

Cardiovascular disease targeted

AUSTIN—Since 1950, in Texas and throughout the rest of the U.S., cardiovascular disease (CVD) has been the most frequent cause of death.

According to the Texas Department of Health (TDH), deaths from heart disease, strokes and hypertension together claimed 51,172—about two of every five of the 134,417 Texans who died in 1993. Tom Pollard, director of the TDH Statistical Services Division, said, "Not only is heart disease the leading killer every year in Texas and the nation, but the other cardiovascular diseases appear to be increasing rapidly."

For example, Pollard explained, "Deaths from hypertension increased from 618 to 918—fully a 50 percent increase—from one year to the next."

To combat the rising rate of cardiovascular disease in Texas, TDH, the Texas Affiliate of the American Heart Association, the Texas Medical Association and other health groups and leaders have joined in a new initiative which officially began Feb. 1. The start of the statewide Comprehensive Cardiovascular Disease Initiative coincided with the launch of a similar national initiative in Washington, D.C.

Dr. David R. Smith, Texas Commissioner of Health, said that the coalition's strategies will include both short-term remedial measures and long-range programs to eliminate the causes of cardiovascular disease. "Although CVD is the most prevalent killer, it is still considered preventable, since many of the causes of coronary and circulatory disease can be prevented or controlled."

Our research shows that some 78 percent of adult Texans have at least one of the six major risk factors for CVD. Those risk factors include tobacco use, physical inactivity, high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, obesity and diabetes," Dr. Smith added.

Charlene Laramey, director of the TDH Chronic Disease Prevention Program, explained that the state's initiative will establish a coalition to create plans for curbing cardiovascular disease among high-risk groups. "Focus on promoting exercise, better nutrition and more healthful life-styles," Laramey said. "Members of the coalition will include specialists from both the public and private sectors. Their joint efforts will collect information, conduct public and professional education, coordinate outreach and available services, promote environmental improvements and enlist community leadership."

Although the coalition members for years have separately operated programs to prevent and reduce CVDs in Texas, the new initiative marks the first time the leading groups and agencies have combined their efforts toward common goals.

4-H, FFA students enter Houston Livestock Show

HOUSTON — Four local 4-H Club members and 36 Tyler County FFA students will be joining other Texas youngsters in show ring competition during the upcoming Houston Livestock Show which began Feb. 17 and will continue through March 5 at the Astrodome.

These 4-H and FFA exhibitors compete in one of two Houston Livestock Show divisions — the junior show, the other division, the open show, attracts its exhibitors from the world's agrarian industry, all of whom are primarily professional breeders and ranchers.

Entries in both the open and junior shows combine with the horse show entries to make the Houston Livestock Show the world's largest.

Among the Tyler County entries are four members from the local 4-H club under the supervision of County Extension Agent Matt Bochot. Those entering include Will Caution of Woodville, John Ponder of Woodville and Amanda Wallace of Woodville.

Jobless rate falls

WOODVILLE — After being locked at the 7.9 percent mark for three straight months, Tyler County's unemployment rate fell during December, dipping to a 7.2 percent mark.

According to figures released by the Texas Employment Commission, the new local 7.2 jobless figure translates to mean that out of an estimated labor force of 6,744, there were 488 Tyler County residents looking for work during the month.

The December rate - the latest currently available from TEC - is well below the local five-year high mark of 11.5 percent recorded in March 1994 as well as the 8.4 percent jobless figure posted for Tyler County during 1994. The previous low for the county was set in August when a 7.8 percent unemployment rate was listed. After the August low, the local rate rose slightly to 7.9 percent in September where it remained through October and November.

Two injured Friday in traffic mishap

COLMESNEIL — A Warren man and an 11-year-old boy were taken to the Tyler County Hospital in Woodville Friday night after suffering injuries in a one-vehicle accident on FM 256 about seven miles east of Colmesneil.

According to a DPS accident report filed by Trooper Bobby Risch, James Richard Brumley, 37, of Warren suffered incapacitating injuries while Whitney Harris, 11, sustain non-incapacitating injuries as a result of the accident. Both were taken to the Woodville hospital by Eastex Ambulance. The accident occurred at about 7:40 p.m.

The two were traveling east on FM 256 in a 1985 blue Toyota pickup when the vehicle entered a curve the left. Another "unknown vehicle" was traveling west but was in the eastbound lane as the Brumley pickup entered the curve.

According to the accident report, Brumley first tried to avoid colliding head-on with the second vehicle by swerving to the right but when the unidentified car continued toward him in the wrong lane, Brumley swerved to the left, crossed over into the westbound lane and lost control of the pickup.

Risch indicated that the pickup apparently swerved back to the right and began rolling over, finally coming to rest on the southside of the roadway. The unidentified vehicle did not stop to render aid following the accident.

At the Village

Frankie Kindel of Warren is disappointed. Not a single person called to say whether we were right or whether we were wrong - not even when we were in designating the Collier Mill on M. L. Bingham's farm in Spurger as the one mentioned in the minutes of the Fellowship Primitive Baptist Church of Warren as their meeting place 140 years ago.

Surely someone must have a thought or two about that. That's what worries Frankie, who was asked by her pastor to work up a history of their church. I remember the first time I met Frankie. A number of us from the Heritage Society made a trip to the church west of Warren, first to get background on the church's annual Singing School and its sacred harp singing later by the late Woody Woodrooms.

During the day, after seeing references to the name "Wooley" in the rural community of Neal, I asked about it. Later, when we came to the church, Frankie rushed over with a family group sheet she had copied for me that brought together the Wooley and Risinger families from Bibb County, Alabama.

I still have a lot of research to do on that family, but the fact that she responded to my need so quickly always impressed me. I guess that's why she was so disappointed.

Hopefully we can do better on this project, and I'm sure she can answer the questions, and of course she can't help wondering, will anyone respond.

On the other side of the genealogical fence, Frankie has been working with Jim and Anne Laird of Conroe in bringing Tyler County cemetery records up to date. They have been recording all burials since 1974 and filling in those that were missed during that earlier work (which we must say has been invaluable.)

Help needed in locating old cemeteries as Village makes ready to toast Texas

The problem seems to be that there are some small family type cemeteries listed in the 1974 version including those burials there, that do not give directions for getting there.

And so Frankie called. Would we mind listing those cemeteries in the hopes that someone out there will call and say, "I know where that cemetery is" or "come on down and I'll take you there."

So, this is for Frankie and Jim and Anne (she's a niece of Betty Enloe in Colmesnell, which is another story coming up) and all the others who are working so hard to record our history.

The cemeteries in question are: Elean Family, Brown (sometimes called Sheffield), Fowler, Frazier, Hall, Hickory Hill, Johnson, Jones, Keen (Keen), Kurland, Powell, Pullen, Rawls, Rigby, Segrest, Snowden, Sturrock (sometimes called Weeks), Walters (Walters), Weatherly, Willis and Wynn-Sheffield.

Another cemetery they were looking for was the Futch Cemetery, but we knew exactly where to go for that one. Bessie Clamon, who was so helpful in locating our Chester area exhibit at the Village last year, was a Futch. Both her father, Samuel L. Futch, and her uncle Oscar Futch served as postmaster at Emiles in the first decade of the new century. She told us that the Futch Cemetery is accessible, in dry weather, off FM 2097 north of Peach Tree Village, but you have to know where and how and who to contact. We'll pass on the word and report on the findings later.

If you have information on any of the others listed above, please call Frankie at 547-3095. It's not long distance anymore, so what have you got to lose?

I can't remember who Marjorie Schultz quoted when she told us this, but I do believe it to be valid that Tyler County is the least recorded county in Texas. Maybe not the least, but right down there close. You can't help wondering sometimes, why are we hiding our history. We owe it to coming generations to make it available. Which reminds me of a conversation I had with my husband's niece this past weekend. The event was an 80th birthday party for her father, and she and her husband had flown down from Oregon for the celebration. Before we left, she told me how much a genealogy I had worked up for family members had meant to her son when he was called upon to do a class assignment about his family. He was really proud to have the information, she told us.

Early Learning Let's kick up our heels and dance

By Darby Kethan

I went to a dance the other day, everybody was there! It was a special Valentine's dance, with special kids and adults. The decorations provided a festive atmosphere identical to any other dance I ever attended and the kids were just as excited as I used to be when I was their age! Everything looked a whole lot like the dances I attended; there were, however, several major differences.

These dancers were young people with disabilities of many kinds who attend special classes, along with teachers, assistants, parents, administrators and special friends who came with these students for what has grown to be an annual event. These were young people in wheelchairs, students who are blind or deaf or who have physical or mental disabilities. They didn't want to miss a minute.

Parents and the schools provided the social opportunities I remember so fondly and adults, too, made this party a success. That is what adults are supposed to be doing, helping kids have great experiences for learning in a variety of settings. Adults are supposed to be helping kids make sense of the world and to learn from what they are doing, to be the teachers for young people.

Without that adult support there are so many opportunities kids wouldn't have. Dances, organized baseball, basketball, Camp Fire, etc., all activities that are dependent upon caring adults. All adult actions affect kids; the luckiest kids get the best models.

The Neels with two E's

Betty Enloe called last week. In fact, she called twice, and I've been trying to pin down all the information she gave me ever since.

Miss Enloe has files upon files upon files of family histories, newspaper clippings and pictures about the Colmesnell area, most of which Jack Whitmeyer has copied for the library that bears his name at the Village, and it's going to take a bit of time to go through it all. But, it's there for all to read - in the library, of course. Meanwhile, it would seem that a lot of two E's Neels were reported as N-e-e-l's.

There were George and Nettie Davis Neel (she was related to Jefferson Davis), whose two year old daughter Myrtle Mabel 1883-85 and two year old twins, Myrtle and Mabel 1891-93, are all buried at Hickory Grove Cemetery, spelled with an "e" but corresponding with information given us by our earlier correspondent as belonging to the Neel family.

We found a Sarah Ludlow Neel 1826-1892, a Louisa Neel (no dates) and a Culbertson C. Neel 1818-1907, all buried at Hickory Grove, but not the Willie Neel, a longtime school teacher at Colmesnell, who Miss Enloe said was buried there. Maybe we'll find her in the updated Cemetery Book.

So, we have some digging to do. And, like Frankie, I can use all the help I can get.

Time to tour the Village

Meanwhile, our Village calendars are starting to fill up with tours during March, a great time to teach our students about our own particular brand of history - hands-on - a great time to share that history with people of all ages who like to remember.

We look forward to hearing from you and seeing you, too, at the Village.

PROfessions Hitting the mother lode

By David Rust

I discovered the pomelo at Kwelin, China, during the late summer of 1944. (The Chinese spell it Quelin, but what do they know?) We were all fruit-hungry, more than most, so I jumped at the chance to buy this big grapefruit-looking object.

Pomelos are undoubtedly close kin to grapefruit. The rind is yellow and plump, though much thicker than any grapefruit rind. The meat is segmented. But the resemblance ends with the flavor.

It's hard to describe the taste. You can start by saying it's not like other citrus, or indeed like any other fruit that I know. Pomelo meat is pale green, and its sort of taste pale green. It is not sharply acid like grapefruit and lemons, or sweetly tart like oranges. Perhaps it has something of the flavor of lime, but certainly more than a trace. Pomelo taste like grapefruit, slightly wild, slightly sweet, refreshing.

Much favored in the East, both Near and Far, pomelos have recently reached the US markets. I noticed with interest that they are being grown in Israel. In fact, the first pomelo I'd eaten during my stay in Israel was one I bought during our 1989 pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

If you've been to that tiny country lately you will have seen a new miracle in progress. For many centuries prior to the 20th, travelers to Palestine have been frustrated and disappointed at the "land of milk and honey." Devoid of its forests by extravagant sacrifices and frequent wars, the countryside was given over to nomadic herds of goats and sheep. Now trees can't grow where there are goats. From late Bible times until the 20th Century, Israel looked more like the Badlands than the Promised Land.

