Good nutrition may help prevent cancer

The old saying "you are what you eat" goes one step further as recent studies show a relationship between eating habits and cancer.

Despite research and the development of new treatments, cancer remains the second leading cause of death in the United States. In 1995 alone, an estimated 33,000 Texans will die of cancer. Nearly 35 percent of cancer-related deaths are linked to diet. According to recent studies, the major dietary risk factors are high-fat foods; obesity; and smoked, cured or pickled foods.

Dr. John J. Costanzo, Austin, says one common denominator of the studies shows diets high in animal fat are detrimental to health. Saturated fat found in animal and dairy products is the most dangerous, and, according to Dr. Costanzo, "may cause cancers of the colon, breast, and possibly others." Dr. Costanzo, an oncologist, is chair of Texas Medical Association's Committee on Cancer.

Obesity caused by high-fat diets may cause cancers of the uterus, gall bladder, breast, colon, kidney and stomach. Most adults can reduce the risks of cancer by exercising regularly and decreasing fat calories by 25 to 30 percent.

Food preservation techniques and cooking methods also may increase the risk of cancer. Evidence suggests cured, smoked, and pickled foods such as ham, bacon and hot dogs contain large amounts of salt, nitrates and nitrites that may cause stomach and esophageal cancer. Smoked foods contain tars similar to those in tobacco smoke. A chemical used to keep cured, smoked and pickled foods from spoiling also can increase the risk of cancer.

Though some foods may act as cancer-inducers, foods like fruits and vegetables may help reduce cancer risk. Fruits and vegetables contain large amounts of vitamins, minerals and fiber, which may protect against cancers of the throat, stomach or lungs.

High doses of fiber are recommended to help protect against colon cancer. While specific types of fiber alone may not prevent cancer, the American Cancer Society suggest a combination of fiber, fruits and vegetables to serve as a low-fat substitute to foods high in animal fat.

When choosing a diet to help reduce the risk of cancer, remember the following guidelines:

- Maintain a desirable body weight.
- Lower fat intake.
- Eat a varied diet. A varied diet, eaten sensibly, offers the best hope for lowering the risk of cancer.
- Eat fruits and vegetables every day.
- Eat high-fiber foods.
- Eat moderate portions of salt-cured, smoked and nitrite-cured foods.
- Greatly reduce your consumption of alcohol, if you drink. Alcohol increases your risk of cancers of the liver, oral cavity, larynx and esophagus.

Although no specific diet exists to guarantee cancer prevention, studies show a low-fat diet high in fruits, vegetables and fiber may help reduce the risks. In addition, these dietary recommendations are similar to those for heart disease, hypertension, diabetes and weight management.

Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 34,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin and

Send Social Security and SSI benefits direct to your bank

Every month at every Social Security office, report of lost or stolen benefit checks are processed. Afterwards, the beneficiary must wait for several weeks to receive a replacement check - often experiencing financial difficulty during the wait. These situations are preventable through Direct Deposit (DD). There are other advantages, too:

- * No worry about check being forwarded when residence address is changed.
- * Eliminates inconvenience of having to deposit or cash checks.
- * Eliminates check cashing fees.
- * No need to meet mailman on check day.

Guaranteed check delivery, on time, each month.

According to Social Security statistics, beneficiaries using Direct Deposit are ten times less likely to have a problem with timely receipt of their checks direct. This fact is the big seller for Direct Deposit. In Direct Deposit, direct transfer of funds is made between the U.S. Treasury and the beneficiary's financial institution. This is done electronically. Without Direct Deposit, the treasury must print a check for each beneficiary, place in an envelope and send through the mail more steps in the process and more changes of problems.

Previously, to get Direct Deposit, it was necessary to have the financial institution complete a form - which in turn was sent to SSA for processing. The U.S. Treasury no longer requires this form. This means that anyone wishing Direct Deposit need only call Social Security. Of course, they'd need to have their Social Security number and checking or savings account number available. All beneficiaries who still receive paper checks per month are urged to call Social Security - and take advantage of direct Deposit's convenient, trouble-free service.

For more information about Direct Deposit, or any Social Security matter, take advantage to Social Security's toll free number 1-800-772-1213.

Wilson announces retirement

By Shori Burris
Contributing Writer

Lufkin-East Texas' favorite son announced Monday he would not seek election to a 13th term.

Rep. Charles Wilson (D-Lufkin) said at a news conference that he is retiring from public life.

"I've had 24 elections, primary and general. And I guess I'm not much wanting 25. I am here to formally announce my retirement from public life," Wilson said from the courthouse steps in Lufkin.

Calling himself a "reckless and rowdy public servant" Wilson asked his constituents not to forget the contributions he and his staff have made to East Texas. "Along this line I hope you sometimes think about the courthouses, federal buildings, defense contracts, trees planted, transit systems, research grants and all the rest."

Wilson said he is not retiring because of the Republican controlled Congress, fear of the '96 elections or because Congress is no fun anymore. But simply because it is time for him to retire.

"There is a time for everything, and my internal clock tells me that 36 years in office, Wilson's enjoyment of political life has been legendary. He earned the nickname Good Time Charlie in the 1970's because of his alleged cocaine use and a relationship with a Playboy cover girl. Two decades later he would be called Hot Check Charlie, after the 1992 House banking scandal.

In that scandal, Wilson used 81 overdrafts totaling more than $143,000 to help finance his reelection campaign in 1992. Wilson was named as one of the chief abusers of the interest free, now defunct bank.

The flamboyant congressman's latest mishap involved 15 violations of campaign laws between 1988 and 1990. Wilson was fined $90,000 by the Federal Election Commission, a record penalty for a House member.

The allegations included one that Wilson had borrowed $26,500 in four loans from his campaign committee, but failed to disclose them or their repayments. Although Wilson admitted no wrong, he did say he was never any good with money, this from a politician who sits on the Appropriations Committee.

Wilson has never been a politician who backs up from his mistakes and Monday morning he thanked his constituency for their tolerance. "As I've said many many times, you are the most tolerant and forgiving constituency in the world. I know that at times I've been a reckless and rowdy public servant, but your have been steady and good," Wilson said.

U.S. Rep. Charles Wilson

Although Wilson is known on the one hand for his carefree life-style, he is perhaps better known for the improvements he brought to the Piney Woods during his 22 years service.

Largely because of compromises Wilson brokered between the timber industry and environmentalist, the Big Thicket National Preserve was expanded.

Wilson is also known as a champion of the elderly and veterans. In 1994 his congressional office filed more social security case inquiries than any other member of Congress.
Wilson worked to make sure a Veteran's Administration Outpatient Clinic was built in Lufkin, proving a benefit to veterans unable to travel to VA hospitals in Houston or Shreveport, La.

Through his tireless efforts to develop a rural mass transit system in East Texas, Wilson has been instrumental in efforts to provide every county in the Second Congressional District with affordable mass transit. The bus system is scheduled to begin operating in Polk County in the very near future.

After asking the crowd to remember the thousands of veterans, senior citizens, sick and disabled fro whom his administration made life a little better, he ended his retirement speech with these words.

"At the end of the day I hope you will know that we helped as many as we could as much as we could as best as we could for as long as we could.

"It has been the honor of my life and I thank you forever.

Babin salutes Wilson for quarter century congressional service

LUFKIN, TX - Republican candidate Dr. Brian Babin, today praised Rep. Charlie Wilson for his nearly quarter of a century of service to East Texas in the U.S. Congress. "Congressman Wilson has served in Congress for 24 years and he has always done what he believed to be right," said Dr. Babin. He added, "Although I disagreed with the Congressman on many issues, I always respected the fact that he loved East Texas and always tried to do the right thing for the folks living here. I salute him for his service and wish him well."

Babin noted the significance of Wilson's retirement and the current political climate, "It is important to note that today marks the dawning of a new day in East Texas. As America entered a new day in 1994, East Texas is ready to do the same in 1996. In short, we're ready to join the reform revolution that is sweeping America."

Babin said his campaign will embody the reform revolution, "My campaign will be a common-sense call for more jobs through private enterprise, less welfare and more work, less government regulation and spending, better schools through better discipline, less crime through more punishment, and a stronger American because we place our trust in God." He added,
"My campaign is all about bringing a revolution to the 2nd District. It is part of a national revolution to Rescue

America. I want an East Texas where our children can live, work, learn, and worship in the peace of the piney woods."

Dr. Brian Babin, 47, is a lifelong resident of East Texas. He is a former Woodville Mayor and City Councilman, and has a record of leadership and community service. A veteran, Dr. Brian Babin has served as an enlisted man in the U.S. Army reserve and an officer in the U.S. Air Force.
He was appointed by Texas Governor
Clements as a member of the Texas Historical Commission and as President of the State Board of Dental Examiners. He is also a former School Board Trustee.

Babin graduated with a DDS from the University of Texas Dental School in Houston in 1976 and graduated from Lamar university in 1973. His wife, Roxanne, and he lived in Woodville with three of their five children, twins Kirsten and Lucas, 16, and Laura 8. Their oldest daughter Marit, 21, is a senior at Stephen F. Austin in Na-gdoches, Tx. Their oldest son Leif, 19, is a midshipman at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland.

At the Village

By Dottie Johnson

Whitney Garrity and Cindy Woodrome literally brought the house down during their "Frankie and Johnnie" duet on the Village stage Sunday afternoon.

It was right in the middle of the Vaudeville show and while the audience was most receptive, nothing prepared this talented duo for the set falling on them.

And what an attractive backdrop it was. Whitney designed and painted it and ended up taking it on the head without injury, we were assured.

