyler County Booster." While it was not re-written, it was edited.

The policy of this newspaper is to allow people to submit letters to be published in the Reader's Write column on topics of local interest. Comments regarding the activities of elected officials, responses to letters from others or comments regarding stories which appear in the newspaper are among the items considered "fair game" as topics of these letters. Negative personal comments regarding the activities of persons not considered to be public figures are, however, not fair game and will be edited out of any letter submitted for publication.

As always, "The Tyler County Booster" reserves the right to edit any and all letters that appear in this column for length, content and grammar.

Early Learning

Anything old can be new again

By Darly Kathleen

I found rainbows last week (without rain) and learned how to make "my own magic." I was washing the car and became entranced by the magic rainbows of my own making which the water accidentally sprayed into the air. "The magic" is just right to produce a wide range and tiny droplets of water which, when directed into the sun, break the light into a brilliant rainbow. I was a magician!

I could make rainbows come and go with just a flick of my wrist, and I spent some time making each (only 3-7 "rainbows on demand"). What a wonderful idea for children of any age, a trip to the car wash just to make rainbows.

We ALL used LOTS of magic and making unexpected discoveries in everyday activities or doing the same things in different ways or in different times is the secret of being our own magicians. All of us have childhood memories of absolutely magical moments when everyday activities were made memorable by the presence of adults we loved and who made even commonplace activities more fun. Time slips past and adults have little time for the magical moments children remember and cherish as special things. However, thinking about changing some of our own making the "old" into "new," can put magic in all our lives.

A creative way summer camping programs have of making time special is to promote theme days... "backwards" day... with clothing put on in reverse... or "Christmas in July," with tree trimming and Santa bringing "gifts." They even make magic of leftovers by serving small amounts of "restaurant night." Families can do similar activities... serve Christmas dinner on July 25 or have "breakfast-for-supper" (eggs, pancakes, sausage, etc.) and "supper-for-breakfast" (pizza, hot dogs and hash browns). Holidays offer chances for pink milk on Valentine's Day, green cereal on St. Patrick's Day, and even green eggs and ham (as in a favorite children's story). Make easy breakfast treats of sprinkles in dinosaur shapes... just spread out the batter, imagination fills in the rest, or use raisins to make eyes, nose and teeth on pancake faces.

Creative minds grow from homes where creativity is taught and nurtured. The wonderful imagination that created the Muppets and movies such as "Star Wars," animated cartoons and feature-length adaptations of classics such as "Aladdin," were developed and encouraged by homes in which children were free to experiment and to do things differently. Parents needn't go so far as one moon did... to allow their son to spread cherry pie filling on walls for special effects. Supporting children's creativity means being alert to their play and providing props to make it more meaningful. What props? A large variety of foods and calling it "restaurant night." Families can do similar activities... serve Christmas dinner on July 25 or have "breakfast-for-supper" (eggs, pancakes, sausage, etc.) and "supper-for-breakfast" (pizza, hot dogs and hash browns). Holidays offer chances for pink milk on Valentine's Day, green cereal on St. Patrick's Day, and even green eggs and ham (as in a favorite children's story). ## Woodville aldermen take oath

By John Morrison

WOODVILLE — Vows were cast Monday at the Woodville City Council just prior to its regular meeting Monday with a total vote of 37 cast in favor of the new council members. Mayor Billy Rose and council members Malcolm Radford and W.S. "Bill" Nichols, DVM, were appointed by unanimous council vote to the position of mayor pro-tem.

Additional mayoral appointments included: Chuck Boettcher as chief of the Woodville Volunteer Fire Department; Ois Witley, fire marshal; Harry Stafford as city attorney and lieutenant; and assistant city attorney, Alva Cook is retiring as Fire Chief after some 29 years of service within the all volunteer fire department.

In other action the city handed out plaques for "recognition for life saving efforts" performed by five city employees in helping to save the life of a Woodville youngster, William Jefferson, 15, nearly drowned in Turkey Creek while on a fishing expedition with three friends in an area near the city warehouse. One of the youngsters ran to get help and found the City Sheriff's Department this week.

Rose thanked each of the men citing their past action. The men included: James Mitchell, Keith Barnes, city patrolman Ralph Fuller and Kent Graham and Police Chief Scott Yosko.