European Jews started the Zionist Movement in the late 19th Century, but it really hit big gear in 1948. Since then the Israelis have turned their country around, even in the face of violent hostility. Foot by foot, year by year, they have transformed a barren wasteland into a garden. And the process continues. Driving southeast from Jaffa, you see it in action: first a mature and productive farming region, then into developing areas where trees and grasses build the soil, and on to the frontiers of reclamation. After that, nothing, not even wandering herds.

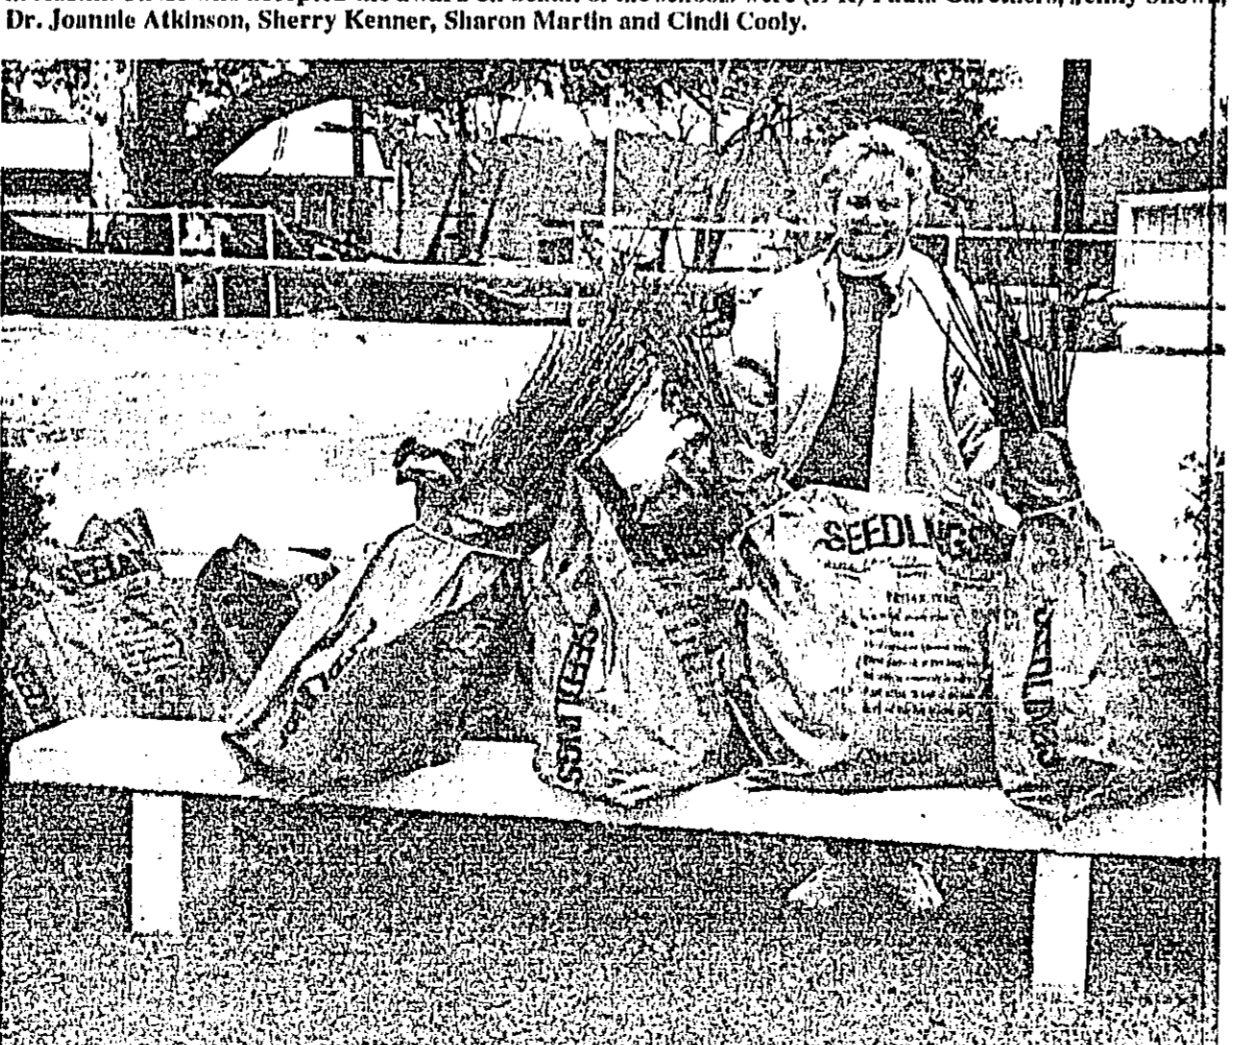

Two kinds of pomelo are currently in vogue: the "picker uppers" and "tea-downers." Woodville lost one of its distinguished citizens on Jan. 14th: Fernik Knecht. He really hit big gear in 1948. "He always told us to leave the world a better place than we found it." Sage advice. The Israelis are showing the world it can be done.

Ephraim Gluehocker called "em thrower downers and picker uppers." He graded places to live according to which group was in the majority. Picker uppers predominate in Woodville, praise the Lord. This being a positive-looking column, I won't mention our former home, the megalopolis astride of Buffalo Bayou. Get ready, friends and neighbors. Garden season is upon us. I'm about finished building a greenhouse to start seedlings in. And you are going to be hearing about every seed. After all my years of back yard gardening, I feel like the miner who finally hits the Mother Lode. As good old Eph was fond of saying, "Farmin' is plum bodacious, 'long as you don't have to do it."

Shalom...

Entergy/GSU offers grants for environmental projects

BEAUMONT — It could be as simple as recycling aluminum cans or as complex as establishing a nature center. If it's a program aimed at preserving the environment, it could qualify for one of Entergy Corporation's Environmental Matching Grants. Matching grants of up to $1,000 will be awarded by all five of Entergy's operating subsidiaries, including Gulf States Utilities.

GSU President Frank Gallaher said the company offers the grants to non-profit community organizations, nature centers and schools throughout its four-state service area. Although applications have been distributed to non-profit adult groups and local schools, additional applications may be obtained by contacting Don Fumpley of GSU Community Relations at (409) 838-7828 in Beaumont or Shivanu Davis at (504) 381-5848 in Baton Rouge.

To be eligible, projects must be located within the Entergy system service area, must be current and must be on public land or on private land that has been designated for public use. Schools and youth organizations must have an environmental or non-profit community organization as a partner. In addition, applicants who receive grants must provide a brief progress report during the project and a final report upon completion.

Pumphrey said the application period runs from now through March 3. All entries must be postmarked by March 3, 1995, with notification of award winners made on Earth Day, April 21, 1995.

Judging will be by an environmental advisory board made up of professionals from environmental organizations. Considerations will be given in these areas:

- Approach - all proposals should demonstrate a thorough approach to meeting a local environmental need, with special consideration given to innovative programs which can be completed within one year.
- Objectives - all goals must be realistic and clearly defined, leading to measurable results.
- Benefits - all projects must have a demonstrated public interest, with those having lasting benefits receiving special consideration.
- Participation - partnerships are encouraged.

Completed applications from the GSU service area should be mailed to the attention of Pumphrey at Entergy Community Relations, P.O. Box 2951, Beaumont, Texas 77704.

What is Faith?
 Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen (Hebrews 11:1). Faith is the confidence that God overcomes our lives, that Jesus is our Savior, and that He works all things for our good. Faith is God's creation in each believer's heart.

What is Faith Lutheran Church?
 Faith Lutheran Church is a community of believers in the Lord Jesus Christ. We gather to hear His Word for our lives and to respond in thanksgiving to His love. Faith Lutheran Church was created by God as a place to feed His flock, to comfort the distressed, and to reach out to others with the saving Word of Jesus Christ. We are Faith Active in Love.

Where Can I Find Faith?
 Faith is found where the Good News of Jesus Christ is proclaimed. Faith Lutheran Church is found at 704 West Holly in Woodville. Join us this Sunday at 9:00 a.m. as we see Jesus standing in full glory with Moses and Elijah as His trembling disciples look on. Thursday services during Lent are at 7 p.m. beginning March 2nd, following a soup supper at 6:00.

 Livestock show will all represent the Woodville FFA in the market broiler contest.

Also from the Woodville FFA will be Dene Bruchman of Woodville, who will exhibit in the dairy heifer event, and Thomas "Trey" Harvey III, who is set to show an animal in the beef heifer contest.

The Warren FFA Chapter, which is sponsored by ag teacher Rex Currie, is scheduled to have three students compete in the livestock ring, including Jennifer Currie of Hillister, who is entering a market lamb as well as Angela Jones of Warren and Marlon Moore of Fred, both of whom are exhibiting in the market broiler category.

Four students from the Spurger FFA Chapter are scheduled to exhibit animals in the market broiler contest. They include Brandon Lewis of Spurger, Jennifer Page of Spurger, Dustin Shillings of Hillister and Jason Winkle of Spurger. The club's sponsor is agricultural teacher Charles Hudson.

The Chester FFA Chapter is sponsored by ag teacher Steve Harris and is scheduled to enter one student in the 1995 Houston show. Matthew M. Standley of Chester is entered in both the beef heifer and beef scramble contests.

A total of 11 Colmesneil FFA Chapter members are scheduled to exhibit projects in the livestock show this year. The students, sponsored by ag teacher Gerald Chandler, include Clay Bandy of Colmesneil and Jason Best of Colmesneil, who are both exhibiting in the beef heifer contest, as well as Jason Hensarling of Colmesneil, Lance Seaman of Colmesneil and Luke Wilkison of Colmesneil, who are all slated to enter both the beef heifer and market broiler contests.

In addition, Joey Brown of Colmesneil, David Dickerson of Colmesneil and Rachel McKinney of Colmesneil are scheduled to exhibit market broilers while Michele White of Colmesneil and Sam Wigley of Colmesneil are to exhibit market broilers.

Jamie Pittman Jr. of Colmesneil is entering both the beef heifer show and the beef scramble.

Representing 900 Texas 4-H Clubs and FFA chapters, the junior show is expected to exceed 14,000 entries this year. A variety of animals are shown in the junior show division, including market steers, market swine, market sheep, market poultry, beef and dairy heifers, breeding sheep, goats, commercial steers and breeding rabbits.

The four market animal categories — steers, sheep, swine and poultry — represent animals raised by the exhibitor as food sources. Top animals in each of these categories are eligible for their individual market auctions.

Total money paid in 1994 at the four junior show auctions exceeded $4 million.

"Our junior show is the highlight of our livestock exhibition, placing and emphasis on education, supervised instruction and fair competition," said Don Jones, Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo assistant general manager.

New to the 1995 show is a special attraction in the Astrohall, the World of Cattle exhibit. This hands-on, interactive display is designed to educate and inform visitors about the nutritional value of beef, the benefits of beef cattle by-products and the importance of food safety issues. Show patrons will learn all about creating the species' effect on every aspect of consumers' lives.

While the local jobless numbers were declining during December, TEC's report shows that the statewide unemployment figures were inching upward slightly. The Texas rate rose from November's 5.6 percent mark to 5.8 percent in December.

Despite the increase in the state's rate, December's figure is the lowest December rate recorded in Texas since 1989. One year ago, the statewide figure was 6.3 percent.

"Texas employers created 246,500 jobs for Texans from December 1993 to December 1994 — that's a 3.2 percent increase over the year," said TEC Employer Commissioner James J. Kaster.

Kaster noted that during the second half of 1994, Texas experienced a clear pattern of declining unemployment rates.