Professional to the tee, Whitney pushed the backdrop back against the wall while they finished their song. That's a true measure of success that will provide a memory many a family will look to again and again, a memory to share with friends and neighbors.

And speaking of pictures, the gentleman wandering quietly about with important looking cameras and setting up special closings certainly didn't look like a professional. Blair Pitman, whose pictures graced the pages of National Geographic for many strings to remind one and all that this was indeed the best one ever.

The Sun shone brightly on our festival, adding its blessing to a beautiful and successful festival

To begin with, hats off to our decorators, Fred Sullivan and Jim Jinnette, who worked well into the night to fill the Village with pumpkins headed straw people. What fun it all was. But the real treat was the spectacular straw people. Not the usual one through the Store but a special one between the store building and the Rickett House that brought visitors into the Village on the level past Troy Taylor's Woodcrafts, the Sheep to Shawl demonstrations in the Pole Barn, the petting arena and the single piston engines, the shining splitting, the Foragers and Pottery, the basket makers and the caramel apple stand onto the main street with its wonderful array of demonstrations.

Fred said it was most gratifying to see the number of people who lined up to share with friends and neighbors. That's a true measure of success that will provide a memory many a family will look to again and again, a memory to share with friends and neighbors.

And speaking of pictures, the gentleman wandering quietly about with important looking cameras and setting up special closings certainly didn't look like a professional. Blair Pitman, whose pictures graced the pages of National Geographic for many years before he went to work for the Houston Chronicle for another number of years. It was during his Geographic days that his pictures of the early Chyisic Gray Village were featured in that magazine's October 1978 issue.

You'll see some of his new shots in next October's issue of Texas Highways along with an article by Howard Peacock. We couldn't ask for a better vehicle to tell our story throughout Texas.

As we ramble along with memories of the festival, we must also doff our caps to those who gave a week of their lives to help make it happen. Gloria Newsome and Fran Owen were at the Village daily, cleaning it from top to bottom, (our houses would be in the top ten, they said), while John Owen tended a dozen chores that needed doing here and there. Mary Hale spent the week spelling, writing letters, answering the phone, running errands, whatever needed to be done.

And of course hats are off to all the other volunteers who worked so hard, manning the entrance and exit gates, the hospitality room at the Hamm House, helping our visiting demonstrators get settled, making cookies and jellies, working in the Heritage Society Library and all the many other tasks that make such a huge undertaking go smoothly and successfully.

And although not volunteers in the usual sense of the word, Village director Marjorie Shultz, Ofelia Guzman, Paul Johnson, Whitney Garrity and Pat Taylor gave far more than their meager paychecks might indicate as they put in overtime hours to make this thing work.

And work it did, not just as a festival, but as a place of history, as was proven in the Whitteyher Genealogy Library, which Carol Phillips and Joyce Wilson kept open both days with the help of Jack Whitteyher and Frances Muckelroy.

One of my own personal fun experiences during the festival was meeting and visiting with the Alexander Kirichenko family from Kiev, who stopped by the Heritage society booth for a glass of saffruts tea. Their son was one of the dancers with the Vecherinka players during the Balalaika's spirited program. The children were an absolute delight. The costume and of course the music was exciting. We are so fortunate to have people of this caliber come to our Village year after year to perform.

In case you're not aware of it, most of the Balalaika players have Russian or middle eastern backgrounds, many having been born there. And most of them are professionals in some aspect of the Houston Medical Center.

Dr. Kirichenko, for instance, is well into his second year at M.D. Anderson, where he is taking postgraduate work in the field of Radiology and Oncology. He and his family will return to Kiev

Stacey Ratcliff and John Kostas To be wed

Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Ratcliff, of Colmesneil, are proud to announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Stacey Ratcliff to John Kostas, of Mr. and Mrs. Evans Kostas, of Plano, Texas. The couple will be united in marriage on Saturday, January 6, 1996, at 12 noon, at the Nederland First Baptist Church in Nederland, TX, under the direction of Carl Durden. Both the bride and groom are graduates of The University of Texas at Austin. The bride is employed with Argos, DRS, Inc., in Hurst, TX, and the groom is employed with Comdata Inc., in Carrollton.

The Conservation Committee is sponsoring a writing contest for students of Wheat Elementary School centered around the theme of "Tommy and the Trash Monster". A prize will be awarded for the best composition from each classroom. Members of the committee include Malee Tucker, Debby Strickland and Grady Lou Reed.

The second meeting of the month was held on October 17th in the Fellowship Hall of Saint Paul's Episcopal Church. The meeting was devoted to the making of craft items to be sold during the Christmas season. Proceeds from the sales will go to the Scholarship Fund. Hostesses for the evening were Phyllis Hull, Min Phillips and Grady Lou Reed.

Woodville Garden Club meets

Meeting of the Woodville Garden Club was held October 18 at the home of Lola Turner with Bevrie Lee Barr as Co-hostess. Nine members were present.

The program "Growing Cacti and Succulents" was presented by Turner. A display of Cacti and succulent plants were on display for member to see. Several plants were given as door prizes.

Delcia Kelly, president, presided over the business meeting. A new project, Xeriscape/Wildflower Project was discussed. Native plants and wildflowers will be planted on the corner lot of Walt Davis Drive and Highway 69.

Woman's Reading Club Meets in October

The Woman's Reading Club met October 3rd in the library of Wheat Elementary School. Conservation Committee Chairman Eleanor Holderman introduced the guest speaker for the evening, local author Cissy Ruth Metcalf.

Mrs. Metcalf entertained the club with a reading of her book "Tommy and the Trash Monster", a color and word storybook written to help children understand ways they can make a difference in their environment. The book was illustrated by Sheryl Chambliss from Silsbee. A copy of the book was presented to Principal Sherry Kenner as a gift to the school's library.

'Fall Festival Set'

Woodville Eagle Band Booster supporters showed up Monday with a cake to honor the 1st Division Band and its Directors.

'Dissecting a 1st Division Marching Band: a layman's perspective'

By Kenny Simpson, Pres. Woodville Eagle Band Boosters

Saturday, many of us witnessed the outstanding performance of Woodville High School Band competing in Region Marching Contest at Little Creek - Mauriceville.

This event involved competition among 35 area high school marching bands ranging in size from single A to A.A.A.A. Arriving at noon, 10 schools had completed their performance with only one band receiving the Judges highest ranking score of a "1".

As the 30 some odd Woodville High School Band students filed the field at 1:30 p.m., I began to reflect on what the ingredients of a 1st Division Band must be.

Probably most obvious was the combined commitment of each band student devoting not only school hours but much of their free time practicing endlessly to perfect their musical marching skills.

Secondly, a 1st division band requires a devoted Music Director and Staff willing to do more than just put in their time having a "that's good enough" attitude. They and their families sacrifice countless hours, planning, preparing, organizing and making last minute adjustments to correct mistakes, correct, injured as well as victims of the "no passing play" rule.

Another often forgotten ingredient of a top quality High School Band is Administrative support. Woodville is indeed fortunate to have Superintendent and Principal that gives that much needed positive reinforcement and encouragement to our band students.

After having worked all day Friday and even through the late night homecoming game & junior class sponsored dance that followed, Dr. Harvey was up the following morning traveling to Mauriceville in support of our High School Band.

The final item necessary to complete this 1st rate band is the home support of the Parent.

Band Parents do much more than endure those obnoxious noises of a beginner musician. Besides shuttle service there are endless details such as instrument payments, tuning and repairs, uniform cleaning, and cup cakes to bake.

Participation in the Band Booster Clubs concession stand has revealed to me the enormous devotion of not only parents but also devoted grandparents, former band student parents and even Our Lady of The Pines Catholic Priest.

These devoted caring supporters volunteer their time planning, cooking, cleaning to raise funds in order to enhance the band students experience in a first rate High School Band.

The reward for all the cumulative effort that went into Saturdays performance was experienced as the anxious crowd of students, parents and supporters gathered behind the U-Haul Truck which transported the instruments and as Mr. Lay very diplomatically revealed the Judges decision. That "Kodak" moment and the cheer that followed could be heard throughout East Texas.

NOTE: Band Boosters Meetings are scheduled the first Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. at the Woodville Band Hall.

Professions Officer Chuck Ingle

By David Rust

Officer Chuck Ingle at Gib Lewis has reminded me of Korea, the first war we didn't win—not counting the War Between the States. I didn't know much about Korea. I came pretty close to becoming one of the 8182 MIA's still unaccounted for.

After graduation from Tulane in 1949, I decided flying fighter planes was still what I most wanted to do. I managed to get back on active duty, not that easy then. But next summer the North Koreans launched their attack on the 38th Parallel. I was in Armament Officer's school. Our class was accelerated. On graduation I was put on the order for Japan Air Force planners there weren't holding their breath for armament officers, but when they saw all the P-51's on my Form 3 they flipped out. Very quickly I was back on flying ground support combat missions in the Mustang, now called the F-51.

In two and a half months I racked up 42 missions, mostly alone. It was dangerous work, but I only picked up a few holes in non-vital spots. I was one of those land-munch experiences. It was on St. Patrick's Day, 1951.

The mission was supposed to be a milk run. Our Intelligence guys wanted to know whether the Reds were digging in, building up, or moving out along the 38th Parallel defense line. I went to have a look. Starting at the Yellow Sea west of Korea, I worked eastward. As I approached Kaesong, later the scene of truce talks, I pulled up to 20,000 feet in case I wasn't seeing any sign of military concentrations, but you never could tell for sure with those guerrillas. And 20,000 should have been safe from small-arms fire. It wasn't. Over Kaesong I suddenly heard a faint ping back behind the cockpit. Right away I picked up a new sensory odor. Scanning the gauges, I soon figured out what that smell was: hot engine oil. My oil pressure gauge showed dead zero.