Council also heard complaints from Gene Butler about trash thrown in the city warehouse. Shaw said:

"We do care, we really do care." In related discussion the council authorized the installation of traffic stop signs on Holley, Reid and Liveoak streets.

"The city sold several used vehicles to successful bidders including: Lade Sales, $31,247 for a 1973 International Truck; Robert's Business, $553 for a 1984 GMC 1/2 Ton and $525 for a 1984 GMC 1/2 Ton also; Robbie Ford, $350 for a 1981 GMC 1/2 Ton.

A Birmingham Trailer offered for sale resulted in a bid which will be bid-off. A 1977 Ford bucket truck did not bid-off but may be bid-off at a later date.

In the city secretary's report Shaw told the council of increasing garbage dumping in dumpsters located within the city and encouraged the city police chief to begin issuing citations for that violation. "We are getting three or four notices as much garbage through the illegal dumping," Shaw said.

In an executive session the council voted to increase the salary of the city health officer from $400 to $550 per month.

The Woodville City Council meets on the second Tuesday of each month in executive session at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Fred Elementary students observe Earth Day

FRED — All of the students at Fred Elementary School participated in a variety of Earth Day activities on Friday, April 22.

Primary students picked up litter on the playground area and constructed recycling bins. They also discussed how they felt about people littering their schoolyard and what they could do about it. Activity sheets on "Frags About Recycling" and "Tips on Saving the Earth" were completed as well. They even learned a recycling song to the tune of "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

Intermediate students targeted the east side of the campus for their litter pickup, dividing the litter into recyclable and non-recyclable items. They discussed the opportunities for recycling in our area. In addition to several fun activities such as Earth Day songs, students also checked their lunches for recyclable or alternative packaging (chewing gum) and the effect of litter on the wetlands.

Two activities really caught the students' enthusiasm and will be the subject of future follow-up activities. During their recent visit to Tyler County Commissioners' Court, the students were shown the wide-ranging responsibilities that are a part of Tyler County government. The students will draft a letter to the court expressing their concern about the future of our area and the lack of recycling opportunities. Students will also contact the Wrigley Company and suggest several ways that the company could repack their product to help eliminate litter.

The club's purpose is to help students qualify the students had to maintain an average of 90 for the semester. Members include sixth, seventh, and eighth graders.
 The club elected officers after their initiation into the club was complete. The officers include: Jill Reese, president; Kyle Miller, vice president; Shanna Terrell, secretary; Eugene Chesher, treasurer; and Angela Lalko, historian.
 Work has already started on many club projects such as making Easter windsocks for the Sinclair Children's Center in Woodville, "goodie" baskets for the teachers and creating a UIL bulletin board. The Beta club is working hard for our school and community.

Poems From Jacqueline Guthrie

THE CARELESS SHEPHERD—Jesus called his disciples aside one day. Feed my lambs and feed my sheep they heard him say. The sheep were scattered and needed to be led. They were hungry and needed to be fed. Jesus wants his sheep fed and safely in the fold. The good shepherd will gather them and shelter them from the cold. Where are the sheep today? Many are scattered and lost their way. The shepherd can not hear their cries or see their need. He is so caught up in his own "religion", the words of Jesus, he does not heed.
THE GOOD SHEPHERD—God saw his sheep without a shepherd, their cries of hunger and despair he heard. He spoke to his angels; "This is what I am going to do." I will send a man that is kind and true. He will carry my lambs and feed my sheep, and in the fold, he will safely keep.
MY PASTOR—God led us to the little town of Chester, and placed us in the hands of a loving and caring pastor. A true pastor in every sense of the word. A kind and gentle shepherd. He welcomed us into his fold, and with loving kindness fed our soul. God bless Bro. Donald Hensarling and his family. Sandra, Matthew, and Ashley. Bro. Hensarling pastors THE ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH on Hwy. 287 in Chester, Tx.