"The 1994 statistics prove Texas has the potential for a robust 1995 economy," Kaster added. "Hopefully, we can continue this winning streak and Texans who are looking for jobs can find them."

The number of nonfarm jobs increased by 34,400 from November to December. The largest growth occurred in the trade sector, where 26,600 job seekers found employment. Over the month, most other sectors showed little change.

In December, transportation, communications and utilities posted an increase of 4,400 jobs. This industry traditionally records peak growth in

WOODVILLE — Woodville coach John Lamberth looks at Thursday's bi-district clash against state ranked Hardin-Jefferson this way, "We're going to have to play them sometime, so it might as well be now."

The Eagles will meet number five ranked Hardin-Jefferson at West Brook High School Thursday at 7 p.m. The Hawks won the district title in District 21-3A.

Looking at the state rankings and won-loss records, the Hawks shouldn't have to worry too much about the Eagles. But Lamberth and the Eagles will come into the game off a pair of victories and full of confidence.

"We can play with them as well as anybody," says the Woodville coach. "We're quicker, and we shoot better outside."

Lamberth notes that the Eagles will have to break the Hardin-Jefferson streak and they must also stop the Hawks' leading scorer, Kenyon Spears. The Hardin-Jefferson team averages 22 points per game.

Woodville will counter with the likes of G. Gerrod Betts who averages 20 points and 11 rebounds per game. Also hitting double figure averages are Kendrick Beatty and Josh Lamberth, each with 16 points per game.

Lamberth is also the top 3A rebounder in the area with 14 per game average. D. J. Thrower and Aubrey Jackson round out the starting five, but the Eagles will play plenty of its bench against the pressing Hawks.

Says Lamberth, "We have played pretty good the last five or six games. We will have to play another good game to beat Hardin-Jefferson."

The Eagles lined up for its bi-district showdown against Hardin-Jefferson with a pair of district wins against Orangefield and Warren. The victories enabled the Eagles to tie Stephen F. Austin for second place in the district behind Kountze. Woodville got to advance to the playoffs due to its two victories over S.F.A. in district play.

Against Orangefield in a 75-57 win the Eagles had four players to hit double figures, including Beatty with 21, Beatty with 16, Lamberth with 15, and Thrower with 12. Both Lamberth and Beatty had 12 rebounds.

The Eagles opened the game with a 16-11 first quarter lead and held a 32-25 halftime advantage. In the third period Woodville stretched the lead to 50-35.

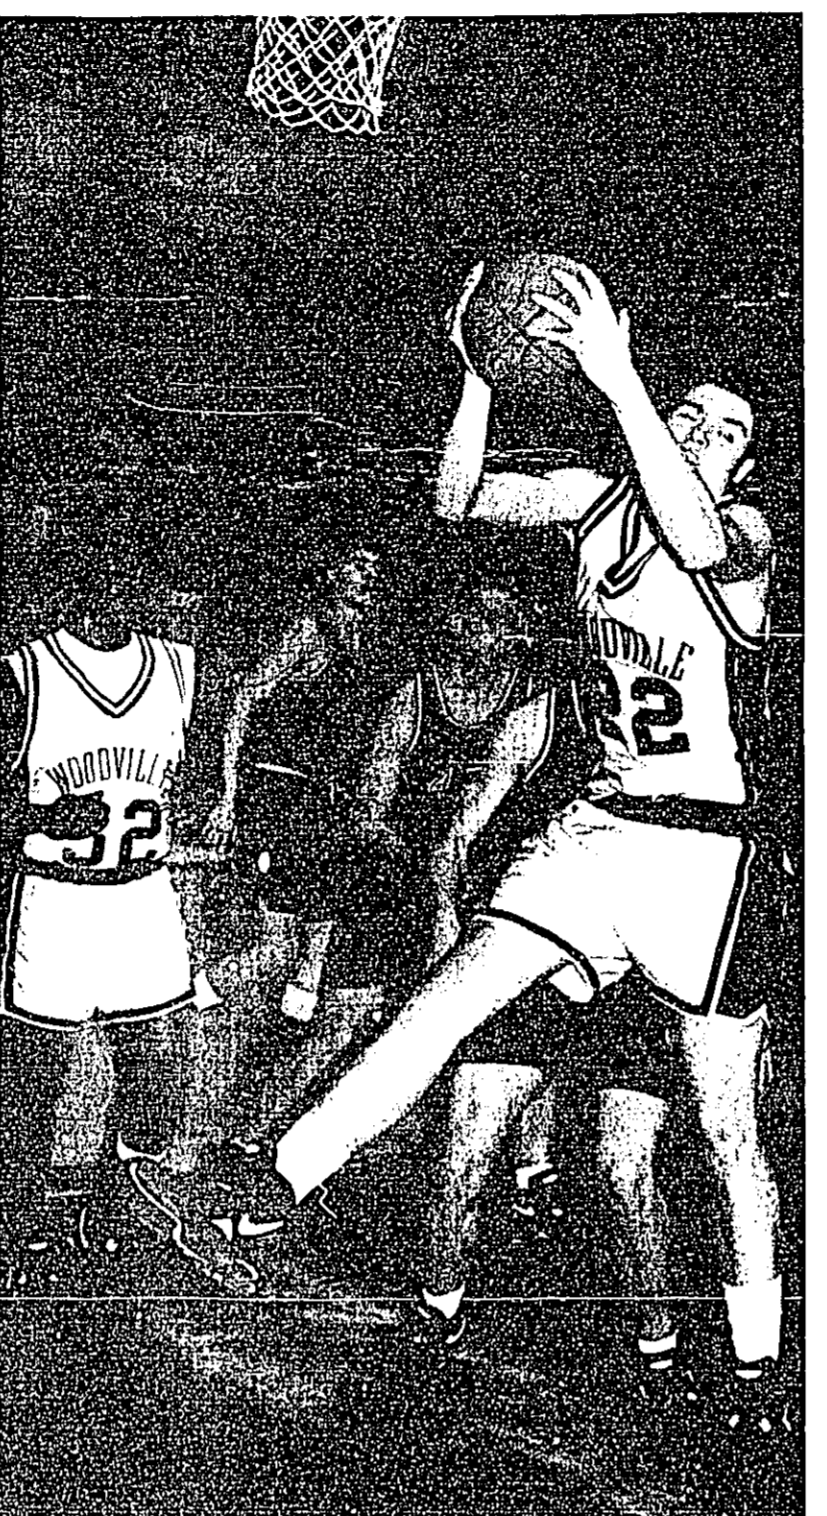

Friday the Eagles closed district play with a 91-65 win over Warren. Beatty topped scoring with 25 points and 12 rebounds. Lamberth had 18 points and 10 rebounds. Beatty added 14 points and Thrower 13 more along with 10 assists.

Chance Sims led Warren scoring with 15 points. Warren earlier in the week lost a 109-68 game to S.F.A. In that contest four Warren players scored in double figures, including Sims with 17, Mike Adams with 10, Clayton Hamilton with 10, and Steve Mitchell with 10.

Bulldogs set to battle Centerville Thursday

COLMESNEIL — The Centerville Tigers had better be in shape when they meet the Colmesneil Bulldogs in a bi-district basketball title game Thursday at Lufkin Hudson.

Colmesneil Bulldog Roster

NO.	NAME	GRADE
10	Eric Daniels	12
11	Greg Cheney	9
12	Cliffon Nelson	9
13	John Mahan	9
15	Jared Ledbetter	10
20	Joey Brown	11
21	Jesse Johnson	9
22	Josh Schultz	10
23	Greg Bean	12
24	B.J. Stewart	9
25	Ronnie Douglas	10
27	Roy Daniels	10
31	Daryl Douglas	9

The Bulldogs, under second year head coach Rick Johnson, love to move the ball up and down the court and will give you a lot of pressure on defense besides.

"We have hustled real well," notes Johnson prior to the Bulldogs' second bi-district game in as many years.

That hustle helped the Bulldogs notch a double overtime win against district champion Zavalla in the last season game. The victory enabled the Bulldogs to take second place in the district and move into the playoffs.

Colmesneil will bring in a respectable 18-8 record against the District 45-A champions.

The Bulldogs are led offensively by senior Eric Daniels and sophomore Daryl Douglas. Daniels is the team's leading scorer, averaging 14 points per game. Douglas is right behind with an average of 13.5 points per game.

The Bulldogs are second on the team in rebounds with 9.7 average. Daniels is the offensive key for the Bulldogs. He leads the team in three pointers, including hitting four in the win over Zavalla. He also leads the team in assists with a 5.2 average.

While Eric Daniels works the outside, the Bulldogs have another brother combo working the inside. G-4 Roy Lee Daniels. The younger, taller Daniels is averaging eight points per game and rakes in an average of eight rebounds per game.

While the Daniels and the Douglasses handle the mainstay of the Bulldog offense which averages 61 points per game, Jesse Johnson and Greg Bean try the Bulldog defense.

Referring to Bean and Johnson, the senior Johnson noted, "They have done a good job of top of our press."

The Colmesneil defense, which has held opponents to 56 points per game, has also had a lot of help from sophomore Jared Ledbetter.

Bench strength for the Bulldogs comes in the form of B. J. Stewart and Josh Schultz, of whom Johnson says,

JV boys win district title

"When they hit the floor, they have filled in very well," Woodville coach says. "While Colmesneil likes to move and go, Centerville is more methodical in its play. Says Johnson, 'They handle their own end very well, good shots, and rebound very well.'"

"Tip off for the bi-district shoot-out is 7 p.m. with the winner meeting either Goodrich or High Island for the area title."

Spurger boys to meet Big Sandy in bi-district

SPURGER — It's getting to be old hat for the Spurger Pirates and the Big Sandy Wildcats.

Saturday evening the two teams will meet for the third time this season, this time in a more serious vein with a bi-district title at stake.

The neighboring county rivals will meet for the bi-district championship at the Leggett High School Gym Saturday with an 8 p.m. tip off.

Even though Spurger has knocked off the Wildcats twice this season, Pirate coach Chris Carter says, "Big Sandy is capable of beating us."

Spurger rolls in with a sparkling 27-5 record and the District 46-A title team in scoring with 14. Darth Battise added 12 while Weaver added 10.

In the Feb. 3 game against Stephen F. Austin Park, the Eagles suffered their only district loss, falling by a score of 65-60. Barise was the leading scorer for Woodville with 16 while Weaver and Powell each had 13 points.

During the game on Jan. 31, the Eagles took the 57-54 overtime win. The Eagles, down by eight at the half, came back with Gregory scoring all of his game high 19 points in the final two quarters. Gregory then sealed with win with a three-point shot in overtime.

"Four trouble doesn't hurt us like some teams", notes Carter of his Pirates.

The Pirates sport the best record in the county and have lost only to some of the top teams in the area. Of Spurger's five losses, four have been to playoff teams, Zavalla, Goodrich, Kountze and Deweyville. The other loss was to class 3A Newton, a team that knocked off Woodville in district play.

The winner of the Spurger-Big Sandy class will meet either Zavalla or New Summerfield for the area title Tuesday.

County girls teams fare well in bi-district losses

TYLER COUNTY — Both the Lady Pirates of Spurger and the Lady Yellowjackets of Chester played better than expected Friday night in bi-district basketball losses.

Spurger fell to state ranked Big Sandy 55-53, at Kountze, while Chester dropped a 49-41 contest to Evadale at Jasper.

Both Spurger and Chester finished second in their respective district, and it marked the first time in recent memory that either team advanced to the playoffs.

In addition to finding the correct answer, students wrote their responses and turned them in to the office before the school day was over. A drawing was held the next morning, and the first student entry which had every part of the answer correct was recognized during the morning announcements and received a Canadian quarter from the principal.

Dr. Atkinson recently taught a workshop in Canada and was impressed with the Canadian students' knowledge about the U.S. "I wanted to expose our students to some basic knowledge about our neighbor to the north as well as give them an opportunity to transfer some of the geography skills that they had been learning in our classrooms."