My oil pressure was not good news in any reciprocating engine. The aero engines of that day were guaranteed to fall in about two minutes without oil pressure. I got busy.

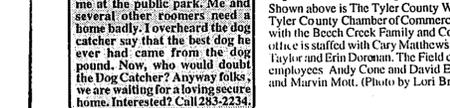

Heading south, I went through the emergency drill in less time than it takes to tell it. I set the engine controls for coolest running, checked my position on the map grid, and put out a Mayday call on the radio. I knew the emergency channel was monitored by several stations of the rescue network. Asking for continuing fixes on my transmissions. I told them I'd be bailing out soon. I also

Eagles blast Buna, 35-14

WOODVILLE - The Woodville Eagles set themselves in position for a possible playoff berth with sound, 35-14, district win over the Buna Cougars Friday night. The victory moved the Eagles' district mark to 3-1 with Stephen F. Austin on the horizon.

The margin of victory against Buna was a pleasant surprise for the Eagles and their homecoming fans. With quarterback Demarcus White on the sidelines with a hobbled knee and four other starters either out or hampered with injuries, the Eagles proved that they could win a key game despite setbacks.

"I was very pleased with the way the other players stepped in," said Woodville coach Ty Quick after the victory.

"This game was more of a sense of being a team..."

Charlie McCullough stepped in for White after the Eagles' coaches determined in mid week that the sophomore quarterback would not be able to play against Buna. Quick allowed McCullough to run the option, a play that caught Buna off guard.

"The option play worked well," added the Woodville coach.

It worked well enough that the Eagles netted almost 300 yards on the ground.

Woodville's ground game was divided by Brad King with 99 yards, Juan Mitchell with 88 yards, and Allen Adams with 73 yards. Adams had three touchdowns, while Brad King had another.

And while Woodville's offense seldom missed a beat, the Eagle defense foyed exceptional as well. Buna was able to net only 102 yards rushing and another 38 by passing.

"I felt that our defense was going to play well," said Quick. "They were doing a lot better job during the week (in practice)."

It was the Woodville defense that actually blew the game open for the Eagles.

With Woodville holding a 21-7 lead, Buna took the second half kickoff and was halted on three plays at its own 32. On an attempted punt, Adams broke through to block the kick. McCullough scooped up the ball and sped untouched into the endzone to give the Eagles a 27-7 advantage with less than two minutes gone in the third period.

The next two times Buna got the ball the Eagle defense was there again. Frank Foster took care of one Cougar scoring threat with an interception at the Eagle 11 yard line. Sonny Hillary stopped another with an interception of a Buna pass at the Woodville 10 yard line, an interception that he returned for 61 yards. It was his sixth of the year, a mark that tops all area defensive backs.

And of the 14 points that Buna scored, only one of the touchdowns was credited against the Woodville defense. After the Eagles had taken a 13-0 lead early in the second period, Buna put together an 11 play, 72 yard drive, getting their initial first down in the game in the process. Winston Knibbles took it in for the Cougars from one yard out with 5:40 to go in the second quarter.

Buna's other touchdown came on a 90 yard return of an interception by Buna, with 25 seconds remaining in the third period. That score narrowed Woodville's lead to 27-14.

But from there, McCullough, Adams, King, and Mitchell rode the Buna defense down with a 10 play, 71 yard drive that tied the game for the Eagles. Adam took it in from four yards out with just under eight minutes to go in the game to give Woodville a 33-14 lead. McCullough hit Justin Sturrock with a 20 yard pass on

Woodville - SFA battle has playoff flavor

By Don Stevenson

The Woodville Eagles will travel to Ft. Arthur Friday night to meet the Stephen F. Austin Eagles in a district 21-3 game. Right? Wrong. This one is more than just a game...this one has playoff written all over it.

Although both Ty Quick and Richard Marler, the two coaches who will pit their talented teams against each other, will tell you that it is indeed an important game, neither will go as far as to say that this is a make-or-break game as far as the playoffs are concerned. And while SFA still has an opportunity to play Newton, Woodville has already had their chance.

Marler knows that the only thing standing in the way of SFA returning to the playoffs is Woodville. If his Eagles can get by Quick's Eagles, SFA not only has a playoff spot wrapped up in their hip pocket, but they also have a good shot at taking the district title for the third consecutive year.

For Woodville it's a different story. The Tyler County Eagles know that to reach the playoffs they must indeed beat SFA, and they must do it in enemy territory. They must also overcome injuries that have sidelined at least three key players, and fight off a stigma of not being able to beat SFA when it counts.

"As Quick puts it, 'We can't go out there and hope to win. At some point we've got to get through to where we win big games.'"

There is no doubt about this one. This is Woodville's third biggest game of their season. The other two included Annaiah and Newton, and both times the Eagles came up short.

This isn't to say that Woodville failed. To the contrary, the Eagles, by most preseason prognosticators, were not even supposed to be able to stand on the field with these two foes. Nor were they supposed to beat Harding-Jefferson or blow out teams like Huntington, Kirbyville, and Buna. Most forecasters picked Woodville behind Newton, SFA, and Kirbyville.

Quick and his staff have done an outstanding job reorganizing Woodville's offense and defense. And example is that Quick took an all-district receiver, Juan Mitchell, and moved him to running back. He also gambled with a senior quarterback, Demarcus White, who hadn't played football since the seventh grade. The results? Mitchell is one of the top rushers in the district, and White is so far ahead of the rest of the district quarterbacks in statistics that it isn't even close.

And while we are bragging, Woodville's 5-2 record so far this season is like going out on a blind date and ending up with a gorgeous girl that has plenty of money and drives a new sports car. A nice surprise, indeed.

But while the Woodville mark might be nice for a lot of folks, it still isn't good enough for Quick and the rest of his staff. It alone the players. No, for the Eagles to have a year that they will remember, they must reach the playoffs. Anything less is noble and worthy. Noble and worthy is nice, but not on the same level as what Newton and SFA have been for the past decade. That's where Quick and his staff want the Eagles to be...at the next level.

Woodville will probably go into the game as a two touch down underdog, but it won't matter. If Woodville plays their best and does not turn the ball over like they did against Annaiah and Newton, they can beat SFA. A matter of whether the game is played in Ft. Arthur, Woodville, or Austin.

Warren's Mickey Mixon, who has played both Newton and SFA, says that the Ft. Arthur team is equal in Newton in speed, but Newton has better "make or break" ability to use.

If comparative scores is your thing then SFA should win the game by 17 points. Annaiah beat SFA 20-26, and Woodville, 41-20.

By comparative scores you can also have a team like Ball State beating the Michigan Wolverines. So don't bet any money on this one either way. If Woodville's timing is right, it will be their turn. If not, so be it. Either way, it should be a better game than when SFA hosts Newton in the last district game of the year.

Last year SFA beat Woodville, 21-19, at Eagle Stadium in Woodville. Here's hoping that Woodville returns the favor this week.

Eagles showdown is game of the week for county foes

COUNTY - As far as county teams are concerned, it will be hard to beat the expected Woodville - Stephen F. Austin showdown in the battle of the Eagles in Ft. Arthur Friday night. But the record of these other games in the county, all of which have importance to their respective communities.

Colmesneil is after their fifth win of the season at home against High Island, while both Chester and Warren are still trying to break into the win column this week. Warren meets Oranfield on the road, and Chester travels to Evadale to play the Rebels.

Woodville - SFA
If the Woodville Eagles plan on reaching the playoffs they will have to beat district nemesis Stephen F. Austin in their own back yard. This is not an easy task at anytime, but especially when Woodville has several players trying to recover from injuries.

Busting teams won't last. The Eagles built Buna, 35-14, while SFA took Newton, 35-14.

SFA is unbeaten in district play with a 4-0 mark after losing its first three games of the year in non-district play. They also won the district title for the past two years and will not be gracious to give up another one this season.

One of SFA's losses has been to Liberty. The Panthers are one of the top teams in the area and is ranked in the top twenty in the state. They also lost to Annaiah, 20-16, a team that defeated Woodville, 41-20, when the Eagles learned the ball over six times.

SFA's other loss came at the hands of class 4-A Little Cypress in a 6-3 defensive struggle.

Besides the loss to Annaiah, the only other marker on Woodville's record has come at the hands of state ranked Newton.

District play, both SFA and Woodville have blown past Buna and Kountze. Woodville defeated Buna, 35-14, while SFA did the trick with a 34 win. Woodville took care of Kountze 42-34, while SFA defeated the Lions 34-13.

Last year when the two teams met, SFA knocked Woodville out of the playoffs with a 21-19 victory.

Warren - Oranfield
The Warren Warriors continue their maverous row with a trip to Oranfield to meet the Bobcats. If SFA and Newton weren't enough, Oranfield could prove just as bad, if not worse.

Oranfield gave SFA all they wanted last week and then some, finally coming out on the short end in a 26-21 battle.

The Bobcats are 2-5 for the year, losing to Beaumont Kelly, 21-7, Lumberton, 40-0, and Little Cypress, 10-3. They also lost to state ranked Newton.

Oranfield has won two of four district games, defeating Kirbyville, 36-22, and Buna, 30-13.

Last year the Warriors fell to Oranfield by a 48-0 count.

Colmesneil - High Island
The Bulldogs continue to roll in district play with victories over Apple Springs and Chester.

High Island, with a respectable 4-3 record, was blasted by Burkeville last week, 66-0. They have also lost to Houston Northwest Academy, 47-6, and have defeated West Hardin, 32-12.

