to observe that five other vehicles were stopped at a flagman who was holding up traffic as part of a Hwy. 69 road resurfacing construction zone project. Kathy Gail Rivers, of Nederland, was driving the 1991 Green Ford Van shown above with the tractor trailer right front wheel imbedded in the rear of the van. She was escorting her daughter, Gail Lori Huber, who had just graduated from Stephen F. Austin University and who was driving a 1990 Red Ford Escort which was also involved in the accident. The two were treated and released from Tyler County Hospital with minor injuries. The other vehicles included: a 1985 Red Mazda driven by George Anthony Rogers, of Colmesneil, who was not injured. Another vehicle driven by Rosalyn Ward and a passenger Jetti Ward, were treated and released from Tyler County Hospital. Dennis Knox, who was driving a 1988 Chevy Caprice, was also uninjured in the fracas. (Photo by John Morrison).

Ever wondered about those Hessians?

To Americans, as well as most everybody else, that word means just one thing: the mercenary German troops sent over by England in 1776. They had a fearsome reputation. Many folks on both sides expected them to make short work of us Colonial upstarts. So what happened? I can't prove much of this, but over the years I have picked up bits and pieces of an intriguing story. Besides the fact that Washington's defeat of lars being picked off by Minutemen the Hessians was a desperately needed turning point in the Revoluclass international swindle.

RIDGE--Six vehicles were involved in a pile-up in the middle of the Neches River Rockland Bridge in northern Tyler County on Hwy. 69 around 5 p.m. Friday. Officer reports indicate that a tractor trailer truck driven by Gabriel Soto, of Corrigan, reportedly failed to observe that five other vehicles were stopped at a flagman who was holding up traffic as part of a Hwy, 69 road resurfacing construction zone project. Kathy Gail Rivers, of Nederland, was driving the 1991 Green Ford Van shown above with the tractor trailer right front wheel imbedded in the rear of the van. She was escorting her daughter, Gail Lori Huber, who had just graduated from Stephen F. Austin University and who was driving a 1990 Red Ford Escort which was also involved in the accident. The two were treated and released from Tyler County Hospital with minor injuries. The other vehicles included: a 1985 Red Mazda driven by George Anthony Rogers, of Colmesneil, who was not injured. Another vehicle driven by Rosalyn Ward and a passenger Jetti Ward, were treated and released from Tyler County Hospital. Dennis Knox, who was driving a 1988 Chevy Caprice, was also uninjured in the fracas. (Photo by John Morrison)