Students who won the title of "Canadian Expert" included: Samantha Davis, Steve English, Jennifer Evans, Caleb Phillips, Rebecca Wallace, Michelle Ratt, Amber Clark, Gray, Brand Evans and Quintana Williams. See how well you can answer these Canadian trivia questions:

1. What is the capital of Canada?
2. What object is on the Canadian flag?
3. America is made up of states - Canada is divided into what geographical units?
4. Name the Canadian province that is west of Ontario.

Woodville Intermediate hosts 'Canadian experts'

WOODVILLE — Woodville Intermediate School recently hosted a group of "Canadian Experts" students who are experts on the subject of Canada.

Students throughout the school participated in a series of Canadian trivia questions designed by school principal, Dr. Joanne Atkinson. Every morning for 10 days, students listened intently during the morning announcements for the trivia question of the day.

After the question was asked, students could use any resource available to determine the correct answer. In addition to finding the correct answer, they had to use the correct spelling and proper capitalization of the answer. Students wrote their responses and turned them in to the office before the school day was over.

A drawing was held the next morning, and the first student entry which had every part of the answer correct was recognized during the morning announcements and received a Canadian quarter from the principal.

Successful students rewarded with trip

WOODVILLE — Members of the PTA at Woodville Intermediate School provided a special incentive trip for students who were successful in meeting a triple criteria for the six weeks that ended just after the Christmas holidays. Students had to have passing grades in all subjects, perfect attendance for the entire six weeks, and all A's in conduct grades for all subjects.

From a student body of approximately 420, over 170 students (almost 41%) were eligible for the trip. This was an outstanding number of successful students given the strict criteria set. Students who participated were invited to a day trip which included roller skating, snow cones and games. They also had a great time watching some of their cheerleaders skate! Dr. Joanne Atkinson, school principal, expressed thanks to the PTA members who made the incentive trip possible.

The incentive trip for the fourth six weeks will be sponsored by the fifth grade class whose students are selling Valentines. The criteria will also include one which allows no more than three tardies to school.

In addition to the incentive trip awarded during the third six weeks, Intermediate School students received honors for the semester during a school-wide assembly during which a total of 6174 certificates were awarded.

This included 583 for receiving All A's for the semester (named STAR students), as well as 22 who earned A's and B's. Two hundred twenty-nine students were recognized as Outstanding Citizens, and 131 were recognized for perfect attendance.

Drugs and sexual abuse top concerns with psychiatry

LOS ANGELES — A national survey recently conducted found the American public concerned about drugs and, in some cases, fearful of psychiatry and its practices. Topping the list of concerns was psychiatry's reliance on harmful psychotropic drugs, followed closely by psychiatric sexual abuse.

The survey was conducted by the Citizens Commission on Human Rights (CCHR), a psychiatric watchdog group which cleans up the field of mental health.

According to the group's president, Bruce Wiseman "the public expressed their concern with psychiatry by following closely because of that industry's constant reliance on mind altering drugs as a 'quick fix' to people's problems."

The survey demonstrates that the public isn't fooled by psychiatry. Indeed, they recognize that psychiatry is that faction of the health care industry that does not help," states Wiseman. CCHR, which has been investigating and exposing psychiatric abuse for the last 25 years, conducted the survey throughout the United States on hundreds of people in one-on-one interviews during December.

"Sexual exploitation of patients by psychiatrists was also a leading cause of concern by those surveyed," Wiseman said. "This corresponds to complaints we receive in our offices around the country. Due to the fact that we get so many complaints of psychiatric sexual abuse; we have worked hard to bring this criminal conduct to the attention of legislators in various states. Psychiatric sexual abuse is not a felony in 14 states and we are working to get it criminalized elsewhere."

CCHR was established by the Church of Scientology in 1969 and has 118 chapters in 27 countries around the world.

Carbon monoxide poses unseen, odorless threat

AUSTIN — According to health officials, there is more than fire where there is smoke. There also is carbon monoxide, an odorless, invisible and poisonous gas.

Wherever there are coals or flames without ample ventilation, the gas can reach levels which are lethal to humans.

Every year, dozens of Texans die from carbon monoxide poisoning, and many more become ill. The Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Vital Statistics Bureau recorded 51 such deaths in 1993. Dr. David Smith, Commissioner of Health, said, "It's tragic that the number of such poisonings rises in periods of extreme cold, when some people sacrifice fresh air for warmth. We urge all Texans to beware of this danger."

Stahl said that persons at home often are in greater danger of carbon monoxide poisoning than those in large work spaces, since small, insulated quarters trap and concentrate the gas. A major source of the gas is from burners of gas appliances that are improperly adjusted or poorly vented, he added.

To save energy costs, newer homes are sealed tighter than older homes and may pose greater risks, Stahl warned.

"Many people have had the early effects of carbon monoxide poisoning without knowing the cause. Anyone who has awakened with a headache or dizziness after sleeping in a closed room with an unvented heater may have had a mild case of carbon monoxide poisoning," he said. Chemically, carbon monoxide replaces the oxygen in the bloodstream. Lack of oxygen causes headache, dizziness, weakness, sleepiness, nausea and vomiting, which can progress to coma, convulsions and death.

Stahl said persons exposed to the gas often do not recognize these symptoms as carbon monoxide poisoning, and fall asleep not realizing the danger of death to themselves or their family members. Persons who notice some of these symptoms and are near or using a fuel-burning appliance or equipment should immediately go outside to get fresh air, he advised. All fuel-burning appliances should be checked by a qualified person for properly adjusted flames and proper ventilation in the area of each appliance, he added.

People at high risk of carbon monoxide poisoning are infants, pregnant women, the elderly and persons with a history of chronic heart or lung problems. Even with emergency treatment of serious poisonings, several hours or days may be required for a victim to regain normal oxygen levels in the blood.

The US Consumer Product Safety Commission has asked that all new dwellings be required to have carbon monoxide detectors, similar to smoke detectors. TDH and the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have urged all home owners to install these inexpensive, readily available detectors.

Synthetic Vitamin A used to fight cancer

HOUSTON — Vitamin A "surrogates" are the newest therapeutic for cancer in the war against prostate cancer, according to a researcher at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Using their own mouse model, genetically programmed to develop prostate cancer, a team of Baylor scientists are testing synthetic Vitamin A-like agents known as retinoids thought to halt cancer growth by boosting the immune system's response to the disease.

"We have tested one promising retinoid that appears to suppress cancer progression," said Dr. Timothy Thompson, an associate professor of urology and cell biology at Baylor.

"By testing a live animal model, we can tell if the drugs are effective and how they work."

Prostate cancer is the leading cause of cancer death in American men. Approximately 38,000 die from the disease each year. African-Americans have the highest rate.

In comparison to natural Vitamin A, which can lose its beneficial effects once inside the body, synthetic retinoids may be more potent. Thompson hopes his findings will result in safer drugs for treating prostate cancer and advanced prostate cancer.

"We hope this research will have an impact on how new drugs will be used in humans," said Thompson, who is also director of research for Baylor's Matsunaga-Conte Prostate Cancer Research Center.

The research team is also testing retinoids in combination with conventional therapy as well as new gene therapy approaches.

"It is unlikely for one agent alone to halt a cancer cell because the cell is constantly evolving," Thompson said. "Most of these agents work better in combination because they hit the cancer at different levels of growth. As the cancer progresses, we add another level of treatment."

In recent years, retinoids have been used to treat acne and skin damaged from sun exposure. They have also been tested in people with other types of cancer such as lung and breast cancer.

Once the research team understands how retinoids work, Thompson says more effective tests in humans may be on the horizon.

"By applying new techniques in drug and genetic therapy, we can see how prostate cancer is affected," he said. "How these therapies will be used in people remains to be seen."

The Matsunaga-Conte Prostate Cancer Research Center at Baylor is one of only two of the nation's Specialized Programs of Research Excellence (SPRE) funded by the National Institutes of Health to diagnose, prevent and treat prostate cancer.

Arthritis: remember the "three R's"

HOUSTON — Arthritis sufferers can control joint pain if they have access to a pool and remember the "three R's": relaxation, range of motion and resistance.

"Regular exercise can be better than medication for many people. Pool therapy is good for working sore joints because body weight is supported by water," said David Brennan, an assistant professor of physical medicine and rehabilitation at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

The first step - relaxation - is as simple as easing into the pool, tensing the muscles and slowly relaxing them several times.

The second "R" - range of motion - involves slowly rotating and flexing the joint or joints needing exercise. This part of pool therapy sometimes requires the help of a professional therapist to determine if the arm or leg is moving correctly.

"Because of pain or a lack of mobility, some people with arthritis are not able to move an arm or leg the way it once did," Brennan said.

Resistance, the third "R", builds muscle strength around the joint by increasing the speed of underwater movements. Strap-on devices that capture more water with movement can create greater resistance. Some high-tech pools can provide additional resistance by creating stronger underwater currents with jets or paddles.

A typical pool workout should last about 30 minutes, longer if the patient can also do some light swimming or deep-water running for a cardiovascular workout.

Brennan says a heated pool is better for arthritis therapy because warm water aids movement and decreases pain. The ideal temperature is between 88F and 90F. Higher water temperatures may affect the cardiovascular system and limit the workout. Colder water increases pain.

The key to successfully using the "three R's" to reduce arthritis pain is to progress through them slowly. Since movement in the water appears easy, some people, particularly the elderly and the obese, can overdo it, Brennan said.

"Many people with arthritis pain have not exercised in quite a while," said Brennan. "Starting slowly will ensure that the cardiovascular system is not overworked and it will decrease muscle stress the next day."

Consult a physician, and if possible, a pool therapist before starting any sort of exercise for arthritis. Progress slowly through the "three R's" and arthritis pain may eventually lessen.

Cardiovascular disease targeted

AUSTIN — Since 1950 in Texas and throughout the rest of the U.S., cardiovascular disease (CVD) has been the most frequent cause of death. According to the Texas Department of Health, (TDH), deaths from heart disease, strokes and hypertension together claimed 51,123 — about two of every five of the 134,417 Texans who died in 1993. Tom Pollard, director of the TDH Statistical Services Division, said, "Not only is heart disease the leading killer every year in Texas and the nation, but the other cardiovascular diseases appear to be increasing rapidly." For example, Pollard explained, "Deaths from hypertension increased from 618 to 918 — fully a 50 percent increase — from one year to the next." To combat the prevalence of cardiovascular disease in Texas, TDH, the Texas Affiliate of the American Heart Association, the Texas Medical Association and other health groups and leaders have joined in an initiative which officially began Feb. 1. The start of the statewide Comprehensive Cardiovascular Disease Initiative coincided with the launch of a similar national initiative in Washington, D.C.

Dr. David R. Smith, Texas Commissioner of Health, said that the coalition's strategies will include both short-term remedial measures and long-range programs to eliminate the causes of cardiovascular disease. "Although CVD is the most prevalent killer, it is still preventable and preventable, since many of the causes of coronary and circulatory disease can be prevented or controlled," he said. "Our research shows that some 78 percent of adult Texans have at least one of the six major risk factors for CVD. Those risk factors include tobacco use, physical inactivity, high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, obesity and diabetes," Dr. Smith added.

Charlene Laramy, director of the TDH Chronic Disease Prevention Program, explained that the state's initiative will establish a coalition to create plans for curbing cardiovascular disease among high-risk groups of Texans by promoting exercise, better nutrition and more healthful life-styles. Laramy said, "Members of the coalition will include specialists from both the public and private sectors. Their joint efforts will collect information, conduct public and professional education, coordinate outreach and available services, promote environmental improvements and enlist community leadership."