The Cardinals defeated Chester, 18-12, for their only district win. They have also won over Bay Area Christian, 22-20, and defeated Ft. Neches-Groves Sophomores, 25-7.

Last year the Bulldogs prevailed in a 49-0 victory over Cardinals on their way to the playoffs.

Chester - Evadale
The Evadale Rebels fought out last week that despite an 0-6 record, no one can be taken for granted. Such was the case when Evadale fell to Apple Springs in a Saturday night game. The Eagles came into contest with an 0-6 mark.

Chester will hope to duplicate the feat this week when they travel to Evadale. The Yellowjackets are 0-7 and are in definite need of a victory.

Evadale is 4-3 for the season, losing to Burkeville, 38-7, but knocking off Clark, 24-20, and defeated Beaumont Christian, 40-20. Another victory has come over Northland Christian, 31-10.

Last year Evadale knocked off Chester, 24-0.

Bulldogs crush Yellowjackets, 43-0

CHESTER - When the Colmesneil Bulldogs and the Chester Yellowjackets get together anything can happen. Friday night at "Yellowjacket Field," it did.

While most die hards figured the game would be a knock down, drag out affair until the bitter end, the Colmesneil Bulldogs wasted little time making sure the climax would be no surprise.

Building a 20-0 first quarter lead and taking a 33-0 lead into the halftime break, the Bulldogs swept passed Chester, 43-0, on their way to posting their fifth victory in seven outings this season. The win gave Colmesneil a 2-0 mark in district play with High Island on the horizon.

For the Yellowjackets it was their seventh straight loss of the season, and a disappointment no doubt after almost knocking off High Island a week earlier. But Chester was also hampered by injuries to at least two starters, including tailbacks Bob Whitehead and Demary Payne.

The Yellowjackets didn't see much light either from a swarming Colmesneil defense that allowed Chester only four first downs and 37 total yards of offense. No doubt the Bulldog defense was inspired by coach Rusty Minyard who last year was the defensive coordinator for the Yellowjackets. Said Chester coach Steve Park of the Bulldogs, "I thought they were good for them. Now I am certain they are."

The Bulldogs were certainly good in the first quarter when they moved at will, scoring three touchdowns by different running backs.

J.R. Pittman was the first Bulldog to hit the endzone when he strode across from one yard out with just over eight minutes to go in the first quarter. The touchdown was set up by a Clay Bend interception at the Colmesneil 16. Nine plays later, including a 22 yard jaunt by Pittman, the Bulldogs had a 6-0 lead.

Colmesneil scored again with just under two minutes to go in the quarter on a 17 yard run by Ronnie Douglas. Douglas's brother, Daryl, opened the door for the touchdown when he posted 58 yards on a punt return. Two plays later Colmesneil held a 14-0 lead following Pittman's two point conversion run.

Another Daryl Douglas punt return, this time for 70 yards, gave the Bulldogs a 20-0 lead with just 12 seconds remaining in the quarter.

In the second period Colmesneil threw its only pass of the game, one that hit the mark for another touchdown. Bulldog quarterback Daniel Simons found Bundy on a 38 yard surge strike with under 10 minutes to go in the quarter. Simons found Bundy along the sideline, 20 yards down field, and Bundy raced the rest of the way untouched. Ray Robbins opened the door for the score by intercepting a stray Chester pass at the Colmesneil 40 yard line.

Ronnie Douglas got his second touchdown of the night with under five minutes to go in the half when he high stepped his way in from 11 yards out. Colmesneil used only four plays to travel 50 yards for the score, most of it coming on a 39 yard run by Josh Maddox.

With Colmesneil coach Mike Jacobs using substitutions freely, the Bulldogs scored their final touchdown following the second half kickoff. Daryl Douglas got his second tally of the night on a 34 yard sweep. The play came on the heels of a five play, 42 yard drive.

Douglas also came back later in the fourth period to work on his kicking game. After missing three point at kick in the first half, he connected on the last two and came on to kick a 20 yard field goal with under eight minutes to go in the game. The three points was set up by a 35 yard punt return by Pittman.

While Colmesneil special teams played a key role in the victory, the Bulldog's ground was just as impressive. Colmesneil broke the 300 yard mark using 10 running backs, with none gaining more than 75 yards.

Maddox led Colmesneil's ground attack with 71 yards on eight carries. Both Ronnie and Daryl Douglas had 56 yards, while Pittman added another 34. David Dickerson churned 31 yards on seven carries, and Greg Chensy had 28 more on seven totes. Ray Robbins had 18 yards, while freshman Billy Dykes and Grayton Grantham had six yards each.

Said Jacobs, "We took control of the game early. They had tough luck with injuries. We mixed our players, using JV - on one side of the line and varsity on the other. Sometimes we used a JV backfield with a varsity line and vice versa."

The Colmesneil coach did admit that his varsity players were the only ones out there on defense throughout the game.

"I thought they (the defense) played extremely well," said Jacobs.

Chester Coach Steve Park also gave praise for several of his players, including Phillip Frankens and Zeb Barnes.

While Colmesneil now meets High Island, the Yellowjackets will travel to Evadale.

WARREN - A healthy Warrior team most likely would have not made any difference with the outcome, but it might have helped nonetheless.

Playing with only 16 in uniform by the time the game ended, the Warren Warriors were blanked by the Stephen F. Austin Eagles, 50-0, last week. The loss marked their six straight of the year and 10th consecutive that dates back to 1993.

Warren began the game with only 19 players. In the first quarter the Warriors lost Tim King on an ankle injury. In the second quarter Jeff Mixon went down with an ankle injury. By the third period Chance Sims was out with a hip pointer. King and Mixon may be back for this game, but they are not expected to play.

Against SFA the Warriors were held to no yards rushing and a minus one yard passing game. Three Moses led Warren's offense with 14 yards on 11 carries. Quarterback Jason Ferguson was sacked four times by the SFA defense for 22 yards in losses.

Warren's closest penetration to the SFA goal line was in the second period when the Warriors recovered a muffed punt at the Eagle 38.

SFA's offense rolled up 523 yards, including 371 on the ground. Ken Gordon and Richard Price each rushed for over 100 yards in the game. The Eagles also had 152 yards in the air, completing six of ten passes.

The Eagles scored the first four times they had the ball, but with a 21-0 lead in the first period and taking a 34-0 intermission break. In the third period SFA scored twice for 13 more points, and closed the game with a 1-0 lead in the fourth quarter.

With the win, SFA moved to 4-0 in district play. All of the Eagles' victories have been in district play when they have won the title for the past two years.

Warrior Whoop

Olympic Games held at Warren Middle School
There has been a new program added to Warren Middle School. Every six weeks, on Friday, Olympic Games will be held at Warren Middle School. The Varsity team will certainly fair better than they did last year. The assistant coach, Edward Obama, will coach the J.V. team and expects a winning season. The highlight of the season is expected to be the YMBL Tournament, which will be held December 7, 8, and 9 at the Montage Center in Beaumont, Texas. Come out and support the Warriors starting November 17, 1995.

New Events at Warren Elementary
At Warren Elementary, many things have happened this week. Saturday, October 21, there will be a fall festival and a silent auction. The children have been making posters and bringing out candy for two weeks now. Please come out to the festival and join in on the fun. The fifth graders have taken part in the TEPSP (Texas Future Problem Solving Program). The children are given a topic and they are required to write a persuasive paper. The three best articles are sent to Austin, then to the state, and if they surpass that competition, they are then sent to Nationals. We hope these children do well and make it to Nationals. Don't forget, shirtless are on sell now. Also, the Tyler County Sheriff's Department will be fingerprinting the students of Warren Elementary School on October 24, 1995. Your child may or may not participate. Fingerprints are a safety measure, but you should keep them in a safe place in case they are needed for further reference.

Daughter-in-Law of Woodville couple in charge of high-tech communications

by Matthew A. Gowan

Onboard naval ocean processing facility—Angela Mitchell wanted a job that would make her more independent and responsible. So she looked toward the military.

Today, the daughter-in-law of Daniel and Ester Mae Mitchell of Woodville, Texas, is a Navy radioman, stationed at the Naval Ocean Processing Facility (NOPF), Dam Neck, in Virginia Beach, Va.

She ensures reliable and effective satellite communications between her command and the rest of the world. Given their mission, it's providing her with plenty of responsibility. "The best part of my job," she says, "is that you can see the big picture, how your job affects the rest of the Navy."

The 1993 graduate of Euclid Senior High School utilizes her skills in satellite communications to support the fleet. Her command is part of the Navy's Integrated Undersea Surveillance system, which uses fixed and towed sensors in the ocean to detect ocean sounds. The data is relayed to Mitchell's command where Sailors analyze the sound to detect, categorize and track submarines, surface ships and aircraft to alert fleet tactical forces.

The 36-year-old sailor says the hardest part of her job is keeping everything functioning and in line with the quality control process, but she's benefited from the hard work.

"One of the most important things I've learned is that with a 'can do' attitude you can achieve any goal. As far as leadership, I believe in leading by example, and I always try to set a good example for my peers and subordi-office visits. "At each visit, we give the patient a brief physical exam, a blood test and several tests that measure memory and thinking ability," said Doody. "These tests include activities such as naming words that begin with the same letter, spelling backwards, learning and remembering lists and naming objects. Results of the different treatment groups will be compared to see if estrogen has any real benefit to memory and thinking abilities."

"If estrogen proves to be beneficial, it will offer us another option in treating Alzheimer's," Doody said. "As we learn more about Alzheimer's and treatment methods, I think we will begin to see treatments tailored to different stages of the disease." Alzheimer's disease affects an estimated 4 million Americans and is the most common form of dementia.