Colmesneil edges Chester for district baseball title

WOODVILLE — The Colmesneil Bulldogs, behind the four hit pitching of Bucky Allen, edged the Chester Pirates, 5-3, Friday afternoon at Henningan Park to take at least a share of the 23-A baseball championship.
 Colmesneil could take the district championship outright with a win over Zavalla, Tuesday. In doing so the Spurger Pirates would take second place in the district. A Colmesneil loss coupled with a Spurger win would tie four teams for the title.
 Colmesneil jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning on walks to Kevin Allen and Jeff Allen. Greg Bean drove the pair in with a two out triple to left center.
 In the second inning the Bulldogs increased their lead to 3-0 on a run scoring single by Herman Allen. Les Slung scored the run after getting on with a fielder's choice. Slung's second, and moving to third on a pass ball.
 Chester got on the board in the third inning when Matt Standley stepped a double and came home on a sacrifice fly by Jacob Corner.
 In the fourth the Yellowjackets narrowed the lead with another run, this time on a run scoring single by Mark Franks after Billy Jack Sturrock got on with a fielder's choice.
 A controversial play keyed Colmesneil's comeback run in the fourth. After Marcus Allen singled and was moved to second on a Blyden walk, Bo Bandy sent a fly to right field. Allen tagged at second and sped to home on the play. A collision with Chester catcher Bob Jewell in the homeplate was ruled a run for Colmesneil, but Allen was ejected from the game by the plate umpire.
 Colmesneil added an insurance run in the fifth inning win singles by Jeff Allen and Bean, along with two pass balls.
 Chester scored its final run in the top of the sixth on a walk to Travis Barnes, a fielder's choice, a stolen base, and a single by Frankie.
 Jacob Corner took the mound loss for Chester. Corner had two strikeouts and walked five.
 Bucky Allen also walked five, but struck out seven.
 Prior to the Chester victory the Bulldogs rolled past Burkeville 12-1 earlier in the week.
 J.R. Pittman led Colmesneil's 16 hit attack with four hits, including a triple. Bucky Allen hurled a four hitter and slipped out a three run home run in the second inning. He struck out seven Burkeville batters and walked two.

In the Warren, Wildwood and Village Mills area and got over 500 signatures. While the Warren, Wildwood and Village Mills petition was forwarded to the PUC only last week, Koci said he received word Monday that the Colmesneil petition has been verified by the state agency and is "ready for the next step."

"One hundred signatures on a petition is not a very representative amount of people in these telephone exchanges, so the next step is for the PUC to get with the telephone company, prepare a ballot and then mail that ballot to every customer in those exchanges."

"If 70 percent of those who respond with a ballot come in and say they want the service, then it will be put into place," Koci told the commissioners.

"One of the questions that I have heard so far from people in the Colmesneil area is can the people in the outlying area call each other," Precinct 3 Commissioner Jerry Mahan asked. "In other words, if all of this is approved, can Colmesneil call Warren for free?"

"That's something we'll have to find out," Koci said, adding that in the case of the Colmesneil application, extended dialing was only sought for the 283 and 429 exchanges.

"They would be able to call Spurger and Woodville, but whether or not they could call Warren I don't know. There are no government offices in the Warren, Wildwood and Village Mills area that the people in Colmesneil would need to call so they may not be able to call that area toll free."

"I do know that those in the Woodville and Spurger exchanges would be able to call both Warren (toll free) if both votes pass," he said.

Koci also told the commissioners that work is underway to link Chester as well as the Indian Village in Polk County with Woodville under the extended dialing service. However, Koci warned that technical as well as legal problems could block those efforts.

"He noted that while the rest of Tyler County falls within the Beaumont telephone service area, Chester's 969 exchange is in the Houston area and that the Chester/Woodville dialing would have to be phased from Chester to Houston thru Beaumont before coming to Woodville."

"Because of this," Koci said, "it will require a ruling from the Federal Communication Commission before extended dialing can be approved for Chester."

The same problem faces plans to bring Indian Village into the plan plus the added complication that telephone co-operatives such as East Texas Telephone Co. which serves that area, are not required to offer extended dialing.