Although the coalition members for years have separately operated programs to prevent and reduce CVDs in Texas, the new initiative marks the first time the leading groups and agencies have combined their efforts toward common goals.

Berryman wins crown

WOODVILLE — Boosted by her dramatic poetry recital in the talent portion of the contest, Woodville High School senior Noelle Berryman was awarded 1995 Miss Tyler County at the close of the annual scholarship pageant Saturday in Woodville.

The 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. Joan Berryman and Steve Berryman, the new Miss Tyler County was selected from among 11 young women from across the county who were seeking the title. She also was given the talent award for her poetry presentation by the three-judge panel.

In addition to representing the county in various events during the coming year, Berryman will receive a $1,000 college scholarship from the pageant sponsors, the Wisteria Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

The new Miss Tyler County is a member of the Woodville High School golf team and drama club and her hobbies include reading classical literature, painting and drawing. Her goal is to become a doctor of optometry.

First runner up in the contest and winner of a $500 scholarship was Christina Blanton, an 18-year-old senior at Spurger High School. She also was selected to receive the Miss Congeniality Award by her fellow contestants.

Blanton is the daughter of Jerry and JoAnn Blanton of Spurger and is a member of the National Honor Society, is the senior class secretary and a cheerleader. Her plans for the future include attending East Texas Baptist University and pursuing a career in the teaching field. During the talent portion of the contest, Blanton performed a country-western song, "Blame It On Your Heart," by Patty Loveless.

Second runner up in the pageant was Jessica Graham, an 18-year-old senior at Colmesneil High School. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Graham, she will receive a $400 college scholarship from the ABWA chapter.

She sang the Dolly Parton hit, "She's an Angel When She Flies" during the talent competition.

Graham plans to pursue a career in nursing and is a band member, plays basketball and sings in her church choir.

The Miss Photogenic Award went to Stephanie Zoch, an 18-year-old senior at Spurger High School. She performed a dance routine to music from the motion picture, "The Lion King," during the talent contest.

Zoch is the daughter of Stuart and

Two injured Friday in traffic mishap

COLMESNEIL — A Warren man and an 11-year-old boy were taken to the Tyler County Hospital in Woodville Friday night after suffering injuries in a one-vehicle accident on FM 256 about seven miles east of Colmesneil.

According to a DPS accident report, Brumley first tried to avoid colliding head-on with the second vehicle by swerving to the right but when the unidentified car continued toward him in the wrong lane, Brumley swerved to the left, crossed over into the westbound lane and lost control of the pickup.

Risch indicated that the pickup apparently swerved back to the right and began rolling over, finally coming to rest on the outside of the roadway. The unidentified vehicle did not stop when the vehicle entered a curve to the

They include Amanda Barrett of Woodville, Stefani Byron of Chester, Ben Craven of Woodville, Angela DuBois of Woodville, Jason Odum of Woodville, Tremayne Odum of Woodville, Trevor Odum of Woodville and Ryan Winters of Woodville, all of whom are set to exhibit in the market barrow contest.

In addition, Clint Brochtrup of Moscow, Eryn Bryon of Chester, Robert Knight of Woodville, Paul Muckey of Woodville, Kory J. Morgan of Woodville, John Ponder of Woodville and Amanda Wallace of Woodville will both exhibit market barrows.

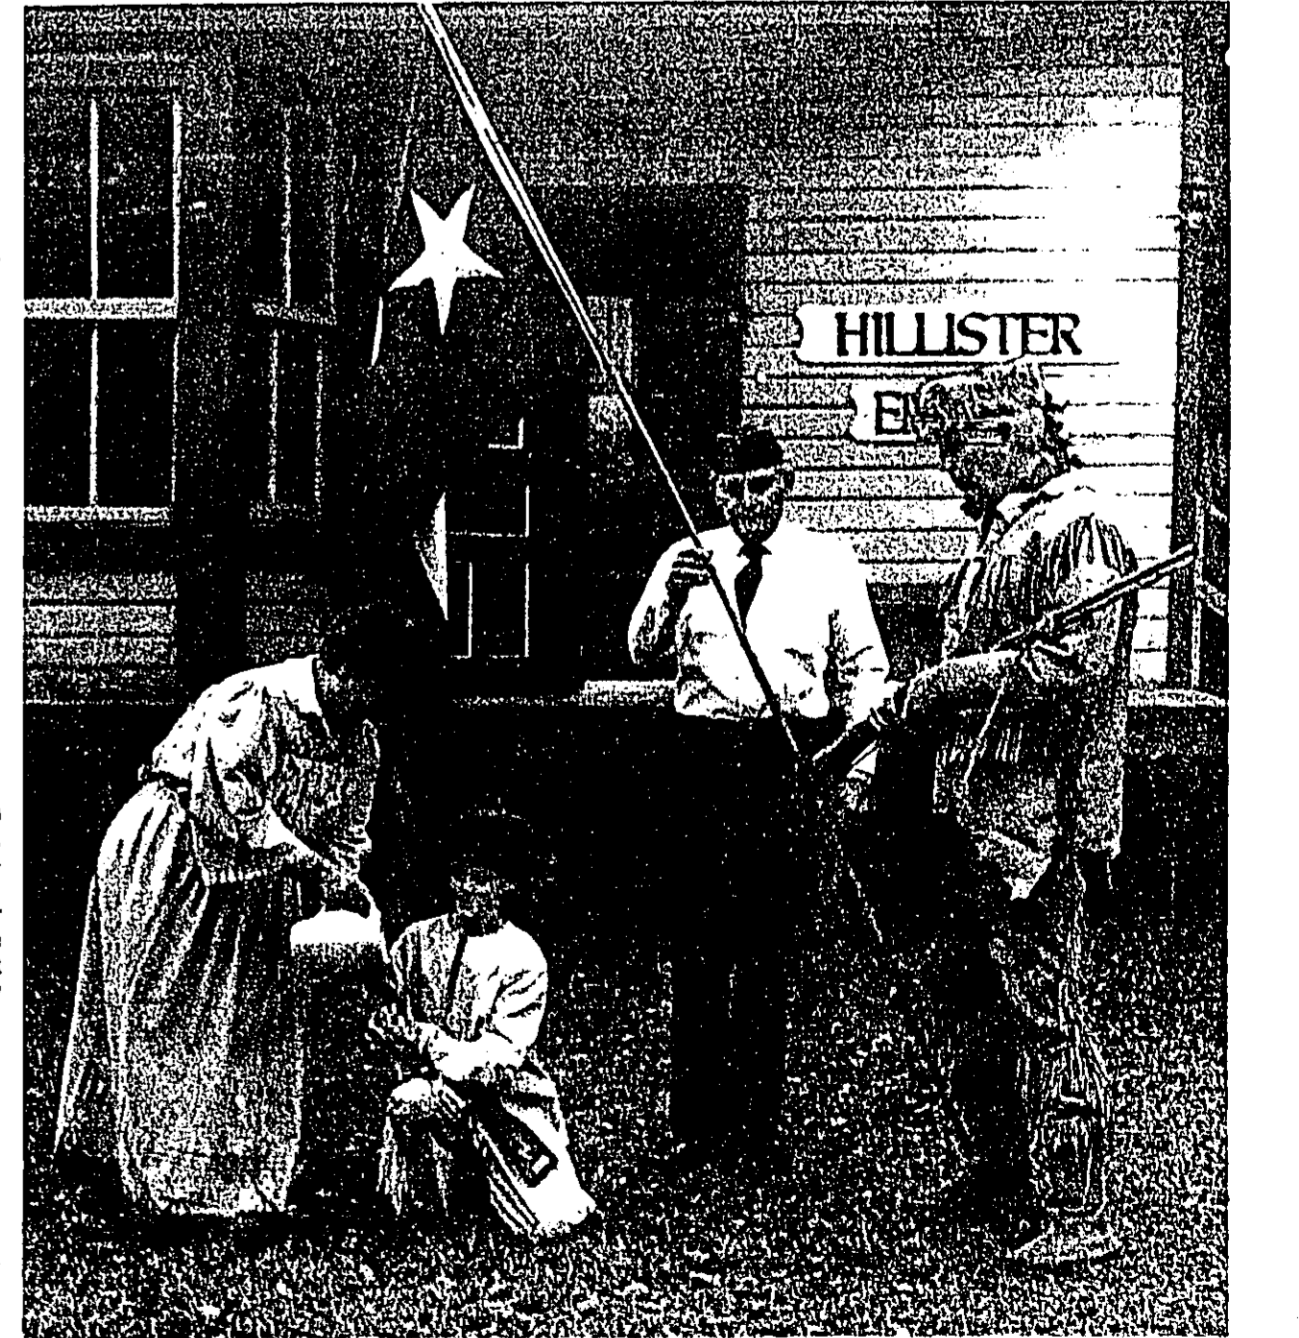

Jobless rate falls

WOODVILLE — After being locked at the 7.9 percent mark for three straight months, Tyler County's unemployment rate fell during December, dipping to a 7.2 percent mark.

The previous low for the year was set in August when a 7.8 percent unemployment rate was listed. After the August low, the local rate rose slightly to 7.9 percent in September, when it remained through October and November.

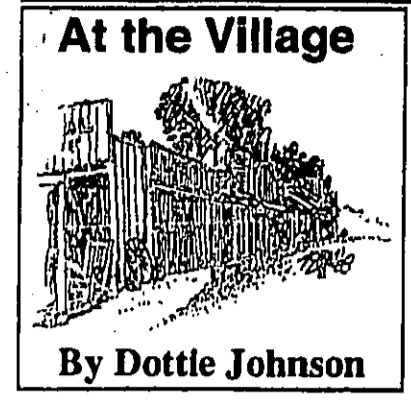

Over the previous 10 years, the highest unemployment number recorded in Tyler County occurred in June 1986. During that month, a record 18.4 percent jobless figures is listed by TEC.

During the worst unemployment year in recent history — 1986 — the local rate never dipped below an 11.2 percent rate set in January and remained mainly

TEXAS INDEPENDENCE — The annual "Toast to Texas" was in the making last week when participants in the March 2 program gathered at Heritage Village in Woodville for an early pouring of fresh spring water. The tribute will get underway at 1:30 p.m. at the Village on the 159th anniversary of Texas Independence. From left are Marjorie Schultz, Heritage Village director; Blake Blanchette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Blanchette of Woodville; VFW Post 2033 Honor Guard Commander Chuck Willard, who will lead the Texas Independence Day flag ceremony; and Herb Branch, who will be firing his annual black powder rifle salute during the March 2 ceremony. At the Village

Frankie Kinde of Warren is disappointed. Not a single person called to say whether we were right or whether we were wrong - not even a maybe - in designating the Collier Mill on M. L. Bingham's farm in Spurger as the one mentioned in the minutes of the Fellowship Primitive Baptist Church of Warren as their meeting place 140 years ago.

Surely someone must have a thought or two about that. That's what worries Frankie, who was asked by her pastor to work up a history of their church.

I remember the first time I met Frankie. A number of us from the Heritage Society made a trip to the church west of Warren, first to get background on the church's annual Singing School and its sacred harp singing, later to attend the singing led by the late Woody Woodrome.

During the day, after seeing references to the name "Woody" in the rural community of Neal, we had a picnic. Later, when we came to the church, Frankie rushed over with a family group sheet she had copied for me that brought together the Wooley and Risinger families from Bibb County, Alabama.

I still have a lot of research to do on that family, but the fact that she responded to my need so quickly always impressed me. I guess that's why she was so disappointed.

Hopefully we can do better on this next project, because Frankie has more questions, and of course she can't help wondering, will anyone respond.

On the other side of the genealogical fence, Frankie has been working with Jim and Anne Laird of Conroe in bringing Tyler County cemetery records up to date. They have been recording old burials since 1974 and filling in those that were missed during that earlier work (which we must say has been invaluable.)