The old saying "you are what you eat" goes one step further as recent studies show a relationship between eating habits and cancer. Despite research and the development of new treatments, cancer remains the second leading cause of death in the United States. In 1995 alone, an estimated 33,000 Texans will die of cancer. Nearly 35 percent of cancer-related deaths are linked to diet. According to recent studies, the major dietary risk factors are high-fat foods; obesity; and smoked, cured or pickled foods.

Dr. John J. Costanzi, Austin, says one common denominator of the studies shows diets high in animal fat are detrimental to health. Saturated fat found in animal and dairy products is the most dangerous, and, according to Dr. Costanzi, "may cause cancers of the colon, breast, and possibly others." Dr. Costanzi, an oncologist, is chair of Texas Medical Association's Committee on Cancer.

Obesity caused by high-fat diets may cause cancers of the uterus, gall bladder, breast, colon, kidney and stomach. Most adults can reduce the risk of cancer by exercising regularly and decreasing fat calories by 25 to 30 percent.

Food preservation techniques and cooking methods also may increase the risk of cancer. Evidence suggests cured, smoked, and pickled foods such as ham, bacon and hot dogs contain large amounts of salt, nitrates and nitrites that may cause stomach and esophageal cancer. Smoked foods contain tars similar to those in tobacco smoke. A chemical used to keep cured, smoked and pickled foods from spoiling also can increase the risk of cancer.

Though some foods may act as cancer-inducers, foods like fruits and vegetables may help reduce cancer risk. Fruits and vegetables contain large amounts of vitamins, minerals and fiber, which may protect against cancers of the throat, stomach or lungs. High doses of fiber are recommended to help protect against colon cancer. While specific types of fiber alone may not prevent cancer, the American Cancer Society suggests a combination of fiber, fruits and vegetables to serve as a low-fat substitute to foods high in animal fat.

When choosing a diet to help reduce the risk of cancer, remember the following guidelines:

- Maintain a desirable body weight.
- Lower fat intake.
- Eat a varied diet. A varied diet, eaten sensibly, offers the best hope for lowering the risk of cancer.
- Eat fruits and vegetables every day.
- Eat high-fiber foods.
- Eat moderate portions of salt-cured, smoked and nitrite-cured foods.
- Greatly reduce your consumption of alcohol, if you drink. Alcohol increases your risk of cancers of the liver, oral cavity, larynx and esophagus.
- Although no specific diet exists to guarantee cancer prevention, studies show a low-fat diet high in fruits, vegetables and fiber may help reduce the risk. In addition, these dietary recommendations are similar to those for heart disease, hypertension, diabetes and weight management.

Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 34,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin and has 119 component county medical societies around the state. The Association represents 84 percent of the doctors of medicine licensed and residing in Texas and 96 percent of the state's allopathic medical students. TMA's key objective is to improve the health of all Texans.

Send Social Security and SSI benefits direct to your bank

Every month at every Social Security office, report of lost or stolen benefits checks are processed. Afterwards, the beneficiary must wait for several weeks to receive a replacement check - often experiencing financial difficulty during the wait. These situations are preventable - through Direct Deposit (DD). There are other advantages, too:

- No worry about check being forwarded when residence address is changed.
- Eliminates inconvenience of having to deposit or cash checks.
- Eliminates check cashing fees.
- No need to meet mailman on check day.

Guaranteed check delivery, on time, each month.

According to Social Security statistics, beneficiaries using Direct Deposit are ten times less likely to have a problem with timely receipt of their benefits than those receiving their checks direct. This fact is the big seller for Direct Deposit. In Direct Deposit, direct transfer of funds is made between the U.S. Treasury and the beneficiary's financial institution. This is done electronically. Without checks direct, the treasury must print a check for each beneficiary, place in an envelope and send through the mail more steps in the process and more changes of problems.

Previously, to get Direct Deposit, it was necessary to have the financial institution complete a form - which in turn was sent to SSA for processing. The U.S. Treasury no longer requires this form. This means that anyone wishing Direct Deposit need only call Social Security. Of course, they'd need to have their Social Security number and checking or savings account number available. All beneficiaries who still receive paper checks per month are urged to call Social Security - and take advantage of direct deposit's convenient, trouble-free service.

For more information about Direct Deposit, or any Social Security matter, take advantage to Social Security's toll free number 1-800-772-1213.

Wilson announces retirement

By Sherri Burris
Contributing Writer
Lufkin, East Texas favorite announced Monday he would not seek reelection to a 13th term.
Rep. Charles Wilson (D-Lufkin) said at a news conference that he is retiring from public life.
"I've had 24 elections, primary and general. And I guess I'm not much wanting 25. I am here to formally announce my retirement from public life," Wilson said from the courthouse steps in Lufkin.
Calling himself a "reckless and rowdy public servant," Wilson asked his constituents not to forget the contributions he and his staff have made to East Texas. "Along this line I hope you sometimes think about the courthouses, federal buildings, defense contracts, trees planted, transit systems, research grants and all the rest."

Wilson said he is not retiring because of the Republican controlled Congress, fear of the '96 elections or because Congress is no fun anymore. But simply because it is time for him to retire.
"There is a time for everything, and my internal clock tells me that 26 years in office, Wilson's enjoyment of political life has been legendary. He entered the nickname 'Good Time Charlie' in the 1970's because of his alleged cocaine use and a relationship with a Playboy cover girl. Two decades later he would be called Hot Check Charlie, after the 1992 House banking scandal.
In that scandal, Wilson used $1 covered drafts totaling more than $145,000 to help finance his reelection campaign in 1992. Wilson was named as one of the chief abusers of the interest free, now defunct bank.
The flamboyant congressman's latest mishap involved 15 violations of campaign laws between 1988 and 1990. Wilson was fined $90,000 by the Federal Election Commission, a record penalty for a House member.
The allegations included one that Wilson had borrowed $25,500 in loans from his campaign committee, but failed to disclose them or their repayments. Although Wilson admitted to wrong, he did say he was never any good with money, this was a politician who sits on the Appropriations Committee.
Wilson has never been a politician who backs up from his mistakes and Monday morning he thanked his constituency for their tolerance. "As I've said many many times, you are the most tolerant and forgiving constituency in the world. I know that at times I've been a reckless and rowdy public servant, but you have been steady and good," Wilson said.

NO TOUR OF HERITAGE VILLAGE WOULD BE COMPLETE - until a visit to the shingle factory of Ewel Wood. In his 80's, Wood is considered a loyal volunteer who delights in showing off his craft to visiting school children who applaud him when he completes his work. Babin salutes Wilson for quarter century congressional service

LUFKIN, TX - Republican candidate Dr. Brian Babin, today praised Rep. Charlie Wilson for his nearly quarter of a century of service to East Texas in the U.S. Congress. "Congressman Wilson has served in Congress for 24 years and he has always done what he believed to be right," Babin said. "Although I disagree with the Congress on many issues, I always respected the fact that he loved East Texas and always tried to do the right thing for the folks living here. I salute him for his service and wish him well."
Babin noted the significance of Wilson's retirement and the current political climate. "It is important to note that today marks the dawning of a new day in East Texas. As America enters a new day in 1994, East Texas is ready to do the same in 1996. In short, we're ready to join the reform revolution that is sweeping America."
Babin said his campaign will emphasize reform and spending. "My campaign will be a common-sense call for more jobs through private enterprise, less welfare and more work, less government regulation and spending, better schools through better discipline, less crime through more punishment, and a stronger American because we place our trust in God." He added, "My campaign is all about bringing a revolution to the 2nd District. It is part of a national revolution to Rescue America. I want an East Texas where our children can live, work, learn, and worship in the peace of the piney woods."
Dr. Brian Babin, 47, is a lifelong resident of East Texas. He is a former Woodville Mayor and City Councilman, and has a record of leadership and community service. A veteran, Dr. Brian Babin has served as an enlisted man in the U.S. Army reserve and an officer in the U.S. Air Force. He was appointed by Texas Governor Clements as a member of the Texas Historical Commission and as President of the State Board of Dental Examiners. He is also a former School Board Trustee.

At the Village

By Dottie Johnson

Whitney Garrity and Cindy Woodrome brought the house down during their "Frankie and Johnnie" duet on the Village stage Sunday afternoon.

It was right in the middle of the Vaudeville show and while the audience was most receptive, nothing prepared this talented duo for the set falling on them.

And what an attractive backdrop it was. Whitney designed it and painted it and caddled up taking it on the head without injury, we were assured.

It was professional to the tee. Whitney pushed the backdrop back against the wall while they finished their song, then the two without ceremony carried it off the stage.

And that's the way it went during Heritage Village's 8th Annual Harvest Festival of East Texas Folklife.

There's no point in trying to explain how really great this festival was. If you were there, you know. If you weren't, the pictures elsewhere in this issue will be worth a thousand words or more.

And so we'll just tie up a few loose

The Sun shone brightly on our festival, adding its blessing to a beautiful and successful festival

strings to remind one and all that this was indeed the best one ever.

To begin with, hats off to our decorators, Fred Sullivan and Jim Jimnette, who worked well into the night to fill the Village with pumpkin-headed straw people. What fun it all was. But the real treat was the spectacular entrance. Not the usual one through the Store but a special one between the store building and the Pickett House that brought visitors into the Village on the upper level past Troy Fryhauer's Woodcrafts, the Sheep to Sheep demonstrations in the Pole Barn, the petting arena and the single piston engine, the shining splinting, the Foragers and Pottery, the basket makers and the caramel apple stand onto the main street with its wonderful array of demonstrations.