In other action during Monday's commissioners court meeting, bonds for newly installed County Treasurer Tina Bump and new auditor's Clerk Susan Lambright were approved and proposed collection lines will be located in the floodplain as designated on the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Flood Hazard Boundary Map. FEMA has determined there is no practical alternative to the location of the sewer lines within the designated floodplains. Any adverse impacts to the floodplain will be mitigated by prohibiting the extension of service to the new and existing residences that comply with the Flood Management Plan for Tyler County as set forth by the Federal Emergency Management Agency. With the incorporation of the mitigation measures, FEMA has determined that the beneficial impact is minor in the extent that the floodplains of Wetland industrial value or functions are not affected. FEMA has assessed the potential environmental impacts of the proposed action and has determined that it will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment. Therefore, FEMA will not prepare an environmental impact statement for this project. No other federal agencies are participating in the proposed action. Any written comments concerning this determination should be provided within fifteen (15) days of this publication to Mike W. Mehan, Community Programs Loan Specialist, Farmers Home Administration, 1100 Main State St., Temple, Texas 76781. FEMA will make no further decision regarding this proposed action during this fifteen-day period. Request for review the FEMA environmental assessment upon which this determination is based or to receive a copy of it should be sent to: Regional Administrator, Federal District Office, P.O. Box 989, Huntsville, Texas 77242-0989. 19-2b

'Censorship' not appreciated

Dear Editor: I want to thank you for the magnificent job of "censorship" which you did to the letter I gave you concerning military "double dipping" as related to county jobs.

I should have expected this re-writing in light of your "misplacing" the first article I sent to your paper. It was found later after I complained of its not being published.

P.S. - What part of Russia did you say you were from?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The letter Mr. Swinney referred to appeared in the May 4 edition of The Tyler County Booster. While it was not "re-written," it was edited.

Comments regarding the activities of elected officials, responses to letters from others or comments regarding state or federal issues are considered "fair game" as topics of these letters. Negative personal comments regarding the activities of persons not considered to be public figures are, however, not fair game and will be edited out of any letter submitted for publication.

As always, The Tyler County Booster reserves the right to edit and all letters that appear in this column for length, content and grammar.

Poems From Jacqueline Guthrie

THE CARELESS SHEPHERD—Jesus called his disciples aside one day. Feed my lambs and feed my sheep they heard him say. The sheep were scattered and needed to be led. They were hungry and needed to be fed. Jesus wants his sheep led and safely in the fold. The good shepherd will gather them and shelter them from the cold. Where are the sheep today? Many are scattered and lost their way. The shepherd can not hear their cries or see their need. He is so caught up in his own "religion", the words of Jesus, he does not need.

Colmesneil edges Chester for district baseball title

WOODVILLE — The Colmesneil Bulldogs got their first pitching victory over the Chester Yellowjackets, 5-3, Friday afternoon at Hennigan Park to take at least a share of the 23-A baseball championship.

Colmesneil could take the district championship outright with a win over Zavalla Tuesday. In doing so the Spurger Pirates would take second place in the district. A Colmesneil loss coupled with a Spurger win would tie the four teams for the title.

The loss by Chester all but eliminated the Yellowjackets from post season play. A Chester win would have put the district into a three way tie with Colmesneil, Spurger, and the Yellowjackets.

Colmesneil jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning on walks to Kevin McQueen and Jeff Allen. Greg Bean drove the pair in with a two out triple to left center.

In the second inning the Bulldogs increased their lead to 3-0 on a run scoring single by Herman Allen. Les Simson scored the run after getting on with a fielder's choice, stealing second, and moving to third on a pass ball.

Colmesneil's goal ahead run in the fourth inning. After Marcus Allen singled and was moved to second on a Wilson burstville, going into Tuesday's game with Zavalla, the Bulldogs held a one and a half game lead over Spurger. Colmesneil was 6-1 in district play while the Pirates were 4-2. Chester was in third place with a 4-3 mark.

If Colmesneil wins the district title tonight the Bulldogs will play either Goodrich or High Island for the district title next week. Spurger would play Evadale in bi-district play.

Chester scored its final run in the top of the sixth on a walk to Travis Barnes, a fielder's choice, a stolen base, and a single by Frankins. Jacob Conner took the mound loss for Chester. Conner had two strikeouts and walked five.

Bucky Allen also walked five, but struck out seven. Prior to the Chester victory, the Bulldogs rolled past Burkeville 12-1 earlier in the week.

J.R. Pittman led Colmesneil's 16 hit attack with four hits, including a triple. Bucky Allen hurled a four hitter and slapped out three run home run in the second inning. He struck out seven Burkeville batters and walked two.