Help needed in locating old cemeteries as Village makes ready to toast Texas

The problem seems to be that there are some small family-type cemeteries listed in the 1974 version including those buried there, that do not give directions for getting there.

And so Frankie called. Would we mind listing those cemeteries in the hopes that someone out there will call and say, "I know where that cemetery is" or "come on down and I'll take you there."

So, this is for Frankie and Jim and Anne (she's a niece of Betty Enloe in Colmesneil, which is another story coming up) and all the others who are working to hand-record our history.

The cemeteries in question are: Bean Family, Brown (sometimes called Sheffield), Fowler, Frazier, Hall, Hickory Hill, Johnson, Jones, Keen (Keene), Kirkland, Powell, Pullen, Rawls, Rigby, Segrest, Snowden, Sturrock (sometimes called Weeks), Walters (Waters), Weatherly, Willis and Wynne-Shuffield.

Another cemetery they were looking for was the Futch Cemetery, but we knew exactly where to go for that one, led by Chairman, Chuck Wray, and an official proclamation read by Commissioner Jerry Mahan, recognition of all 4th, 5th and 6th generation Texans in attendance, singing of "Texas Our Texas" by St. Paul's Episcopal School students, the drinking of a toast in clear spring water provided by Tyler County Historical Commission chairman Jack Whitmeyer, and a black powder salute by Herb Branch.

Members of the Woman's Reading Club will assist in preparations and the pouring and serving of the water.

And, of course, everyone is invited to attend this celebration of the 159th anniversary of the signing of Texas Independence at Washington-on-the-Brazos.

Early Learning Let's kick up our heels and dance

By Darby Kethan

I went to a dance the other day, everybody was there! It was a special Valentine's dance, with special kids and adults. The decorations provided a festive atmosphere identical to any other dance I ever attended and the kids were just as excited as I used to be when I was their age! Everything looked a whole lot like the dances I attended; there were, however, several major differences.

These dancers were young people with disabilities of many kinds who attend special classes, along with teachers, assistants, parents, administrators and special friends who came with these students for what has grown to be an annual event. These were young people in wheelchairs, students who are blind or deaf or who have physical or mental disabilities. Boy, could they dance! "Party hearty" took on a new meaning as I watched those glowing faces and motivating bodies crowd the dance floor! No signs of the usual shyness or reluctance to participate often found among young people this age: everyone who could dance did, and did so with OR without a partner! Teachers and parents danced with kids, wheelchairs were twirled and spun as kids laughed with pleasure. Young people unable to walk were picked up and danced with as adults who hold them swirled and bounced to the beat. The noise level alone was an indicator of the good time that was going on. Kids not actually on

By David Rust

I discovered the pomelo at Kwelin, China, during the late summer of 1944. (The Coms spell it Quelin, but what do they know?) We were all fruit-hungry, me more than most, so I jumped at the chance to buy this big grapefruit-looking object.

Pomelos are undoubtedly close kin to grapefruit. The rind is yellow and plump, though much thicker than an grapefruit rind. The meat is segmented. But the resemblance ends with the flavor.

It's hard to describe the taste: You can't say it's not like other citrus, or indeed like any other fruit that I know. Pomelo meat is pale green, SUCCESSFUL SCHOOL AWARD — Woodville Intermediate School and Wheat Elementary School in Woodville were recently awarded a 1993-94 Texas Successful Schools Award System (TSSAS) Significant Gain Award. Of the 6,152 school campuses eligible statewide, only 391 met standards under the 1993-94 TSSAS and accountability systems for the award. The schools received cash awards and were recognized at the TSSAS awards ceremony held Jan. 30 at Bass Concert Hall in the Performing Arts Center at the University of Texas at Austin. Those who accepted the award on behalf of the schools were (L-R) Paula Carethers, Jenny Showe, Dr. Joannie Atkinson, Sherry Kenner, Sharon Martin and Cindi Cooley.

The trees, which came to Tyler County from the Pasadena Garden Club (through the Champion Corporation), are available to anyone who wants them. Trees are also available at the Dewberry Creek Animal Clinic on south Highway 69. Available trees include bald cypress, native pecan, green ash and many others. (Photo by John Morrison)

Local 911 service superb

Dear Editor:

While other areas may be having a problem with 911 service, our service here in Tyler County is superb! Recently we had occasion to call 911 at about 3 a.m. The dispatcher was efficient and courteous; the Tyler County Sheriff's Department and deputies were on the scene in Colmesneil in less than 10 minutes; and everything was taken care of with the utmost in courtesy and thoroughness. We appreciate very much the aid given to us.

Flowers brighten a day

Dear Editor:

My husband and I visit the Dogwood Trails Manor regularly. Recently we were delighted to see lovely fresh-cut flowers, including chalice roses, in large bouquets on every table in the dining room.

Thanks to a local grocery store and their expert floral arrangers for providing the flowers which brightened our day.

Entergy/GSU offers grants for environmental projects

BEAUMONT — It could be as simple as recycling aluminum cans or as complex as establishing a nature center. If it's a program aimed at preserving the environment, it could qualify for one of Entergy Corporation's Environmental Matching Grants. Matching grants of up to $1,000 will be awarded by all five of Entergy's operating subsidiaries, including Gulf States Utilities. GSU President Frank Gallaher said the company offers the grants to non-profit community organizations, nature centers and schools throughout its four-state service area. Although applications have been distributed to non-profit adult groups and local schools, additional applications may be obtained by contacting Don Pumphrey of GSU Community Relations at (409) 838-7828 in Beaumont or Shivam Davis at (504) 381-5848 in Baton Rouge. To be eligible, projects must be located within the Entergy system service area, must be current and must be on public land or on private land that has been designated for public use. Schools and youth organizations must have an environmental or non-profit community organization as a partner. In addition, applicants who receive grants must provide a brief progress report during the project and a final report upon completion. Pumphrey said the application period runs from now through March 3. All entries must be postmarked by March 3, 1995, with notification of award winners made on Earth Day, April 21, 1995. Judging will be by an environmental advisory board made up of professionals from environmental organizations. Considerations will be given in these areas: • Approach - all proposals should demonstrate a thorough approach to meeting a local environmental need, with special consideration given to innovative programs which can be completed within one year. • Objectives - all goals must be realistic and clearly defined, leading to measurable results. • Benefits - all projects must have a demonstrated public interest, with those having lasting benefits receiving special consideration. • Participation - partnerships are encouraged. Completed applications from the GSU service area should be mailed to the attention of Pumphrey at Entergy Community Relations, P.O. Box 2951, Beaumont, Texas 77704.

What is Faith?
Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen (Hebrews 11:1). Faith is the confidence that God oversees our lives, that Jesus is our Savior, and that He works all things for our good. Faith is God's creation in each believer's heart.
What is Faith Lutheran Church?
Faith Lutheran Church is a community of believers in the Lord Jesus Christ. We gather to hear His Word for our lives and to respond in thanksgiving to His love. Faith Lutheran Church was created by God as a place to feed His flock, to comfort the distressed, and to reach out to others with the saving Word of Jesus Christ. We are Faith Active in Love.
Where Can I Find Faith?
Faith is found where the Good News of Jesus Christ is proclaimed. Faith Lutheran Church is found at 704 West Holly in Woodville. Join us this Sunday at 9:00 a.m. as we see Jesus standing in full glory with Moses and Elijah as His trembling disciples look on. Thursday services during Lent are at 7 p.m. beginning March 2nd, following a soup supper at 6:00.

will all represent the Woodville FFA in the market broiler contest.

Also from the Woodville FFA will be Dana Bruchman of Woodville, who will exhibit in the dairy heifer event, and Thomas "Trey" Harvey III, who is set to show an animal in the beef heifer contest.

The Warren FFA Chapter, which is sponsored by ag teacher Rex Currie, is scheduled to have three students compete in the livestock ring, including Jennifer Currie of Hillister, who is entering a market lamb as well as Angela Jones of Warren and Marlon Moore of Fred, both of whom are exhibiting in the market broiler category.

Four students from the Spurper FFA Chapter are scheduled to exhibit animals in the market barrow contest. They include Brandon Lewis of Spurper, Jennifer Ege of Spurper, Dustin Shillings of Hillister and Jason Winkle of Spurper. The club's sponsor is agriculture teacher Charles Hudson.

The Chester FFA Chapter is sponsored by ag teacher Steve Havis and is scheduled to enter one student in the 1995 Houston show. Matthew M. Standley of Chester is entered in both the beef heifer and beef scramble contests.

A total of 11 Colmesneil FFA Chapter members are scheduled to exhibit projects in the livestock show this year. The students, sponsored by ag teacher Gerald Chandler, include Clay Bendy of Colmesneil and Jason Best of Colmesneil, who are both exhibiting in the beef heifer contest, as well as Jason Hensaring of Colmesneil, Lance Scamans of Colmesneil and Luke Wikison of Colmesneil, who are all slated to enter both the beef heifer and market barrow contests.

In addition, Joey Brown of Colmesneil, David Dickerson of Colmesneil and Rachel McKinney of Colmesneil are scheduled to exhibit market barrows while Michelle White of Colmesneil and Sam Wigley of Colmesneil are to exhibit market broilers.

Jamie Pittman Jr. of Colmesneil is entering both the beef heifer show and the beef scramble.

Representing 900 Texas 4-H Clubs and FFA chapters, the junior show is expected to exceed 14,000 entries this year. A variety of animals are shown in the junior show division, including market steers, market swine, market sheep, market poultry, beef and dairy heifers, breeding sheep, goats, commercial steers and breeding rabbits.

The four market animal categories — steers, sheep, swine and poultry — represent animals raised by the exhibitor as food sources. Top animals in each of these categories are eligible for their individual market auctions. Total money paid in 1994 at the four junior show auctions exceeded $4 million.

"Our junior show is the highlight of our livestock exhibition, placing and emphasis on education, superior instruction and fair competition," said Don Jones, Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo assistant general manager.

New to the 1995 show is a special attraction in the Astrodome, the World of Cattle exhibit. This hands-on, interactive display is designed to educate and inform visitors about the nutritional value of beef, the benefits of beef cattle by-products and the importance of food safety issues. Show patrons will learn all about cattle and the species' effect on every aspect of consumers' lives.

Running pigs take to the track during the pig racing event, held through March 5 in Astrodome Plaza at 10 a.m., noon and 2, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 p.m.

Also, three spectacular acts will highlight the 1995 Wild West Show, held in the Astrodome. Times for the Wild West Show are as follows: Tuesday-Friday, Feb. 21-24 at 5:30 p.m.; Saturday, Feb. 25 and March 5 at 7:30 p.m.; and Monday-Friday, Feb. 27-March 3 at 3:30 p.m.

Another family feature will be the petting zoo, with three locations for young and old alike. Petting zoos may be found in the Astroarena South Annex, the Astrodome Plaza and at the Astrodome/Astroarena divider street.

The daily show parade returns this year, featuring the famous Clydesdale horses, fire trucks, Astroworld singers and dancers, a train, music and about 100 youngsters, rounded up each day from the show grounds. The parade forms outside the south entrance of the Astrodome and travels throughout the complex, starting at 5 p.m. on weekdays and 3 p.m. on weekends.

Specials may take advantage of the Coors Light Real Metro Express shuttle bus service from five parking sites: The Aramco parking lot at 9009 West Loop South; Gulfgate Mall, located at Loop 610 and IH-45; p.m. The Hawks won the district title of 22-3A, while the Eagles took second place in District 21-3A.