Fred said it was most gratifying to see the number of people who lined up family members in front of the entrance for a picture taking session. That's a true measure of success that will provide a memory many a family will look to again and again, a memory to share with friends and neighbors.

And speaking of pictures, the gentleman wandering quietly about with important looking cameras and setting up special closures of certain craftspersons was none other than well known Houston photographer Blair Pitman, whose pictures graced the pages of National Geographic magazine

years before he went to work for the Houston Chronicle for another number of years. It was during his Geographic days that his pictures of the early Cyley Gray Village were featured in that magazine's October 1978 issue.

You'll see some of his new shots in next October's issue of Texas Highways along with an article by Howard Peacock. We couldn't task for a better vehicle to tell our story throughout Texas.

As we ramble along with memories of the festival, we must also doff our caps to those who gave a week of their lives to help make it happen. Gloria Newsome and Fran Owen were at the Village daily, cleaning it from top to bottom, four houses would be so clean, they said, while John Owen tended to a dozen chores that needed doing here and there. Mary Hale spent the week spelling Village staffers, answering the phone, running errands, whatever needed to be done.

And of course hats are off to all the other volunteers who worked so hard, manning the entrance and exit gate, the hospitality room at the Hamm House, heliug our visiting demonstrators go, settled, making cookies and jellies, working in the Heritage Society Library and all the many other tasks that make such a huge undertaking go smoothly and successfully.

And although not volunteers in the usual sense of the word, Village director Marjorie Shultz, Ofelia Gazaway, Paula Johnston, Whitney Garrity and Pat Taylor gave far more than their meager paychecks might indicate as they put in overtime hours to make this thing work.

And work it did, not just as a festival, but as a place of history, as was proven in the Whitney Genealogy Library, which Carol Phillips and Joyce Wilson kept open both days with the help of Jack Whitmeyer and Frances Muckelroy.

One of my own personal fun experiences during the festival was meeting and visiting with the Alexander Kirichenko family from Kiev, who stopped by the Heritage society booth for a glass of sassafras tea. Their son was one of the dancers with the Vecherinka players during the Balalaika's spirited program. The children were an absolute delight. The costumes and of course the music was exciting. We are so fortunate to have people of this caliber come to our Village year after year to perform.

In case you're not aware of it, most of the Balalaika players have Russian or middle eastern backgrounds, many having been born there. And most of them are professionals in some aspect of the Houston Medical Center.

Dr. Kirichenko, for instance, is well into his second year at M.D. Anderson, where he is taking postgraduate work in the field of Radiology and Oncology. He and his family will return to Kiev next Spring.

And so, once again, if you missed it, you missed it. We don't know what else to say.

Heritage Village Museum is your museum. Lots of interesting things happen there. One of the most spectacular is the annual Harvest Festival. It's a testimony to our heritage, our roots in East Texas, even if you were born in South Dakota as I was.

Meanwhile, the Village is still pumpkin decorated, a sight to behold, the Genealogy Library is open every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 10 am to 2 p.m., and as fine an Armed Forces Exhibit as you might find anywhere remains in place in the Village Exhibit Hall throughout November.

So, come look us over. You might even want to put on a Smiley Face and join the Heritage Society. Never can tell.

Three Little Words

By Darby Kethan

Where in the world do they learn to communicate if not from and with parents or other interested adults who take time to really listen?

Too often, as one person attempts to talk, the listener is only thinking of what they are going to say...and many times interrupt the speaker to start saying it! Especially with children who sometimes are slow to translate their ideas into words, listening quietly is more than just important...it is critical for their successful language development! The current attitude of "been-there-done-that" is particularly destructive of conversations as it conveys to the speaker there isn't any reason to share their own experiences. Yet, processing of new ideas, new experiences, new emotions, etc., is most often done verbally and requires an empathetic audience, not an interrupter, an impatient or judgmental listener. Kids who feel valued in what they say will learn to value their thinking and become more successful as students and adults. You gotta have two to tango and it takes two to talk and to listen!

"Tell me more." "I know you made the football team...tell me more about how you got there." "I see your knee is scraped...tell me more about where it happened." We all, young and old, need to share; telling about ourselves, our dreams, hopes, fears, excitement and activities strengthens families and communities. "Tell me more" makes sharing our lives meaningful. Please, tell me more.

'Dissecting' a 1st Division Marching Band: a layman's perspective

By Kenny Simpson, Pres. Woodville Eagle Band Boosters

Saturday, many of us witnessed the outstanding performance of Woodville High Schools Band competing in Region Marching Contest at Little Cypress - Mauriceville.

This event involved competition among 35 area high school marching bands ranging in size from single A to AAAAA. Arriving at noon, 10 schools had completed their performance with only one band receiving the Judges highest ranking score of a "1".

As the 30 some odd Woodville High School Band students took the field at 1:30 p.m., I began to reflect on what the ingredients of a 1st Division Band must be.

Probably the most obvious was the combined commitment of each band student devoting not only school hours but much of their free time practicing endlessly to perfect their musical skills.

Secondly, a 1st division band requires a devoted Music Director and Staff willing to do more than just put in their time having a "that's good enough" attitude. They and their families sacrifice countless hours, planning, preparing, organizing and making last minute adjustments to accommodate sick, injured as well as victims of the "no pass-no play" rule.

Another often forgotten ingredient

of a top quality High School Band is Administrative support. Woodville is indeed fortunate to have a Superintendent and Principal that gives that much needed positive reinforcement and encouragement to our band students.

After having worked all day Friday and even through the late night homecoming game & junior class sponsored dance that followed, Dr. Harvey was up the following morning traveling to Mauriceville in support of our High School Band.

The final item necessary to complete this 1st rate band is the home support of the Parent.

Band Parents do much more than those obnoxious noises of a beginner musician. Besides shuttle service there are endless details such as instrument payments, tuning and repairs, uniform cleaning, and cup cakes to bake.

Participation in the Band Boosters Clubs concession stand has revealed to me the enormous devotion of not only parents but also several grandparents, former band student parents and even Our Lady of The Pines Catholic Priest.

These devoted caring supporters volunteer their time planning, cooking, cleaning to raise funds in order to enhance the band students experience in a first rate High School Band.

The reward for all the cumulative effort that went into Saturdays performance was experienced in the anxious crowd of students, parents and supporters gathered behind the U-Haul Truck which transported the instruments and as Mr. Lay very diplomatically revealed the Judge's decision. That "Kodak" moment and the cheer that followed could be heard throughout East Texas.

NOTE: Band Boosters Meetings are scheduled the first Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. at the Woodville Band Hall.

asked for fighter cover, since as usual I was by myself. We always tried to keep enemy troops from getting to them and to be sure of their position when rescue people got there.

Right on schedule, my big Merlin engine began cutting out. I was still well inside enemy territory, out of altitude, out of power. The F-51 was never cut out to be a glider. I nipped smoothly over the side. I was still in the Mustang, now called the F-51.

In two and a half months I racked up 42 missions, mostly alone. It was a long haul, but I only picked up a few holes in non-vital spots. On the 43rd, I ran into one of those landmark experiences. It was on St. Patrick's Day, 1951.

The mission was supposed to be a milk run. Our Intelligence guys wanted to know whether the Reds were digging in, building up, or moving out along the 38th Parallel defense lines. I went up to have a look. Starting at the Yellow Sea west of Korea, I worked eastward. As I approached Kaesong, later the scene of truce talks, I pulled up to 2000 just in case. I wasn't seeing any signs of military concentrations, but you never could tell for sure with those hills. And 2000 should have been safe from small-arms fire.

It wasn't. Over Kaesong I suddenly heard a faint ping back behind the cockpit. Right away I picked up a non-standard odor. Scanning the gauges, I soon figured out what that smell was: not engine oil. My oil pressure gauge showed dead zero.

Zlich oil pressure is not good news in any reciprocating engine. The aero engines of that day were guaranteed to fall in about two minutes without oil pressure. I got busy heading south. I went through the emergency drill in less time than it takes to tell it. I set the engine controls for coasting, checked my position on the map grid, and put out a Mayday call on the radio. I knew the emergency channel was monitored by several stations of the rescue network. Asking for continuing fixes on my transmissions. I told them I'd be heading out soon. I also

By David Rust

Officer Chuck Ingle at Gib Lewis has reminded me of Korea, the first war we didn't win—not counting the War Between the States. I didn't need much reminding. I came plenty close to becoming one of the 8182 MIA's still unaccounted for.

After graduation from Tulane in 1949, I decided flying fighter planes was still what I most wanted to do. I managed to get back on active duty, not that easy then. But next summer the North Koreans launched their sneak attack across the arbitrary dividing line, the 38th Parallel. I was in an Armament Officer's school, and I was accelerated. On graduation I was put on the orders for Japan. Air Force planners there weren't looking for breath for armament officers, but when they saw all the 51 time on my Form 5 they flipped out. Very quickly I was back to flying ground support combat missions in the Mustang, now called the F-51.

Teenagers and all young people from 6 to 60 who enjoy contemporary Christian music, entertainment and free hot dogs, are urged to shop by and sample the Block Party Saturday, October 28th from 6 to 9 p.m. in the 100 Block on Wheat St. in back of the court house, in the Opera House, in Woodville. Featured entertainers will be headlined by the popular Urban Harvest Ministries of Beaumont, and the Rev. Rodney Barnett, who has spearheaded street ministries across Texas for the past 10 years. Rev. Barnett has recently returned from Wales on a highly successful 2 week tour of entertaining and teaching, with 500 teenage commitments.