Looking at the state rankings and win-loss records, the Hawks shouldn't have to worry too much about the Eagles. But Lamberth and the Eagles will come into the game off a pair of victories and full of confidence.
"We can play with them as well as anybody," says the Woodville coach. "We're quicker, and we shoot better outside."
Lamberth notes that the Eagles will have to break the Hardin-Jefferson press and they must also stop the Hawks' leading scorer, Kevyon Spears. The Hardin-Jefferson senior averages 22 points per game.
Woodville will counter with the likes of 6-3 Gerrod Betts who averages 20 points and rebounding per game. Also hitting for double figure averages are Kendrick Beatty and Josh Lamberth, each with 16 points per game. Lamberth is also the top 3A rebounder in the area with a 14 per game average. D. J. Thrower and Aubrey Jackson round out the starting five, but the Eagles will play plenty of its bench against the pressing Hawks.

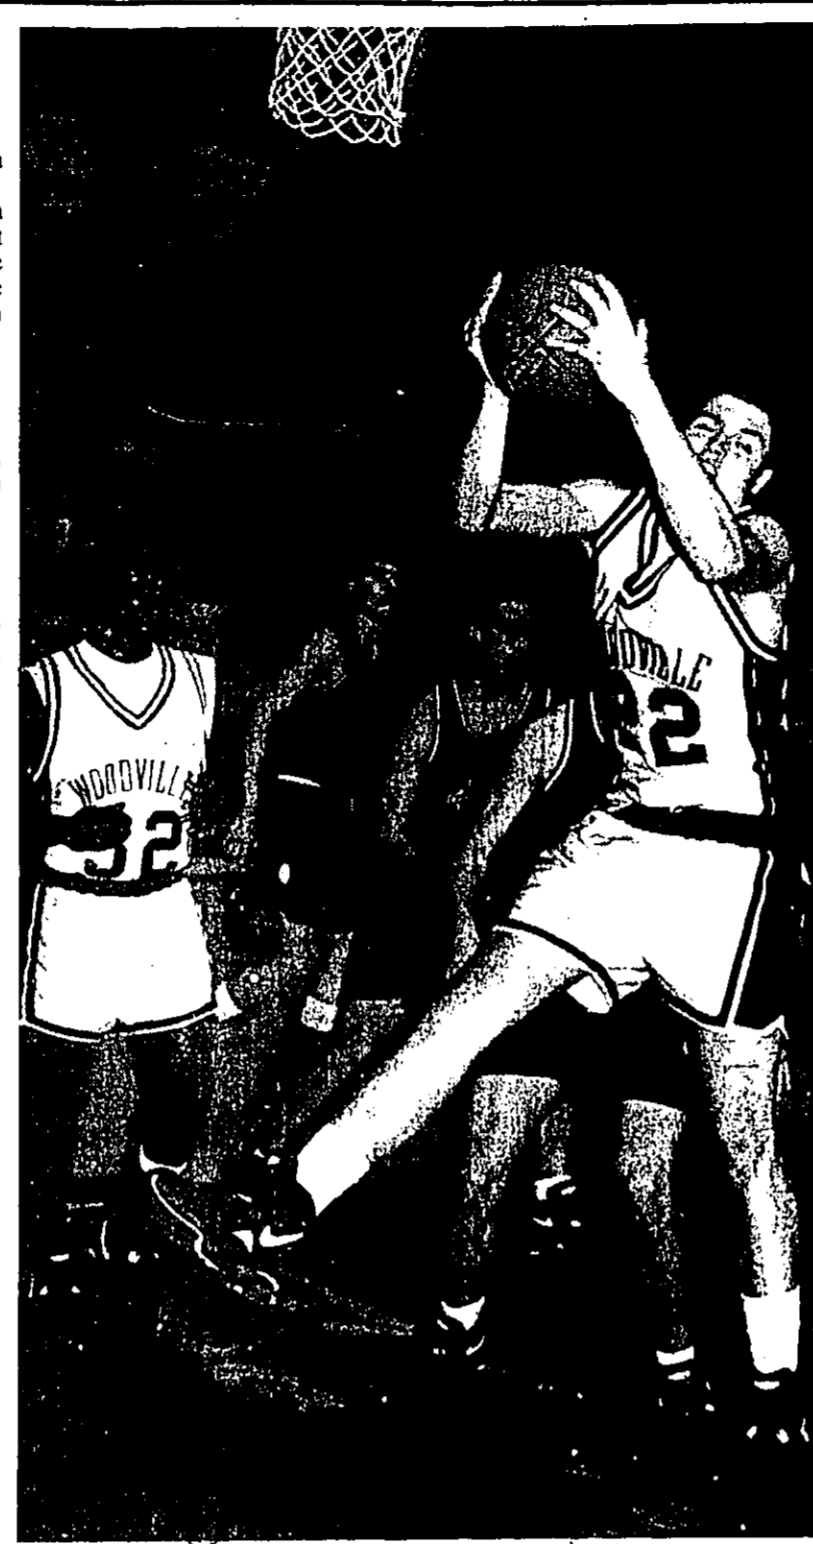

Says Lamberth, "We have played pretty good the last five or six games. We will have to play another good game to beat Hardin-Jefferson."
The Eagles tuned up for its bi-district showdown against Hardin-Jefferson with a pair of district wins against Orangefield and Warren. The victories enabled the Eagles to tie the Stephen F. Austin for second place in the district behind Kountze. Woodville got to advance to the playoffs due to its two victories over S.F.A. in district play.
Against Orangefield in a 75-57 win the Eagles had four players to hit double figures, including Kevyon Spears, 21, Beatty with 16, Lamberth with 15, and Thrower with 12. Both Lamberth and Beatty had 12 rebounds.
The Eagles opened the game with a 16-11 first quarter lead and held a 32-25 halftime advantage. In the third period Woodville stretched the lead to 50-35.
Friday the Eagles closed district play with a 91-65 win over Warren. Beatty topped scoring with 25 points and 12 rebounds. Lamberth had 18 points and 10 rebounds. Betts added 14 points and Thrower 13 more along with 10 assists.

Chance Sims led Warren scoring with 15 points.
Warren earlier in the week lost a 100-68 game to S.F.A. In that contest four Warren players scored in double figures, including Sims with 17, Mike Adams with 10, Clayton Hamilton with 10, and Steve Mitchell with 10.

Bulldogs set to battle Centerville Thursday

COLMESNEIL — The Centerville Tigers had better be in shape when they meet the Colmesneil Bulldogs in a bi-district basketball title game Thursday at Lufkin Hudson.

Colmesneil Bulldog Roster

NO.	NAME	GRADE
10	Eric Daniels	12
11	Greg Cheney	9
12	Clifton Nelson	9
14	John Mahan	9
15	Jared Ledbetter	10
20	Joey Brown	11
21	Jesse Johnson	9
22	Josh Beatts	10
23	Greg Bean	12
24	B.J. Stewart	9
25	Ronnie Douglas	10
30	Roy Daniels	10
31	Daryl Douglas	9

The Bulldogs, under second year head coach Rick Johnson, love to move the ball up and down the court and will give you a lot of pressure on defense besides.
"We have hustled real well," notes Johnson prior to the Bulldogs' second bi-district game in as many years.
"That hustle helped the Bulldogs notch double overtime win against district champion, Zavalla, in the last season game. The victory enabled the Bulldogs to take second place in the district and move into the playoffs.
Colmesneil will bring in a respectable 18-8 record against the District 45-A champions.
The Bulldogs are led offensively by senior Eric Daniels and sophomore Daryl Douglas. Daniels is the team's leading scorer, averaging 14 points per game. Douglas is right behind with an average of 13.5 points per game.
Another Douglas, freshman Ronnie Douglas who is the brother of Daryl, also has a double figure average of 10 points per game and leads the team with 8 rebounds average of 9.8. Daryl is second on the team in rebounds with a 9.7 average.

Daniels is the offensive key for the Bulldogs. He leads the team in three pointers, including hitting four in the win over Zavalla. He also leads the team in assists with a 5.2 average.
While Eric Daniels works the outside, the Bulldogs have another brother combo working the inside, 6-4 Roy Lee Daniels. The younger, taller Daniels is averaging eight points per game and rakes in an average of eight rebounds per game.
While the Daniels and the Douglases handle the mainstay of the Bulldog offense which averages 61 points per game, Jesse Johnson and Greg Bean key the Bulldog defense.
Referring to Bean and Johnson, the senior Johnson noted, "They have done a good job on top of our press."
The Colmesneil defense, which has held opponents to 56 points per game, has also had a lot of help from sophomore Jared Ledbetter.
Bench strength for the Bulldogs comes in the form of B. J. Stewart and Josh Shultz, of whom Johnson says,

"When they hit the floor, they have filled in very well."
While Colmesneil likes to move and go, Centerville is more methodical in its play. Says Johnson, "They handle the ball well, take good shots, and rebound very well."
Tipoff for the bi-district shoot-out is 7 p.m. with the winner meeting either Goodrich or High Island for the area title.

JV boys win district title

WOODVILLE — In their final game of the season, Woodville High School's junior varsity boys basketball team overpowered Warren 86-33 to hit the 20-win mark and captured the district championship.
The Eagle JV squad completed the 1994-95 year with a season record of 20-6 and a district mark of 10-1. Offensively, the team averaged 59 points per game while the defense allowed only 51 points per game.
"We had a great team effort on the court," Coach John Cooley said. "Out don't ever give up attitude allowed us to win from behind and win several close games."
In the final game played Feb. 17, the Eagles defeated Warren 86-33 with Woodville's Kevin McCabe leading the scoring effort with 25 points. Armand Gregory added 14 for the Eagles, Marcus Bean scored 12 and Ryan Weaver hit for 11 points. During the contest, the Eagles JV hit nine three-point shots.
On Feb. 14, the Woodville JV defeated their Orangefield counterparts 44-36. After a sluggish start, the Eagles bounced back from only scoring three points in the first quarter to take the win. Weaver led all scorers with 18 points.
The Eagle JV defeated Kountze 50-47 on Feb. 7 with Mitch Satterwhite hitting four three-pointers to lead the team in scoring with 14. Darth Battise added 12 while Weaver added 10.
In the Feb. 3 game against Stephen F. Austin Port Arthur, the Eagles suffered their only district loss, falling by a score of 63-60. Battise was the leading scorer for Woodville with 16 while Weaver and Powell each scored 15.
During the Buna game on Jan. 31, the Eagles took the 57-54 overtime win. The Eagles, down by eight at the half, came back with Gregory scoring all of his game high 19 points in the final two quarters. Gregory then sealed with win with a three-point shot in overtime.

Spurger boys to meet Big Sandy in bi-district

SPURGER — It's getting to be old hat for the Spurger Pirates and the Big Sandy Wildcats.
Saturday evening the two teams will meet for the third time this season, this time in a more serious vein with a bi-district title at stake.
The neighboring county rivals will meet for the bi-district championship at the Leggett High School Gym Saturday with an 8 p.m. tip off.
Even though Spurger has knocked off the Wildcats twice this season, Pirate coach Chris Carter says, "Big Sandy is capable of beating us."
Spurger rolls in with a sparkling 27-5 record and the District 48-A title while Big Sandy sports a 17-11 mark and the District 49-A runner-up slot behind Goodrich.
In the previous two meetings between the two clubs Spurger has rolled to a 28 point victory at home and a 77-69 win with victory at Big Sandy. Spurger had to struggle at Big Sandy, not getting the lead until the end of the game.
Unlike most class A schools, both Spurger and Big Sandy are not afraid to use their bench even though they have plenty of talent in their starting lineup.
"Foul trouble doesn't hurt us like some teams'," notes Carter of his Pirates.
The Pirates sport the best record in the county and have lost only to some of the top teams in the area. Of Spurger's five losses, four have been to playoff teams; Zavalla, Goodrich, Kountze and Deweyville. The other loss was to class 3A Newton, a team that knocked off Woodville in district play.
The winner of the Spurger-Big Sandy class will meet either Zavalla or New Summerfield for the area title Tuesday.

County girls teams fare well in bi-district losses

By Don Stevenson
TYLER COUNTY — Both the Lady Pirates of Spurger and the Lady Yellowjackets of Chester played better than expected Friday night in bi-district basketball losses.
Spurger fell to state ranked Big Sandy, 63-55, at Kountze, while Chester dropped a 49-41 contest to Evadale at Jasper.
Both Spurger and Chester finished second in their respective district, and it marked the first time in recent memory that either team advanced to the playoffs.
At Kountze the Lady Pirates lost to the state ranked Wilkins in a tightly called game that saw several key players on both sides foul out.
Spurger's leading scorer, Casey Carter, fouled out early in the fourth quarter. She finished the evening with 22 points despite playing with four fouls midway through the second period.
Also fouling out was point guard Stephanie Zach who also had four first half fouls.

"We had a chance to win the game," admitted coach Chris Carter, "even with Casey gone."
Big Sandy's state game, Missy Tolar, also fouled out of the game. Tolar was a big factor in the big Sandy victory.
The Lady Wildcats had a 15 point lead when Tolar was yanked after her fourth foul. At that point the Lady Pirates cut the lead to eight.
Tolar was put in again and the Wildcats moved to a 22 point lead. After the Big Sandy star committed her fifth foul, Spurger cut the lead again to eight.
The Lady Pirates led 15-10 at the end of the first period and held a 33-25 lead at halftime. The Lady Wildcats moved to a 48-34 lead at the end of the third period before Spurger narrowed the gap in the final quarter to eight.
LeAnn Simmon filled in the scoring gap in Carter's absence. Simmon scored 12 points for the evening, 10 coming in the fourth quarter.

The Pirates, who finish the season with a record of 20-10, lost only Carter and Zach to graduation. Carter averaged 29 points in district play and 26 for the season. Zach averaged six assists per game.
At Jasper the Chester Lady Yellowjackets surprised a lot of folks by playing Evadale and come by 15. Chester slowed the pace and played possibly its best game of the season according to coach Robin Grissom.
"We played a pretty good game," said Grissom, "but it (the ball) just wasn't falling."
Evadale jumped to a 15-10 lead in the first period and held a 31-23 lead at halftime. Chester out scored the Lady Rebels in the third period to narrow the gap to 36-32, and at one time narrowed the game to two points. But in the final period Evadale pushed the gap in the final quarter to eight.
Latra Love led Chester scoring with 15 points. Evadale was held by Amber Fling with 14 and Lisa Moore with 13.
Grissom noted that one of Chester's goals this season was to make the playoffs, something that neither Chester team has accomplished in recent memory.

Lowie will be the lone Chester player not returning next year. The Chester senior averaged 10 points per game.
Returning next year after this season's 19-11 record are Brandi Williams, Connie McQueen, Adrienne Bryant, Ty Rivers and Sheryl Park. Evadale will now go to play Broadus in area play.

Successful students rewarded with trip

WOODVILLE — Members of the PTA at Woodville Intermediate School provided a special incentive trip for students who were successful in meeting a triple criteria for the six weeks that ended just after the Christmas holidays. Students had to have passing grades in all subjects, perfect attendance for the entire six weeks, and all A's in conduct grades for all subjects.
From a student body of approximately 420, over 170 students (about 41%) were eligible for the trip. This was an outstanding number of successful students given the strict criteria set. Students who participated were treated to a day trip which included roller skating, snacks and games. They also had a great time watching some of their chaperones skate! Dr. Joanne Atkinson, school principal, expressed thanks to the PTA members who made the incentive trip possible.
The incentive trip for the fourth six weeks will be sponsored by the fifth grade class whose students are selling Valentine's cards. The criteria will also include one which allows no more than three tardies to school.
In addition to the incentive trip awarded during the third six weeks,

Intermediate School students received honors for the semester during a school-wide assembly during which a total of 677 certificates were awarded. This included 58 for those receiving A's for the semester (named STAR students), as well as 122 who earned A's and B's. Two hundred twenty-nine students were recognized as Outstanding Citizens, and 131 were recognized for perfect attendance. Sixty students received other honors, including top Accelerated Readers awards.
Though some students earned more than one certificate, 729 received at least one certificate at the assembly. This reflects the teamwork and partnership efforts among faculty, parents and students. It takes all three to help students be successful. Congratulations to all of the incentive and award winners.

Drugs and sexual abuse top concerns with psychiatry

LOS ANGELES — A national survey recently conducted found the American public concerned, skeptical and in some cases, fearful of psychiatry and its practices. Topping the list of concerns was psychiatry's reliance on harmful psychotropic drugs followed closely by psychiatric sexual abuse.

The survey was conducted by the Citizens Commission on Human Rights (CCHR), a psychiatric watchdog group which cleans up the field of mental health.

According to the group's president, Bruce Wiseman "the public expressed their concern with psychiatry through the survey because of that industry's constant reliance on mind altering drugs as a 'quick fix' to people's problems."

"The survey demonstrates that the public isn't fooled by psychiatry. Indeed, they recognize that psychiatry is that fraction of the health care industry that does not help," states Wiseman. CCHR, which has been investigating and exposing psychiatric abuse for the last 23 years, conducted the survey throughout the United States on hundreds of people in one-on-one interviews during December.

"Sexual exploitation of patients by psychiatrists was also a leading cause of concern by those surveyed," Wiseman said. "This corresponds to complaints we receive in our offices around the country. Due to the fact that we get so many complaints of psychiatric sexual abuse: we have worked hard to bring this criminal conduct to the attention of legislators in various states. Psychiatric sexual abuse is not a felony in 34 states and we are working to get it criminalized elsewhere."

CCHR was established by the Church of Scientology in 1969 and has 118 chapters in 27 countries around the world.

Carbon monoxide poses unseen, odorless threat

AUSTIN — According to health officials, there is more than fire where there is smoke. There also is carbon monoxide, an odorless, invisible and poisonous gas.

Wherever there are coals or flames without ample ventilation, the gas can reach levels which are lethal to humans.

Every year, dozens of Texans die from carbon monoxide poisoning, and many more become ill. The Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Vital Statistics Bureau recorded 51 such deaths in 1993. Dr. David Smith, Commissioner of Health, said, "It's tragic that the number of such poisonings risers in periods of extreme cold, when some people sacrifice fresh air for warmth. We urge all Texans to be aware of this danger."

Quade Stahl, in the TDH Occupational Health program, explained that carbon monoxide is a by-product of incomplete combustion. "A flickering or low-burning yellow flame gives off much more of the gas than a hot blue flame," he said. Vehicle exhausts, unvented or faulty gas and kerosene appliances, smoldering or poorly vented fireplaces and slow-burning fuels, such as charcoal, release large amounts of carbon monoxide into the air. Outdoors, the gas mixes with the air and is diluted to a safe level; but indoors, without good ventilation, it can reach poisonous concentrations. Stahl said that persons at home often are in greater danger of carbon monoxide poisoning than those in large work spaces, since small, insulated quarters trap and concentrate the gas. A major source of the gas is from burners of gas appliances that are improperly adjusted or poorly vented, he added.

To save energy costs, newer homes are sealed tighter than older homes and may pose greater risks, Stahl warned.

"Many people have had the early effects of carbon monoxide poisoning without knowing the cause. Anyone who has awakened with a headache or dizziness after sleeping in a closed room with an unvented heater may have had a mild case of carbon monoxide poisoning," he said. Chemically, carbon monoxide replaces the oxygen in the bloodstream. Lack of oxygen causes headache, dizziness, weakness, sleepiness, nausea and vomiting, which can progress to coma, convulsions and death.

Stahl said persons exposed to the gas often do not recognize these symptoms as carbon monoxide poisoning, and fall asleep not realizing the danger

Synthetic Vitamin A used to fight cancer

HOUSTON — Vitamin A "surrogates" are the newest therapeutic force in the war against prostate cancer, according to a researcher at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Using their own mouse model genetically programmed to develop prostate cancer, a team of Baylor scientists are testing synthetic Vitamin A-like agents known as retinoids thought to halt cancer growth by boosting the immune system's response to the disease.

"We have tested one promising retinoid that appears to suppress cancer progression," said Dr. Timothy Thompson, an associate professor of urology and cell biology at Baylor. "By testing a live animal model, we can tell if the drugs are effective and how they work."

Prostate cancer is the leading cause of cancer death in American men. Approximately 38,000 die from the disease each year. African-Americans have the highest rate.

"It is unlikely for one agent alone to kill a cancer cell because the cell is constantly evolving," Thompson said. "Most of these agents work better in combination because they hit the cancer at different levels of growth. As the cancer progresses, we add another level of treatment."

In recent years, retinoids have been used to treat acne and skin damage from sun exposure. They have also been tested in people with other types of cancer such as lung and breast cancer.

To save energy costs, newer homes are sealed tighter than older homes and may pose greater risks, Stahl warned.

"Many people have had the early effects of carbon monoxide poisoning without knowing the cause. Anyone who has awakened with a headache or dizziness after sleeping in a closed room with an unvented heater may have had a mild case of carbon monoxide poisoning," he said. Chemically, carbon monoxide replaces the oxygen in the bloodstream. Lack of oxygen causes headache, dizziness, weakness, sleepiness, nausea and vomiting, which can progress to coma, convulsions and death.

Stahl said persons exposed to the gas often do not recognize these symptoms as carbon monoxide poisoning, and fall asleep not realizing the danger of death to themselves or their family members. Persons who notice some of these symptoms and are near or using a fuel-burning appliance or equipment should immediately go outside to get fresh air, he advised. All fuel-burning appliances should be checked by a qualified person for properly adjusted flames and proper ventilation in the area of each appliance, he added.

People at high risk of carbon monoxide poisoning are infants, pregnant women, the elderly and persons with a history of chronic heart or lung problems. Even with emergency treatment of serious poisonings, several hours or days may be required for a victim to regain normal oxygen levels in the blood.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has asked that all new dwellings be required to have carbon monoxide detectors, similar to smoke detectors. TDH and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have urged all home owners to install these inexpensive, readily available detectors.

Arthritis: remember the "three R's"

HOUSTON — Arthritis sufferers can control joint pain if they have access to a pool and remember the "three R's": relaxation, range of motion and resistance.

"Regular exercise can be better than medication for many people. Pool therapy is good for working sore joints because body weight is supported by water," said David Brennan, an assistant professor of physical medicine and rehabilitation at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

The first step - relaxation - is as simple as easing into the pool, tensing the muscles and slowly relaxing them several times.

The second "R" - range of motion - involves slowly rotating and flexing the joint or joints needing exercise. This part of pool therapy sometimes requires the help of a professional therapist to determine if the arm or leg is moving correctly.

"Because of pain or a lack of mobility, some people with arthritis are not able to move an arm or leg the way it once did," Brennan said.

Resistance, the third "R", builds muscle strength around the joint by increasing the speed of underwater movements. Strap-on devices that capture more water with movement can create greater resistance. Some high-tech pools can provide additional resistance by creating stronger underwater currents with jets or paddles.

A typical pool workout should last about 30 minutes, longer if the patient can also do some light swimming or deep-water running for a cardiovascular workout.

Brennan says a heated pool is better for arthritis therapy because warm water aids movement and decreases pain. The ideal temperature is between 88F and 90F. Higher water temperatures may affect the cardiovascular system and limit the workout. Colder water increases pain.

The key to successfully using the "three R's" to reduce arthritis pain is to progress through them slowly. Since movement in the water appears easy, some people, particularly the elderly and the obese, can overdo it, Brennan said.

"Many people with arthritis pain have not exercised in quite a while," said Brennan. "Starting slowly will ensure that the cardiovascular system is not overworked and it will decrease muscle soreness the next day."

Consult a physician, and if possible, a pool therapist before starting any sort of exercise for arthritis. Progress slowly through the "three R's" and arthritis pain may eventually lessen.