Making their debut performances, and creating a great deal of excitement in the community, will be the Gib Lewis Prison Choir, comprised of young men excited about sharing their testimonies with other young people and the community as a whole.

Prison Chaplain Michael Maness confirms the Choir's first public appearance will attest to the effectiveness of Christian prison ministries. Chaplain Maness, Rev. Ron Davis, and many other ministers, and counselors have joined forces and energies to sponsor and coordinate this event, a Christian alternative to traditional Halloween.

Any church groups, puppeteers, Christian rap, or others who would like to perform, please call 837-4464.

Christian Church in Port Arthur will add their talent to the celebration of the First Christian Church in Orange. Refreshments will be served after the service in the Fellowship Hall. ## Eagles blast Buna, 35-14

WOODVILLE - The Woodville Eagles set themselves in position for a possible playoff berth with a 35-14 district win over the Buna Cougars Friday night. The victory moved the Eagles' district mark to 3-1 with Stephen F. Austin on the horizon.

The margin of victory against Buna was a pleasant surprise for the Eagles and their homecoming fans. With quarterback Demarcus White on the sidelines with a ribbed knee and four other starters either out or hampered with injuries, the Eagles proved that they could win a key game despite setbacks.

"I was very pleased with the way the other players stepped in," said Woodville coach Ty Quick after the victory.

"This game is more of a sense of being a team," Coach Quick said. "I'm glad to see that." Quick stepped in for White and directed the Woodville offense to 386 yards, including 96 Eagles' district mark to 3-1 with Stephen F. Austin on the horizon.

Woodville - SFA battle has playoff flavor

By Don Stevenson

The Woodville Eagles will travel to Ft. Arthur Friday night to meet the Stephen F. Austin Eagles in a district 21-3A game. Right? Wrong. This one is more than just a game, this one has playoff written all over it.

Although both Ty Quick and Richard Marler, the two coaches who will pit their talented teams against each other, will tell you that it is indeed an important game, neither will go as far as to say that this is a make or break game as far as the playoffs are concerned. And while SFA still has an opportunity to play Newton, Woodville has already had their chance.

Marler knows that the only thing standing in the way of SFA returning to the playoffs is Woodville. If this Eagles can get by Quick's Eagles, SFA not only has a playoff spot wrapped up in their hip pocket, but they also have a good shot at taking the district title for the third consecutive year.

For Woodville it's a different story. The Tyler County Eagles know that to reach the playoffs they must indeed beat SFA, and they must do it in timely territory. They must also overcome injuries that have sidelined at least three key players, and fight off a stigma of not being able to beat SFA when it counts.

As Quick puts it, "We can't go out there and hope to win. At some point we're going to get tough to where we win big games."

There is no doubt about this one. This is Woodville's third biggest game of their season. The other two included Anahuac and Newton, and both times the Eagles came up short.

The last time Quick's Eagles failed. To the contrary, the Eagles, by most preseason prognosticators, were not even supposed to be able to stay on the field with these two foes. Nor were they supposed to beat Hardin-Jefferson or blow out teams like Huntington, Kirbyville, and Buna. Most forecasters picked Woodville behind Newton, SFA, and Kirbyville.

Quick and his staff have done an outstanding job of rearranging Woodville's offense and defense. And example is that Quick took an all-district receiver, Juan Mitchell, and moved him to running back. He also gambled with a sophomore quarterback, Demarcus White, who hadn't played football since the seventh grade. The result? Mitchell is one of the top rushers in the district, and White is so far ahead of the rest of the district quarterbacks in statistics that it isn't even close.

And while we are bragging, Woodville's 5-2 record so far this season is like going out on a blind date and ending up with a gorgeous girl that has plenty of money and drives a nice sports car. (A nice surprise, indeed.)

But while the Woodville mark might be nice for a lot of folks, it still isn't good enough for Quick and the rest of his staff, let alone the players. No, for the Eagles to have a year that they will deem gratifying, they must reach the playoffs. Anything less is noble and worthy. Noble and worthy is fine, but not on the same level as what Newton and SFA have been for the past decade. That's where Quick and his staff want the Eagles to be...at the next level.

Woodville will probably go into the game as a two-touchdown underdog, but it won't matter. If Woodville plays their best and does not turn the ball over, like they did against Anahuac and Newton, they can beat SFA, regardless of whether the game is played in Ft. Arthur, Woodville, or Austin.

Warren's Mickey Mixon, who has played both Newton and SFA, says that the Ft. Arthur team is equal to Newton in speed, but Newton has better material from tackle to tackle.

If comparative scores is your thing then SFA should win the game by 17 points. Anahuac beat SFA 20-7, and Woodville, 41-20. But by comparative scores you can also have a team like Ball State beating the Michigan Wolverines. So don't bet any money on this one either way. If Woodville's timing is right, it will be their turn. If not, so be it. Either way, it should be a better game than when SFA hosts Newton in the last district game of the year.

Last year SFA beat Woodville, 21-19, at Eagle Stadium in Woodville. Here's hoping that Woodville returns the favor this week.

Eagles showdown is game of the week for county foes

COUNTY - As far as county teams are concerned, it will be hard to beat the expected Woodville - Stephen F. Austin showdown in the banks of the Eagles in Ft. Arthur Friday night. But for the record there are other games in the county, all of which have important implications for the playoffs.

Colmesneil is after their fifth win of the season at home against High Island, while both Chester and Warren are still trying to break into the win column this week. Warren meets Orangefield on the road, and Chester travels to Evadale to play the Rebels.

Woodville - SFA

If the Woodville Eagles plan on reaching the playoffs they will have to beat district nemesis Stephen F. Austin in their own back yard. This is not an easy task at anytime, but especially when Woodville has several players trying to recover from injuries.

Both teams went to week. The Eagles blasting Buna, 35-14, while SFA took care of Warren 50-0.

SFA is unbeaten in district play with a 4-0 mark after losing its first three games of the year in non-district play. They also won the district title for the past two years and will be gracious to give up another one this season.

One of SFA's losses has been to Liberty. The Panthers are one of the top teams in the area and is ranked in the top twenty in the state. They also lost to Anahuac, 20-16, a team that defeated Woodville, 41-20, when the Eagles turned the ball over six times.

SFA's other loss came at the hands of class 4-A Little Cypress in a 6-3 defensive struggle.

Besides the loss to Anahuac, the only other mark on Woodville's record has come at the hands of state ranked Newton.

In district play, both SFA and Woodville have won their first three games of the year in non-district play. They also won the district title for the past two years and will be gracious to give up another one this season.

SFA's other loss came at the hands of class 4-A Little Cypress in a 6-3 defensive struggle.

Orangefield could prove just as bad, if not worse.

Orangefield gave SFA all that they wanted last week and then some, finally coming out on the short end in a 26-21 battle.

The Bobcats are 2-5 for the year, losing to Beaumont Kelly, 21-7, Lumberton, 40-0, and Little Cypress, 10-3. They also lost to state ranked Newton.

Orangefield has won two of four district games, defeating Kirbyville, 36-22, and Buna, 30-13.

Last year the Warriors fell to Orangefield by a 48-0 count.

Colmesneil - High Island

The Bulldogs continue to roll in district play with victories over Apple Springs and Chester.

High Island, with a respectable 4-3 record, was blasted by Burkeville last week, 66-0. They have also lost to Houston Northwest Academy, 47-6, and have defeated West Hardin, 32-12.

The Cardinals defeated Chester, 18-12, for their only district win. They have also won over Bay Area Christian, 22-20, and defeated Ft. Neches-Groves Sophomores, 25-7.

Last year the Bulldogs prevailed in a 49-0 blanking of the Cardinals on their way to the playoffs.

Chester - Evadale

The Evadale Rebels found out last week that despite an 0-6 record, no one can be taken for granted. Such was the case when Evadale fell to Apple Springs in a Saturday night game. The Eagles came into contact with an 0-6 mark.

Chester will hope to duplicate the feat this week when they travel to Evadale. The Yellowjackets are 0-7 and are in definite need of a victory.

Evadale is 4-3 for the season, losing to Burkeville, 38-7, but knocking off class 2A Deweyville, 38-37. They also defeated Lutheran Concordia of Tomball, 38-0, and defeated Beaumont Christian, 40-20. Another victory has come over Northland Christian, 31-10.

Last year Evadale knocked off Chester, 24-0.

Bulldogs crush Yellowjackets, 43-0

CHESTER - When the Colmesneil Bulldogs get together anything can happen. Friday night at Yellowjacket Field, it did.

While most die-hard fans figured the game would be a knock down, drag out affair until the bitter end, the Colmesneil Bulldogs wasted little time making sure the climax would be no surprise.

Building a 20-0 first quarter lead and taking a 33-0 lead into the halftime break, the Bulldogs swept passed Chester, 43-0, on their way to posting their fifth victory in seven outings this season. The win gave Colmesneil a 2-1 mark in district play with High Island on the horizon.

For the Yellowjackets it was their seventh straight loss of the season, and a disappointment, no doubt, after almost knocking off High Island a week earlier. But Chester was also hampered by injuries to at least two starters, including tailbacks Bob Whitehead and Dempsy Parris.

The Yellowjackets didn't see much light either from a warming Colmesneil defense that allowed Chester only four first downs and 37 total yards of offense. No doubt the Bulldog defense was inspired by coach Rusty Mims' goal last year was the defensive coordinator for the Yellowjackets.

Said Chester coach Steve Park of the Bulldogs, "I thought they were good for them. Now I'm certain they are."

The Bulldogs were certainly good in the first quarter when they moved at will, scoring three touchdowns by different running backs.

J.R. Pittman was the first Bulldog to hit the endzone when he strode across from one yard out with just over eight minutes to go in the first quarter. The touchdown was set up by Clay Bandy interception at the Colmesneil 46. Nine plays later, including a 22 yard punt by Pittman, the Bulldogs had a 6-0 lead.

Colmesneil scored again with just over two minutes to go in the quarter on a 17 yard run by Ronnie Douglas. Douglas's brother, Daryl, opened the door for the touchdown when he speared 58 yards on a punt return. Two plays later Colmesneil held a 14-0 lead.

Colmesneil scored again with just over five minutes to go in the half when high stepped his way in from 11 yards out. Colmesneil used only four plays to travel 50 yards for the score, most of it coming on a 39 yard run by Josh Maddox.

With Colmesneil coach Mike Jacobs using substitutions freely, the Bulldogs scored their final touchdown following the second half kickoff. Daryl Douglas got his second tally of the game. After missing three point attempts on the heels of a five play, 42 yard drive.

Douglas also came back later in the fourth period to work on his kicking game. After missing three point attempts in the first half, he connected on the last two and came on to kick a 20 yard field goal with under eight minutes to go in the game. The play point was set up by a 35 yard punt return by Pittman.

While Colmesneil special teams played a key role in the victory, the Bulldog's ground was just as impressive. Colmesneil broke the 300 yard mark using 10 running backs, with the game gaining more than 75 yards.

Maddox led Colmesneil's ground attack with 71 yards on eight carries. Both Ronnie and Daryl Douglas had 56 yards, while Pittman added another 34. David Duckerson churned 31 yards on seven carries, and Greg Cheney had 28 more and came on to kick a 20 yard field goal with under eight minutes to go in the game. The play point was set up by a 35 yard punt return by Pittman.

Ronnie Douglas got his second touchdown of the night with under five minutes to go in the half when he high stepped his way in from 11 yards out. Colmesneil used only four plays to travel 50 yards for the score, most of it coming on a 39 yard run by Josh Maddox.

With Colmesneil coach Mike Jacobs using substitutions freely, the Bul-

Out manned Warriors blanked by SFA

WARREN - A healthy Warrior team most likely would have not made any difference with the outcome, but it might have helped nonetheless.

Playing with only 16 in uniform by the time the game ended, the Warren Warriors were blanked by the Stephen F. Austin Eagles, 50-0, last week. The loss marked their six straight of the year and 16th consecutive that dates back to 1993.

Warren began the game with only 19 players. In the first quarter the Warriors lost Tim King to an ankle injury. In the second quarter Jeff Mixon went down with an ankle injury. By the third period Chance Sims was out with a hip pointer. King and Mixon may be back for this week's game against Orangefield, but Sims is questionable.

Against SFA the Warriors were held to no yards rushing and a minus one yard in passing. Shane Moses led Warren's offense with 14 yards on 11 carries. Quarterback Jason Ferguson has sacked four times by the SFA defense for 22 yards in losses.

Warren's closed penetration to the SFA goal line was in the second period when the Warriors recovered a muffed punt at the Eagle 38.

SFA's offense rolled up 523 yards, including 371 on the ground. Ken Gordon and Richard Price each rushed for over 100 yards in the game. The Eagles also had 152 yards in the air, completing six of ten passes.

The Eagles scored the first four times they had the ball, building up a 21-0 lead in the first period and taking a 34-0 intermission break. In the third period SFA scored twice for 13 more points, and closed out the game with a 50-0 victory as Corey Wineshell hit the fourth period.

Should Warren move into a tie for either first or second place they would have a playoff Tuesday of next week. In the meantime they will play Beaumont Kelly in a non district match Friday.

The Eagles got their first score on a 51 yard pass from quarterback Nick Nixon to Chris Peveto.

Following that tally, Jeremy Dennis broke through for an eight yard touchdown, capping an 85 yard drive. Gordon, who rushed for 103 yards in the night, got most of it on a 55 yard punt to give the Eagles a 21-0 first quarter lead.

Gordon came back in the second period to get another touchdown, this time on a four yard run. The Eagles also scored on a 28 yard pass from backup quarterback Tommy Byrd to Alex Cole to complete the scoring in the second half.

Fullback D.J. Richard opened the second half with another SFA score which capped a three play, 46 yard drive.

The Eagles' final touchdown came on a three yard run by Price with just over four minutes to go in the third period.

Wuenshell's field goal closed out the scoring in the fourth period.

Even in defeat, Warren coach Mickey Maddox had positive things to say about his Warriors. Maddox pointed out that his players continued to play hard throughout the game, and numerous times the Warren defense threw SFA for losses. He noted the play of line-backer Randy Payne for his play on defense.

The Warriors will now go on to face Orangefield, while SFA hosts Woodville in a key district game.

Olympic Games held at Warren Middle School

There has been a new program added to Warren Middle School. Every six weeks, on Friday, Olympic Games will be held. Everyday the students are in a homecoming festival for 30 minutes. These homecomings will compete against each other. Every student is required to participate in these games. The activities include sack race, 3-legged races, horseshoe throws, washer throws, a relay race, and an academic math competition. In order to make things fair, seventh grade will compete against the eighth grade. Several homecomings have shown great enthusiasm in these games. They have made Olympic flags to carry in the "Opening Ceremonies". The games will be held on Friday, October 20, at 2:00 pm. The winner will be the homecoming with the most points.

The Warren Athletic Program has been silently working toward basketball season.

Future Problem Solving Program. The children are given a topic and they are required to write a persuasive paper. The three best articles are sent to Austin, then to the state, and if they surpass that competition, they are then sent to Nationals. We hope these children do well and make it to Nationals. Don't forget, T-shirts are on sell now! Also, the Tyler County Sheriff's Department will be fingerprinting the students of Warren Elementary School on October 24, 1995. Your child may or may not participate. Fingerprinting is a safety measure, but you should keep them in a safe place in case they are needed for further reference.

Daughter-in-Law of Woodville couple in charge of high-tech communications

by Matthew A. Gowan

Onboard naval ocean processing facility—Angela Mitchell wanted a job that would make her more independent and responsible. So she looked toward the military.

Today, the daughter-in-law of Daniel and Etier Mae Mitchell of Woodville, Texas, is a Navy radioman, stationed at the Naval Ocean Processing Facility (NOPF), Dam Neck, in Virginia Beach, Va.

She ensures reliable and effective satellite communications between her command and the rest of the world. Given her mission, it's providing her with plenty of responsibility. "The best part of my job," she says, "is that you can see the big picture, how your job affects the rest of the Navy."

The 1983 graduate of Euclid Senior High School utilizes her skills in satellite communications to support the fleet. Her command is part of the Navy's Integrated Undersea Surveillance System, which uses fixed and towed sensors in the ocean to detect ocean sounds. The data is relayed to Mitchell's command where Sailors analyze the sound to detect, categorize and track submarines, surface ships and aircraft to alert fleet tactical forces.

The 30-year-old Sailor says the hardest aspect of her job is keeping everything functioning and in line with the quality control process, but she's benefited from the hard work.

"One of the most important things I've learned is that with a can-do attitude you can achieve any goal. As far as leadership, I believe in leading by example, and I always try to set a good example for my peers and subordinates."

Mitchell says setting the example also means being a team player. "You need to strive to become an effective team player because the role you play is an essential part of your job in the Navy. The Navy is like a chain. Each person's job is an important link in that chain. Teamwork is essential in the completion of a mission."

The Euclid native says the Navy's rigorous training made it tougher to make career decisions because advancements are extremely competitive, but she does have immediate goals.

"I want to advance to first class petty officer and continue my off-duty education," she says. "My advancement and education will play a major factor in my career decision."

In addition to education, she says her Navy career has provided her lots of excitement, including visiting foreign countries during Operation Desert Storm.

"One of the most exciting things I've done is serve onboard an oiler during the Persian Gulf War. Being out to sea during the war was exciting and scary, but I just wanted to be a part of the effort."

She also completed two Mediterranean Sea deployments which took her away from her husband, Samuel. While it was tough being away from her loved ones, Mitchell says she doesn't regret enlisting in the Navy.

"I have achieved advancement to the rank of E-5 and look forward to becoming an E-6. I've become a much more responsible and independent adult."

Estrogen replacement therapy for Alzheimer's disease study on

HOUSTON—(Oct. 11, 1995)—A 26-center study will assess the impact of estrogen replacement therapy on Alzheimer's disease.

"There is evidence that estrogen may improve thinking and memory, but there is not yet enough good data to justify taking estrogen to improve mental abilities," said Dr. Rachelle Doody, clinical director of the Alzheimer's Disease Research Center at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "This research could provide the medical proof needed to adopt estrogen as an actual treatment."

Doody says, "Doody says, have suggested that women who take estrogen, or who have ever taken estrogen may be at a lower risk for Alzheimer's disease. In one preliminary study, women with Alzheimer's on estrogen had fewer memory problems than those not on estrogen, even though they had been sick for the same amount of time."

"Recent research has shown a beneficial effect of estrogen on brain cells and brain chemicals," Doody said. "Now we are putting estrogen replacement therapy to the test in Alzheimer's patients."

The project, funded by the National Institutes of Health, will study women with Alzheimer's disease who are not on estrogen to find out whether adding estrogen improves mental ability or slows disease progression.

"We will test a low and medium dose of estrogen," Doody said. "During the study, participants will receive one of the two dosage levels or a placebo pill that has no estrogen." Alzheimer's patients may be eligible to participate if they are age 60 or older, not currently on estrogen replacement therapy, and have had a hysterectomy.

The 15-month study involves six
